JUST A GENTLE PUSH

With the gasoline shortage, it's hard to get a tiger in the tank these days, but a lion on the bumper can provide a little extra push. It was all in fun, however, Tuesday as a tourist's car got a playful nudge from a lioness at Lion Country Safari in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Marin Crime Rate Drop Outpaces National Rate

By BILL ROBERTS

Serious crime declined in Marin during 1972 and far more so than in the nation as a whole, according to figures released today by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Marin recorded a decline of nearly 8 per cent compared to the national average of about 2 per cent.

It was the first time in 17 years, according to Atty. Gen. Elliott L. Richardson, that the FBI has reported a national decline in the total number of crimes committed.

The decline in both nation and county was entirely accounted for by a fall in the number of crimes against property, while crimes against persons increased slightly.

The FBI's total crime index, including auto thefts reported by the California Highway Patrol, showed a drop from 5,537 crimes reported in Marin in 1971 to 5,095 in 1972.

Crimes against persons in Marin increased from 248 in 1971 to 260 in 1972. That increase in murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, negligent manslaughter, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault was about 5 per cent.

Crimes against property decreased sharply from 5,289 in 1971 to 4,835 in 1972, or a decline

FBI Reports First Declining Crime Figures In 17 Years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Serious crime dropped 2 per cent in the United States last year in the first actual decrease in crime in 17 years, an FBI report issued by Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson said today.

The annual report also showed, however, that violent crimes—murder, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault—increased 2 per cent in 1972. And it showed the risk of becoming a victim of a serious crime has increased 47 per cent since 1967.

Richardson issued the report in his name although he has expressed reservations about the accuracy of the FBI statistics. Recently, he offered the opinion that the FBI Uniform Crime Reports—compiled from law enforcement agency statistics around the country—measure only a portion of the crimes committed in the United States.

The attorney general noted that many crimes are never reported to police. He said he hoped a better system of measuring crime could be devised, perhaps using polling techniques.

The most numerous property crimes, such as burglary, larceny and auto theft, were down 2 per cent, accounting for the overall decline of 2 per cent, the report said.

The 1972 drop in overall crime followed a 7 per cent increase in 1971. There was an 11 per cent increase in 1970, a 12 per cent gain in 1969, and a 17 per cent increase in 1968.

The FBI report showed that during 1972, 94 major cities reported actual decreases in serious crime, compared to 54 cities in 1971, 22 cities in 1970, and 17 cities in 1969.

The report said there was an 8 per cent decrease last year in serious crime in large core cities, those with populations in excess of 250,000 residentss. This drop compared to increases of 2 per cent in 1971, 6 per cent in 1970, 9 per cent in 1969, and 18 per cent in 1968.

There were increases in serious crime in both suburban and rural areas—2 per cent in suburban and 4 per cent in rural.

In the violent crimes category, forcible rape rose 11 per cent, aggravated assault increased 7 per cent, and murder rose 5 per cent.

But auto theft, according to the report, decreased 6 per cent, while robbery dropped 3 per cent, larceny 2 per cent, and burglary 1 per cent.

Law enforcement agencies throughout the country reported 5,891,900 serious crimes to the FBI in 1972. They included 5,063,800 property crimes and 828,100 violent crimes. Serious crimes reported in 1971 totaled 5,995,200.

The report said there were 2,829 serious crimes for each 100,000 residents in the country in 1972, a 3 per cent drop in the crime rate or victim risk rate from 1971. But since 1967, the risk of becoming a victim of a serious crime has gone up 47 per cent.

The violent crimes rate last year was 389 for each 100,000 inhabitants, up 1 per cent over the 1971 rate. The rate for property crimes was 2,432 for each 100,000 inhabitants, a decrease of 3 per cent.

Agnew Says Allegations Are 'False'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said today allegations that he was part of a kickback scandal in his home state of Maryland were "false and scurrilous and malicious."

Agnew made his statement at a news conference in the auditorium of the Executive Office Building, next door to the White House.

He said he originally intended to maintain silence after his initial denial Monday night, but he could not in view of news leaks.

He called the allegations against him a "damned lie."

Agnew opened the news conference by protesting "defamatory statements" leaked by sources which newspapers said were close to the federal grand jury in Baltimore.

The jury reportedly is looking into allegations Agnew received kickbacks while serving as county executive of Baltimore County, Md. from 1962 to 1966, while governor of Maryland from 1967 to 1969 and, according to some reports, even while he occupied the office of vice president.

Agnew said he held a far-ranging discussion with President Nixon Tuesday, but the idea of calling a news conference to respond to the reports from Baltimore was his alone. According to some published reports, indictments in the case are expected to be handed down within weeks.

Agnew said the allegations against him were being leaked by people "who find themselves in very deep trouble" and who were "flirting with the idea of receiving immunity" from prosecution by making charges against him.

The Washington Post said two Maryland engineers, Lester Matz and Jerome B. Wolff, "are now known to be negotiating with federal prosecutors for immunity from prosecution in return for information they are understood to be supplying about Agnew and perhaps others."

Agnew was asked by a reporter if he had ever received any money for his personal use from any company doing business with the state of Maryland either before or after he became vice president. He replied: "Absolutely not."

"I have nothing to hide," the vice president said in a calm, voice. He spoke slowly and distinctly and with little show of emotion.

He said he had "been aware through rumor of this investigation since February."

Mental State Of Bedayan Is Questioned

Brent William Bedayan's mental confusion is so great he thinks Melvin J. Schallock, whom he is accused of murdering, is "Adolf Melvin Schallock Hitler" and is still alive, according to his attorney.

Public defender Frank J. Cox produced two letters written by his client to San Francisco newspaper columnists Terrence O'Flaherty and Arthur Hoppe on April 2, two weeks after he was arrested for the shotgun slayings of Schallock, his wife, Ruth, and son, Daniel.

The letters ask the help of O'Flaherty and Hoppe in "exposing this problem to the public . . . and solving a problem of mankind for at least three decades."

Bedayan's trial entered its sixth day today in the Marin Superior Courtroom of Judge Henry J. Broderick, with Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales questioning criminalist Basil Trasnikoff about traces of gasoline found in the Schallock house's charred basement.

Bedayan, 22, is accused of setting fire to the Schallock house in Mill Valley March 16 and then killing the three.

The virtually identical handwritten letters, which the columnists never answered, state Bedayan's belief that "the person known as Melvin A. H. Schallock" is alive.

"It also is my belief that the person known as Melvin A. H. Schallock is in reality Adolf Melvin Schallock Hitler.

"He would be described as tall, slender, white skinned, dark on the inside and feather in weight. The things he does leaves a person confused and one has the idea he is suicidal," the letters say.

Cox produced the letters and asked handwriting expert Terrence H. Pascoe if the signatures matched those on Bedayan's driver's license, a federal firearms transaction sheet and on his jail fingerprint card.

Pascoe, from the investigation services branch of the State Department of Justice, said he could not be sure.

In other testimony Tuesday, Mill Valley Police Chief William A. Walsh said he saw nothing unusual about Bedayan's behavior after he was arrested in connection with the Schallock slayings.

Bedayan, a former grocery store bag boy, chatted with Walsh about seeing the police chief and his wife at the market where he worked and commented on a copy of the police search warrant that was not signed by a judge, Walsh testified.

"He seemed perfectly normal to me," Walsh said.

Cox questioned the definition of the word "normal" and Judge Broderick ruled that Bedayan's behavior be described as "nothing unusual."

Bedayan has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity and Cox's cross-examination of prosecution witnesses has attempted to discredit the testimony of some that Bedayan appeared sane and rational.

At one point, Walsh said that Bedayan was cooperative when he was asked to shed his outer layer of clothing then to dress in other apparel before being taken to the police station.

"He understood completely what was going on," Walsh said.

Bales also called a witness, Samuel R. Erwin Jr., a fingerprint expert, also with the state investigative services branch.

Erwin testified that no fingerprint was found on any of 22 shells found around the Schal-

A More Stable U.S. Economy Is Forecast

Ending Of Phase IV Likely By New Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration hopes to end Phase IV economic controls by the end of the year and let the nation return to a free economy, high administration sources said today.

Two cabinet officers strongly hinted at administration economic plans by predicting in almost identical words that Phase V of controls would be "a phase out."

Higher prices appear inevitable, a third spokesman said, but the administration is counting on increased production, particularly of food, and other fiscal measures to dampen the inflationary pressures of a noncontrolled economy.

Speaking in Pittsburgh, Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent described the current Phase IV as providing "a period of time in which other economic forces can work effectively without subjecting the public to the severe price jolts which might otherwise occur."

Dent added: "Phase V is a 'phase out.' President Nixon's goal is the return of a free-market economy in which there is improved price stability and a sustainable growth rate."

In Miami, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said Phase IV was moving the economy toward private decision-making and "Phase V will be phased out."

High administration sources said the hope was that the phase-out could occur by the end of the year and that the economy could return to "the conditions of January, 1969" — before President Nixon clamped on controls.

At the White House, Marina Whitman, a member of the Council of Economic Advisers, said the economy is still under the burden of strong cost pressures and a squeeze on prices "without the necessary increase in supplies."

Speaking to a group of women in high government posts, she said: "It's still true that we are in or a period of price increases which are more than we want, or want to tolerate."

But, she said, administration economists expect the value of the dollar to rise and the expansion of the economy to slow down.

Dent said the administration was seeking to curb inflation through an increase in supplies, expansion of trade, and curbs in inflationary spending.

Butz announced a nationwide drive to spur farmers, farm industries and agriculture officials to higher food production by preventing harvest losses this fall and promoting all-out production next year.

Two Cotati Crash Bodies Identified

The two persons killed in the fiery accident Monday at Cotati were identified Tuesday as a 31-year-old Livermore man and a 24-year-old woman hitchhiker from Santa Cruz.

The victims were identified as Lyle Monger, a partner in the Dri-Wal Construction Co. of Dublin, and Kathleen Moore Smith, who was on her way to visit friends in Garberville.

The Sonoma County coroner's office said a pathologist made positive identification of the badly charred bodies through use of dental charts.

Monger was reportedly on a business trip when he gave a ride to Mrs. Smith. Her husband, Richard, said he had driven his wife from Santa Cruz to San Francisco Monday and last saw her ride off northbound in a Mercedes-Benz with Oregon license plates. It is not known where Mrs. Smith switched vehicles.

The two were killed when a grain truck driven by William W. Davidson, 36, of Petaluma, failed to notice traffic stopped on Highway 101 and crashed into the rear end and over the top of Monger's pick-up truck, killing both instantly.

Six other persons suffered minor injuries in the accident that involved eight vehicles.

Monger is survived by his wife, Sandra. Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Callahan Mortuary, Livermore.

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Smith were pending today at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma.

NOVATO PROJECT

Developer's Plan For Saving Water

By FRANK FARRARA

A developer's need to build and a water agency's need to stretch its water supply has led to an unusual project south of Novato, a complex of townhouses and single-family homes engineered to reduce water consumption ordinarily required.

The experimental water conservation project, intended to cut water usage 57 per cent at single-family homes and 43 per cent at townhouses, is to be undertaken at the Village Marin project on the former Pacheco Ranch in South Novato by U.S.Development Corp.

According to John O. Nelson, manager of the North Marin County Water District, who called the project one of the first in the west, water will be conserved through landscaping, a special irrigation plan, low-flush toilets, hot water pipe insulation and low pressure shower heads.

He said the water conservation program is to be applied to the first 400 units of the proposed 700-unit development, and he hoped some of the conservation practices would be adopted by other developers.

Nelson said the firm, which has approval of 174 townhouses and condominiums and 15 single-family homes, was seeking assurances it would have water available for about 400 units.

Thus, the conservation program was developed to meet the firm's needs and at the same time conserve water, he said.

Under the program the amount of water that would have been required for 189 units, under usual practices, will now support about 400 units, Nelson reported.

In the Novato area where the average homeowner uses about 50 per cent of his water on lawn and garden, irrigation is a key factor in water saving and a unique plan will be used at the project, he said.

Cambodian Bomb Halt Hit Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall refused again today to order an immediate halt of American bombing in Cambodia.

Acting only a week before the bombing must halt under an agreement between Congress and Nixon, Marshall refused to reconsider his decision last Saturday overturning an unprecedented end-the-bombing ruling earlier that day by fellow Justice William O. Douglas.

Marshall took that action after polling his seven other colleagues and finding them in unanimous agreement with him.

The request before him was to overturn a ruling by the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals in New York City which had stayed an earlier decision by a federal district judge that the bombing was unconstitutional since it had not been approved by Congress.

The case itself was being argued on its merits today in the 2nd Circuit Court in New York.

The suit was brought by Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., and four Air Force Officers, including Capt. Donald E. Dawson, who faces a possible court martial for his refusal to fly again over Cambodia after having flown 90 missions.

Marshall, in his action today, merely stamped the word "denied" to the Holtzman request for reconsideration of Saturday's action.

Marshall acted as a former pilot was testifying at a Senate hearing that "the practice" was for U.S. warplanes to hit Communist hospitals in Cambodia when he was there in 1969 and 1970.

Former Capt. Gerald J. Greven, now an airline pilot based in Miami, said he directed bombing runs as a forward air controller.

He told the Senate Armed Services Committee he once was given instructions to direct bombing of an area which included a designated Viet Cong hospital.

UFW And The Highway Patrol Clash

LAMONT, Calif. (UPI) — Striking United Farm Workers Union members and sheriff's deputies clashed in Southern California Tuesday. Six officers and some strikers were hurt.

Deputy Carroll Clendonon was hospitalized with a broken arm and other deputies were hit by flying rocks. Police said about 275 pickets at a struck grape ranch tried to rush the fields to drive out workers.

The California Highway Patrol sealed off roads around the area and arrested about 30 persons before the strikers dispersed.

A UFW spokesman said it was believed one woman picket was injured badly and that arrested pickets who were hurt were not getting medical attention.

Attorneys for the UFW argued in court Tuesday for the release without bail of about 400 persons arrested on picket lines in recent weeks, mostly for violating a court order limiting the number of pickets in the union's dispute with the rival Teamsters Union.

Wiretap Bill Voted

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill permitting investigators of the state Consumer Affairs Department to use wiretapping if they first obtain a court order has narrowly passed the Senate.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Dollar Loses

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. dollar lost small fractions against most European currencies in early trading today for the second consecutive day.

In London the British pound sterling sold at the opening for $2.5035, the first time in a week the pound cost more than $2.50.

In Paris, Amsterdam and Milan the dollar opened at slightly lower rates than Tuesday's closing figures.

Truce Warning

PARIS (UPI) — South Vietnam warned today that a Communist military victory in Cambodia could endanger Saigon's political talks with the Viet Cong in Paris.

South Vietnamese Vice Premier Nguyen Luu Vien said a Communist takeover in Phnom Penh would mean a change in Indochina's balance of power and might prompt Saigon to take a new look at their negotiations with the Viet Cong.

He issued the warning in talking to reporters after today's 20th session between the two sides. It again proved inconclusive.

Prayer Bill Revived

BOSTON (UPI) — The Massachusetts House Tuesday overrode Gov. Francis W. Sargent's veto of a bill that requires teachers to allow public school pupils some time each day for prayer or meditation.

"Don't deprive children of this at a time when the country needs God's blessings," said Rep. William A. Carey, D-Boston, during debate on the override motion. The vote was 171-50.

The measure then went to the Senate.

Violations Decline

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese military authorities reported a sharp drop today in Communist cease-fire violations but said heavy fighting still is raging in the Central Highlands.

A military command spokesman said there were 86 Communist truce violations in the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today, down sharply from the previous two days.

The spokesman attributed no particular significance to the sudden decline.

Yugoslav Blast

BELGRADE (UPI) — An explosion tore through a baggage department in Belgrade's main railway station today, killing the caretaker and injuring seven bystanders, police said.

A police spokesman said a small prefabricated building was burned down in the blast.

Yugoslav army explosives experts were investigating the cause of the blast.

New Irish Laws

BELFAST (UPI) — Tough new laws to combat terrorism in Northern Ireland came into force today amid British government claims that it is winning its battle against violence.

Under the new laws, authorities are empowered to conduct trials with no jury, limit bail, detain persons for as long as four hours on suspicion only, conduct searches without warrants and file charges against persons who refuse to answer police questions.

The laws also assume a defendant is guilty until proven innocent.

Wheat Price Up

CHICAGO (UPI) — The price of wheat, one of the world's food mainstays, reached a 150-year high at the Chicago Board of Trade Tuesday when the price for wheat futures contracts for September delivery jumped the 10-cent permissible daily limit to $4.14 a bushel.

It was the seventh consecutive day wheat prices had increased, foreshadowing higher prices for bread and cereal products for consumers.

Reason For Kidnap

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — British financier Charles Lockwood said Tuesday that guerrilla kidnapers who held him for 53 days had demanded $7.5 million ransom money to buy arms for a "civil war" in Argentina.

"They refused to say what organization they belong to, but they admire the Cuban and Chinese governments and are not Peronists," the British-born executive said.

Lockwood was held longer than any other of Argentina's 100-odd kidnap victims while his family and firm bargained with the guerrillas.

Weary Watergate Panel Adjourns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In its rush to join vacationing members of Congress, the Senate Watergate committee brushed aside explosive testimony by a tough-talking government lawyer who complained the Watergate probe was "snatched" away from the Justice Department.

Henry E. Petersen, assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division, testified Tuesday he deeply resented the appointment of a special Watergate prosecutor because it delayed indictments and was an indication by the Senate that the Justice Department could not be trusted.

"Damn, I think it's a reflection on me and the Department of Justice," exclaimed Petersen. "We would have broken that case wide open." He joined Tuesday's other witness, former Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst, in praising the department's efforts on the case.

Petersen's dissatisfaction with the Senate's insistence on the appointment of a special prosecutor by the President surfaced during just two hours and 46 minutes of questioning as the seven-member panel hurried to adjourn for the summer recess. Kleindienst was interviewed little longer.

If Petersen had been called to testify earlier, the committee probably would have spent many hours—perhaps days—quizzing him about his conversations with President Nixon and virtually every figure involved in the Watergate scandal.

The ex-Marine, who worked his way through Justice Department ranks to head the criminal division during the Watergate probe, also told how on April 15 he recommended the firing of former presidential aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman because of the embarrassment their involvement in the scandal would cause for the Nixon administration.

Petersen launched into his emotional exchange with Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., over the appointment of a special prosecutor because he said the case was "snatched out from under us when we had it 90 per cent complete."

Gulping water constantly, Petersen said "excuse my emotion, but I've been here too long. And this has been a terrible year."

Petersen, who seemed to welcome the opportunity to tell the committee about what he considered was a thorough Watergate probe, also revealed how the President told him to stick with the Watergate probe and not become involved in the break-in of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

He said the warning, which troubled him greatly, was given him by Nixon at a face-to-face meeting shortly after Petersen was told of the Sept. 3, 1971, break-in by principal Assistant U.S. Attorney Earl J. Silbert.

The President said on May 22 he was informed by Kleindienst of the White House-ordered break-in on April 25, a full week after Petersen said he met with Nixon to tell him of the burglary which the President has said he did not authorize.

At his April 18 session with the President, Petersen said he was told that national security reasons precluded his becoming involved. But Petersen said he sought advice from Kleindienst and together they decided to resign if the President did not act.

Kleindienst testified the Tuesday morning the President was "very upset" when Kleindienst told him of the Ellsberg burglary, but agreed the matter should be forwarded to the trial judge in Los Angeles where Ellsberg was on trial for stealing the Pentagon papers. The judge dismissed the case on May 11.

Explosives Maker Enters Guilty Plea

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A man arrested last April when police found 150 pounds of explosives in his garage adjacent to an elementary school has pleaded guilty to manufacturing unregistered explosives.

Joseph F. Budnek Jr., 45, Sun Valley, entered the plea Tuesday and will be sentenced Aug. 27 in U.S. District Court.

Truck Dog Bill Dies

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill requiring pickup truck owners to secure their dogs or other animals to prevent them from falling or jumping from the truck's cargo space was killed Tuesday by the Senate.

State Places More In Working Ranks

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The number of persons placed in jobs by state employment offices in fiscal 1972-73 rose 27 per cent over the previous year to total 491,279.

State Health and Welfare Agency Secretary Earl Brian Tuesday said most of the increase can be attributed to the streamlining of procedures in the field offices last year to "provide faster and more effective placement services."

Skull May Be Alioto's Kin

SAN ANDREAS (UPI) — A skull discovered near the Stanislaus River by a Boy Scout troop Tuesday may be the remains of John Casteel, a missing relative of the wife of San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto.

Calaveras County Sheriff's Sgt. John Alexander said a dental chart comparison would be made for a positive identification.

Casteel, 24, a second cousin to Angelina Alioto, vanished Oct. 5, 1968, just before a snowstorm hit the 7,000-foot elevation campground.

of more than 8 per cent in the total figure for burglary, larceny of $50 and over and auto theft.

The Marin County figures contrast to statewide figures, however. The total crime index increased in California from 942,658 in 1971 to 942,802 in 1972. Crimes against property were down by about 5,000 reports on the state level but an increase of almost 6,000 crimes against persons yielded the net increase in the crime index statewide.

The sharpest decline in Marin was in larceny of $50 and over. The decline of 604 cases of larceny from 2,879 in 1971 to 2,275 in 1972 accounted for the bulk of the decrease in the overall crime index.

Robbery, aggravated assault and auto theft reports also decreased but a slight increase was noted in the number of forcible rapes.

The only large increase in a crime category was in burglary with 228 more reports in 1972 than in 1971.

In breakdowns for city's with population over 10,000, both Novato and San Rafael showed decreases in the number of crimes reported.

Both Marin cities showed an increase in the number of crimes against persons but a larger decrease in the number of crimes against property to allow the net decrease in the crime index.

The other major area of the FBI report related to the number of law enforcement personnel in counties, cities and towns.

Only Belvedere and Sausalito showed a decrease in the number of personnel employed among Marin towns and cities. Larkspur, Mill Valley, Novato, San Anselmo and San Rafael all had increases in law enforcement staff according to the report. Corte Madera and Ross were unchanged.

The Marin total showed a net increase of 98 law enforcement personnel from 305 in 1971 to 403 in 1972.

lock home, nor on the Browning automatic shotgun allegedly sold to Bedayan, or on the gun case and leather bandolier alleged to belong to Bedayan, nor at the Schallock home nor on two cars parked outside.

Bales, clearly trying to show that Bedayan used forethought and wiped the objects clean, steered Erwin into agreeing that prints could be removed from something such as the stock of a shotgun by rubbing with a cloth.

But, under cross-examination by Cox, Erwin also conceded that prints on the shotgun shells could have been obliterated by the heat of firing them from the gun and that prints on the shotgun could have been removed by sliding in the gun case. And, Erwin agreed, fingerprints on the gun case could have been wiped out during handling and transport by investigators.

Scout Camp Finale Attracts 40,000

FARRAGUT STATE PARK, Idaho (UPI) — More than 40,000 scouts and visitors attended the giant arena show Tuesday that ended the National Boy Scout Jamboree-West.

Featured guests were Adm. Elmo Zumwalt Jr., chief of naval operations, and Apollo astronaut Eugene Cernan.

No-Contest Plea In Art Vandalism

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A 60-year-old woman pleaded no contest Tuesday to charges of vandalizing two large oil paintings of reclining nudes at a student art show.

Judge Robert Zarick ordered a probation report on Elaine Winston and continued her case until Aug. 28.

Spider Preserve

BRANDON, England (UPI) — A 40-acre site near Brandon which is noted for its colonies of spiders has been bought by the Suffolk Trust for Nature Conservation as a permanent nature reserve.

Air Base Has A Rabid Bat, County Says

A sick bat which fell out of the rafters at the Hamilton Air Force Base commissary Aug. 3 has been diagnosed as the 21st known rabid animal in Marin this year.

County Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht said the bat, killed by the county humane society, was found to be rabid Tuesday by the State Virus Laboratory in Berkeley.

The animal was picked up with a stick so there was no human exposure, the health officer said.

In 1965 a rabid bat was found in a tree at the base by two small boys. One underwent antirabies treatment when the animal's disease was diagnosed.

Uncle Sam Boosts Cost Of Being Poor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government's poverty line—the level of income below which a family is considered impoverished—has gone up like everything else.

The Labor Department said Tuesday it has reset the poverty line at $4,300 a year for a nonfarm family of four. This is $100 over the last guideline published in December, 1972.

Guilty Plea In 'Ski Mask' Holdup Series

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Wallace Tang, 17, pleaded guilty Tuesday to being a member of a Chinatown "ski mask" gang that robbed a bank.

Inspectors said Tang, who changed his plea from innocent, had been assigned to scoop money from tellers' cash drawers and registers.

Fort Is Turned Into Mansion

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — Puerto Rico's seat of government is La Fortaleza (The Fortress). It was begun in 1533 to help guard the entrance of San Juan from raiding British and Dutch fleets, but proved badly located for a fort and was turned into a governor's mansion.

Its residents have included most of the 100 governors appointed by Spain, three military governors for the United States and, since 1948, three governors elected by the people of Puerto Rico.

Florida Reporting A Population Boom

NEW YORK (UPI) — A population boom that could project Florida as one of the six most populous states in the nation during the 1980s is now under way, according to a bank holding company executive.

Joseph Weintraub, chairman of Miami-based Pan American Bancshares, Inc., said Florida's growth rate in the 1970s should approximate 33 per cent, which is three times the national average. Latest census figures rank Florida ninth in population with 6,789,443 residents.

WATER

McCormick Environmental Group of Novato, consulting engineers for the firm, said U.S. Development Corp., is the first developer to consider landscaping with an eye to water conservation and to plan irrigation for that purpose.

Under the irrigation plan, which will achieve about 43 per cent of the water savings, there will be less lawn and more native plants than usual, slow application of water, morning irrigation and soil moisture control of irrigation, Nelson said.

The moisture of the soil will be measured by sensitive meters which will "click the switch" for irrigation when the lawn is dry. But, Nelson said, they also will be hooked up to time clocks so that watering will take place in the morning, the best time, he said. Sprinklers will have special heads, permitting slow watering, which is best suited to the soil in the Novato area, he added.

The firm also will place about four to six inches of top soil in irrigated areas and four cubic yards of organic material for every 1,000 square feet "to keep the soil open," he said.

Another measure will be the use of low volume flush toilets, which will require less than three gallons per flush as compared to current models which use about seven gallons per flush.

Another water saving is expected from insulation of hot water pipes, which will keep the water warm.

Stuber explained that water is wasted when persons turn on a hot water tap and then run it a while waiting for hot water, a waste that can be reduced by keeping the water warm in the pipes.

Nelson has estimated that the average homeowner uses 22 per cent of his water for flushing toilets, 15 per cent for baths, 10 per cent for laundry and dishes and 3 per cent for drinking and cooking.

An impromptu check of district staff members showed that the average family turns on hot water 36 times a day, he said.

Another water saving is to be achieved by use of low pressure shower heads which will reduce the shower flow rate about two-thirds, Nelson said. Persons are using about 25 gallons a shower and the pressure has been greater than needed, Nelson said.

Stuber said the measures will be an additional expense initially, but eventually will result in less water costs to the consumers.

Nelson said after the first phase of the development is constructed, the district will monitor water usage to determine the effectiveness of the program.

Aside from the water conservation program, U.S. Development is going to install two storage tanks with a capacity of 3.5 million gallons, which will serve the entire 700-unit development.

Oil Slick Tests

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — A series of tests to judge the effectiveness of a new oil slick recovery device began in the Santa Barbara Channel Tuesday.

OBITUARIES

Barbara C. Barnett Dies At 70

Private funeral for Barbara C. Barnett, a longtime Sausalito resident and founder of the Closet Shop in that city, will be 3 p.m. Friday at the Morrison Funeral Chapel in St. Helena.

Mrs. Barnett died Monday in a St. Helena hospital after a long illness. She was 70.

She was born in Wetherby, Yorkshire, England, and came to San Francisco with her parents as a small child.

In 1930 she married Eric T. Barnett and moved to the Los Angeles area where he was employed with United States Steel.

They moved to San Francisco in 1942 and to Sausalito in 1945.

Her husband was active in city affairs and was elected to the city council and chaired the citizen's committee which assisted in drafting the Sausalito master plan.

In 1956 Mrs. Barnett started the Closet Shop on Caledonia Street, which bought and sold used clothes and turned its proceeds to scholarships for the newly founded Marin Country Day School.

She was also active in the Sausalito Women's Club and the Women's Athletic Club of San Francisco.

When her husband retired from U.S. Steel in 1966, they moved from their Sausalito home at 161 Harrison Street to St. Helena.

She is survived by her husband, a son David Barnett of Santa Fe, N.M., and a sister, Mrs. Jules Winkleman of Mill Valley.

Burial will be in St. Helena Cemetery.

RUSSELL BOWELL

Private funeral for Russell J. Bowell of Greenbrae, retired executive for the Brunswick Corp., was held Tuesday in San Anselmo.

Bowell, 81, died Saturday in a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of Argos, Ind., he moved to San Francisco in 1935 and to Marin three years ago. He resided at 501 Via Casitas.

Bowell served as West Coast manager for Brunswick, then became Far Eastern export manager for the firm until his retirement 25 years ago.

He was a member and past president of the San Francisco Rotary Club, founder of the San Francisco Rotary Foundation and former member of the California and Rossmoor golf clubs, Los Angeles Country Club and the Olympic Club. He also was elected to the San Francisco Bowling Hall of Fame.

Bowell is survived by his wife, Gertrude, a daughter, Betty Honeycutt of Beverly Hills; a stepson, Harding McPhun of Greenbrae; a brother, Clyde Bowell of Wyoming and three grandchildren.

Inurnment will be private.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the San Francisco Rotary Foundation.

HOWARD WILKINSON

Howard E. (Pete) Wilkinson, a 20-year Fairfax resident, died Tuesday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness. He was 52.

Wilkinson was born in Sioux City, Iowa, and moved to San Francisco with his family in 1928.

He began study at St. Mary's College in that city, but had to quit to help his parents support a family of ten children by working as a newsboy.

In 1948 he moved to Fairfax and began work in tire service with the Marin Tire Co. on Second Street.

In 1968 he returned to San Francisco and worked with a number of tire companies in South San Francisco.

He is survived by a daughter, Toni J. Wilkinson of Fairfax, and four brothers and four sisters in the Bay Area.

Funeral services will be 10 a.m. Friday at N. Gray and Company, 19th Avenue at Sargent Street, San Francisco. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

MRS. HOLLAND

Carma Lee Holland, an 18-year resident of San Rafael, died Tuesday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 90.

Mrs. Holland was born in Jackson, Miss., and married the late David L. Holland in 1911 in Colorado. They moved to Chicago and he died in that city.

Mrs. Holland then came to California and worked at several vocations. She lived at 512 Las Colindas Road in San Rafael since coming to Marin 18 years ago.

She is survived only by a daughter, Carma R. Holland of San Rafael.

Private funeral was held Tuesday at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

The family prefers memorial contributions to Guide Dogs for the Blind.

RAMONA L. CASSELMAN

Ramona L. Casselman of Greenbrae, wife of KSFO radio news director G. E. (Chet) Casselman, died from cancer yesterday at a local hospital. She was 44.

A 13-year Marin resident, Mrs. Casselman lived with her family at 75 Almenar Drive.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Counts of La Habra, Orange County, a son, Cass and a daughter, Jere.

Graveside service will be Thursday at 1 p.m. at the Loma Vista Cemetery, Fullerton.

ARCHIBALD ROSS

Archibald Rennie Ross of San Rafael died Tuesday at his home after a long illness. He was 58.

He was born and reared in Scotland. He served in the Royal Navy during World War II. He came to San Francisco 20 years ago.

Ross worked as an upholsterer for 18 years for a San Francisco firm. He had lived in Marin County for the past seven years, making his home at 107 Bungalow Avenue.

He was a member of Free and Accepted Masons Lodge No. 679 of Scotland.

He is survived by his wife Maud A. Ross; a daughter, Sandra David of San Rafael; four sons, Angus Ross and David Ross of San Rafael and Kenneth Ross and Thomas Ross of San Francisco and two brothers, William Ross and Sidney Ross both of Scotland.

Funeral will be at 1 p.m., Thursday, at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Inurnment will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

MITZIE JOINS THE PARADE

Mitzie the poodle, all dolled up in a dress and sash, seems only a little reluctant as Deborah Russell, 10, (right) and her mother, Judilanne Russell, led her in the children's pet parade at Corte Madera Town Park. The event Tuesday, one of three in the town, was a feature of the town's summer recreation program for youngsters.

Novato Citizen Group Presses Enactment Of Growth Controls

An ad hoc committee on growth control pressed the Novato City Council Tuesday night to start applying the city's policy of limiting development to 500 dwelling units a year.

Gail Wilhelm, a planning commissioner speaking as a representative of the committee, recommended that a consultant be hired to prepare a growth control ordinance.

If this isn't done, the second choice would be a moratorium on residential construction for about six months while the ordinance is prepared by the city planning staff, she said.

The council next Tuesday will discuss how to act on the general plan, Mayor Fred F. Ruegg reported.

Virginia Haxton, a committee member, said to wait and see the outcome of Petaluma's effort to enforce such a growth policy would give the impression that the city was "dragging its feet."

Mrs. Wilhelm said consultants could study the impact of growth controls of the city, a cost-benefit formula for projects, the availability of community resources to accommodate growth and coordination of growth with capital improvement programs of districts in the area.

Alfred Rivasplata, president of the North Marin Federation of Homeowners, said "with communities to the south and Petaluma" controlling growth, homeowners believe "our situation will get worse." He urged the council to give growth control priority.

The Novato City Council Also:

SENIOR CITIZENS — Approved an agreement with Marin County for senior citizen recreation programs on a 50-50 matching fund basis, with the city to contribute $3,500.

AIRPORT STUDY — Received notice that the Association of Bay Area Governments has recommended approval of the city's request for $20,000 in federal funds for a study of land use at Hamilton Air Force Base.

RENAISSANCE FAIRE — Granted Renaissance Pleasure Faire a business license to operate at Black Point for six weekends starting Sept. 1, pending approval of a use permit.

BICYCLE LICENSE — Increased the bicycle license fee from $1 to $1.50 for the lifetime of the bicycle by a 4-1 vote with Councilman George C. Quesada dissenting.

APARTMENTS — Introduced an ordinance approving a master plan for a triplex on a 10,000 square foot lot at 1639 Novato Boulevard, submitted by Frank Perachiotti.

JOINT USE — Directed City Mgr. Charles A. Brown to notify the state Aeronautics Board of the city's opposition to commercial aviation use at Hamilton Air Force Base, a response to a recommendation from board consultants that the base become a major civil airport.

SPECIAL MEETING — Scheduled a special meeting at 8 p.m. next Wednesday at the Novato Community House on land use at Gnoss Field.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Novato Community House.

Drug Case Guilty Plea; Jail Results

A Tamalpais Valley man who admitted possessing amphetamine when his car was stopped by the California Highway Patrol in November has been sentenced to nine months in jail and placed on probation for two years.

David Carl Duerner, Jr., 21, of 438 Wellesley Avenue, was sentenced Monday by Superior Court Judge Charles R. Best.

Duerner pleaded guilty May 3 to having 17 packets of speed in his car when the highway patrol stopped him on Highway 101 for speeding and erratic driving.

The former cook, dishwasher and laborer had several fresh needle marks on his arms when arrested, according to his probation report which said he has been "extensively involved with narcotics and/or drugs within the recent past."

The report contends Duerner is "poorly motivated . . . and has little inclination to cooperate with those who are trying to help him resolve his problems. "Instead, it seems the defendant has adopted a delinquent lifestyle and prefers to maintain his present pattern of behavior."

Duerner, the report concludes, "is a young man burdened with serious psychological and behavorial problems which render him unable to maintain himself in a satisfactory manner . . ."

Committee Asks A BART Shuttle

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Bay Area Rapid Transit District committee recommended Tuesday that a shuttle service be started between San Francisco and Daly City on the system's trains.

Full service, through a transbay tube to Oakland, will have to be delayed until the system can satisfy the state Public Utilities Commission that its computerized operations are safe.

At present, the system operates only in the East Bay Area.

System operations resumed Monday after a five-week labor contract strike and patronage Tuesday was at 92 per cent of that before the walkout. The day before it had been 84 per cent.

Smog Board Reform Bill To Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation doubling the pay of directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District and making them elected officials was approved Tuesday by the Senate on a 24-7 vote.

The bill, which went to the Assembly without debate, would raise the director's pay from $1,200 to $12,400 a year. Effective in December 1974, the directors would be elected instead of appointed.

Cheda Farms Plan Voted Minus Mix

A master plan or 362 apartment and townhouse units at Cheda Farms, Northeast of South Novato Boulevard, was unanimously approved Tuesday night by the Novato City Council.

By a 3-1 vote, the council delayed until precise plans are submitted a controversial requirement that the developer allot 10 to 15 per cent of the units for low and moderate income families.

Councilman David Price Jones, who favored a vote last night on the housing requirement, dissented. Councilman George C. Quesada said the motion didn't specify distributing the low and moderate income housing throughout the project, leaving open the possibility of creating a ghetto and he abstained.

Quesada also said "it's time the council bites the bullet" on the housing requirement and "not pass the buck."

At a public hearing last week, A. R. Allan, the developer, opposed the requirement for low and moderate income housing as unworkable.

Representatives of the Marin County Housing Authority and Ecumenical Association for Housing told the council last night it could be workable.

Eric Kinsey, a director of the South Novato Homeowners Association, opposed the density of the project on a 50-acre site. It would bring the total of multiple family units in the South Novato area to about 1,800 to 2,000 and would encroach on the area of single family homes, he said.

In another controversial matter, the council continued for four weeks an appeal by Ben Ostlind of San Rafael against plan review committee and planning commission rejection of architectural design of a planned Taco Bell restaurant at Novato Square.

Representatives of the Novato Chamber of Commerce board and the Novato Downtown Merchants Association, noting that Ostlind has encountered long delay on the restaurant, urged that the council approve the design or state specifically what architectural changes would be acceptable.

Gordon L. Lee, chamber president, said lack of specific direction from the plan review committee or planning commission has resulted in unreasonable delay.

The standard architecture of the Taco Bell building has been under fire during the review process. Ostlind said he has made almost all the changes requested, but he didn't believe Taco Bell would change the basic mission architecture.

Quesada said, "I don't think we need to accept this standard cookie cutter type of design," and Councilman Jones said other chain restaurants at Novato Square have modified their standard buildings to gain city approval.

The council returned the design to the plan review committee for specific directions, which Taco Bell could consider.

Quesada mentioned that Jones, an attorney, had represented Taco Bell in Mill Valley at one time and there might be a conflict of interest.

Jones said "it was about five or six years ago" and he hadn't had "any contact with Taco Bell since, so I don't feel there is any connection."

After protests from about 10 property owners, the council voted 3-2 to introduce an ordinance to change the minimum lot size in agricultural districts from 7,500 square feet to two acres, or 77,120 square feet.

Mayor Fred F. Ruegg and Councilman Dorothy P. Young dissented.

Planning Director Brian W. Mattson described the two-acre designation as a "holding action" pending rezoning of individual parcels to bring them into conformance with the city's general plan. The land involved has been designated "hill and canyon residential" in the general plan, with density depending upon slope.

Property owners said the two-acre designation was unreasonable and unfair and several preferred a one-acre designation.

Ruegg said the proposed ordinance would be confusing and would offer "opportunity for misunderstanding on the part of the public and homeowners."

Burglar Draws A 4-Month Term

A San Rafael man who admitted attempted burglary of a San Rafael home in November of 1970 has been sentenced to four months in jail and placed on three years probation.

Henry Jackson Jr., 24, who went to Louisiana to visit relatives in December 1970 while his Marin case was pending and drew a prison term for a burglary there, was sentenced Monday by Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Superior Court.

Jackson spent almost two years in a Louisiana penitentiary, was released in April 1973 and arrested in Marin by the California Highway Patrol when a check revealed he was wanted by local authorities.

Jackson pleaded guilty July 9 to the attempted burglary of the home of Bryce W. Anderson, Independent-Journal executive editor.

He is also suspected of involvement in 18 burglary and prowler incidents in the west end of San Rafael between September and November of 1970.

Pianist Will Play For Music Chest

Pianist Jeffrey Siegel will perform at 2:30 p.m., Sept. 30 at the Marin Veteran's Memorial Auditorium under the sponsorship of the Marin Music Chest.

This concert will replace the July 22 concert when Christoph Eschenback, pianist, failed to appear for the concert.

COMMUNIST PUSH CONTINUES

A Buddhist statue along Highway One outside Phnom Penh served as an observation post for a Cambodian soldier last week. Since this photo, Communist forces have pushed steadily inward toward troops defending Phnom Penh. Yesterday, in heavy fighting, the communists briefly cut one of the two remaining supply lines into the embattled city, and forced the abandonment of a government radio station near the airport.

Foe Of Park Taken From Tokyo Hotel

TOKYO (UPI) — A former South Korean presidential candidate was kidnaped from his hotel today according to his friends and Japanese police ordered "precautionary measures" taken at the Tokyo airport to prevent him from being taken out of Japan.

Kim Dae Jung, an opponent of Korean President Park Chung Hee who has been in a self-imposed exile in the United States, had been in Tokyo since late July and was in contact with opponents of President Park.

Kim, 48, opposed Park in South Korea's last direct popular presidential election in 1971. Running under the standard of the opposition New Democratic party, Kim received 5.39 million votes against 6.34 million cast for Park.

An active opponent of Park in the United States and a friend of the missing man, Dr. Channing Liem, said Kim was abducted by five men about 1:30 p.m. (12:30 a.m. EDT) as Kim left a luncheon in a private room. Liem is a professor of political science at the New Paltz, N.Y. campus of the New York State University.

North Ridge Land Purchase Approved

Marin supervisors, acting as directors of the county regional park and open space district moved swiftly Tuesday to acquire the first piece of property for the proposed North Ridge open space area.

Supervisors unanimously voted to buy 33.78 acres of land uphill of Camino Alto, within the City of Mill Valley, at a price of $200,000. The actual county cash outlay will be only $175,000; the seller, Trans-Pac Capital Fund, Inc., owes $25,000 in county taxes which will be written off, according to Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director.

Lawrence John Walters of Greenbrae, representing the seller explained that had the county not bought the land, he would have had to rush before Mill Valley city officials to clear subdivision plans and thus beat the Marin Municipal Water District's Aug. 27 deadline for new water connections.

The seller's appraiser had valued the land at $250,000; county real estate experts recommended the purchase at $200,000.

The Mill Valley City Council already is on record favoring inclusion of the land in the North Ridge open space area, Joske said. He said the city planning commission will be asked to approve the open space plans as a state-required formality, later this month.

Pact Awarded For Runway

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A $3.1 million runway extension contract for San Francisco International Airport was awarded Tuesday by the Airports Commission.

The plan would reduce aircraft takeoffs over South San Francisco, San Bruno and Brisbane and shift approaching planes 1,000 feet further east over San Francisco Bay and away from Daly City.

The project was termed "an important environmental protection" step in the expansion plan for the airport.

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Actor Harry Guardino married Revlon cosmetics heiress Jennifer Revson Tuesday at the Little Brown Church of the Valley.

Protest By Fishermen To Pollution

TOKYO (UPI) — Hundreds of fishermen today joined a blockade of chemical plants, demanding more than $67 million in compensation from the plants they claim have polluted their fishing grounds with mercury.

The blockade started Tuesday in western Japan and spread today to the Chiba coastal area east of Tokyo.

An estimated 100 fishing boats formed a blockade around private piers of three chemical firms in separate ports of Chiba at noon, and more than 100 fishermen demonstrated at the gates of the companies.

The movement began Tuesday at Minamata, a city on Kyushu Island in Western Japan, where 500 fishermen blockaded Chisso Corp., a petrochemical firm, demanding $57 million in compensation for their losses caused by the pollution.

Spokesmen for the fishing cooperatives claim that the plants caused huge losses to the fishing industry by dumping mercury wastes into the seas around Japan, contaminating fish which cannot be sold.

Social Economist Picked For Human Rights Panel

Robert Lee Grant, 35, of Tiburon was appointed to the Marin County Human Rights Commission by the county supervisors Tuesday.

Grant is a social economist and management consultant, who also is teaching advanced courses in social research and contemporary black political life at the University of California in Berkeley.

He has been a special assistant to the secretary of the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development for model cities programs, an official for the United Nations Childrens Fund, director of University People to People programs in Sweden and Germany and a California manpower consultant.

Educated at Queens College in New York, the Sorbonne in Paris and in Sweden, he holds a doctorate from the University of Stockholm, and speaks several languages.

Grant, who lives at 139 Barbaree Way in Tiburon, is single.

His appointment fills the vacancy created last week by the resignation of Rev. J. Barton Sarjeant of Sausalito.

Inmate Given Another Term

A San Quentin inmate has been found guilty of possessing a knife in prision and sentenced to at least three additional years in prison.

A Marin Superior Court jury returned the verdict Monday against Charles E. Fryson, 22, and Judge Joseph G. Wilson gave Fryson the prison term.

Fryson was serving a five-year-to-life sentence at San Quentin for a second degree murder conviction in Los Angeles when he was caught on March 18 with a hand-made knife, an 11-inch steel rod sharpened to a point.

Wilson ordered Fryson's new term to begin after his current one ends.

More Gas Stations Operating Normally

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than half the gasoline stations surveyed by the American Automobile Association were operating normally this week, the AAA reported Tuesday.

The AAA said 53 per cent of the stations reported normal operations, the best showing of the summer and four percentage points higher than the previous week.

Truck Produce Vendors Face Policing In Marin

After a series of flip-flops, Marin County officials decided on Tuesday that they can and should police produce vendors who peddle from the back of their trucks.

The board of supervisors unanimously approved recommendations by William L. Desmond, director of the county health department's environmental control division, that each truck be charged an $8 annual fee and the operator be subjected to county health codes.

If the vendor has a separate storage place to keep the produce he peddles from the truck, the county will charge a $50 fee to finance inspection of the storage facility.

Desmond reported that he, Deputy County Counsel George Sylvestri and Michael Chrystal of the county administrator's staff met last Thursday to review whether a new state law actually had preempted control of the produce trucks. The county should continue in control, Desmond reported, because the state has not yet drafted regulations to enforce its new law.

Board Chairman Arnold M. Baptiste had asked for county action on the produce trucks

The Marin Board Of Supervisors Also:

LAGOON — Voted 3-1 with Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. absent, to grant a partial exemption to the county ordinance requiring fencing of artificial bodies of water, for a proposed lagoon in the Venetia Cove subdivision off North San Pedro Road. Only the end closest to the bicycle path and Gallinas School need be fenced, the board decided.

AUDITORIUM — Approved change orders calling for $30,048 more outlay to pave and extend North Drive around the Marin Veterans Memorial Building to the fairgrounds, and $2,431 to heighten light standards due to repaving of the auditorium parking lot.

ORCHESTRA PICCOLA — Praised the Orchestra Piccola and its conductor Hugo Rinaldi for their recent successful European trip, voted to assist the youth orchestra's "welcome home" concert set for 8 p.m. Sept. 6 in the Marin Veterans Memorial Building. The board transferred $175 from reserves to the auditorium account to pay the rent for the concert and approved another $175 to meet box office and printing expenses.

FURNITURE STORE — Overruled county planning commission denial of plans for a store for the Ethan Allen Furniture Co. chain, on the frontage road just north of the Tiburon Boulevard-Highway 101 intersection.

VERONDA RANCH — Continued to 3 p.m. Sept. 4, a hearing on appeals by Sonoma County and owner Charmaine Veronda against planning commission decisions on her proposed land division.

COUNCIL OAK RANCH — Continued to Aug. 14 the hearing of Worth Bayles's appeal against planning commission denial of a tentative map for a 31-lot subdivision near the Cheese Factory, west of Novato.

DOCKS — Asked the Army Corps of Engineers to extend to Sept. 1 the deadline for public reaction to Gordon Smith's application to build floating docks for 10 homesites alongside Richardson Bay, to allow time for the Strawberry Planning Council to react.

TRAFFIC — Created a no-parking zone on both sides of Douglas Drive for 60 feet southward from its intersection with Edgewood Avenue in the Mill Valley area, to solve traffic hazards. Also prohibited eastbound traffic on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from making left turns into the Circle V stables west of Fairfax.

CLAIMS — Denied a $2.5 million claim by Gordon Lewis Johnson Jr. of 260 Spencer Avenue, Sausalito, who alleged he was beaten up by Marin County Jail deputies May 5 and a $1,002,400 claim by Mark Greving of 49 Valencia Street, San Rafael, for county failure to diagnose rabies in a horse to which Gerving had been exposed.

AIRPORT ACCESS — Postponed one week, action on a proposed resolution asking the state Division of Highways to close the Airport Drive access to Gnoss Field from Highway 101.

OPEN SPACE — Approved formation of the Santa Margarita-Las Gallinas County Service Area No. 18, and declared intention to hold a bond election Nov. 6 to finance purchase of open space land in the area.

AIRPORT USE PANEL — Asked for City of Novato and Marin County Aviation Commission recommendations by Sept. 1 on formation of a state-required airport land use commission, which would have planning jurisdiction for several miles around Gnoss Field. The county administrator's office recommended designation of the county planning commission as the agency. The requirement is creating "a holocaust" of opposition in North Marin, Chairman Arnold M. Baptiste said.

BALANCED TRANSPORTATION — Asked staff to draft new recommendations on composition of the proposed governing board for the regional transit plan, and the advisory panel for the Golden Gate National Recreation Area recreational travel study. Public Works Director Ray W. Foreaker Jr. was designated project director for the planning work.

RICHARDSON BAY — Asked the state Division of Highways to postpone negotiations with a restaurant operator to use the state's surplus five acres at the south end of the Richardson Bay Bridge, to allow negotiation for use of the land for commuter and Golden Gate National Recreation Area tourist parking.

ADJOURNED — To 9 a.m. Aug. 14.

City, Police Sued Over Youth's Death

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — Relatives of a 23-year-old man shot to death by policemen have filed a $1.2 million damage claim against the city and two of its police officers.

The action filed Tuesday concerned the death of Mario Romero, of Riverside, who was shot as he ran from officers attempting to arrest him on marijuana charges. Romero was unarmed at the time and had an arm in a cast.

Lockyer Doesn't Avoid A Runoff

OAKLAND (UPI) — Bill Lockyer polled almost half the votes Tuesday but still will have to win a runoff election to succeed the late Robert W. Crown as 14th District assemblyman.

With all 202 precincts counted, Lockyer won 12,798 of the 28,835 votes cast. If he had won 1,620 more, he would have had a majority and would have escaped the runoff.

The Democrat will face William M. McCall, the only Republican candidate, and Robert Evans, the only Peace and Freedom Party candidate. All the other candidates in the primary were Democrats.

Limited Agreement On Merger Talks

CAIRO (UPI) — Four days of high-level negotiations in Tripoli on terms of the projected merger of Libya and Egypt have achieved only a limited measure of agreement, Egyptian political sources said today.

The sources said Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy have scheduled another meeting for the third week of July to try to iron out remaining differences. They did not know whether the meeting would be in Cairo or Tripoli.

Computer Purchase Set For County Library Use

A computer, by sometime in 1975, will cut off Marin County Library privileges for those tardy in returning books.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday approved a $181,260 library computerization program asked by County Librarian Bruce D. Bajema.

The electronic brain to be bought from Computer Library Services Inc. of Wellesley Hills, Mass., will do so many chores it will eliminate 2.5 persons on the staff and save at least $8,000 a year operating costs, even after the annual $38,000 installment payment on the computer, Bajema predicted.

The gadget will maintain a detailed inventory, mail notices to patrons who request books, notify tardy book-returners and forbid them to check out more books, and tell a patron instantly when a book is available at another branch.

Bajema said he will invite San Rafael, Mill Valley, Sausalito, San Anselmo and Larkspur to participate in use of the mechanical librarian.

Vandals Chop Up A Golf Course

BERKELEY (UPI) — All 18 greens of the Tilden Park golf course in the Berkeley hills were chopped up by vandals Tuesday, putting the East Bay Regional Park district course out of commission.

Damge was estimated at between $7,000 and $27,000 by golf course superintendent Marv King.

The putting greens were carved up and neatly dug cuts near the clubhouse had formed words in five foot letters reading: "The Hellfire Club."

The Robbs Move

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Mrs. Lynda Bird Johnson, daughter of the late President Lyndon Johnson, and her husband Charles have moved into a four-bedroom home.

Human Pack-Animal Custom Attacked

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — Labor Minister Pedro Sala said Tuesday he will try to end a custom in Peruvian mountain areas of using humans as pack animals.

The custom is hundreds of years old and persists chiefly because it is cheaper to use humans — often Indians — than mules.

PUP SURVIVES TENEMENT TRAGEDY

New York City Fireman Joseph Shreck carries a brown and white mongrel from the site of an old hotel's collapse that killed two persons and left four missing. Shreck spotted the dog Dino dangling by its lead from a power shovel loaded with debris yesterday, during cleanup of the rubble. The dog had survived 84 hours since the University Hotel, occupied mainly by welfare recipients, collapsed. Dino's owner, Edwin Brown, who also survived, gave the dog to firemen for a mascot. Novato Unified School Trustees Adopt Budget

Novato Unified School District trustees Tuesday night adopted an $11,701,771 budget for fiscal 1973-74, up $110,945 from the $11,590,826 preliminary budget published in advance of the public hearing.

The vote was 6-to-0 with trustee Ronald D. Schenck absent.

Supt. James D. Bunker said that changes in the budget may still result from interpretation of recent legislation, from any decision on salaries to be made by the board and from changes in enrollment resulting from use of Hamilton Air Force Base by the military.

He said that the tax rate would drop somewhere around 30 to 40 cents per $100 assessed valuation from the current $5.13 rate.

Eugene DeBrecht, assistant superintendent in charge of business, pointed out some of the large additions to the budget as $58,343 in teacher aids and books for Sinaloa Junior High School library, $46,969 in teacher retirement and $35,226 in early childhood education. The largest single deduction in the income budget was $45,014 in state textbooks, he said. All together there were 16 changes in the final income budget from the publication budget.

In the expense portion of the budget, $86,603 was added to instruction, $32,670 to fixed charges and the balance to make the $110,949 in miscellaneous expenses.

At the suggestion of Bunker, the board transferred $100,000 from undistributed reserve to the general fund.

The Novato Unified School District board also:

BUILDING — Received no bids to sell $330,000 in bonds to finance an addition to Novato High School's auto shop, but asked staff to call for bids on the job anyway, to be opened Aug. 23, and set a special meeting at 5 p.m., Aug. 24, in the administration building to figure out how to pay for it. It canceled Friday's special meeting on the building program.

STEPS — Approved construction of steps from the parking lot to the baseball field at San Marin High School to cost no more than $1,200 and asked for volunteer help from interested persons.

ADULT — Approved offering 60 courses in the adult evening high school for the coming year.

RECORDING — Turned down a proposal to install a special recording device to give school announcements 24 hours a day on a special telephone.

TALENTED — Approved an agreement at $400 per year with the College of Marin to take 40 students in its talented students program starting Oct. 1.

PERSONNEL — Accepted the resignation of Judith Gondola from San Marin High School and hired James Naugle for the same school; granted disability retirement to Eilleen Johnston and William Washburn, and granted a one-year leave to Kathleen Ecker, Hamilton School.

MARION SCHOOL — Trustee Betty Machado reported receiving a letter from Pierre W. Joske, Marin County Parks and Recreation director, suggesting that the Novato Unified School District convey the playgrounds of Marion School along Grant Avenue to the City of Novato to be used as open space.

CLOSED — Heard Trustee Machado state that she would not attend closed meetings on salary negotiations as she felt that it violated the preamble of the Ralph M. Brown Act. The remaining trustees went into closed session to instruct negotiators in salary negotiations.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to regular meeting at 8 p.m., Aug. 21, at the Novato High School lecture hall.

Hearing Set In Saddle Shop Case

A San Rafael man joined two other persons Tuesday in denying involvement in the theft of $2,270 worth of goods from the Taveggia-Brusati Sport and Saddle Shop in San Rafael.

A preliminary hearing for Richard James Giakovmis, 19, was set for Tuesday by Municipal Judge Gary W. Thomas.

He is charged with burglary, concealing stolen property, possessing a hypodermic needle and a misdemeanor count of credit card forgery.

Preliminary hearings for two others who have pleaded innocent involvement in the burglary also have been set. Mynelle Glenny Griswold, 19, of San Rafael, will appear in court Tuesday, while Moelin Smith, 27, of Marin City, will have a hearing Thursday.

The three are said to have stolen guns, knives and leather jackets, pants and boots from the shop on June 3. San Rafael police said Giakovmis had in his possession a leather belt, four tape recorders, a copying machine, two hypodermic needles and other narcotics paraphernalia when arrested last Wednesday.

Nevadan Moves To Tax Free Drinks

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — The Nevada Tax Commission wants to make sure it collects tax on every cherry, olive or lemon twist served in drinks by gambling casinos.

Jack Sheehan, executive secretary of the commission, proposed a rule Tuesday that the use tax apply to all items involved in complimentary drinks and meals given away by gambling clubs. Final action on the proposal was postponed.

ARTHUR A. CHARTOCK
Makes commission bid

Applicant Wants Quiet Preserved

(One of a series of stories on applicants for a vacant seat on the Fairfax Planning Commission)

Arthur A. Chartock is seeking appointment to the Fairfax Planning Commission because he wants to preserve the town's "quiet, countrylike atmosphere."

Chartock, who moved to the town from Berkeley seven months ago, is one of two applicants for a vacancy on the commission created by the resignation of Gloria Duncan. Deadline for filing applications is 5 p.m., Sept. 3, in town hall, according to the town administration.

The 33-year-old Chartock, who received master's honors in architecture from the University of Oregon, is a member of the Chang Partnership, a Berkeley architectural and planning firm.

Chartock cited his planning job as an asset, but noted he has not lived in the town long enough "to become familiar with the various controversies." He said he was unfamiliar with the Canon Village and Tennis Club development, the history of Max Freidman's Marin Town and Country Club property, and has not yet read the report of the Citizens' Committee For Review of the Fairfax General Plan.

In addition, he said he is not acquainted with the town's political personalijies.

He said he is seeking appointment to the commission because of a genuine interest in the city and because a commission seat will help in his personal development as a planner.

He said he wants to keep the downtown area "contained," opposes widening Center or Sir Francis Drake boulevards, and supports conversion of the Fairfax Parkade into a landscaped park and parking lot.

"I want to preserve Fairfax's rural atmosphere," he said.

San Rafael Man Is Ruled Insane

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — San Rafael mechanic Lawrence Charles Brown, 35, has been ruled insane by a San Francisco Superior Court Judge, and a murder charge against him has been dropped.

Judge S. Lee Vavuris committed Brown to the Atascadero State Mental Institution after a court psychiatrist, Dr. Dean Cook, Monday said tests showed Brown to be insane.

Brown, of 3550 Redwood Highway, was accused of shooting 47-year-old Harold Mayfield to death outside the Rattlers Motorcycle Club on Ellis Street April 5.

Dropped along with the murder count was a charged of being a felon carrying a gun.

Streptococcus Still Tops Disease List

With 49 cases reported last week, streptococcus infection was again the most prevalent communicable disease in Marin County, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

There were 35 cases of gonorrhea, three of infectious hepatitis and one each of syphillis and tuberculosis.

Shelter Hill House Plan In Trouble

Design of the Shelter Hill low and moderate income housing development was rejected Tuesday night by the Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee on the grounds that it requires too much walking up and down stairs for family living.

According to Robert J. Hanna, associate planner, the design includes 72 units in 12 buildings, each with about five flights of stairs.

The development which would be just below Shelter Ridge off Highway 101 now will either have to be redesigned or its sponsors will have to appeal the decision to the planning commission.

It is sponsored by the Interfaith Housing Foundation, a group of Mill Valley churches, which expects to receive a federally subsidized housing loan.

Hanna said the committee also complained that an emergency access road below the project might end up being used as a parking spot for residents unless it was redesigned.

Also Tuesday night, the committee approved landscaping and working drawings for the Richardson Bay apartments. Developer Sanford Diller plans to build this 180-unit complex behind the Shelter Bay apartments on Richardson Bay.

Runaway Is Sought In San Rafael

The mother of a missing Marin girl, Cindy Long, 16, has come to California seeking her daughter and is asking the girl to contact her.

Miss Long, who ran away from a foster home about a month ago, has been reported seen in San Rafael. She is described as having long, light brown hair, blue eyes and about 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighing 145 pounds.

Her mother, Janice Lee Long, said she has not seen her daughter in five years and wants her to contact her at the grandmother's home, Mrs. Les Jarvis, in San Lorenzo.

Fairfax Schools' Budget, Tax Rate Both Increase

The Fairfax School District board Tuesday night adopted a $1,334,188 budget for 1973-74, up $52,884 from last fiscal year's $1,281,304 spending program.

The budget, which includes funds for pay increases for district employees, is expected to require a tax rate of $4.19 per $100 of assessed valuation, up 35 cents from last fiscal year's $3.84 rate.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond, who had once predicted the district would be required to levy a $4.72 tax rate, said the actual rate will be lower because a trailer bill to SB 90, the state tax shift and school finance law, will pump more money into the district.

Hammond said the budget includes funds for district bus transportation, which had been originally cut from the proposal.

The budget provides for the equivalent of 69.3 full-time employees and is based on estimated enrollment next fall of 970 pupils, 20 less than last fall.

Hammond, who described the spending program as "adequate," said no resident appeared at the meeting for the budget hearing.

The Fairfax School District board also:

INSURANCE — Said the district will retain its current insurance program, but may consider a new program next year.

WHITE HILL — Accepted the resignaion of Elaine Lannert, secretary at White Hill School, and called for applications for a replacement.

ADMINISTRATOR — Appointed Miriam Zellers of 192 Tamalpais Road as assistant to the principal at Deer Park and Central schools, a position that pays $8,124 annually.

PORTABLE — Said the county will pay the district $1,800 for maintenance of a jointly-used portable classroom at White Hill School.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Noted summer school enrollment was 264 pupils, down from 311 last year.

MEET — Said trustees will meet with the inservice steering committee at 8 p.m. Sept. 5 in White Hill School.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:45 p.m. Aug. 21 in White Hill School.

Panther Ruled Sane By Judge

OAKLAND (UPI) — Jurors took three hours Tuesday to decide that a former Black Panther Party voter registrar was sane when he killed a 59-year-old pensioner.

The same jury the day before had convicted Harold Holmes, 24, in the shooting of Anthony Costa on Feb. 17.

Judge Harold Hove said he would pronounce sentence this month.

Public Hearing Set For Sewer Charge

Mill Valley's sewer service charge will be the subject of a public hearing before the city council tonight at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Following the hearing the council will determine whether the sewer charge it adopted in June is to be placed on the tax rolls this fall, according to City Mgr. William H. Cunningham.

State law requires a public hearing when a lien is placed on property, he said, but it could not be held until the city had filed a complete list of the charges for individual parcels.

The charge would cost the average single family home owner $3.40 a month.

An apartment building would be charged $3.40 a month for its first unit and $2.50 each for all others. A commercial building would pay $3.40 for its first 500 square feet of space and $1.75 for each additional 500 square feet. Bars, service stations and restaurants would pay higher rates.

The charges would raise about $220,000 annually which the city plans to use to upgrade sewer lines.

Developers Can Build Until Appeal Heard

The Sonoma Superior Court Tuesday handed the developer of the controversial 1,600-home Bodega Bay subdivision a temporary victory.

Judge Lincoln F. Mahan ordered a stay of all suits aimed at halting construction until after the state coastal commission rules on September 5 whether to exempt the property from Proposition 20 permit requirements.

At that time, the state commission will have before it the developer's appeal of the North Central Coast Regional Conservation Commission's refusal to exempt it.

The regional commission, under temporary order by Sonoma Superior Court Judge John H. Moskowitz to do nothing to prevent Transcentury Properties from proceeding with development, had asked Judge Mahan for permission to sue to halt development until the state commission acts.

Judge Mahan said his decision was based on the principle that existing administrative remedies should be exhausted before seeking court remedy.

If the state commission sustains the regional commission and denies an exemption, he said the developer will then have to return to court to get permission to continue.

(The state coastal commission has never overruled a regional commission's denial of an exemption or a permit.)

He said that court appeal from Transcentury, if it is denied an exemption, would have to demonstrate that it has a "vested interest" in continuing — that it had progressed a significant distance in beginning construction and gathering permits, and that its actions were "in good faith."

Left unclear is the status of a hearing set for Thursday in Santa Clara County Superior Court to consider issuance of a permanent injunction against Transcentury.

Judge Paul T. Gallagher of Santa Clara had previously issued a temporary restraining order at the request of the citizen group Coastal Alliance.

He vacated that order on learning that Transcentury had obtained an order, preceding his by a few hours, from Sonoma County Superior Court temporarily barring action against its construction.

For Today's Woman

By Carol Drake
Food Consultant

If you're eating a lot of rice at your house, it makes good sense! Rice is an ideal extender for meat, cheese and seafood dishes. Because of its bland flavor, rice is a perfect accompaniment for many exotic dishes. An excellent source of carbohydrates, rice is also an important source of iron and B-complex vitamins. Low in sodium and cholesterol content, rice has only a trace of fat. Its low fiber content makes rice 98% digestible. So you see while you're using rice to help reduce food costs, you're also providing valuable nutrients for your family.

If you cook extra portions of meals for future use, remember that rice freezes very well. Because it comes in many different forms, take time to read package instructions and decide which is best for your needs. Last night, I browned thin-cut round steak in a little hot oil, added salt, pepper, dehydrated vegetable flakes and onion flakes, along with a little white wine and just enough water to cover. When almost done, mushrooms were added. Served over instant rice with a tossed green salad, the meal was well received. Last week, rice-raisin pudding was on our menu . . . my gang loves this old-fashioned dessert served with Lucerne Half and Half!

At Mayfair
You save more on food

Uncle Sam helps us prove that at Mayfair last week food cost less than at 8 other top chains.

Again last week, we compared food prices with the major supermarkets in this area.

"Specials", "total discount", and most other kinds of prices were compared. In this survey of July 21 to August 1, Mayfair's overall food prices were lower than eight other top supermarket chains'.

To try to be fair, the comparisons were again with Uncle Sam's list, the same full list of items that the U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, uses every month to measure food prices as part of the cost of living.

These comparisons show you could have saved from $1.13 to $5.95 on the some $50 worth of basic foods in this list.

With the high cost of living these days, really, can you afford not to buy your food at Mayfair?

COOKBOOK PREPARED

Police Wives Share Some Recipes

Favorite recipes of San Rafael policemen are included in a cookbook compiled by members of the San Rafael Police Wives Association.

Profits from the sale of the cookbooks will go toward police academy scholarships, which members hope to increase to $500 next year. Ramona O'Brien of San Rafael is chairman of the sale. Books are available from members of the association, who may be reached through the San Rafael Police Department.

Some of the recipes:

WATERCRESS SOUP

2 bunches watercress
2 thick slices onion
1 (3-inch) piece celery
1 tbsp. cornstarch
1 tbsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
3 cups chicken bouillon
1 large can evaporated milk
2 tbsp. butter

Remove leaves from stems of cress. Place leaves, onions, celery, cornstarch, sugar, salt and two cups bouillon in blender until smooth. Place in saucepan and add remaining cup bouillon. Bring to boil. Reduce heat, cook for 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Add evaporated milk and butter, and simmer for five minutes. Serves six.

ARTICHOKE FRITATA

4 eggs
6 soda crackers, crushed
½ lb. sharp Cheddar cheese, grated
2 jars marinated artichoke hearts, chopped
½ onion, chopped fine
Salt and pepper

Saute onion in a little oil from artichokes. Beat eggs and add other ingredients, one at a time. Grease 8x8 inch square pan, or any other pan which will accommodate recipe. Spread batter in pan and bake at 325 degrees for 35 to 45 minutes. Drain any excess oil after removing from oven. Cut into serving pieces. Serve warm or cold. May be frozen and reheated at above temperature for 30 minutes to one hour.

AMORTAJADA FISH POTPOURRI

2 lb. rock fish (rock cod, bass or red snapper)
½ cup prepared pancake mix
2 Tbsp. salad oil
2 med. onions
2 green peppers, seeded and cut in rings
2 stalks celery
3 tomatoes, peeled and cut in quarters
1 clove garlic
1 tsp. salt
Dash pepper
3 (8 oz.) cans tomato sauce
2 Tbsp. lime juice
½ tsp. liquid hot pepper seasoning

Shake fish, a few fillets at a time, in a bag with pancake mix; shake off excess. Heat oil in Dutch oven over medium heat; put in as many fillets at a time as fit without crowding, and saute until browned on both sides. Set aside. Add oil as needed to brown remaining fillets.

When all fish is brown, return to pan and put onion, green pepper, celery, tomatoes and garlic over the top. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and pour over tomato sauce, lime juice and hot pepper seasoning. Cover and simmer over very low heat 20 to 30 minutes, or until fish flakes easily. Serves eight.

SPINACH CASSEROLE

3 pkg. frozen chopped spinach
½ pt. sour cream
1 (1½ oz.) pkg. onion soup mix
½ tsp. salt
Canned fried onions

Cook spinach in boiling, salted water; drain. Turn into blender sour cream, soup mix and salt until smooth. Mix with spinach and turn into greased casserole. Bake in 325-degree oven for 20 minutes. Top with canned fried onions.

Cooking Ideas For Tongue And Kidneys

More people would probably eat cooked tongue and kidneys at home if they knew how to prepare them well, believes Peggy Hopkins, home economist for the North Bay Division, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Rafael.

Mrs. Hopkins offers some cooking ideas for tongue and stewed kidneys dish using beef or veal to add to the cooking repertory for variety.

JELLIED CALVES' TONGUE

3 fresh tongues
1 small onion, sliced
½ cup diced celery
1 slice lemon
12 peppercorns
½ bay leaf
1 teaspoon salt
1 bouillon cube
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt
Pepper
1 tablespoon gelatine
¼ cup cold water

Scrub the tongues in water; put in a deep kettle with the celery, onion, lemon, peppercorns, bay leaf, and salt. Cover with boiling water; simmer gently until tongues are tender when tested with a fork (about two hours). Remove the tongues from the stock to cool. Strain the stock through wet cheesecloth; measure and concentrate by boiling if necessary until it measures one and one-fourth cups. Dissolve the bouillon cube in the hot stock; add salt and papper if needed.

While the stock is being concentrated, remove the skin, tubes, and connective tissue from the tongues; arrange in a mold. Soak the gelatine in one-fourth cup of cold water for five minutes; dissolve in the boiling stock; pour around the tongues in the mold. Chill until firm. Unmold; garnish with watercress or parsley.

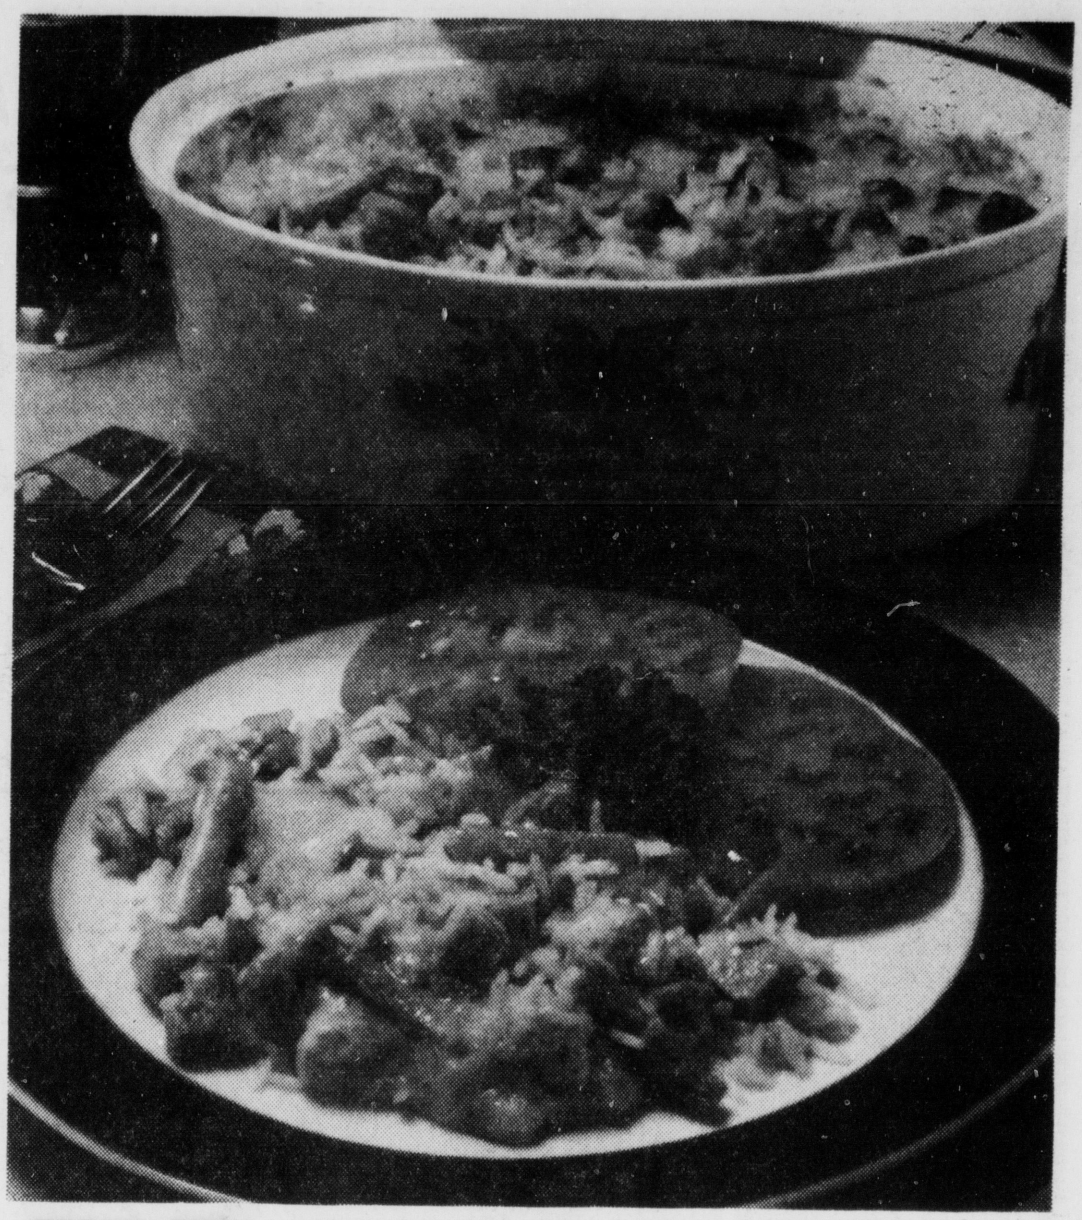
CALF OR LAMB TONGUE WITH VEGETABLES

Select a calf tongue or several lamb tongues. Cover with water, bring to the boiling point, and simmer for about two hours. Drain, remove skin and gristle, and lay the skinned tongue in a large baking dish. In the meantime, cook about one and one-half quarts of sliced vegetables (onion, celery, carrots, potatoes, and green pepper) in about two tablespoons of fat for a few minutes. Season with salt and pepper. Put the vegetables over and around the tongue in the baking dish and add one cup hot water. Cover the baking dish and cook in 375 degree oven for about one hour or until the meat is tender. Make gravy with the drippings.

STEWED KIDNEYS

3 cups veal or beef kidneys
2 bay leaves
½ lemon
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons fat

Split the kidneys and cut out the hard, white substances and fat from the center. Wash them well and soak for three or four hours in cold water, changing the water as soon as it becomes



HERE'S THE casserole for the busy person — green bean casserole. All ingredients except cheddar are in cans, ready to be assembled minutes before baking. The rice can be cooked the day before and kept in the refrigerator to save additional time.

Green Bean Casserole Can Be Whipped Up At The Last Minute

Finally, a recipe with mostly canned ingredients that can be whipped up at the last minute.

Green bean casserole is economical, too.

Since the meat, rice and vegetable are baked together in the casserole, the only other thing you'll need to serve is a salad — sliced tomatoes. But canned peach halves would be equally attractive, and the flavor would go well with the casserole.

All you need is a box of rice and cans of condensed mushroom soup, green beans and luncheon meat. Then onions, seasonings and cheese transform the separate parts into a tasty dinner for six.

Realizing that not all families need a recipe for six servings, a separate recipe for 3 servings is included. It is economical only if the whole casserole is eaten, so just prepare the amount you need. The servings given are generous.

GREEN BEAN CASSEROLE

1 cup finely chopped onions
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (10¾ oz.) condensed cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
2 cups cooked rice
1 can (16 oz.) cut green beans, drained
1 can (12 oz.) diced luncheon meat
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon liquid pepper sauce
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese

Saute onions in butter until soft but not brown. Stir in soup; heat about two minutes. Add rice, beans, luncheon meat, and seasonings. Turn into a buttered shallow two-quart casserole. Top with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Makes six servings.

TAKING A leaf from the Italian cuisine, this fresh peach cheesecake uses the lower caloried ricotta for the light cake with fruit approach of the Italian dessert.

Ricotta Cheese Is Major Key To This Low Calorie Cheesecake

It is possible to have your cheesecake and eat it too — without the usual zillion calories a slice. This Italian-inspired cheesecake manages the trick nicely thanks to ricotta cheese and fresh peaches.

The use of ricotta, the classic Italian low-fat "cottage cheese," in this cheesecake makes it rich-tasting — but lessens the caloric load considerably. (The cheese is readily available but if you can't find any, just substitute low-fat cottage cheese.) The ripe peaches add their own special juiciness and sweetness. For all the sweetness, a medium-sized fresh peach has only 38 calories.

ITALIAN FRESH PEACH CHEESECAKE

Cinnamon Crust Crumbs (recipe follows)
4 eggs
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ pounds (3 cups) ricotta cheese, or low-fat cottage cheese, pressed through a fine sieve
1 cup evaporated milk
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated fresh lemon peel
3 fresh California peaches, sliced
Powdered sugar

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Press all but three-quarter cup of the crumbs firmly over botton of a nine-inch spring-form pan. Bake 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on a rack. Meanwhile, in a large mixing bowl, beat eggs until light-colored. Gradually add sugar, beating until mixture is thick and light. Blend in salt and ricotta, then evaporated milk. Add flour, vanilla, lemon juice and lemon peel; mix well.

Pour mixture over cooled crust. Sprinkle reserved crumbs evenly over top. Bake at9350 degrees one hour and 10 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Turn off oven and leave oven door ajar; allow cake to cool in oven for about two hours. Cover cake and chill. At serving time, remove sides of pan. Arrange peaches over top of cake and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Makes 10 servings.

Cinnamon crust crumbs. Whirl in a blender or crush into fine crumbs one package (6 ounces) zwieback. Pour crumbs into a mixing bowl and blend in half cup sugar, half teaspoon cinnamon and one-third cup melted butter.

Temperature, Time Key Canning Tips

Canning halts the spoilage of foods by heating foods in sealed containers. The heat destroys the troublesome organisms, and the sealed containers prevent recontamination of the processed food.

Following the basic canning rules will prevent molds, yeasts and bacteria, that are naturally in the soil, air and on work surfaces, from causing spoilage or illness. Enzymes that cause color, texture and changes in the flavor of uncooked produce and meats are also destroyed.

For canning to be effective the right combination of temperature and time is required. While 212 degrees in a boiling water bath is sufficient to destroy harmful organisms in a high acid food, low acid foods must be processed at 240 degrees to achieve the same results.

Canning requires a water bath canner for high acid foods and a pressure canner for low acid foods. A water bath canner is a large, deep kettle fitted with a rack and a lid. It must be deep enough to allow one or two inches of water to bubble vigorously over the top of the jars during processing. Use the water bath canner when processing fruits, fruit juices, high acid vegetables, such as tomatoes, sauerkraut, pickles or relishes.

A pressure canner is similar to a pressure cooker and consists of a heavy, seamless kettle with a rack and a locking lid with a gasket, pressure gauge and safety valve. The pressure canner is essential for canning foods such as vegetables, meats and fishes.

New Ideas For Zucchini

Zucchini is in season, and those with home gardens are always looking for new ideas for recipes.

Mrs. Robert Kidder of Novato suggests her recipe for zucchini bread-and-butter pickles.

Cut four pounds of unpeeled zucchini into very thin slices, half or quarter the zucchini if large. Peel one pound of onions and slice thinly. Cover the zucchini and onions with water and add one-half cup of salt. Let stand one hour and then drain. Combine with one quart vinegar, two cups sugar, two teaspoons celery seed and bring to boil. Cook three minutes.

Place in sterilized jars and seal. This makes approximately seven to eight pints of pickles.

Mrs. Kidder also suggests that buying the vinegar by the gallon is much cheaper than in smaller containers.

Peaches Can Lend Spice To Barbecues

Fresh California peaches make wonderful, juicy barbecue accompaniments. Just as important for the patio chef, grilled peaches are a cinch to fix: Peel four fresh California peaches (use the easy dip-in-boiling-water method). Roll the peaches in a mixture of brown sugar — about one-thi'd cup — and one-half teaspoon ginger.

Thread on a skewer and grill until the sugar carmelizes. Served forth with barbequed 'ribs. If you're grilling lamb or chicken, mix curry powder with brown sugar. If it's a steak, try a coriander/brown sugar coating. With these luscious grilled peaches, even those occasional, singed, dried-out barbeque "accidents" can almost pass themselves off as juicy and succulent meat morsels.

(If the grill isn't handy, halve peaches, dip in seasoned sugar mixture of choice and slip under the broiler for a few minutes — watch them carefully so peaches don't burn.)

There Are Ways These Days To Make Costly Meat Stretch

Satisfying your family's meat hunger isn't easy these days. Shortages in the meat case and high prices will dictate restraint in meat buying. But, you don't have to go meatless to meet your budget.

Here are some ideas from the American Meat Institute to help make a little meat go a long way.

Supplement meat with other protein foods. A smaller portion of meat served with pasta, bread, cheese, milk, eggs, yogurt, cottage cheese or cooked legumes will provide enough nutrients to meet the daily requirements of each member of the family. The following list of foods in the quantities given supply the same amount of protein as one ounce of meat:

3 slices of bread
1½ cups cooked rice
1½ cups cooked oatmeal
1 cup cooked pasta
½ cup all purpose flour
2 tablespoons peanut butter
¼ cup cashews, walnuts, almonds
¼ cup pumpkin, sesame or sunflower seeds
3 tablespoons creamed cottage cheese
1 ounce of cheese
⅔ cup milk
⅔ cup yogurt
1 egg
⅓ ½ cup cooked beans or peas

COOK ALL meat at low temperatures (300 to 325 degrees Fahrenheit). Meats cooked at low temperatures shrink less, are more tender, and have more flavor than meats cooked at high temperatures.

Become familiar with a variety of sauces and gravies which can be served with meats. They are easy to make and inexpensive when made from the pan drippings of cooked meats.

Experiment with spices and seasonings which can enhance the flavor of combination foods or meats served with a sauce or gravy. Most of the great flavor makers — garlic, mustard, Worcestershire, chili, catsup, horseradish, herbs, and spices — are relatively low in cost and quick to use.

Do not overlook the use of vegetables as meat stretchers. Fresh, frozen or canned vegetables added to a sauce or gravy will add flavor, texture and vitamins.

ALONG WITH bread crumbs, rice or oatmeal, add tomatoes, green peppers, celery, grated carrots and potatoes, drained bean sprouts, chopped string beans or cubed eggplant the next time you prepare a meat loaf or meat patties.

Learning to plan meals with less meat is not easy and requires more shopping and preparation time. Casseroles, meat loaves, and sausage and vegetable combination dishes offer the most satisfying solution for making a little meat go a long way.

SONOMA SANDWICHES are the product of carved out Gravenstein apples in the market now. The filled apples are wrapped for the picnic basket ready for a bicycle excursion.

Juicy Item For Picnics On Bicycles

It's the new season for Gravensteins, the mildly tart and sprightly apples known and loved by Californians — with good reason.

For a bicycle picnic, very much "in" right now, Sonoma sandwiches are perfect — easy to make, easy to carry, crunchily refreshing and delightful to the taste. Excellent, too, for a new way to serve an apple and cheese dessert, for the lunchbox, or for a snack any time of day.

SONOMA SANDWICHES

4 medium Gravenstein apples
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened
½ cup crunchy-style peanut butter, divided
1 can (2¼ ounces) deviled ham

Cut out two one-inch wedges from opposite sides of apples, being careful to keep core intact. In small bowl, combine cream cheese with ¼ cup of the peanut butter. Fill two apples with this mixture. Combine deviled ham with remaining peanut butter; fill other two apples. Wrap each apple in clear plastic wrap. Makes four apple sandwiches.

Filling variations:

Blend 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese with any one of the following:

2 tablespoons chopped nuts
2 tablespoons flaked coconut
3 tablespoons Cheddar cheese spread
1 or 2 tablespoons chopped crystallized ginger

cloudy. Then put the kidneys into a pan, add enough cold water to cover them and heat slowly. When just at the boiling-point, pour off the hot water and again just cover them with cold water, once more heating slowly and again changing the water when hot. Change the water in this way three times, then simmer (20 minutes for small kidneys; 40 minutes for a beef kidney.) Set away to cool. If the stew is to be used for a breakfast dish, this preliminary cooking must be done the day before.

Fischel-Yi Rite Held In San Anselmo

The first Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo was the setting for the wedding Saturday of Yang Cha Yi of San Francisco and Peter D. Fischel of Tiburon.

Maid of honor for the bride was Soon Young Oh of San Francisco and the best man was Nick Shehadi of San Jose. Klaus P. Rose of Los Altos was the usher.

A reception followed at the church and the couple left on their wedding trip to Santa Cruz. They will live in San Francisco.

The bride, daughter of the late Jung Jik and Bok Nim Yi, is a graduate of Inchon Girls' High School in Inchon, Korea, and is employed by Stauffer Chemical Co., in San Francisco.

She is the sister of five sisters, Chin Ho Lee, Jin Suk Im and Yu Suk Cho, all of San Francisco, Ki Suk Schnell of Fort Knox, Ky., and a brother, Chong Han Yi of Seoul, Korea.

Peter is the son of Mrs. Greta Fischel of San Anselmo. He was graduated from Taft Union High School in Taft and the University of California at Berkeley. He is assistant district manager for Equitable Life Assurance Society in San Francisco.

September Wedding Is Planned By Couple

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Hunt of Rockford, Mich., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Jane Hunt of Mountain View, to Lawrence Everett Curfman III of Tiburon.

Elizabeth was graduated from Rockford High School and the University of Michigan. She attended the University of Guadalajara in Mexico and received a master's degree in guidance and counseling from Stanford University.

She is a guidance counselor in the Cambrian School District in San Jose.

Everett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Curfman of Wichita, Kan., and the brother of Mrs. Peter Koch of St. Petersburg, Fla., and John Curfman of Wichita.

The future bridegroom graduated from Wichita East High School, California Institute of Technology. He also is a graduate of Harvard Law School and is a partner in the law firm of Bledsoe, Smith, Cathcart, Johnson and Rogers in San Francisco.

A Sept. 15 wedding at Swedenborgian Church in San Francisco is planned.

Claudia Puharich To Marry Fred Griese

The engagement of Claudia Carol Puharich to Fred J. Griese of Larkspur has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Puharich of Sausalito.

A graduate of Tamalpais High School, Claudia attended the College of Marin and is a student in respiratory therapy at San Francisco School for Health Professions. She is also a part time employee of Greenbrae Convalescent Hospital.

Claudia is the sister of Mrs. Therese Schmidt of Courtland and Deborah Puharich. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Karmel Conn and great granddaughter of Mrs. Clara Burch, both of Richmond.

Fred is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Griese of Lombard, Ill., and the brother of Mrs. Barbara Baranowski of Normal, Ill.

He is a graduate of Walton College in Chicago and is employed by the Clorox Co. in Oakland.

A wedding next April is being planned.

Accidents Increase In Summer

It's time to sound a safety alert for families at home, at work and at play, reports the Health Insurance Institute. Accident records show that the rate of fatalities begins to mount in June and continues right through late summer.

While chances of fatal accidents grow smaller each year, over 4 million serious injuries and over 27,000 fatal accidents took place at home during 1971.

Many could obviously have been avoided, as for example, those involving firearms. According to the National Safety Council, half of all firearm deaths took place at home. Accidental poisonings, whose most frequent victims are children below the age of 5, can similarly be avoided through common sense precautions. Safety experts warn that aspirin and petroleum products in particular should be kept out of the reach of children.

The greatest single source of accidental deaths, however, is the automobile. Most frequently involved are young people up to 25 years of age.

On a purely statistical basis it can be shown that chances of being involved in a fatal motor vehicle accident have been dropping over the years, but there has been a steady rise in the actual number of motor vehicle fatalities in the last 15 years.

Here again the precautions to be taken seem obvious. For example, night driving is 2½ times more hazardous than driving during the day. Speeding and drinking are frequently linked with accidents.

While job accidents are still frequent — there were 2.3 million in 1971 — attention to safety has had a decided effect on work accidents. In the past 10 years there has been a substantial drop in the rate of fatalities in most industries.

U.S. Weddings Fuel $7 Billion Industry

By DUSTON HARVEY

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Weddings in this country have "more to do with materialism, romanticism and ritual in American life than with marriage."

They produce scenes of outlandish vulgarity, conspicuous consumption and dehumanizing greed, fuel a $7 billion a year industry replete with kickbacks, and show a stubborn resistance to the swirls of social change, says the author of a new book on the subject.

For instance:

A Beverly Hills tobacco czar spent $150,000 on flowers to convert his estate into a southern plantation for his daughter's wedding by gluing millions of magnolia blossoms to elm trees.

—Mashed potatoes at a Los Angeles wedding dinner and the family poodle were both dyed pink to match the bridesmaids' dresses.

—A Pasadena bride's mother had a church painted yellow to match the color scheme for the ceremony, then repainted green the next day.

—A HOUSTON bride attended 30 prenuptial parties, received $30,000 in gifts from 750 invited guests, her mother organized a card catalog system to keep track of the offerings, hired police to guard them and conducted tours for the neighbors.

—Caterers, band leaders, clothiers, florists and photographers in the wedding usiness agreed costs could be reduced 20 per cent if kickbacks were eliminated.

—Despite the media's attention to the so-called "New Wedding," 80 per cent of first marriages are formal, seven of eight take place in church or synagogue, 96 per cent have a reception, and 84.5 per cent of brides wear formal gowns, most chosen to make her look "like a fairy princess."

The views on American weddings came from Marcia Seligson, an unmarried "rabid feminist" from Los Angeles whose peek behind the bridal veil was published as "The Eternal Bliss Machine: America's Way of Wedding."

"I think vulgarity is funny, not important," she said in a recent interview. "Pink poodles and potatoes and dancing horses and chopped liver shaped into cruise ships are funny.

"BUT WHAT does offend me is dehumanization — when it becomes really clear that the wedding has nothing to do with the relationship between two people, but has to do with things ... with the worst excesses of the American dream come true. That really frightens me."

The most surprising thing — "only to people on the coasts; no one in Middle America is surprised" —was that weddings haven't changed at all in the past century despite well-published nuptials in bizarre places, with self-written vows and untraditional garb.

"The fact is that we Americans are getting married almost precisely as we did a hundred years ago" —the same long, white gowns, the same vows, champagne and cake, rice and honeymoons.

"One of the things I learned about was ritual in our lives — the importance of repeated observances as one of the fortresses against internal rumblings in society," she said.

SHE ALSO found most Americans spend too much on weddings because they "want to do it right" and are so insecure they let caterers, banquet managers and wedding consultants take over and run up the bills. Both the working and middle classes spend more on average for their daughters' nuptials than the "upper crust," Ms. Seligson contended.

She didn't want to prophesy, but predicted women's lib would have long-term effects on both weddings and marriage.

"Traditional monogamous marriage is not here to stay," she suggested.

"I certainly would not like to see weddings done away with, but they should be more about the people involved, about real values, and not an excuse for outlandish proofs of status and displays of vulgarity," she said, admitting that some of the ceremonies she attended brought tears to her eyes.

But Ms. Seligson, a reporter and former book publicist, didn't think her descriptions of wedding foibles would have the desired effect.

"What I really think it will do is push people to even greater heights of vulgarity," she predicted. "They'll use it as a guidebook —and every poodle in the United States will be dyed pink and purple."

Shirtdresses Are Dazzled Up

Full length shirtdresses in both one and two piece styles are getting new and dazzling treatment for dress-up. Women's Wear Daily reports that the styles are in stripes and diamond patterned satin jacquards.

One style is blouson with buttons up the front and a drawstring waist. A two piece dress is formed in another by a long belted shirt over a matching pleated skirt.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Advertising claims are fast growing more subtle — implying you'll look better, be happier and lead a richer life if you use Brand X.

As ad appeals become less direct, depending to a greater degree on individual perception, the job of pinpointing deception or unfairness becomes tougher.

However, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), which has the prime federal responsibility for advertising regulation, is more than equal to the new challenge, in the opinion of Mary Gardiner Jones.

MARY GARDINER
JONES
FTC commissioner

This graduate of Wellesley College and Yale Law School is rounding out what amounts to almost a decade of service as one of the five commissioners who head up the FTC. Lively and articulate, she has become well known through her votes on the commission for her strong, sometimes lone, proconsumer stands.

SHE CONCEDES that during most of her years on the commission (filling out two years of an unexpired term and a seven-year appointment), the federal regulatory agency has focused heavily in its advertising duties on the fairness and truthfulness of very specific claims. For the past year, for instance, the FTC has made it a practice to require certain manufacturers and distributors (of automobiles, tires, air conditioners and the like) to submit substantiation data to back up hard claims with concrete evidence.

Even pinning down the claim itself is sometimes difficult in current advertising. Commissioner Jones asserts that the FTC now must involve itself deeply in the relatively new research field of consumer behavior.

Already the federal agency has two marketing specialists on its advertising staff. Miss Jones, who says she and her colleagues will keep "pushing for a research budget," insists that the agency's expertise must be kept at least on a par with that of the advertising community.

She says, too, that more sophisticated, systematic techniques to monitor ad appeals must be developed. The commission can help, she adds, by mapping out objectives of validity, reliability and the like for such consumer surveys.

As it gets more research in hand, the FTC must, according to Miss Jones, take a sharp, inward look at its own procedures from beginning to end in advertising regulation.

Describing herself as "a process person — I like to see procedures get into operation," Commissioner Jones says flatly that the FTC "has not yet made any progress in the planning area." Stressing the importance of setting priorities, she says the commission must develop a framework for determining which categories and techniques of advertising have the greatest potential for influencing consumer behavior and then zero in on these.

SHE CONSIDERS it a "disappointing minus" for the commission that consumer input in the process of FTC decision-making has not been more formalized. While informally the input has been "receptive," she says the situation should be structured so that consumers "get the right to force you to listen."

In addition to reexamining its planning and decision making procedures, the commission must take a sharp inward look at the appropriateness of the remedies it recommends, according to Miss Jones.

One relief measure that has the commission's firm support in principle though not often in practice is corrective advertising. Here an advertiser is required to make an affirmative disclosure to offset a past misconception on grounds that the effect of an ad often lingers on in the consumer's mind after the ad itself and the practice in question has stopped.

Miss Jones accuses the commission of "cowardice" in its failure to offer "guidance" as to when it would use this remedy.

"It isn't fair to hold out the threat of corrective advertising and yet not block out the circumstances in which it would be ordered. . .It's sort of like waving a gun and not saying who you're going to shoot."

Commissioner Jones, who admits to an inordinate fondness for the commission despite all her criticism of it, says the FTC must grapple with the question of what informational role advertising should be expected to play.

She admits she is fast coming to the view that advertising must take almost full responsibility in meeting the consumer's need for hard product data. "I see no other consistent source of information that gets to the consumer except advertising," she said.

INFORMATION FROM other sources such as Consumers Union, she says, does not come through with the same power and consists largely of "best buy" information which can vary a great deal according to individual situations.

What is needed, she says, is information on a standardized basis so consumers can compare brands and know the significance of such criteria as cooling capacity of a refrigerator and spin speeds on a washing machine. Many firms, she adds, do well internally in enabling shoppers to compare various models.

While it is probably up to a governmental agency such as the FTC to draft such standards on a cross-company basis, she hopes that business would latch on to the idea as it did with "unit pricing" in food to make it as a "selling tool" for its own benefit.

Looking ahead, she says that in 10 years the marketplace situation may be such that advertising will no longer have to bear such an informational "burden" —"and it is a burden; I have no doubt of that."

Commissioner Jones's term ends in September, and she has accepted a joint teaching position in the schools of law and business at the University of Illinois as of January.

She is currently reviewing the Ralph Nader and American Bar Association critiques of the Federal Trade Commission to see to what extent their soundest recommendations of a few years ago have been "structured" in. To her, that point is all important. Without it, personnel changes could easily force the commission to "sink right back" to where it was before the critiques.

Ask Commissioner Jones, however, how the FTC compares with other federal regulatory agencies in acting on the consumer's behalf and you are apt to draw a rave review. In that context, she says, the FTC has been "a breath of fresh air" and has been "head and shoulders" above the others in terms of being clear as to its mission and keeping the law abreast of changes in the marketplace.

Don't Mix

It is never advisable to mix two or more cleaning products — such as bleaching solutions, ammonia, toilet bowl cleaners, rust removers, oven cleaners, etc. — because such chemical mixtures may interact.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Woman Wanted To Take Her Life, But Didn't Have Time

DEAR HELEN:

Yes, you do get over pathologically deep depressions. You can even look back and laugh.

I spent a year dreaming of suicide, but I guess I really didn't want death. There was always an excuse for putting off my demise till tomorrow.

Once when I was low, I counted my sleeping pills: Didn't have enough to do the job right. I thought, "Six dollars and twenty-five cents, plus tax, for a new prescription —when I might only need half of them? Wasteful!" So I used the money on my hair, and then I couldn't "go" — not while the set was still in!

Another time I remembered I'd promised to work for a friend who needed the day off. Could I let her down by dying? So. . .next week. . .

Again one night I had enough pills, but I looked at my apartment and saw complete disaster. How awful if people came looking for me and found this terrible mess. I ended up cleaning house and by that time I was out of the mood.

Finally there was the day I decided on the carbon monoxide route. But — "Why waste money?" So I didn't fill up the gas tank. Figured I had enough. You guessed it: I ran out of gas before I ran out of breath.

It was on the long walk home (I'd parked in the country, using a piece of garden hose that wasn't long enough and kept falling out of the exhaust pipe) that I realized those excuses were all based on the future: I was "saving money" —for what, except to use? I wanted people to see my hair-do. I wanted to help a friend. If I were serious about dying, would I worry about a messy apartment? I wasn't "hopeless" as I had thought.

Anyhow, my metabolism, or whatever, gradually changed and, without psychiatric help, I outgrew my depression.

Strangely, I never fully knew what caused it in the first place. . .just one small setback after another until I expected nothing but disappointments. Somebody called it "conditioned helplessness" — the feeling that there's no way out. When I discovered I still had some hope left, I stopped drifting, and here I am, smiling at my former self,and — OVER MY DEPRESSION

DEAR OVER:

Your good letter should offer hope to others in the deep blues — if they aren't so depressed that they can't relate to it.

You've proved again that people DO outgrow depressions even without psychiatric help. Thanks for writing! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Other evening I heard a master of ceremonies introduce a woman of many achievements. He mentioned a few briefly then said what HE considered her outstanding accomplishment — "She's been married 30 years to the same man!" Above all else, he implied, she's a good and loyal wife, serving her master well.

If the same M.C. had introduced her husband, he would never think to include, "And he's been married 30 years to the same woman!" That would be a putdown, for a man. — WHEN WILL THEY EVER LEARN?

DEAR WHEN:

Give them time, and enough reminders, and men — even "masters" of ceremonies — will learn what isn't acceptable to the new woman. It will take awhile — as something new is added every day. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Would you please tell my wife in a way she'll remember that "going home to mother" doesn't solve anything? — LEFT AGAIN

DEAR "LEFT AGAIN'S" WIFE:

Haven't you ever heard the old saying, "Absence makes the heart go WANDER?" There'll come a day when your husband doesn't want a mama's girl any longer. — H.

FIRST YEAR

Own Bed, Room For Baby

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Third of a series on solving problems that most parents face during their baby's first year of life, developed by physicians of the Office of Child Development, Department of Health, Education and Welfare.)

Everybody will get more rest if the baby does not sleep in the parents' room. Especially in the first weeks, his frequent snorts, gurgles, sneezes, coughs and irregular breathing are bound to keep you awake wondering what he will do next.

If he really needs you, he will cry loud enough to be heard from nearly everywhere in the house. Even in the smallest apartment, a crib or makeshift crib can be moved to the living room, kitchen or bathroom when the parents retire for the night.

DON'T PUT him in bed with you, either. There is always a danger of smothering him or hurting him by rolling over on him in your sleep and it is almost certain he will want to become your constant bedfellow. Neither you nor your husband will want to put up with a wiggling, wet baby for very long.

He shouldn't sleep in a strong draft or breeze. He does not need open windows where he sleeps. Air that is fresh enough for him to breathe during the day is fresh enough for him to sleep in.

He will decide for himself how long he wants to sleep — anything from 12 to 20 hours during the 24 hour day. You will not be able to make him sleep any more or less but certainly you can arrange to keep him awake during the times of the day that are most convenient for you, so that he will sleep during the nights and during mornings or afternoon naps.

The baby's first bowel movements are a sticky green-black material. After a week or two, they become lighter and less sticky, the way they will be for the next year. The baby may have anywhere from one movement every three or four days to five or six movements a day.

Movements may be as firm as those of a normal adult or soft. The baby may turn red in the face and cry with each bowel movement or he may seem totally unaware of them. The color of the bowel movements may be yellow, green or brown. All of these are normal.

Constipation exists when the bowel movements are hard, dry and difficult to pass, no matter how frequent or infrequent they may be. Prune juice (1 tablespoon), brown sugar (1 tablespoon) or molasses (1 tablespoon), added to one of his bottles may correct this. If not, your doctor or clinic may suggest a remedy. Do not use mineral oil, castor oil, adult laxatives or enemas without the advice of your doctor.

DIARRHEA EXISTS when the bowel movements contain too much water. Small bowel movements which are milky or watery or odd-colored are rarely of concern and no treatment or diet change is usually necessary. Large, watery bowel movements can cause an infant to lose more water in his bowel movement than he is drinking.

The "dehydration" which results can be a true medical emergency. Even a single huge, explosive, watery bowel movement can be an emergency in an infant one to three months old, especially if there is poor appetite or vomiting. Do not delay in seeking medical attention when there are one or more large watery bowel movements.

Slight blood streaking on the outside of a bowel movement is usually caused by a small sore or fissure in the anus and is not a cause for alarm. The fissure and the bleeding can often be cured by keeping the stools soft with one of the remedies discussed for constipation. If bleeding or hard bowel movements persist, your doctor will be able to help. Do not delay medical attention if there is bloody diarrhea or passage of fresh blood or blood clots with the bowel movements.

Children's Heart Murmurs Found

Eighty-five per cent of Philadelphia school children with heart murmurs are perfectly healthy, according to pediatric cardiologist Dr. Sidney Friedman.

Examining nearly 5,000 medical records Friedman arrived at the conclusion that the children have functional murmurs, a harmless condition and one of the commonest sources of cardiac misdiagnosis among the young.

Heart murmurs are perfectly innocent and very widespread according to the doctor. The condition affects between 30 and 40 per cent of all youngsters between 2 and 12 and often disappears by age 14, he reported.

Bacteria May Hide In Basket

A picnic basket may be hiding bacteria causing food poisoning. The most common cause of food poisoning is staphylococcic bacteria. Staph germs are likely to be found in starchy foods and sweets such as potatoes, cream pies and custards. Salmonella, another bacteria that can cause food poisoning, may be present in poultry, eggs, meat, potato salads and other foods when they are not refrigerated properly.

Staph poisoning can hit in as short a time as two hours, and salmonella poisoning develops between seven and seventy-two hours.

Santa Cruz Killer Upset San Rafael Congregation

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) — Herbert W. Mullin engaged in bizarre behavior prior to his admitted "sacrificial" killing of at least 10 persons, friends and relatives testified Tuesday.

Paul Kohman, a cabinet maker and high school friend of the 26-year-old suspect, said Mullin was "a charming and dynamic person before he started taking drugs. Everybody loved him."

Edward Lawrence, a five-year acquaintance of Mullin, said the two of them once visited a Catholic church in San Rafael and during a service, Mullin got up and started walking about—first talking to a statue and then addressing the congregation, saying, "What you are doing here is wrong."

"We were bodily carried out of the church," said Lawrence. "People were yelling, 'Call the police!'"

The defense is trying to prove he was insane. Mullin is charged with killing 10 persons during a three-week period last January. He told police he killed his victims to prevent a "catastrophic earthquake."

Mullin was given psychiatric care at Mendocino State Hospital in 1969 after his sister, Pat Bocca of Sebastopol, had him admitted following a dinner at which Mullin mimicked her husband for four hours.

Previous to that, she testified Mullin had visited her in Sebastopol several times—once as a "Ho Chi Minh-type" with a shaved head and bulky green robe—and another time as a "Chicano wearing a wide brimmed black hat and speaking with a very heavy Spanish accent."

"He wasn't frightening. He was very sweet and very gentle, very much the pacifist," she said. "I didn't feel uncomfortable with him. If he wanted to speak in a Spanish accent, I didn't question him."

Mullin's uncle, Enos Fuourat, said the suspect came to his home last year in Carmel speaking with a Brooklyn accent and saying he was going to join the Coast Guard so he could fulfill his life-long ambition of swimming the English Channel.

Petaluma Board Sets Two Budgets

The Petaluma Board of Education adopted record budgets for its high school and elementary districts Tuesday, but said the tax rates could still decrease significantly.

The board approved a 1973-74 high school district budget of $7,646,428, an increase of $1,150,096 over last year's and a $3,100,539 elementary district budget, up $606,688 from 1972-73.

George W. Castleberry, assistant superintendent, said the high school district tax rate of $2.86 per $100 assessed valuation could drop by 80 or 90 cents, depending on how much assessed valuation in the district has risen.

He said the current elementary district tax rate of $2.46 should drop by approximately 10 cents because of higher assessed valuation.

He said the elementary district's tax rate decrease will be smaller because the board is shifting more costs for seventh and eighth grades from the high school to the elementary district.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

BUS — Approved purchase of 79-passenger school bus from Gillig Bros. for $34,980.

AIDE — Told parents who requested a teacher's aide for special education classes at Kenilworth Junior High School that funds are not available.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignation of Angela Agius, a teacher at Valley Vista School since 1945 and the resignations of teachers M. Elaine Gillespie, Howard Nakagawa, Gary B. Walker and Renate Zscheye.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired teacher Marie Martin at a salary of $8,700 per year.

MEETING — Agreed to schedule a special meeting sometime next week to discuss financing and the year-round school plan. The next regular board meeting will be Sept. 11 at 7 p.m. at the administration building.

Record School Budget Passed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Board of Education approved a record $154 million budget Tuesday for the 1974-75 fiscal year, $10 million more than for the previous year.

The new tax rate will be $4.025 per $100 in assessed property valuation, compared with $4.03 the year before.

State and federal aid plus an unexpected $8.7 million year-end surplus accounted for the tax reduction.

Costume Designer Meeting Deadline

By FRED STREBEIGH

"I'd decided 'I can't do this for a living — it's too competitive.' But that's what I wanted to do, and now I'm in it for a career."

Ann Pfeiffer's new career as a costume designer will be on the line Friday, when the Inverness Music Festival's production of Mozart's opera "The Marriage of Figaro" has a full dress rehearsal on the outdoor stage at St. Columba's Church.

And if the costumes aren't ready? "What I lose," she said, "is my head."

Sipping coffee to stave off a nagging cold and to contain her exhaustion, the first-year College of Marin theater student told how she came to land her first big job.

While still involved in assisting with costume for the College of Marin productions, "The Fantasticks" and "Inherit the Wind," she signed on in early June with the festival to help with costume production for Figaro.

When the costume designer left a week later, the full job fell to her.

"I would have done it for nothing," she said, because although she had done extensive work on costumes before, this was her first chance for complete imaginative freedom.

"This is my baby — I work out my own problems and my own solutions," she said.

Working with experienced director David Ostwald has been "fantastic," she says, and has made her job much easier. "Our minds seem to work along much the same lines," she said.

The technical problem of recreating the dress of both court and country in 18th Century Spain is the greatest hindrance, she said.

"You can't just walk into a store for patterns for men's cutaway coats. I have to take a pattern for a suit coat and then cut it away," she said. "Right now I'm looking for someone who has a swallow-tail coat I can just cut to pieces for a pattern."

Dress in the Spanish court of the time was an advertisement of wealth and position, she explained. "The king was allowed to wear the shortest garments. The lower rank you were — the longer your pants were."

The court was also obsessed with a new Chinese influence, she said. "They were in love with brocades and satins, with ruffles and lace and buttons and braids."

Miss Pfeiffer said that lack of self-confidence had discouraged her from a theater career while in high school in Terra Linda, but had decided to return to make it her life after a period of indirection, of "moving all over."

Now she is willing to go where the theater leads her, but the direction is well-defined. She returned to College of Marin last September and plans to continue until January.

IN STITCHES — Costume designer Ann Pheiffer (right) and Joyce Simmons, a volunteer, work on costumes as the deadline nears for the Inverness Music Festival's production of Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro," which opens Sunday at St. Columba's Church. Miss Pheiffer said the task of meeting the impending deadline is a "big challenge — I'm ready to quit every day now."

Then she will "get a job to make money so I can afford to go to New York — move to off-Broadway and get a job doing whatever I have to."

New York is where the jobs are, she says, but not where she wants to be. "I hate New York," she said. "One of the reasons I wasn't going into theater was New York."

It is, she says, "a chance to make a reputation, and then come back to the American Conservatory Theater (in San Francisco) and say "Here I am — look what I've done.' "

"It's sort of a round-about way to get down the block," she noted.

Of the theater she says "you just get bitten again. It's just a disease and it infects you."

"Working on three shows at once is just incredible — it's that high energy level that I love. It's like taking a whole life and living it really fast. It's the whole creation-destruction cycle just speeded up."

"Figaro is the first time that I've ever become something besides just a name on a program — the first time I can present something to the public and say, 'It's me: like it or not.' It's either the beginning or the end."

Roll Calls Of Marin's Lawmakers

WASHINGTON — Here is how California's senators and House of Representatives members representing Marin and Sonoma counties voted in recent roll calls:

In the Senate —

On a bill to limit contributions and spending in federal election campaigns (passed 82 to 8): Senators Alan Cranston and John V. Tunney, both "yes."

On an amendment to the above bill limiting to $9,000 the total contributions by any person to a presidential or congressional candidate's primary, runoff and final election campaigns (passed 54 to 39): Cranston and Tunney, both "yes."

On a motion to kill a proposed ban on food stamps for strikers (passed 58 to 34): Cranston and Tunney, both "yes."

On confirmation of William E. Colby as director of the Central Intelligence Agency (approved 83 to 13): Cranston "no;" Tunney "yes."

In the House —

On bill authoring $2.8 billion foreign aid during next fiscal year, with a prohibition on any aid to North Vietnam without specific congressional approval (passed 188 to 183): Rep. William S. Mailliard "yes;" Rep. Donald H. Clausen "no."

On proposal to give congressmen, federal judges and top-level federal executives a pay raise this year (defeated 237 to 156): Clausen and Mailliard, both "no."

On $950 million cut from $21.4 billion military procurement bill (passed 242 to 163): Mailliard "yes;" Clausen "no."

On amendment for study of returning some of 500,000 U.S. land forces from Europe, rather than ordering immediate return of 100,000 (passed 242 to 163): Clausen and Mailliard, both "yes."

Youth Invades Own Home, Held

Felony charges of burglary and possessing marijuana were filed Tuesday by the Marin District Attorney's office against a Belvedere youth who reportedly tried to burglarize his parents' home.

William Edward Hoefer, 18, was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court to plead to the charges and to a third misdemeanor count of possessing a hypodermic syringe.

Belvedere police said Hoefer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hoefer, of 32 Peninsula Road, Belvedere, had prohibited their son from entering the house while they were on vacation.

Hoefer was spotted Sunday climbing out the second story window of the house, according to officers who said a search revealed a quantity of marijuana and a syringe in his pocket.

Stamp Club Sessions Moved To Larkspur

The Tamalpais Stamp Club will move its meeting place to the community room of the Bank of Marin at 1177 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, effective with the meeting Friday at 8 p.m.

Marcus W. Took, president, announced the move today. The semi-monthly meetings of the club, on the second and fourth Fridays, have been held at Bank of Marin's Northgate branch.

Gnoss Field Frontage Road Asked

A frontage road providing access to Gnoss Field from Highway 101 in lieu of the present entry was approved Tuesday night by the Marin County Aviation Commission.

The commission endorsed a plan by Ray W. Foreaker Jr., director of public works, and forwarded it to the board of supervisors with the request that the present access road be kept open until an interchange can be built near the airport.

Francis E. Torr, manager of the airport, said the frontage road will parallel Highway 101 south from the airport into the Atherton Avenue interchange, presently under construction. He said it would intersect the present access road between the airport and its intersection with Highway 101.

Both north and south access to Highway 101 is presently provided at the airport. But the median strip which is broken to allow cars to turn south on the highway is scheduled to be closed off, Torr said.

Ex-Marinite Picked To Head U.S. Office

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Allan L. Reynolds, 41, a former student body president at the College of Marin, has been named director of the Interior Department's office of survey and review by Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton.

Reynolds was serving as deputy director of the audit agency of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare when named to the new post which he assumed Tuesday.

He will be responsible for the department's audit activities and related inspection and negotiation functions.

Reynolds, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Reynolds of 110 Meadowcroft Drive, San Anselmo, was born in San Rafael and graduated from the College of Marin in 1952, serving as student body president that year.

He received a bachelor's degree from San Jose State College in 1954 and immediately went to work for the Army audit agency. He was with the Army agency until 1967 when he joined the HEW audit agency.

Reynolds and his wife, Julia, live in Vienna, Va., and have three daughters.

Marine Adviser To Begin Work

A marine adviser for Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino counties will begin work on Sept. 15 in Santa Rosa.

The service is provided by the University of California Extension through federal funding from Sea Grant, a part of the Department of Commerce's National Oceanic and Atmospheric administration.

The adviser will spend much of his time in Sausalito and Bodega Bay, the area's major commercial and sportsfishing ports. He will work with marine businessmen, fish dealers and processors and coastal planning groups.

RUSTLERS GET A FEAST FIT FOR A KING

HILLSBOROUGH (UPI) — King K. Tanaka, an importer, told police last weekend he was barbecuing three steaks in his back yard when he went inside for a drink.

When he came out, he said the barbecue was bare and he saw three women running towards a car, each carrying a steak.

The thieves escaped.

School Budget Up, Tax Cut For Two-City Board

A $2,282,309 budget for 1973-74, which will make possible a 36-cent drop in the district's tax rate, was approved Tuesday by the Cotati-Rohnert Park School District board.

Supt. James H. Davidson said the new budget is $752,786 higher than last year's because of rapidly-increasing enrollment.

But he said the district's assessed valuation has increased from $17 million to $26 million, permitting a decrease in the current tax rate from $2.61 to $2.25 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Davidson told the board the tax cut would have been larger, except that the district must now earmark 49 cents of its tax rate for seventh and eighth grade tuition costs which are expected to jump from $72,000 to $149,000.

In other business, the board heard that plans for a new school in the Holiday Park section of Rohnert Park are nearly complete and bids for construction will be opened Oct. 26, if the project remains on schedule.

Davidson said the district also is working on an agreement with the City of Rohnert Park to share the new school playground. He said the district may consider financing a sprinkler system if the city pays for turfing and construction of a Little League baseball diamond and agrees to maintain the grounds in exchange for use of the playground after school hours.

There are about 6,000 boat centers in the United States, ranging from small docks to swank marinas.

Chilean Navy Revolt Crushed

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — The navy said Tuesday it had crushed a revolt aimed at President Salvador Allende by civilian extremists and some crew members of two warships.

The announcement came several hours after the military assumed command of law enforcement in Santiago and other areas to combat what it called an "alarming" wave of violence.

Political sources said Allende, in another move to solve crises confronting him, plans to once again place some military men in his cabinet. They said the move was "imminent."

20-Cent Raise

The staff of the Marin County Transit District recommended on Tuesday that the district's property tax limit be raised from a nickel to 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation, not to 30 cents as reported in the Independent-Journal because of a typographical error. District directors voted unanimously to ask voters to raise the limit to 25 cents.

Army Band Not Listed As Public Relations Expense

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The Sixth Army Band from the Presidio of San Francisco played 106 appearances during a nine-month period at a cost to taxpayers of $308,790, which the General Accounting Office charged, in a just-issued report, should have been, but was not counted by the Defense Department as a public relations expense.

The band's appearances, however, were carefully screened as to sponsorship. One for which it was committed, and later withdrawn, was to have been at San Rafael's community Flag Day program on June 10.

The Flag Day program was co-sponsored by San Rafael Lodge 1108, B.P.O. Elks, and Wilkins Post of the American Legion, with Lt. Col. (ret.) Walter S. Filler, Elks' Americanism chairman, in charge of arrangements.

In response to Filler's request, Col. John H. Fye III, acting commander of the Presidio, on April 10 confirmed availability of the Sixth Army Band and Presidio Color Guard to participate in the public Flag Day program, as they had done in past years.

However, on May 31 — just 10 days before the program — Colonel Fye wrote Filler:

"It is with sincere regret that I must advise you that the Sixth United States Army Band and the Presidio Color Guard will be unable to participate in Flag Day ceremonies at the San Rafael Elks Lodge on June 10.

" . . . We are specifically precluded from providing Army support to any event which might directly or indirectly endorse or appear to endorse fraternal organizations such as the Knights of Columbus, the Moose, the Elks, Masonic Orders and similar groups."

Queried later about the withdrawal, Maj. James Green of the Presidio public information office cited an Army manual on "Community Relations." One section of it lists as "organizations which may not be selectively benefitted or favored"; the Knights of Columbus, Loyal Order of Moose, Knights Templar, Order of Eastern Star, Free and Accepted Masons (Scottish Rite, York Rite and Shrine), Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and B'nai B'rith.

Another section tells why:

"Participation is prohibited for public events when the sponsoring organization or group excludes any person from its membership or functions because of race, creed, color or national origin."

Still another section, however, provides an exemption for veterans' organizations with racial or sectarian limitations, such as Jewish War Veterans of the U.S.A., Polish Legion of American Veterans, etc. But none is provided for fraternal organizations.

The regulations go still farther, prohibiting participation that would "benefit or favor . . . quasi-religious or ideological movements and organizations as Moral Rearmamemt, Sing-Out, and Up With People." There is no explanation of why the three organizations which trace back to Buchmanism are singled out by name.

The late withdrawal of the Sixth Army Band left the Elks unable to find another band for the Public Flag Day program in San Rafael, so it was necessary to use recorded music. A color guard was provided by the Marine Corps Reserve. According to Filler, the Navy and Marine Corps leave decisions on such participation up to local commanding officers.

The GAO report which cited the Sixth Army Band's appearances charged that the Pentagon spent $48 million more for public relations over the last two fiscal years than it reported was used for that purpose.

This expenditure, said GAO, included four special military aerial teams which perform at fairs and other celebrations, civilian fours to military bases around the nation (popularly known as "junkets"), a special group that prepares service-related exhibits, the Defense Information School which trains military personnel to be public relations experts, and five major bands which perform no military duties other than playing at programs and marching in parades.

The five bands, said GAO, performed 5,023 times in 1972 at a cost of nearly $11 million.

It listed the Sixth Army Band as playing 106 performances, of which exactly half were public, from July 1, 1972, to April 12 of this year at a cost of $308,790.

The GAO said the Pentagon reported spending $24.8 million in fiscal 1973 and $22 million the preceding fiscal year on public affairs activities. Addition of the expenses it did not include would virtually double those amounts.

The GAO report concluded that the Pentagon had not listed the bands, aerial circuses, etc., as promotional spending "because the agencies felt that these activities did not meet the defined criteria of public affairs."

Radioactivity Level Below Average Mark

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Airborne radioactivity recorded in California the past three months was way below the danger level and did not reach the usual spring peak for the second consecutive year, the state Department of Health reported Tuesday.

"Our statewide air surveillance network revealed that average radioactivity reading was 0.11 picocuries per cubic meter of air during the second quarter of 1973," said Health Director J.M. Stubblebine.

A picocuries is a miniscule amount of radioactivty, equivalent to that emitted by a millionth of a gram of radium. A health spokesman said the 0.11 state figure compared to an unsafe figure of 1.

"This value is not significantly different from those we've observed for the past year," Stubblebine said.

"Furthermore, there has been surprisingly little regional variation throughout the state. However, this value contrasts with the average of 0.84 picocuries per cubic meter measured in the spring quarter of 1971," he added.

Stubblebine said that airborne radioactivity during the second quarter this year varied from a high of 0.18 picocuries per cubic meter in the San Joaquin Valley to the lowest average of 0.07 picocuries in the south coastal region.

The health director said the findings did not reflect any recent contributions of bomb debries from Chinese and French tests.

The Marin Motorcycle Club will donate $222 to Guide Dogs for the Blind this week, according to Frank Joiner, club president.

San Rafael Man Will Be Tried

A San Rafael man who has pleaded innocent to charges of burglarizing a home in that city was bound over to Marin Superior Court Tuesday after Municipal Judge Robert A. Smallman ruled there is enough evidence to try him.

James Robert Detel, 19, was ordered to appear Aug. 20 in the higher court following a preliminary hearing.

Detels has denied burglarizing the Peter R. Mack home of Senic Avenue on July 7 and taking 100 checks and $100 worth of personal possessions.

Carnival Planned

A carnival complete with games, a puppet show and fortune teller for the benefit of Muscular Dystrophy will be held at 11:30 a.m. Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Gordon at 185 Cobblestone Drive, San Rafael with their daughter Lynne acting as ringmaster.

PLAQUE — A small, crude wooden plaque from "members of the Bay Area Anarchist Community" says it is "in memory of the millions of human beings sacraficed (sic) in honor of pitiless abstractions and greed and of Harold J. Haley, as much a victim as the rest." The plaque, found near the new Haley memorial on the Civic Center grounds, was removed before a dedication ceremony.

Eulogy By Thomas To His Friend

By MARY LEYDECKER

"He was the bravest man I've ever known."

In a firm, strong voice, Judge Gary W. Thomas eulogized his friend, the late Judge Harold J. Haley, at ceremonies Tuesday in which a memorial to Haley was dedicated on the Marin Civic Center grounds.

Thomas spoke from the wheelchair to which he has been confined since he was wounded in the same shoot-out which took Haley's life. He did not refer, however, to his own role in what another speaker termed "Marin's greatest tragedy."

Instead, he spoke of Haley as "the most courteous of judges," "the goodliest person," "the kindest man." Haley, he said, followed the motto of the Knights of the Round Table, "Live pure, speak true, love Christ the King."

About 300 people, including the judge's widow, Gertrude, his three daughters and their families, county officials, lawmen, fellow lawyers and judges and longtime friends attended the ceremonies.

The memorial, dedicated on the third anniversary of Haley's death, is in a grove of new trees on the west side of the Civic Center. It includes curved benches and a large natural stone inscribed "a just and compassionate man taken from his bench to his death, lost to his family and his community."

The site is a few feet from where a rental van was parked before the judge, three women jurors, and Thomas were forced as hostages into the vehicles in an abortive escape attempt.

The judge, two San Quentin convicts and an accomplice died in a shoot-out with lawmen after the van was driven to the other side of the Hall of Justice.

Leonard B. Shaw, president of the Marin Bar Association which gave the memorial said the outdoor site had been chosen rather than "a remote area of the courthouse."

Longtime Marin judges Peter Allen Smith and Joseph G. Wilson, both close friends of Haley, also memorialized him in short talks. Haley's "kindness and generosity and overwhelming patience" were described by Smith and Wilson said that Haley was a "humble man" to whom "there was no such thing as a small case."

Another longtime friend, Rev. Thomas Kennedy of St. Raphael's Church spoke of the judge's deep religion, saying his memorial "need not have religious symbols" on it because "he gave life itself to the law of God."

Most of those at the quiet ceremonies, which lasted about 30 minutes, were unaware that earlier in the day groundsmen had removed a small, crude wooden plaque with a message from a group called "the Bay Area Anarchist Community" from the memorial site.

The plaque was found about 10 a.m. and was promptly removed.

It called Haley "as much a victim as the rest" and contained quotations from revolutionary leaders. A press release given out by the group said that Haley along with the convicts and their accomplice, Jonathan Jackson, "were murdered by San Quentin guards."

(Court testimony later showed that Haley died of wounds from guns seized by the escapees from law officers.)

"This was not the day for it," said Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director, who ordered the removal of the small plaque.

Bound Over On Passing Bad Check

A San Rafael woman, already fighting a burglary charge in Marin Municipal Court was bound over to superior court Tuesday to stand trial for passing a bad check.

Mynelle Glenny Griswold, 19, was told to appear Monday in the higher court after Judge Robert A. Smallman ruled there is enough evidence to try her.

She is accused of passing a check for $175, drawn on the account of a San Rafael woman, at Sears, Roebuck Co., on July 20. She is also charged with two counts of having a false identification card.

In another case in municipal court, Miss Griswold is accused of taking part in the theft of $2,270 worth of goods from a San Rafael saddle shop.

Ex-Prostitute Sues For Bus Job

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A San Francisco woman seeking a bus driver's job contends that conviction on prostitution charges does not necessarily constitute "moral turpitude."

Mrs. Betty K. Dobson sued the State Department of Motor Vehicles Tuesday, contending she was improperly denied a bus driver's license because of her conviction.

San Anselmo's Budget Up But Tax Rate Unchanged

The San Anselmo City Council Tuesday night approved a $2,108,641 budget for 1973-74, up $560.930 from last fiscal year's $1,547,711 spending program.

The budget, which includes funds for pay raises for city employees, will require a tax rate of $2.35 per $100 of assessed valuation, the same as last fiscal year, according to City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel.

Kaeppel said city councilmen made no cut or addition to the budget during a 90-minute hearing last night, and instructed him to prepare the document for formal adoption Aug. 28.

The budget is based on estimated revenue of $2,137,063, including $950,000 in property taxes, Kaeppel said.

Kaeppel described the budget approved last night as "basically an operating program" that is "entirely separate" from the capital improvement budget. The capital improvement program will be the subject of "continuing discussions," he said, saying it will be funded by about $185,000 in revenue sharing monies, $100,000 in capital surplus funds left over from last year, and $40,000 raised from a 10-cent levy included in the $2.35 tax rate.

Kaeppel said he is particularly proud of one improvement that is included in the operating budget. "This is the first time in many years we've been able to do something about storm drain improvements," he said, saying $99,000 is allocated for such improvements. Last fiscal year, only $4,000 was budgeted for storm drain maintenance, he said.

Aside from funds allocated for employee pay raises, the spending program is only $17,621 higher than Kaeppel first proposed last June. Through a series of budget hearings, councilmen added $29,551 to Kaeppel's proposal and cut $11,930 from it.

Discussion last night centered around a $1,000 allocation for Survival Inc., which councilmen decided to leave in the budget, and a $3,222 allocation for a school crossing guard at Rutherford Avenue and Butterfield Road, which councilmen also said will remain in the budget.

Councilman Warren R. Perry reported he and colleague Kenneth L. Anderson voted to oppose the crossing guard allocation, saying adequate crossing facilities exist several blocks away and claiming the matter was an emotional issue that would add another man to the payroll.

Perry said councilmen expect routinely to adopt the budget and set the tax rate on Aug. 28.

Holiday Plan, Pay Increase Approved

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — The Riverside County Board of Supervisors Tuesday approved a 5.5 per cent pay increase for the county's 4,200 employes.

Included in the package were a boost in health insurance benefits and a plan to give holidays on each Friday preceeding a national holiday which falls on Saturday.

Arrow Owner Sought In Ranger's Murder

Federal investigators today were seeking the owner of a box of orange and white crossbow arrows found near the spot where Ranger Kenneth C. Patrick was slain Sunday at the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Detective John Kelley of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said fingerprints were lifted from the box, but declined to say if they had been matched to an individual.

"We're not sure if the arrows had anything to do with the killing anyway," he said.

The FBI, in its search for the ranger's killer, had found an automobile license number, presumed to have been written down by Patrick shortly before his death. But Kelley said investigation revealed that the person driving the rented car with that license was not involved in the slaying.

Patrick, 40, was the first park service ranger to be murdered in the line of duty.

Kelley said detectives were interviewing suspected deer poachers in the park, hoping for a clue to the killer's identity. Patrick was looking for poachers in the area when he was shot to death. He was found with his pistol still in its holster near his car. The vehicle's motor was running and its lights were blinking.

CARROLL A. SNYKER
To leave chamber post

Snyker Will Resign From Bureau Post

Carroll A. Snyker, who has been involved in chamber of commerce activities in Marin since 1954, has submitted his resignation as manager of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau, effective Oct. 1.

Snyker said that after 43 years in the chamber of commerce field and after becoming 65 he feels his resignation is timely.

He said he and his wife, Dorothy, will move to a new home near Hidden Valley Lake in Lake County.

Snyker came to Marin as manager of the Marin Development Foundation in 1954. He had previously been with the publicity and industrial departments of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce for 24 years.

Snyker was Ross town clerk from August, 1961, to May, 1962, and transferred from the development foundation to the chamber of commerce in 1966 when the latter took over promotional duties for the county.

A native of Montana, Snyker served as a member and officer of several regional and statewide chamber organizations. He also had a wartime teaching stint at Stanford University in priority procedures.

Tam Valley CSD Sets Budget, Tax Rate Same

A $226,507 budget — $70,000 more than last year's — was prepared for adoption last night by the Tamalpais Community Services District.

The increase is due mainly to the new scope of the district's activities, because beginning in October, the district will be in the garbage collection business.

According to Glenn Lambacher, district publicist, the new spending program is scheduled for adoption Aug. 14. He said the budget currently calls for an unchanged tax rate of 35 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Those assessments Lambacher added, have risen about 12 per cent for next year.

By the next meeting, the board will have the bill from the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District, which handles sewage treatment for the Tamalpais Valley. Next year, the community services district will contract for an increased sewage gallonage, 156 million, up 37 million from this year's agreement.

In other matters, the board set sewer charges for next year at $45 per household, unchanged from this year. The garbage collection fee for the nine months beginning Oct. 1 will be $21.60, according to Lambacher.

Trustees To Pick New District Head

Sausalito School District Trustees will meet in closed session at 7 p.m. today in district offices to select a new superintendent for the district, according to Byron Mauzy, interim superintendent.

Following the private meeting, trustees will announce their selection.

Trustees Pass School Budget

A publication budget of $325,261 for 1973-74, an increase of about $56,500 over last year's spending plan, was approved last night by Bolinas-Stinson School District Trustees.

Board members agreed to include in the budget $2,800 to pay the salary of a part-time office clerk.

The budget is not expected to increase the current tax rate of 94 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, according to Supt. Bernard Barrish, and the budget hike is expected to be funded by higher assessed valuation figures. Those figures, however, are not yet available, Barrish reported.

Obtain Ruffing Tricks Before Drawing Trumps For A Victory

When dummy has a short suit, you often ruff losing cards of that suit with dummy's trumps. As an experienced player, moreover, you avoid drawing trumps until you have ruffed your losers. Today's hand shows that principle in a new twist.

USES QUEEN

West opened the five of clubs and declarer finessed with dummy's queen. If the finesse did not work, South could ruff in his own hand.

As it happened, East played the king of clubs and South ruffed. So far, so good.

Now South led a trump to dummy's queen and East held off. Declarer led a second trump and East held off again.

THIRD TRUMP

Without a care in the world, declarer led a third trump. This was a fatal error. East took the ace of trumps and led his last trump, thus getting rid of all trumps.

Now South had one losing card in each suit. To put it differently, he had only nine winning cards: four trumps, two hearts, two diamonds and one club. Down one.

SHOULD RUFF

South should ruff another club before drawing trumps. It's true that dummy had no ruffing power but South should imagine that his own hand was the dummy. Then it would be clear that his hand should ruff before trumps were drawn.

It was all right to lead two rounds of trumps. Then, however, the low club should be led from dummy and South should ruff. The ace of clubs would remain in dummy to keep control.

SECOND CLUB

Having ruffed a second club, South could then lead his last trump. East could take the ace of trumps but could do nothing to defeat the contract.

Trees Planted Now From The Air

NEW YORK (UPI) — Twentieth century tree farmers are using helicopters to reforest the high slopes of the Cascade Mountains in Washington state.

Foresters with Burlington Northern Railroad, which uses aerial seeding to supplement its hand planting of more than 2 million trees each year in four Western states, employ specially equipped helicopters to spread seeds over 1,000 to 2,000 mountain acres annually. There are about 40,000 Douglas fir seeds to a pound, and it takes about three-quarters of a pound to cover one acre.

ALMANAC

BY U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Wednesday, August 8, the 220th day of 1973, with 145 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

America's first professional architect, Charles Bullfinch, was born August 8, 1763.

Also on this day in history:

In 1940, the German Luftwaffe began a series of daylight air raids on the British Isles that continued until October 31.

In 1945, President Harry Truman signed the ratification of the United Nations Charter. Also in 1945, Russia declared war on Japan, seven days before Japan surrendered.

In 1968, Richard Nixon won the Republican nomination for President. He was elected in November, defeating Hubert Humphrey and George Wallace.

In 1972, the Democratic National Committee nominated Sargent Shriver as Sen. George McGovern's presidential running mate. They lost in November to Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew.

A thought for the day: German novelist Thomas Mann said: "Time cools, time clarifies. No mood can be maintained unaltered through the course of hours."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen dixoide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slow reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Old Adobe Sets School Budget

The Old Adobe School District board, Petaluma, Tuesday night adopted a $2.3 million budget for 1972-73 and heard the tax rate should decrease by 60 cents.

Schools Supt. Dean D. Magowan said the new budget totaling $2,392,356 was an increase of $450,860 over last year's budget of $1,941,490.

Magowan said the current tax rate of $2.89 per $100 assessed valuation will probably decrease to $2.29, depending on the increase in assessed valuation.

Magowan said the budget includes a 10 per cent reserve fund along with $19,500 in a free reserve fund. He said the board will divide these funds among several projects including the reading program, music education, vice principals and library facilities. A study session on the funding will be held later and added to the budget.

The board also approved leasing four additional portable classrooms at a cost of $7,200 for next school year with two each at La Tercera and at Bernard Eldredge schools.

The next board meeting will be Aug. 16 at 7:45 p.m. at La Tercera.

Family Tradition Is Carried Out

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. (UPI) — Genevieve Lynn Richardson set a Marine Corps record Tuesday when she became the sixth girl from her family to join the corps.

Miss Genevieve, 18, has three sisters who joined the Marines in 1968. Two other sisters enlisted in 1971.

Definition Given For Drug Abuse

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Medical Association defines drug abuse as "the use of any drug by an individual to the extent that it adversely affects or limits his ability to function as a responsible person."

In order of harmful impact—including physical damage and psychological and socioeconomic disruption—the CMA lists these "drugs of abuse": alcohol, barbiturates, amphetamines, heroin, cocaine, hallucinogens, marijuana and hashish, solvents and tobacco.

No Contest Pleaded In Embezzling

The former bookkeeper of the Marin City Community Services District has decided not to contest a charge of embezzlement.

Judge David Menary Jr. accepted the no-contest plea Monday from Lillian Juanita Lee, 32, in Marin Superior Court and set sentencing for Aug. 27.

The plea was the result of a bargaining session agreed to by Mrs. Lee's attorney, Judge Menary and the Marin District Attorney's office.

In exchange for the no-contest plea, Mrs. Lee will not be sent to state prison and her offense will be reduced to a misdemeanor if she completes probation successfully.

She is charged with embezzling $1,486 from the services district between September and March, although she paid back $886 when an audit disclosed the funds were missing.

Mrs. Lee quit her $659-per-month job as district bookkeeper and secretary in March and was indicted by the Marin County Grand Jury in June.

LIVE IN TIBURON THE WAY YOU SHOULD LIVE IN TIBURON

Leave San Francisco after work on the ferry boat & land in the summer sun of Tiburon. Leisurely meander up the tree-lined streets to your new Harbor Hill Condominium. Walk through your own private entrance, change into your swimming suit & relax by the heated pool. Or just pull up a chair on your private deck & take in the full view of Tiburon Harbor, San Francisco Bay & the skyline of the city. No worries regarding maintenance or upkeep — it's the only way to live in Tiburon. In fact, it's the only way to live anywhere. 1 & 2 bedroom floor plans avail. Priced from $39,700.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF REQUEST FOR STATE CERTIFICATION OF SAN QUENTIN DISPOSAL SITE SANITARY LANDFILL BY SAN QUENTIN DISPOSAL COMPANY

1515 Francisco Boulevard
San Rafael, Marin County
CA 94902

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the San Quentin Disposal Company, operating a Class II Sanitary Landfill, and doing business as San Quentin Disposal Site, has applied to the State Water Resources Control Board pursuant to the provisions of Section 401 Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972 for certification to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers that the continuation of the sanitary landfill operation as described below is an activity which will be conducted in a manner which will not violate the California Water Quality Control Plan, requirements adopted by the Board, or any applicable Federal Standards.

The applicant intends to continue operation of a sanitary landfill on a 21-acre area located in the easterly portion of the San Quentin Disposal site, City of San Rafael, Marin County, California. The site is bounded on the north by the East San Rafael Drainage Assessment District No. 1, on the west and east by the lands of Francisco Company and on the south by the lands of Lee R. Ceccotiti, et al, and Haskell Norman.

On January 15, 1969, this Regional Board adopted Resolution 69-2 prescribing waste discharge requirements for the landfill operation. There have been no substantial changes in the ongoing landfill procedure which consists of excavating cells and filling them with a mixture of debris and earth and then covering the compacted refuse with at least two feet of dirt. The excavated earth is then used to build other interior dikes to form additional cells and to cover more compacted debris. With 4000 feet of interior dike having been constructed within the area to be filled, the disposal site is not subject to tidal action. Likewise, the system of cells is designated so that there can be no return flow of water to San Francisco Bay.

The purpose of the compacted landfill operation is to raise the existing ground level to prevent flooding and to provide adequate drainage in accordance with the City of San Rafael General Plan. Approximately, 625,000 cubic yards of debris and 275,000 cubic yards of earth will be used to complete the filling of the 21-acre site.

Concerned parties should transmit to Fred H. Dierker, Executive Officer, California Regional Water Quality Control Board, San Francisco Bay Region, 364 - 14th Street, Oakland, CA 94612, any relevant information or objections by September 7, 1973.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS RICHARDSON BAY SANITARY DISTRICT SEWER SEALING PROGRAM - 1973

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Richardson Bay Sanitary District, Marin County, California, will receive up to, but not later than, 8:00 o'clock p.m. on the 21st day of August, 1973, sealed bids for the award of a contract for the sealing of sewers in the District in strict accordance with the plans and specifications therefor, prepared by J. Warren Nute, Inc., Civil & Sanitary Engineers, and on file in the office of the District.

Said sealed proposals or bids shall be delivered to the Secretary of the Sanitary Board of said Sanitary District, Trestle Glen Sewage Treatment Plant, Jefferson Avenue and Tiburon Highway, Tiburon, California, or mailed to 433 Town & Country Village, Mill Valley, California.

Each bid shall be in accordance with said plans, specifications, and other contract documents now on file in the office of the District Secretary.

Said proposals or bids must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed "Richardson Bay Sanitary District, Trestle Glen Sewage Treatment Plant, Tiburon, California," and endorsed "Proposal for Sewer Sealing Program - 1973."

All proposals shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check payable to the order of the District amounting to ten per cent (10%) of the bid, or by a bid bond in said amount and payable to said District, signed by the bidder and a corporate admitted surety or two individual sureties who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double said amount, and over and above all statutory exemptions. Said check shall be forfeited or said bond shall become payable to said District in case the bidder depositing the same does not, within fifteen (15) days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him enter into a contract with the District, the faithful performance of which shall be secured by an undertaking in the amount of one hundred per cent (100%) of the amount so bid, with sureties satisfactory to said Sanitary Board, and which shall be accompanied by a labor and material bond in a sum equal to one hundred per cent (100%) of the amount of said bid, under the provisions of Section 3247 to 3252, inclusive, of the Civil Code of the State of California.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on July 17, 1973, the Sanitary Board adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality in which the public work herein provided is to be done for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contract, a copy of which wage scale is hereto attached and made a part hereof, and also contained in and made a part of the specifications for said work, to which reference is hereby made for a full and detailed description thereof.

The Board reserves the privilege of rejecting any and all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bid or in the bidding.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening of bids.

Plans and specifications may be obtained at the office of J. Warren Nute, Inc., 907 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, California, upon deposit of $10.00 per set, $5.00 of which will be refunded if the set or sets delivered are returned in good condition within ten (10) days after the bid opening.

Discrimination

In accordance with Section 1735 of the Labor Code, no discrimination shall be made in the employment of persons upon any part of the contemplated work because of race, color, national ancestry or origin, or religion of such persons.

Attention is directed to the provisions in Sections 1777.5 (Chapter 1411, Statutes of 1968) and 1777.6 of the Labor Code concerning the employment of apprentices by the Contractor or any subcontractor under him.

Section 1777.5, as amended, requires the Contractor or subcontractor employing tradesmen in any apprenticeable occupation to apply to the joint apprenticeship committee nearest the site of the public works project and which administers the apprenticeship program in that trade for a certificate of approval. The certificate will also fix the ratio of apprentices to journeymen that will be used in the performance of the contract. The ratio of apprentices to journeymen in such cases shall be not less than one to five except:

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS RICHARDSON BAY SANITARY DISTRICT FORCE MAIN RELOCATION NORTH END RICHARDSON BAY BRIDGE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Richardson Bay Sanitary District, Marin County, California, will receive up to, but not later than, 8:00 o'clock p.m. on the 21st day of August, 1973, sealed bids for the award of a contract for the construction of improvements in the District in strict accordance with the plans and specifications therefor entitled "Force Main Relocation-North End Richardson Bay Bridge," dated July, 1973, prepared by J. Warren Nute,Inc., Civil & Sanitary Engineers, and on file in the office of the District.

Said sealed proposals or bids shall be delivered to the Secretary of the Sanitary Board of said Sanitary District, Trestle Glen Sewage Treatment Plant, Jefferson Avenue and Tiburon Highway, Tiburon, California, or mailed to 433 Town & Country Village, Mill Valley, California.

Each bid shall be in accordance with said plans, specifications, and other contract documents now on file in the office of the District Secretary.

Said proposals or bids must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed "Richardson Bay Sanitary District, Trestle Glen Sewage Treatment Plant, Tiburon, California," and endorsed "Proposal for Force Main Relocation North End Richardson Bay Bridge."

All proposals shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check payable to the order of the District amounting to ten per cent (10%) of said bid, or by a bid bond in said amount and payable to said District, signed by the bidder and a corporate admitted surety or two individual sureties who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double said amount, and over and above all statutory exemptions. Said check shall be forfeited or said bond shall become payable to said District in case the bidder depositing the same does not, within fifteen (15) days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him enter into a contract with the District, the faithful performance of which shall be secured by an undertaking in the amount of one hundred per cent (100%) of the amount so bid, with sureties satisfactory to said Sanitary Board, and which shall be accompanied by a labor and material bond in a sum equal to one hundred per cent (100%) of the amount of said bid, under the provisions of Sections 3247 to 3252, inclusive, of the Civil Code of the State of California.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on July 17, 1973, the Sanitary Board adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality in which the public work herein provided is to be done for each craft of type of workman needed to execute the contract, a copy of which wage scale is hereto attached and made a part hereof, and also contained in and made a part of the specifications for said work, to which reference is hereby made for a full and detailed description thereof.

The Board reserves the privilege of rejecting any and all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bid or in the bidding.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening of bids.

Plans and specifications may be obtained at the office of J. Warren Nute, Inc., 907 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, California, upon deposit of $10.00 per set, $5.00 of which will be refunded if the set or sets delivered are returned in good condition within ten (10) days after the bid opening.

Plea Made To Stolen Property

A San Rafael man reportedly caught by police while unloading loot stolen from a San Rafael apartment pleaded innocent Tuesday to charges of burglary and possessing stolen property.

Judge Gary W. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court set a preliminary hearing for John David Anderson, 48, of 401 First Street, for Tuesday.

Police said they saw Anderson unloading a television set, a stereo, tools and guns from a car at 6:15 p.m. Sunday near First and B streets.

The name of Thomas G. Torres, of 340 Channing Way, Apt. 251 was found among the tools. Torres told officers his apartment had been burglarized.

Visiting Guru Welcomed By A Pie In Face

DETROIT (UPI) — A bearded young man pulled a shaving cream pie out of a bouquet of roses and slapped it into Guru Maharaj Ji's face, then said, "I always wanted to throw a pie in God's face."

The 15-year-old Indian guru was appearing before the Detroit Common Council at the time of the incident Tuesday. The council was considering a special testimonial resolution for him.

The shaving cream dripped down the guru's broad face and onto the front of his suit.

"This was probably nothing like the nails through Jesus Christ," the guru said.

The pie thrower identified himself as Pat Halley, 22, a reporter for the antiestablishment Detroit newspaper Fifth Estate. "The Guru is just a slick businessman," Halley said.

Sausalito Seeking Hopefuls For Posts

The City of Sausalito now is accepting applications for two openings on the parks and recreation commission and the community appearances advisory board and one on the library board, it was announced at Tuesday night's meeting of the city council.

Appointments, in accordance with new procedures adopted by the council, will be made in 30 days. Short, resume-type applications will be available in city offices within the next few days, said Mayor Robin Sweeny.

Under the new guidelines, applications should be filed within 10 days of the announcement of the vacancy in a newspaper.

Interviews of candidates by less than a quorum of the city council will be conducted without public notice. But when a quorum is involved, thus constituting a meeting of the council, the session will be announced in advance and conducted behind closed doors.

Formal appointment will follow in open session.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

DEVELOPMENT — Rezoned two parcels of land on each side of Ebbtide Avenue near Martin Luther King School, about 50,000 square feet, to R-2-5, allowing John F. Powers to build a maximum of 10 residential units.

RAILROAD — Continued until Aug. 28 an appeal by the Sausalito-Richardson Bay Railroad of a planning commission denial of a use permit to operate a narrow-gauge railroad service paralleling Bridgeway in the downtown area.

ENVIRONMENT — Continued until Aug. 21 consideration of a proposal that any development project requiring an environmental impact report automatically be considered a conditional use and be subject to planning commission review.

DECK — Upheld an appeal by Carlton Rider of a planning commission denial, and granted a variance to build a redwood deck on Rider's house at 309 Third Street.

HEALTH — Authorized the mayor to sign an agreement with the County of Marin for the county health officer to provide inspection and other services to the city.

TIME LIMIT — Resolved to try to end meetings by 11:30 p.m., perhaps, as Councilman Stephen A. Fraser suggested, by limiting audience comment and council debate; perhaps, as Mrs. Sweeny suggested, by postponing action on matters not dealt with by then; perhaps, as City Mgr. Thomas P. McKenzie suggested, by accepting no last-minute appeals by residents and by adhering to the 5 p.m. Thursday deadline for completing the following Tuesday's agenda.

BRIDGEWAY — Told McKenzie to meet with designers, city officials and businessmen to work out remaining design problems for the improvement and beautification of downtown Bridgeway so that the $224,000 project can be approved Aug. 21, begun in October and completed next March. "We've screwed around with the aesthetics of this long enough," said Fraser.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Aug. 14 for continued discussion of a proposed zoning ordinance for the city's central waterfront district. The next regular council meeting will be at 8 p.m. Aug. 21 in city hall.

Litchfield Date In Court Is Set

A San Rafael man has been ordered to appear in Marin Superior Court Monday on a charge of concealing stolen property — a huge assortment of loot allegedly found in his apartment.

Municipal Judge Peter Allen Smith ruled Tuesday there is enough evidence to try Marc Allan Litchfield, 22.

Corte Madera Police who arrested Litchfield in his San Rafael apartment said he led a burglary ring which committed dozens of burglaries throughout Marin.

Meat Market's Theft Meatless

OAKLAND (UPI) — Theives netted nary a hamburger when they struck Martin Meats.

But, police said, they did make off with cases of pizza, strawberries, potatoes, broccoli and shrimp.

All the loot, police said Monday, was recovered and two juveniles were taken into custody.

Rabbi Stabbed

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three young hoodlums stabbed and beat a 46-year-old rabbi who refused to give them a dime Tuesday, police reported. The rabbi, David Silverman, was in good condition today at St. Luke's Hospital with bruises, a broken nose and a stab wound in the back.

Inquiry Made On McGovern Funds

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — The FBI has made an inquiry into Sen. George McGovern's 1972 campaign expenditures in Connecticut at the request of Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Cox asked the FBI in New Haven to check campaign records at the secretary of state's office in Hartford to verify an allegation by a private citizen "not connected with Watergate."

Cox's Washington office declined to provide details on the allegation or who made it.

Soviet Author Is Banned From Union

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Writers Union confirmed today that novelist Vladimir Maximov, author of "Seven Days of Creation," has been expelled from the writers union on grounds his work is anti-Soviet and anti-socialist.

Literary Gazette, the official newspaper of the writers union, said Maximov was expelled after he refused to appear at a hearing before the union secretariat. Maximov sent word that "he is suffering from a sickness connected with a mental disorder," the newspaper said.

Arab Guerrillas Take Credit For Slaughter

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — An Arab guerrilla group calling itself "the Seventh Suicide Squad" reportedly claimed responsibility today for a terrorist attack against passengers in the Athens airport last Sunday.

Two Beirut newspapers, An Nahar and Al Anwar, published a statement allegedly from the little-known group dated Aug. 5 —the day of the attack—and addressed to the American people.

The statement claimed responsibility for the machine gun and grenade assault on passengers waiting to board planes to New York and Geneva, but said it was supposed to be against passengers en route to Tel Aviv. Those passengers had already boarded their plane and were on the runway when the terrorists opened fire.

(In Athens, police said the two Arabs arrested at the airport faced charges of premeditated murder in the deaths of three persons killed in the attack, plus causing bodily injury to the 55 persons wounded, illegal detention of persons, property damage and illegal possession and use of arms.

(A mob howling "Death to the murderers!" tried to attack the two Arabs as they were brought from court Tuesday in Athens. One woman broke through the police guard and clawed the face of one of them, Zehod Mohad. The other Arab, Talaat Husham, was not injured).

The statement said the Athens attack was directed against "the American aircraft flight No. 840 on its way to Tel Aviv." It appealed to Greek authorities to treat the attackers as "prisoners of war" and warned against placing them "under the mercy of the American and Israeli intelligence."

"We have discovered," it said, "that in order to make you understand us and realize our right to live we must begin to defend ourselves against all those who seek to exterminate us.

"We have decided to adopt your criminal methods and teach the first lesson to the people who is undertaking a campaign of extermination against us," it said.

It said the American people forced it to adopt methods that included killing innocent women and children.

Sex Bill Goes To The Assembly

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — A bill removing criminal penalties for all private sex acts between consenting adults was approved on a party-line vote Tuesday by a committee which sent it to the full State Assembly.

The Criminal Justice Committee voted 4-2, with Democrats in favor and Republicans opposed, after 15 minutes of low-key debate.

The bill was supported by the City and County of San Francisco, League of Women Voters, National Organization for Women, and Society of Individual Rights, a homosexual group. Opposed were the Peace Officers Association, State Sheriffs Association and District Attorneys Association.

THIS IS THE END — Ernie Campbell, manager of Hamilton Lanes at the Air Force Base since 1967, stared down at a tool box he'll no longer need to repair alleys he'll never see again. The bowling establishment has been closed due to the phaseout of the base, ending a league program which once included as many as 1,000 bowlers.

Hamilton Field's Imminent Closing Spells Death For Bowling Lanes

By PAUL DWORIN

The noise of the once-crowded lanes was conspicuous in its absence. Four children were bowling, and two men sat quietly drinking beers while workmen removed the snack bar refrigerator. Hamilton Lanes had one and a half more days of operation, but it seemed closed already.

When the last person had passed through the unassuming entrance last Tuesday night at 11 p.m., an era of bowling prosperity at Hamilton Air Force Base had officially ended.

Opened in 1952, Hamilton Lanes has been a veritable mecca of recreation for active and retired Air Force persons and their families. Now, with the base scheduled to be phased out by Oct. 1, the Air Force feels the need for the lanes has ended.

"It's one of the most active places on the base," Sgt. Eddie Bryant commented as he paused from his beer. "Without it, what else can you do except go to the show? It's also the coolest spot on the base."

Perhaps the man most closely associated with, and therefore most personally affected, by the closing of the lanes is manager Ernie Campbell.

Campbell, who is a retired Air Force man, has been the on-and-off manager of the lanes since 1967. He started at the alley as a maintenance man, but soon afterwards took over as manager. When the job was turned into a civil service slot in August, 1969, Campbell was replaced by three different managers until the job was returned to him this year.

"I've been here since 1967 and I never thought we'd close down, but they finally gave me the keys to close the door," he said.

What Campbell could not understand is that, although Hamilton is being phased out, there will still be military living on the base who will be in need of recreation, but, "it's supposed to close and that's all there is to it. I quit years ago trying to explain the Air Force."

In 1965, the alley was converted from six to 10 lanes and A-2 machines were installed, which are the fastest available. These machines, and any other motorized equipment, will now be used to update Aerospace Defense Command sites in the state, like the Mt. Tamalpais station.

All the other equipment, such as balls, pins, tables and chairs are being sent to Australia where the ADC is building a six-lane alley. (The motorized equipment could not be sent to Australia because electrical current is different there.)

The shut-down of operations at the lanes comes at a time when its bowling programs are bursting with success. For the last few years, there have been 16 leagues with 1,000 bowlers in the winter, and 12 leagues in the summer. This summer, only six leagues were started and competition has been spotty due to the phaseout.

To Campbell, the closing of the alley means more than what he calls the best lanes and the "biggest and best junior program in the county;" it means the end of his job.

"From now till the 15th of August I'm employed, then I'm going on vacation, cause I don't know what the hell I'm going to do," the 23-year veteran of the military commented.

PGA TOURNEY ADVICE

Miller: 'Don't Get Uptight'

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Johnny Miller has a message for his fellow touring pros: "Treat golf like a game and don't get uptight when you play badly."

Miller, the U.S. Open champion who now plays out of Sea Pines, S.C., plans to "have fun" when he tees off here Thursday in the 55th Professional Golfers' Association Championship.

"That does not mean I will not play seriously and be trying for the title," the 26-year-old San Francisco native added. "But I'll have fun and won't jump off the bridge if I don't do well."

Miller maintains he is a big occasion player. "I play my best in the big tournaments. I seem to get charged up for them, but the incentive does not seem to be there for the regular tour events.

"I think I have the best stroke average in the big events outside Jack Nicklaus in recent years.

"Look, if I'd have only driven reasonably well, I'm sure I would have won the British Open as well instead of finishing second to Tom (Weiskopf)."

Asked whether he considered himself a serious contender at Canterbury, Miller said: "I'm very tired; my game is off and I want a rest. But I'll be mentally ready by Thursday and if I can put together three regulation rounds and one 'super' round, then I'll have a chance."

But Miller, who has banked $118,238 on the tour to date to stand sixth in earnings behind Australia's Bruce Crampton, does not expect to produce a round of 63 as he did at Oakmont to win the Open. "I'll settle for three 70s and a 68," he said.

Canterbury has a par 71 for its 6,852-yard length and most players figure 280 would be a good score for the 72 holes.

Miller said the course, from tee to green, was the best he'd ever seen for a championship. "But the greens are tricky. There are some strange undulations and it's hard to line up a putt."

Crampton, who has won four tournaments and finished second four times en route to winnings of $245,141, saw Canterbury for the first time Tuesday and was satisfied with what he saw.

"It's not as long as what I was led to believe," he said. "I can't really explain it, but you build up a picture of how a thing should look in your mind and then it does not add up."

The 37-year-old Sydney native, who has made Dallas his American home, said he did not find the greens too tough, nor did he feel the three finishing holes were anything extraordinary. "But No. 13, now that's something else. It's a brute and I guess we'll all be happy to make our par fours there."

Crampton, acknowledged as one of the fittest men on the tour, also complained about being tired. "I've only taken six weeks off, but if I don't get tired I guess I have as good a chance as anyone. My swing is under control and I'm generally satisfied with my game," he said.

Bee, Sharon Score Net Tourney Wins

Unseeded Bee Kilgore of Tiburon upset eighth-seeded Claudia Smith of Lancaster, Pa. Tuesday, 1-6, 7-5, 6-1, in the third round of the Girls 18 Nationals tennis tournament in Philadelphia.

In Cincinnati Tuesday, Sharon Walsh of San Rafael beat Chris Matison of Australia, 2-6, 6-4, 6-1, in the first round of the Western Professional Tennis Championships. Miss Walsh was scheduled to face Linda Tuero of New Orleans today.

Sailboats To Qualify On Bay

Some 94 Bay Area sailboats in six classes will participate Saturday and Sunday in the One Design Classes Association qualifying regatta, hosted by the Paradise Harbor Yacht Club of Tiburon.

Results of the races will be used to determine the boats' Yacht Racing Association handicaps for next year.

Two races are scheduled each day, at 10:30 a.m. and immediately following at approximately 12:30 p.m. Each boat's best three races of the four will be used in figuring the handicap.

The classes involved are Columbia 24, Columbia 28, Cal 20A, Cal 20B, Challenger and Islander Bahama. Boats from other classes will qualify on four other courses around San Francisco Bay the same weekend, bringing to about 500 the total number of yachts qualifying.

The event marks the first time the northern area of the Bay, bounded by Richmond, Tiburon and the San Rafael-Richmond Bridge, has been used for a qualifying race. Paradise Harbor Yacht Club officials have laid out courses from seven to nine miles long, club officials using Coast Guard buoys as mark points.

Prison Board Paroles Hunter

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — Bobby Lee Hunter, whose boxing skills gained him national attention, was paroled today from the South Carolina prison system after serving six years of an 18-year sentence for manslaughter.

Hunter was granted his parole after a four-minute hearing before the state pardon and parole board.

The board told Hunter, who won a medal in the Pan American games in 1971, that he was paroled because of his prison record and not because of his boxing achievements.

A's Split With Tigers Amid Goofs

DETROIT (UPI) — Dick Sharon and Dick Williams are even. They both admit they goofed.

Their teams wound up the same, too, Tuesday night when the Oakland A's took the first game of a twi-night doublehader, 8-4, and the Detroit Tigers gained a split by winning the second, 2-0.

BIG CROWD

Detroit's fifth straight crowd of more than 42,000 (this one just seven over) saw the doubleheader between teams leading their respective divisions of the American League.

The Tigers ended where they began—a half-game in front of the East's teams—while the A's slipped from a virtual tie to one-half game behind Kansas City in the West.

'DISGRACE'

"The first game was a disgrace," Sharon said. "I gave them five or six runs myself. I gave it to them. I handed it to them."

The Detroit right fielder's error—plus a catch he didn't make —contributed to the three-run eighth which broke open a 3-3 first game.

NEGLECTED

Williams, the A's manager, turned in a second game lineup card that listed 10 players but neglected to name any positions, which is a clear violation of the Designated Hitter rule. Tigers manager Billy Martin protested the game in the first inning, but naturally dropped it after Detroit won.

"It still wouldn't have made any difference," Williams contended after the games. As long as I had my nine men out there on the field and the DH hadn't come up yet. Still, there's no excuse for it.

CHANCES

"I would have taken my chances on a protest, but I'm still going to check (Al President Joe) Cronin in the morning," the Oakland manager

Giants Rehire Fox, But Fall To Expos

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — There are some people in the San Francisco Giants organization who seem to have lost their confidence in Willie McCovey, but it's hard to find anyone among the opposition in the National League who agrees.

Steve Renko, for instance, said he was scared to death facing McCovey Tuesday night while pitching the Montreal Expos into the thick of the NL East scramble with a 2-1 victory over the Giants.

The Giants, meanwhile, suffered their fourth loss in the last six games and slipped nine games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers in the N.L. West.

Their latest loss came a few hours after the Giants signed Charlie Fox, object of much criticism of late, to a two-year contract as San Francisco manager. Half of the Giants didn't even know of the signing and few greeted it with much enthusiasm.

Most Giants followers were upset at Fox for refusing to use McCovey in two of last weekend's three games against the Dodgers. The two games the Giants lost in that series McCovey was on the bench.

CHARLIE FOX
Two more years

"I don't have much to say," said the amiable Giants slugger. "I've said all I'm going to say about my situation."

McCovey was upset a few weeks ago when he was benched for five games but came out of the "rest" by hitting two homers in two days.

"The man (McCovey) is awesome," said the goodlooking Expos righthander. "Every time he comes to bat he scares me half to death. I can't understand any of this talk about him not being as dangerous as in the past."

Renko knows whereof he speaks. In the second inning Tuesday night McCovey hit a 425 foot homer to right for San Francisco's only run. In the fourth he hit a drive more than 200 feet up and 300 feet down the right field line which Ken Singleton caught and in the ninth he hit a 400 foot drive to the fence in leftcenter which Jim Lyttle caught.

"He hit a changeup for his homer," Renko said. "The second time he hit a fastball that must have been on his fists and the third time he hit what I thought was a pretty good curve."

Renko gave up a first inning

A'S PLACE INJURED DUO ON SHELF

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland A's announced Tuesday that pitcher Jim (Catfish) Hunter and outfielder Joe Rudi have been placed on the disabled list.

Hunter sustained a thumb injury in the All-Star Game and has been out of action since. He was placed on the 21-day disabled list retroactive to July 24 and will be eligible to play again Aug. 14.

Rudi also suffered a thumb injury — against the Minnesota Twins on July 26 — and he was placed on the 15-day disabled list retroactive to Aug. 2. Rudi, also suffering from a throat infection, will be eligible to play Aug. 17.

Crosby Golf Event Gets Dates Changed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sponsors of the Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open and the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am announced Monday the dates of the two tournaments would be exchanged for the 1974 PGA tour.

The L.A. Open now will be held Feb. 14-17 and the Crosby will become the leadoff event on the tour Jan. 2-5.

It was also announced at a news conference at Riviera County Club that the championship layout will be the site of the open for the next two years. Until last year, the tournament had been held at the municipal Rancho Park course.

The change and dates will benefit both tournaments. A flood control construction project across the Riviera course will not be completed until December and the later date will provide more time to prepare the course.

Organizers of the Crosby had been having trouble lining up hotel rooms because many were already booked for the three-day Washington's Birthday weekend. They said the tourney would be cancelled if the dates were not changed.

The Florida portion of the tour will begin with the $260,000 Jackie Gleason Inverrary Classic at Lauderhill, Fla., Feb. 21-24.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Being Alert For Danger

There comes a time in the life of every skipper or small boat operator when he has to make a fateful decision. If he does the right thing, the incident is forgotten. If he does the wrong thing, he could be dead.

Here's an example, and I was in the boat. We were speeding out to a fishing spot — four anglers in a fast outboard. A big cruiser crossed in front of us, creating a big wake.

Our skipper shifted his heading to cross the first wave of the wake at right angles. We bumped a little, but there was a problem.

A little farther on, another larger craft was also dragging a big wake. Our skipper changed heading again slightly to meet the wake at a good angle, but due to some distraction he failed to notice until too late that we would hit both wakes where they met in a turbulent wave. We capsized.

It was a chilly, frightening experience and we lost $75 worth of tackle. We were lucky that was all.

It should be a conditioned reflex with all boatmen that when they are in a small boat and they have to cross a large wake they should automatically turn to cross the waves bows on.

It's perfectly true that most of the time you don't need to do this, but if you do it every time, you'll never be caught out the one time that you should have. Turning to catch the wake on your bows may waste fifteen or twenty seconds, but think of what a dunking would cost in time and money. Here are some of the questions I have been asked on this topic:

Q. My lake becomes quite violent in high winds. What should I do if caught out on the wake in such conditions?

A. Keep the bows into the wind and waves, and go very slowly. Stay low in the boat with your life jackets on. If you can get to shelter this way, fine, otherwise wait out the storm.

Q. I was swamped and rescued by a police boat. The officers told me that I should never have let the boat broach. Exactly what does that mean?

A. Back in the days of sailing ships the expression was "broach to" and meant to allow the ship to turn broadside to wind and waves — with inevitable calamitous results. The old high sailing ships just flipped over. It still means the same thing, mostly the result of trying to turn in the face of high winds.

Will my twenty-seven foot cruiser sink if it's holed? What do I do if I hit a rock?

A. The weight of the engine and other heavy gear on most cruisers will pull them down if there is a hole in the hull. When they are full of water they'll sink. So if you run up on a rock, try to assess the damage quickly. If you back off successfully, you may sink. Stuck on the rock you may wreck the boat, but save your life. The same thing applies to sailing craft with heavy keels.

Q. I didn't realize that boats "skid" sideways as much as they do in a turn. I hit another boat. What should I have done?

A. There is always an instant in a circumstance of this nature when you realize you are about to hit. Kill the motor dead at that moment. Outboard boats stop very fast and you may not hit.

Q. I pulled out of a slip and stopped and another boat hit me. I didn't know what to do.

A. I think I would have given her the gun forward. Better to take a chance on hitting the wharf, than to be hit by the other boat. In this instance he clearly had the right of way, you were in the wrong and wide open for a damage suit.

Q. I have rigged up a sea anchor with a plastic pail and keep it aboard in case of a storm. Is it best to put it over the bow or the stern?

A. Usually the bow, seldom the stern. The whole idea is to keep the bows into the wind and waves. It's the front end of the boat that is designed to take the brunt of violence and shed the water. The back end is usually much more vulnerable.

49ers' Spurrier Gets Turn

KENT, Ohio (UPI) — It will be Steve Spurrier's turn Saturday night when the San Francisco 49ers meet the New York Jets at Tampa, Fla.

Spurrier replaced the injured John Brodie last season and helped carry the San Francisco 49ers into the National Football League playoffs. But Brodie returned and was the starter again.

Now the question is which one is first string for 1973.

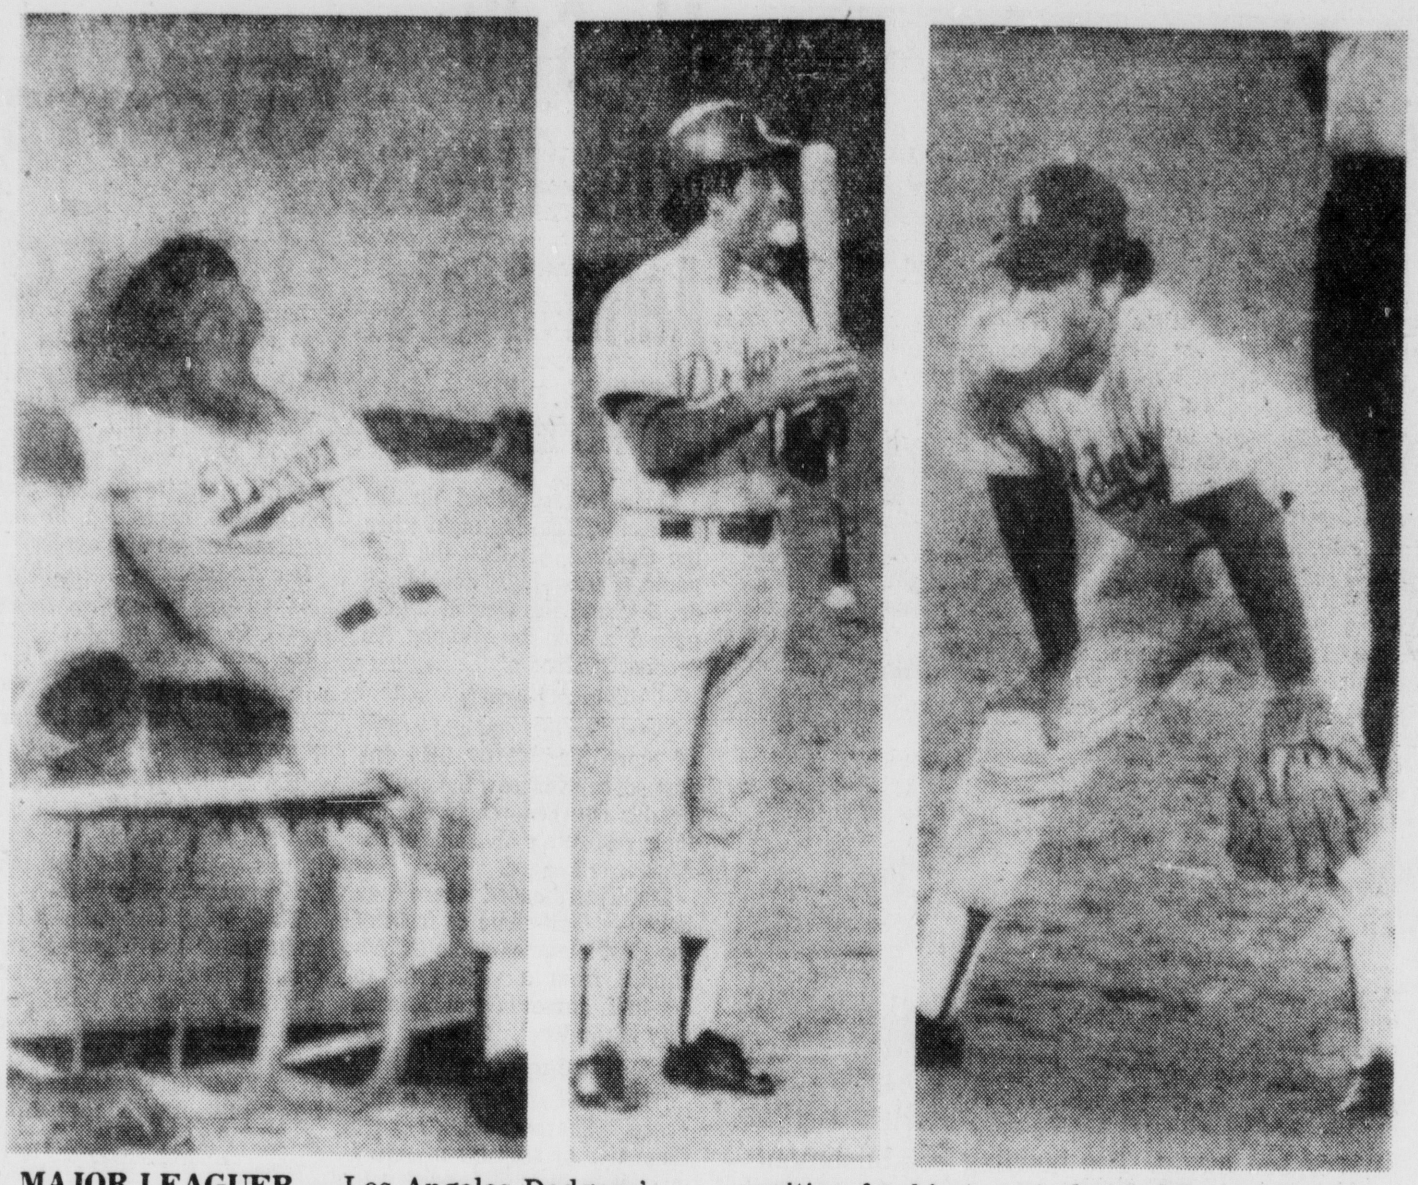
Spurrier came in long enough in last Monday night's 27-16 win over Cleveland to hit Vic Washington with a touchdown pass.

But he said after the game "it's next week (the Jets game) which counts."

Coach Dick Nolan cut six players to cut down to the required number of 60, but their names were not released immediately.

Nolan also said that after watching films of Monday night's game, he liked the work of defensive tackle Rolf Krueger and rookie linebacker Willie Harper of Nebraska, who "made two really good plays, despite playing with a dislocated thumb."

Asked about cornerback Windlan Hall, who had trouble with veteran Browns receiver Gloster Richardson, Nolan said "he just played too far off him. But that's inexperience. When he learns, you'll see the difference."



MAJOR LEAGUER — Los Angeles Dodgers' second-baseman Dave Lopes loves his bubble gum. He blows bubbles while in the dugout waiting for his turn to bat, while waiting for the pitcher to get ready and then while out in the field against the San Diego Padres.

EX-GIANT CATCHER

Healy Keys Royals' Rise

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — There's a little-publicized secret connected with the Kansas City Royals' rise to the top of the American League's Western Division. His name is Francis Xavier Healy.

The 6-foot-5, 210-pound Healy joined the Royals on opening day after spending two years as a reserve catcher for the San Francisco Giants. He didn't assume the regular job until June 9.

Since then, Healy has lifted his batting average from .191 to .265, entering Tuesday night's game with Boston. In July, the 26-year-old receiver hit .342.

"Fran's been a pleasant surprise," says Manager Jack McKeon, "but he's really not a surprise to me. I always had faith in his ability to be a first-string catcher." Healy played for McKeon at Omaha in 1969 and 1970, so when he became available, the Royals dealt minor league pitcher Greg Minton for him April 2.

"The Giants told me there were a couple of clubs interested in me," says Healy, "and they told me I had a choice. When I was told one of them was Kansas City, I told them that's where I wanted to go. I thought it was nice of the Giants to give me the choice."

Healy's performance has been like a miracle to the Royals, who spent last winter desperately trying to trade for a catcher. They were unconcerned with obtaining an offensive threat, but wanted someone to handle the pitchers and have a respected arm.

When Healy joined the team, he was behind Jerry May and Carl Taylor. May eventually was dealt to the New York Mets and Healy, who didn't play much in spring training, began far behind Taylor.

Before Fran became the regular catcher, foes stole 39 bases in 51 attempts. Since he became the regular, only 22 of 45 have stolen successfully.

"He's developed into one of the best catchers in the American League," says McKeon. "He's been a take-charge type. But the biggest thing is he's got the complete confidence of our pitchers."

Healy wasn't sure what to expect when he joined the Royals.

"Once I watched a few games, I recognized the fact that we had a good club," he said. "It was apparent the team was as good up the middle as anyone and the whole club looked solid."

Entering the current homestand Tuesday night, the Royals had won 14 of their last 18 games and, along with Oakland, had left the rest of the pack for dead—at least for the time being.

"We've definitely proven we're going to be in it," says Healy. "But it's no surprise to the guys on the club."

The only surprise has been the job Fran Healy has done.

Boozer, Riggins Continue Holdouts

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

If there's one subject that can rattle Weeb Ewbank's mind, it has to be money.

Ewbank, the coach and general manager of the New York Jets, isn't quite up to date on inflation these days. As the old saying goes, he passes out nickels as if they were manholes covers.

Joe Namath is able to negotiate directly with owner Phil Iselin and so he has a sixfigure contract. But Ewbank is a tough negotiater who likes to keep the rest of the Jets stars at the $50,000 figure.

Neither one of his two top running backs, Emerson Boozer and John Riggins, wants to play for that figure and they're just two of the many players on the squad who have refused to sign.

He's offering Riggins, Boozer and star tackle Winston Hill all about $50,000. Riggins is asking for $150,000 and both Boozer and Hill are asking for $100,000. Riggins got $25,000 last year while Boozer made $40,000 and Hill $45,000.

Riggins has yet to join the team while Hill and Boozer are drilling with the second unit after failing to play last week against Houston.

Among the other unsigned players who are in action are Al Atkinson, Ralph Baker, Richard Caster, John Elliott, Don Maynard, Clifford McClain, Mike Taylor and Phil Wise.

Most of the other clubs were concerned Tuesday mainly about cutting their squads down to the 60 player limit—not including All-Star game players. Of course, the teams still have 20 players to slice by the start of the season.

One of the biggest names to be released was former all-pro cornerback Herb Adderley, who was cut by Los Angeles. The Rams obtained him just two weeks ago from New England. He played with Dallas last year but is remembered mainly for his great seasons under Vince Lombardi in Green Bay.

Fight Title Removed

MANILA (UPI) — The Oriental Boxing Federation (OBF) today stripped Filipino fighter Erbito Salavarria of his OBF flyweight crown for failure to defend his title within a year.

Raiders' Davidson Injured

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI) — Ben Davidson, the huge Oakland defensive lineman, is hurt again, but the Raiders say the injury is only a minor one.

Davidson sat out all last season with a torn achilles tendon.

He looked sharp in rushing quarterback Jim Plunkett in last Sunday's tie at New England, but then sprained his knee on the last defensive play of the evening.

He was sent to Los Angeles to be examined by team physician Robert Rosenfeld, but the Raiders said it was just a routine examination.

Quarterback Don Milan also missed Tuesday's workouts because of an ankle sprain.

Coach John Madden commented that he liked to play Dallas in exhibition games, since the Cowboys use their best personnel in pre-season play. The Raiders host Dallas Saturday night in the Coliseum.

"We met San Diego one year and they didn't play any of their starters," Madden recalled. The next day, they cut 10 or 12 of the guys we played against. So you don't know how good, say, a rookie defensive back really is if he was containing a receiver they released the next day."

"But," Madden continued, "when we see one of our young players block a Bob Lilly or a Jethro Pugh, you know he's pretty good."

Penguins Sign Two

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Harvard amateurs Bob McManama and Doug Elliott have signed with the Pittsburgh Penguins and will report to the National Hockey League team's training camp at Brantford, Ont., Sept. 9.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Healthy Gullett Asset To Reds

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Don Gullett is healthy again and that means the Cincinnati Reds could be in the right condition for a late season surge.

Gullett, the Reds' opener day pitcher who was shipped to the bullpen last month because he didn't seem to have enough stamina after last year's bout with hepatitis, seems to be fully recovered.

The Reds' lefthander reeled off his second straight complete game Tuesday night on a two-hitter to give the Reds a 1-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The win kept the Reds four games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League's Western Division. The Reds are still in contention for their third division crown in the last four seasons.

The only hits off Gullett were a scratch single by Don Kessinger off the glove of third baseman Dan Driessen in the fourth inning and a seventh inning single by Jose Cardenal.

Besides being healthy, Gullett said one of the reasons for his improvement is his development of the fork ball.

Joe Morgan gave Gullett all the help he needed with a homer in the seventh inning off Rick Reuschel, who is now 12-9. Morgan's homer was his 17th of the season and tied the club record for second baseman set by Alex Kampouris.

In other NL games, New York edged St. Louis 6-5, Houston blanked Pittsburgh 2-0, Los Angeles downed San Diego 6-1 and Montreal nipped San Francisco 2-1. Atlanta and Philadelphia were idle.

In the American League, Kansas Cty nipped Boston 7-6 in 11 innings, California edged Milwaukee 6-5 in 10 innings, Chicago beat Cleveland 6-5 in 12 innings, Texas edged New York 2-1 but lost the second game 3-1, Oakland beat Detroit 8-4 but lost the second game 2-0 and Minnesota beat Baltimore 4-2 but lost the second game 10-4.

Don Wilson pitched his second straight four-hitter to lift Houston to its victory over Pittsburgh. Wilson beat the Reds 1-0 on four hits in 10 innings Friday night.

Don Sutton pitched two-hit ball for seven innings but then retired with a stiff right shoulder as the Dodgers downed San Diego.

Relievers Buzz Capra and Tug McGraw stopped St. Louis on one run over the final 6 2-3 innings to give New York its victory over the Cardinals.

The Royals, who trailed 6-1 after the Red Sox scored five runs in the fourth inning, won the game in the 11th on Lou Piniella's two-out double following singles by Rick Reichardt and Hal McRae. They had tied the score at 6-6 in the sixth on Fred Patek's homer, Cookie Rojas' single and a triple by Reichardt.

California's Nolan Ryan equalled his own AL record, set July 9, 1972, against Boston by striking out eight consecutive batters in the middle innings after yielding four runs to the Brewers in the first inning. Ken Berry singled and eventually scored the winning run on Bob Oliver's short fly to left field caught by shortstop Tim Johnson. Ryan wound up with 13 strikeouts and evened his record at 13-13 with the 10th inning relief help of Aurelio Monteagudo.

Jim Holt's two-run double was the big blow of a four-run Minnesota rally which gave Joe Decker of Petaluma his seventh win. Merv Rettenmund had three hits, scored four runs and drove in two runs and Dave McNally went 5 2-3 innings for his 10th win for Baltimore in the nightcap.

Jim Bibby, pitching for the second time since his no-hitter, pitched out of a bases-filled none-out jam in the ninth inning and raised his record to 6-5 by winning the opener for Texas. George Medich and Lindy McDaniel combined in a sixhitter for the Yankees in the second game.

Jerry Hairston singled home Bill Melton with two out in the 12th inning to give White Sox reliever Cy Acosta his sixth win.

How would you like to sign the work you do?

Maybe it's a shame that most of us will never get to sign our work. Because as good as we are, it might make us better. And we can afford to be. No matter what kind of work we do, we'd have more to show for it. More money, for one thing. Because we'd be giving each other our money's worth for the products, the services and even the government we pay for.

For another thing, we'll be giving America better ammunition to slug it out with our foreign competitors. That should help bring the lopsided balance of payments back onto our side. And help make your dollars worth more.

Best of all, as we hit our stride we'll be protecting our jobs here at home. And we'll get more satisfaction out of the jobs we've got.

You don't have to sign your work to see all these things happen. And more.

Just do the kind of work you'd be proud to have carry your name.

America. It only works as well as we do.

Three Marinites Slump To .300 Mark In Minors

Two Marin baseball players neared the .300 mark in batting and a third moved past it last week, which is bad news, because they were heading downward as they did so.

On the other hand, Clifford Hall had a rousing, if abbreviated, week, according to Player Periscope statistical service of Novato.

Hall, from Marin City, stroked four singles in 11 times up for the Chicago Cubs' Class A farm team in Quincy, Ill. The .364 performance edged his season's batting average up to .258.

John Dolinsek was the player whose average skidded below .300, while Tom Thomas dropped to .303 and Tom Olson to .302 with sub-par weeks.

Dolinsek, from Novato, had a 7-for-30 week for Denver in the Class AAA American Association, and is now batting .299. The Houston property hit two triples, but knocked in just one run, and his season totals include eight home runs and 47 runs batted in over 355 at-bats.

Thomas, also of Novato, was seven for 29 for Salem, Va., in the Class A Carolina League, a Pittsburgh farm. He has 11 homers and 73 RBIs in 379 times up this year.

Olson, from Kentfield, was one for nine for the New York Mets' Appalachian Rookie League team in Marion, Va.

Fairfax's Mike Parnow continued to struggle for Ogden, Utah, in the Pioneer Rookie League. The Los Angeles property was three for 14 with three runs batted in, just about in keeping with his .213 season's average.

Novato's Russ Dillon was hard to hit but not hard to reach base against for Savannah, Ga., in the Class AA Southern League, as he gave up one hit and six walks in his six-inning stint, earning no decision. He is 3-5 with a 5.59 earned run average for the year.

Marin's other pitcher, Dewey Forry of San Rafael, made two appearances totaling one inning for the Los Angeles Dodgers' Class A California League team in Bakersfield. He allowed one hit and two walks, was not involved in a decision, and remained 7-2 with a 3.06 ERA.

Conference Hands Oklahoma Penalty

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The University of Oklahoma, ranked No. 2 in the nation last year in collegiate football, was placed on two years probation for recruiting violations by the Big Eight conference, commissioner Chuck Neinas announced Wednesday.

The Sooners, who were stripped of their 1972 conference championship, shall be ineligible to participate in bowl games following the 1973 and 1974 seasons.

Oklahoma also will be ineligible to appear on the National Collegiate Athletic Association football television series during the regular season in 1974 and 1975.

Oklahoma will be allowed to fulfill its contractural obligations in connection with television appearances this season, including national televising of games with Texas and Nebraska.

The conference judged Oklahoma guilty of 10 football violations, three basketball violations and one general transgression of conference rules.

The investigation by the Big Eight was begun in April after discovering transcript alterations of two freshmen, Kerry Jackson and Mike Phillips, both of Galveston Ball High School in Texas.

The conference ruled that Phillips' high school transcript had been altered, but that no one at Oklahoma was involved or had prior knowledge of the alteration. It ruled that Phillips will be eligible for the 1973-74 academic year.

Baseball

SAN DIEGO — Chief deputy city attorney Ronald Johnson said Tuesday the city will wait and see what the state Supreme Court decides before it takes action on a preliminary injunction to block the San Diego Padres baseball club from moving to Washington, D.C.

Johnson said the hearing probably will be held Aug. 15 at which time the court may decide on the fate of the club, which was sold to a group headed up by Joseph Danzansky, a food-chain millionaire.

ST. LOUIS — Bob Gibson was to have knee surgery today after he suffered torn cartilage on the outside of his right knee in a game against the New York Mets last Saturday.

NEW YORK — Veteran relief pitcher Wayne Granger was acquired by the New York Yankees Tuesday from the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for two players to be named at a later date.

Basketball

UNIONDALE, N.Y. — The New York Nets of the American Basketball Association signed Billy Schaeffer, a St. John's University standout last season and their No. 2 draft choice for $250,000, outbidding the National Basketball Association Los Angeles Lakers for his services.

DENVER — The Denver Rockets, in an expression of unity among the owners in the American Basketball Association, signed All-America forward Mike Green of Louisiana Tech to a three-year contract Tuesday.

Green was the first-round pick of the Seattle Supersonics of the NBA and the ABA's Indiana Pacers. Rocket general manager Alex Hannum said the team gave Indiana a future draft choice and cash for the rights to Green.

NEW YORK — Bill Bradley put off his political career for at least another year Tuesday when he signed a one-year salary for an estimated $150,000 with the NBA champion New York Knicks.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Austin Peay basketball star Howard Jackson, seriously injured in a 71-foot fall through a skylight Monday, will definitely miss next season with the Governors, his coach said Tuesday. Lake Kelly said only time will tell whether the 6-8 center will ever play again.

said. "I wasn't that concerned about it."

"A designated hitter for the pitcher must be selected prior to the game and must be included in the lineup cards presented to the umpire-in-chief," the AL rule states. "It is not mandatory that a club designate a hitter for the pitcher, but failure to do so prior to the game precludes the use of a designated hitter for that game."

It turned out Jesus Alou, who played left field in the first game, was the designated hitter and Martin contended "as soon as Alou hit, Lindblad was being pinch-hit for. Even though they ran out to their positions, I still didn't know who the Designated Hitter was."

It turned out be academic when Jim Perry, now 10-10, and John Hiller combined for a five hit shutout.

Bob Bailey's 21st homer on a hanging curve by Tom Bradley (now 9-11) snapped a 1-1 tie in the seventh and Reno took it from there as the Expos, 7 ½ games back a week ago, raced off to their fourth straight victory and into a virtual second place tie with the Chicago Cubs, only five back of the front running St. Louis Cardinals.

WHA Team Signs Pair

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Cougars of the World Hockey Association, dipping deep into the cash drawer, had two former Chicago Black Hawks players signed today and president Walter Kaiser theatened to add a third in the near future.

The Cougars, who recently signed Hawk defenseman Pat Stapleton as player coach with a $1 million contract, Tuesday signed center Ralph Backstrom, a 15-year National Hockey League veteran, to a five year contract for $750,000 including a $100,000 signing bonus.

Gridders Stewing About Beef

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Professional football teams in the Southern California area are beginning to feel the effects of the meat shortage.

Beef is traditionally a staple at the training tables where the 200 to 300 pound players fuel up.

The Los Angeles Rams revealed Tuesday their food bill has risen from $750 a day to $900 to keep the players eating beef four nights a week. "We're paying exactly what the average person pays—like $4.25 a pound for New York Steak," said controller Don Canning.

Bobby Hood of the San Diego Chargers training camp in Irvine, Calif., said, "We like flank steaks and our supplier called five meat companies and couldn't get any."

Although some pro teams in the East have reportedly had to go to substitutes such as spaghetti and fish at the training table, Hood said the Chargers "may not be getting the cuts we desire and the meat sometimes isn't as thick, but we haven't had macaroni and cheese yet."

Trainer Alan Hurst of the Denver Broncos, in training at Cal Poly Pomona, said the Broncos were in luck because the school "really stocked up its freezers" with beef for them before the shortage became acute.

But he worries when the team goes home. "It sounds like it's going to be a lot tougher to get meat in Denver. And the place where we stay has notified us they're raising our food bill substantially."

The team representatives agreed on one point — they'll do all they can to keep the players from feeling the shortages.

"Ever tell a football player he's limited on what he can eat?" Hood asked.

"You tell him. I'm not going to."

Clausen Speaks Up For The Taxpayer

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1973 EDITORIAL PAGE

A kudo is due Rep. Don H. Clausen, who used to be Marin County's congressman and still represents Sonoma County.

Representative Clausen came out flatly and publicly against a 29 per cent pay raise that Congress was considering giving itself by a kind of sleight-of-hand operation.

THIS ALMOST-RAISE came about because congressmen (unlike our brasher members of the California Legislature) were a bit queasy about raising their own pay. So a few years back, Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., and a few others worked out a scheme by which the lawmakers could get themselves pay hikes without ever having to go on record.

The scheme is a bit complicated, but it was explained very neatly by Arlen J. Large recently in the Wall Street Journal, so we'll borrow his explanation:

"It starts with a nine-member commission of distinguished private citizens, who recommend pay levels for members of Congress, federal judges and cabinet members and their top aides. The proposed salaries are passed along to the President; he can approve or alter them, but he doesn't have the absolute final decision either. He passes the proposals along to Congress, where either house has 30 days to veto them. If nothing happens, the pay raises take effect, and the beneficiaries can pin any blame on the ephemeral citizens' commission, which has by then disbanded."

Neat!

THE FIRST TIME around, everything worked out beautifully. The commission was appointed in 1968, and recommended that congressional salaries go up the following January from $30,000 to $42,500 per year. President Lyndon B. Johnson didn't act. Neither did Congress. So the salaries went up.

This year, President Nixon named a new commission. But some congressmen had found a flaw in the arrangement: Having higher salaries take effect at the start of an election year provided a campaign issue for their opponents. So there was a move to have the committee report this month, with the raises to go into effect immediately if approved by the President.

On top of that, word got around that the commission would recommend members of House and Senate be paid $55,000 per year—a $12,500 raise.

THAT'S WHEN Don Clausen and some others in the House blew up.

In a letter to the President, Clausen wrote: "Such raises to congressmen, federal judges and other top officials would be an insult to the American taxpayer." He urged the President to veto any such recommendation.

Over on the Senate side, meanwhile, there was another move by some senators who shared Clausen's feelings. An amendment to the salary bill was introduced to require a record vote on any increase. The amendment came to a vote. And California's two senators split on it.

Alan Cranston voted with the majority for the amendment to put the senators on the line. John V. Tunney voted to kill it.

It's nice to know we have some representatives in Washington, like Clausen and Cranston, who aren't there just for the money. Because of them, there'll be no $12,500 raise for members of Congress.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Agriculture Bleeding While Lawmakers Tarry

By RUS WALTON

The birds straggle back to their legislative roosts here at the capitol, their feathers fluffed from a five-week vacation.

Now, maybe, they will do something about the sorry situation that spreads like a fungus across California's fields and farmlands.

IN THE SALINAS Valley, lettuce and cauliflower rot and are disced under. Harvest time comes and goes but the crops stay in the fields and the packing sheds are empty. That fracas involving the Teamsters Union is costing at least $2 million a day — $1 million is lost wages and incomes, $1 million in crop loss. To the north, in Roseville, the refrigerator cars stand on the sidings and the railroad workers stand unemployed.

In the great Central Valley, the grapes ripen and the battle rages between a wounded Cesar Chavez and the big-fisted brothers of the Teamsters Union. And the farmers and the farmworkers (and the consumers) pay the price in lost crops and lost wages (and higher prices).

California agricutlure is hurting — as it hurt and bled last year, and the year before. As it will go on hurting and bleeding until there is some kind of farm labor relations legislation.

There will be none this year at the federal level, not with the farmers in the Midwest and Texas fighting it. Those boys shed no tears for the problems of California agriculture.

THE PROBLEM MUST be met here at the state level, with state legislation: legislation that should have been and could have been enacted four years ago.

There were two key farm labor relations bills introduced in Sacramento this year: one by Sen. Fred Marler, R-Redding, and one by Sen. George Zenovich, D-Fresno.

Marler's bill never got out of the nest. It died in committee.

Zenovich's bill did not get out of the Senate, the house of origin. Thus, under the new rules of a reorganized legislature, it is kaput. Or, at least, comatose.

But, because of the emergency situation in the farmlands, Zenovich is asking for reconsideration. He wants another chance to push the bill through so that state government can assume the role of referee and some ground rules can be established to prevent the bloodshed, the economic loss, and higher food prices.

THE HANG-UP for Zenovich's bill — the reason it did not get out of the Senate prior to summer recess — was a section dealing with unemployment compensation insurance. His bill would place farm workers under such coverage. For that reason California business knocked it down.

A compromise on that point must be hammered out, perhaps by setting a minimum employment period before the farm worker comes under UCI; that way the seasonal worker is covered but the in-and-outers are not. Whatever, public interest demands a solution.

If prolonged strikes and terrorisms continue on California farmlands, it will cost this state far more in the long run. And industry will be forced to share the cost — and the blame.

On the advice of Jim Stearns, state secretary of agriculture and services, Governor Reagan will urge the legislature to get a farm labor bill to his desk, post haste.

Hopefully, there are enough sensible legislators in both houses to take constructive action. Now!

Election Reform Inadequate; Columnist Offers Own Plan

WASHINGTON — Nothing presently stirring in Congress comes near to producing the election-law reforms needed to prevent the abuses revealed in the Watergate offenses — not even the bill passed last week in the U.S. Senate.

There is no doubt in my mind that American voters are not going to be satisfied with inadequate reform. The public is not going to accept Congress stuffing a little straw in the gaping loopholes of existing legislation.

It will be a crime worse than Watergate if Congress throws away the opportunity to do everything that is needed to turn the lessons of Watergate to the good of the country.

WE KNOW THAT intolerable inflation of the costs of campaigning has led to abuses by both major parties, and there is dismaying evidence of new violations of law and ethics exposed in the Watergate scandals.

Past legislation can't be patched up. Reforms will be needed to cope with all the acts of illegality and impropriety committed during the 1972 presidential campaign which have come to light in recent months. Here are the abuses which must be wiped from the face of American politics:

1 — Illegal donations to campaigns and illegal collection of campaign funds.

2 — Illegal use of campaign funds.

3 — Inadequate reporting and accounting of campaign funds.

4 — Woefully inadequate enforcement of election laws.

Surely this means that reforms must reach to every aspect of campaign financing.

NOW IS THE TIME to end the pervasive presence of purposeful and corrupt money in the election process. Elections should be financed by all citizens, not primarily by wealthy donors. There must be an end to buying ambassadorships and the seeking of legislative concessions and executive favoritism through large campaign donations. Neither the parties nor the candidates should be put in a position where they can coerce or must solicit big business or big labor to finance the highest act of democratic government — the election of those who are to govern and serve us all.

This is why I am forced to the conclusion that there is no workable alternative to the federal financing of federal elections. If this is the necessary conclusion, then reforms like the following would be needed to bring it about:

1 — Federal elections would be financed by the federal government through a compulsory $1 payment by every citizen on his income tax return — the funds to be available equitably to the participating political parties.

2 — These campaign funds would be retained by a nonpartisan central clearing house created by Congress. This central clearing house would be responsible for the receiving of such funds, for their accounting and for paying proper bills submitted to it by the participating parties.

3 — There should be a substantial reduction in total allowable campaign spending, the ceilings to be determined by Congress.

4 — The "equal time" provision of the federal Communications Act should be repealed so that television stations and radio networks can provide a reasonable amount of free time for political candidates.

5 — Enforcement of all campaign financing and election laws should be entrusted to a national election commission independent of both Congress and the executive branch.

THERE ARE ADDITIONAL reforms which would be desirable. State preferential and nominating primaries might well be held on the same date, not earlier than Aug. 1. The national conventions should not meet earlier than Sept. 1, thus shortening the unnecessary and inordinately long campaign period.

If there are better ways of cleansing politics from past abuses, let's get them on the table. But I am convinced of one thing — if Congress doesn't do more than talk reform, it will bear the ire of the nations' voters.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

'No Special Program Has Made Any Difference'

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The Berkeley Board of Education got a dismaying report last week. It came from Richard L. Foster, who is retiring as superintendent of Berkeley Unified School District.

"No special program has made any difference for our black and Chicano students," Foster told the board.

This was a particularly hard blow in Berkeley, because Berkeley has tried more special programs for its "underprivileged" pupils than almost any other school system in California. And — until Foster told the hard, sad facts at his next-to-last board meeting as superintendent — success had been promised for one program after another.

THE HISTORY of Berkeley's school problems goes back to World War II, although they were not recognized until some years later.

Prior to that war, Berkeley had a much smaller percentage of "blue collar" residents than most cities of its size. Centered on the University of California, it was largely an "upper class city," with a major share of its wage earners drawn from neighboring Oakland. Its schools reflected this societal makeup. Strongly academic-oriented, they sent a high percentage of graduates on to the university, and were generally rated "tops" among California public schools.

Wartime industry in the San Francisco Bay Area changed all that. It brought into being hastily built housing projects for shipyard workers. These filled up with immigrant laborers — mostly black. A couple such projects slopped over into Berkeley from neighborhing Oakland and Albany.

When the war ended, the white residents mostly moved out of the housing projects, to be absorbed elsewhere in the area or return whence they came. The Negroes stayed in the projects or in nearby slums; they had no place else to go.

A DECADE OR MORE later, Berkeleyans awoke to the fact that they had in fact a segregated school system. Academic achievement remained high in the schools serving "traditional Berkeley." It was low in the new schools built for the blue-collar neighborhoods, with their largely black population.

Agitation by Negro residents brought an all-out effort at integration by what became known as the Ramsey Plan, which included busing pupils back and forth to create a mixture of races in all the schools — the approach so beloved by federal courts.

To preside over this, the Berkeley board hired as superintendent Neil V. Sullivan, an all-out integrationist who had been running the mainly black schools of the Free School Association in Prince Edward County, Md., after public schools there were closed to circumvent a court desegregation order.

Sullivan came to Berkeley convinced that mere mixing of races would solve the problems. Through his years there, he continued to insist that "the mixing factor" was more important in raising academic levels of "disadvantaged pupils" than anything else, and that it did not reduce the achievement of the "more advantaged."

DESPITE THIS public stance, however, Sullivan went out to get a wide variety of special programs for the "disadvantaged" pupils of Berkeley. He was highly successful in obtaining federal funds, state funds and foundation funds for an assortment of such programs. And Berkeley citizens dug deeper and deeper to meet rising school tax rates to supplement the outside funds.

When Foster succeeded Sullivan as superintendent, the process continued. Whenever there was a new program designed to elevate the "disadvantaged" (and there were many such), Berkeley soon had it. And each in its turn was hailed as "a new breakthrough."

Against such a background, it was indeed a blow when Foster told his board: "No special program has made any difference for black and Chicano students." None, he said, had increased their learning more rapidly than the "normal school program."

He did not, however, follow this up with what might seem a logical recommendation in light of the finding: Try to upgrade the normal school program itself — for all children, black, brown and white — instead of pouring money into continuing a kind of segregation through special programs.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

What If The Police Search Doctor's Home?

Regarding the question of illegal search and seizure in San Anselmo and elsewhere:

I find myself fearful lest some police officer might search my house. Narcotics, paraphernalia? First, I do have spoons, candles, cotton, and odd bits of rubber tubing, eyedroppers, toothpicks, matches, etc. My home is literally loaded with paraphernalia. I even have a couple of pipes which I have used for tobacco but could be used with pot or even more interesting stuff.

I have a couple of old syringes and needles from my office at home. I know that they are useful for putting oil in odd bits of machinery and my wife's sewing machine but who would believe me after finding that powder and all that paraphernalia?

"Longhairs," "hippies" — my son has long hair. His friends have long hair. They all go in the longhair uniform of sloppy, worn jeans and often cast-off jackets, big hats, etc. My hair is cut short but my home is frequented by lots of suspect types.

Make my son cut his hair — and his friends? Dump the junk clothing: Clean up? Are you kidding?

Maybe if I went through one of the policemen's homes I'd find he had a lot of paraphernalia, too. He could say it was evidence gathered elsewhere — I couldn't say that. Oh, I am vulnerable. . .

Oh, I'm guilty all right. I'm loaded with paraphernalia. I just hope the police don't find out!

Impact Of Net Depot Use Causes Worry

With regard to reuse of the so-called Naval Net Depot on the Tiburon peninsula for general public you have no idea of the potential impact on this sparsely populated area.

As residents within one mile of the base since 1948 we have seen an imperceptible increase in the population. Nevertheless traffic has increased markedly and includes the following:

Joggers who have no clear safety of passage on a two-lane road. Amateur bicyclers who are generally just learning. Pedestrians who are out for a quiet walk (they think) in the country. Motorcyclists who are tearing from here to there only to return again. Motorists who are out to see the scenery. Picnickers who bulge Paradise Park on a clear day. Hot rod specialists who charge around every curve on two wheels. Racing sport cars, sometimes two or three in a pack. Large trucks that grind down the depot fences. Bicycle teams who feel that the road is their very own. Hippy buses looking for a place to camp. Thoroughly confused deer who don't know which way to go. Packs of dogs who roam the woods. Squirrels who can't make it across through the confusion. Burglars who are looking for a spot.

Any other ideas about how to desecrate the landscape?

I hope that the base can be used for a proper purpose that would not compound the above abuses. There is clearly no place for a four-lane multiuse highway around this peninsula.

New EPA Boss Has Credentials, But He'll Have To Be Tough

WASHINGTON — On paper, Russell Train is a far more logical man to put in charge of protecting the land, air and water of America than the man he is nominated to replace.

William D. Ruckelshaus, first administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, came in with no specialized background for the job beyond a belief in its mission. He was a bright Indiana lawyer and ambitious Republican politician. Yet at EPA he set an example seldom matched in the federal bureaucracy for one main reason: He was tough.

Train, by contrast, has more experience in this once lonely specialty than you could reasonably expect any one man to have accumulated by 1973.

While he was a lawyer, congressional committee staffer and assistant to the secretary of the treasury, the environment was his principal sideline. He served as vice president of the World Wildlife Fund and president of the African Wildlife Leadership Foundation while also an Eisenhower appointee to the U.S. Tax Court. Finally he became so involved in his sideline that he resigned from the bench to become president of the Conservation Foundation. When the Nixon administration arrived, he became undersecretary of interior until appointed chairman of the Council on Environmental Quality.

THE PERFECT COMBINATION of governmental know-how in all three branches plus specialized background and commitment — right? Aye, said 13 members of the Senate Public Works Committee. Nay, said one.

The dissenting vote in committee was cast by Sen. William L. Scott of Virginia. What he had to say about the Train nomination is instructive.

Scott flailed Train, for starters, because the nominee is a "self-styled conservationist."

"Does he have a concern for retaining the high standard of living we are privileged to enjoy while at the same time making a reasonable attempt to protect our environment, or is he a conservationist first, regardless of what efect that may have on our standard of living?" the Senator wanted to know.

The answer depends on one's prejudices, of course. What is reasonable to one man is fanaticism to another. Scott may have known that seven weeks ago Train spoke out against "a current tendency to make the environment the whipping boy for our energy problems." He said automobile size, air conditioners and automatic transmissions each ate up more gas than pollution-control devices, and urged a national swing to smaller cars.

UNFORTUNATELY, many Americans suffer from Scott's myopia. It is unacceptable to them that even one government agency should give environmental protection first priority, while around it hundreds of others are effectively committed in the opposite direction.

That is why the job into which Train is moving will be much harder than it was for Ruckelshaus. The first EPA administrator made many decisions about what policy should be, and set deadlines for its execution. The next one is going to be more responsible for enforcement.

Marin's Transit Service Is Cut

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Marin County Transit District directors slashed local bus service Tuesday to preserve a cash surplus by the end of the fiscal year.

The cuts were labeled "streamlining and improvement of the efficiency of the service" by the district's general manager, Ray W. Foreaker Jr.

Estimates by the Golden Gate Bridge District show some 230,000 riders a year will be affected by the deleted service.

The bridge district operates the service under contract with the county. Before the cuts, patronage was estimated at 1.5 million this fiscal year.

All but one of the seven cuts recommended by Foreaker were approved unanimously with almost no discussion. They totaled $160,900, and will be effective in October.

The seventh, deleting Routes 23 and 29 between Santa Venetia and East Corte Madera, was retained by the board contrary to Foreaker's recommendation.

Foreaker acknowledged his proposal "can truly be called a reduction in service," but said it was "necessary to balance our budget." His written report, however, also notd all seven cuts would leave a surplus of $135,237 "for contingencies."

The board's refusal to delete Routes 23 and 29 cut the surplus to $98,737.

The service cut left the cost of local bus service this fiscal year at $670,592.

No one protested the cuts, which were published Monday by the Independent-Journal. Commuter service to San Francisco was not affected.

The cuts approved by the district board are:

1. Delete the first morning and evening runs from Route 1 between Novato and Sausalito to save $27,000.
2. Delete six early morning runs from Route 5 between Tiburon and Sausalito to save $13,500.
3. Operate Route 23 between San Rafael and East Corte Madera hourly instead of half-hourly to save $20,700, delete 10 early morning and two late evening runs from the route to save $10,800 and operate weekend service hourly instead of half-hourly to save $33,000.
4. Delete midday service from Route 25 between Fourth Street in San Rafael and Northgate Industrial Park and replace the portion of the route in San Rafael's Canal area with Route 23 to save $18,000.
5. Operate Route 27 between Terra Linda and Sleepy Hollow hourly instead of half-hourly to save $26,400.
6. Delete Route 29 between Peacock Gap and Fourth Street in San Rafael to save $11,500.

Marin County Transit District directors also:

COST SHARING — Formed a committee of supervisors Michael Wornum, Bob Roumiguiere and Gary T. Giacomini to negotiate with bridge district directors on a cost-sharing formula for next fiscal year for local bus service.

ASSISTANT SHUFFLE — Received report from Foreaker that he has replaced James B. Robertson as assistant general manager with Robert L. Harrison, head of the county's transportation planning. Foreaker said the change was because of Harrison's background in transit and the need to redesign the local bus system. Robertson, assigned part-time to the district for more than three years, will be reassigned full-time as county traffic engineer.

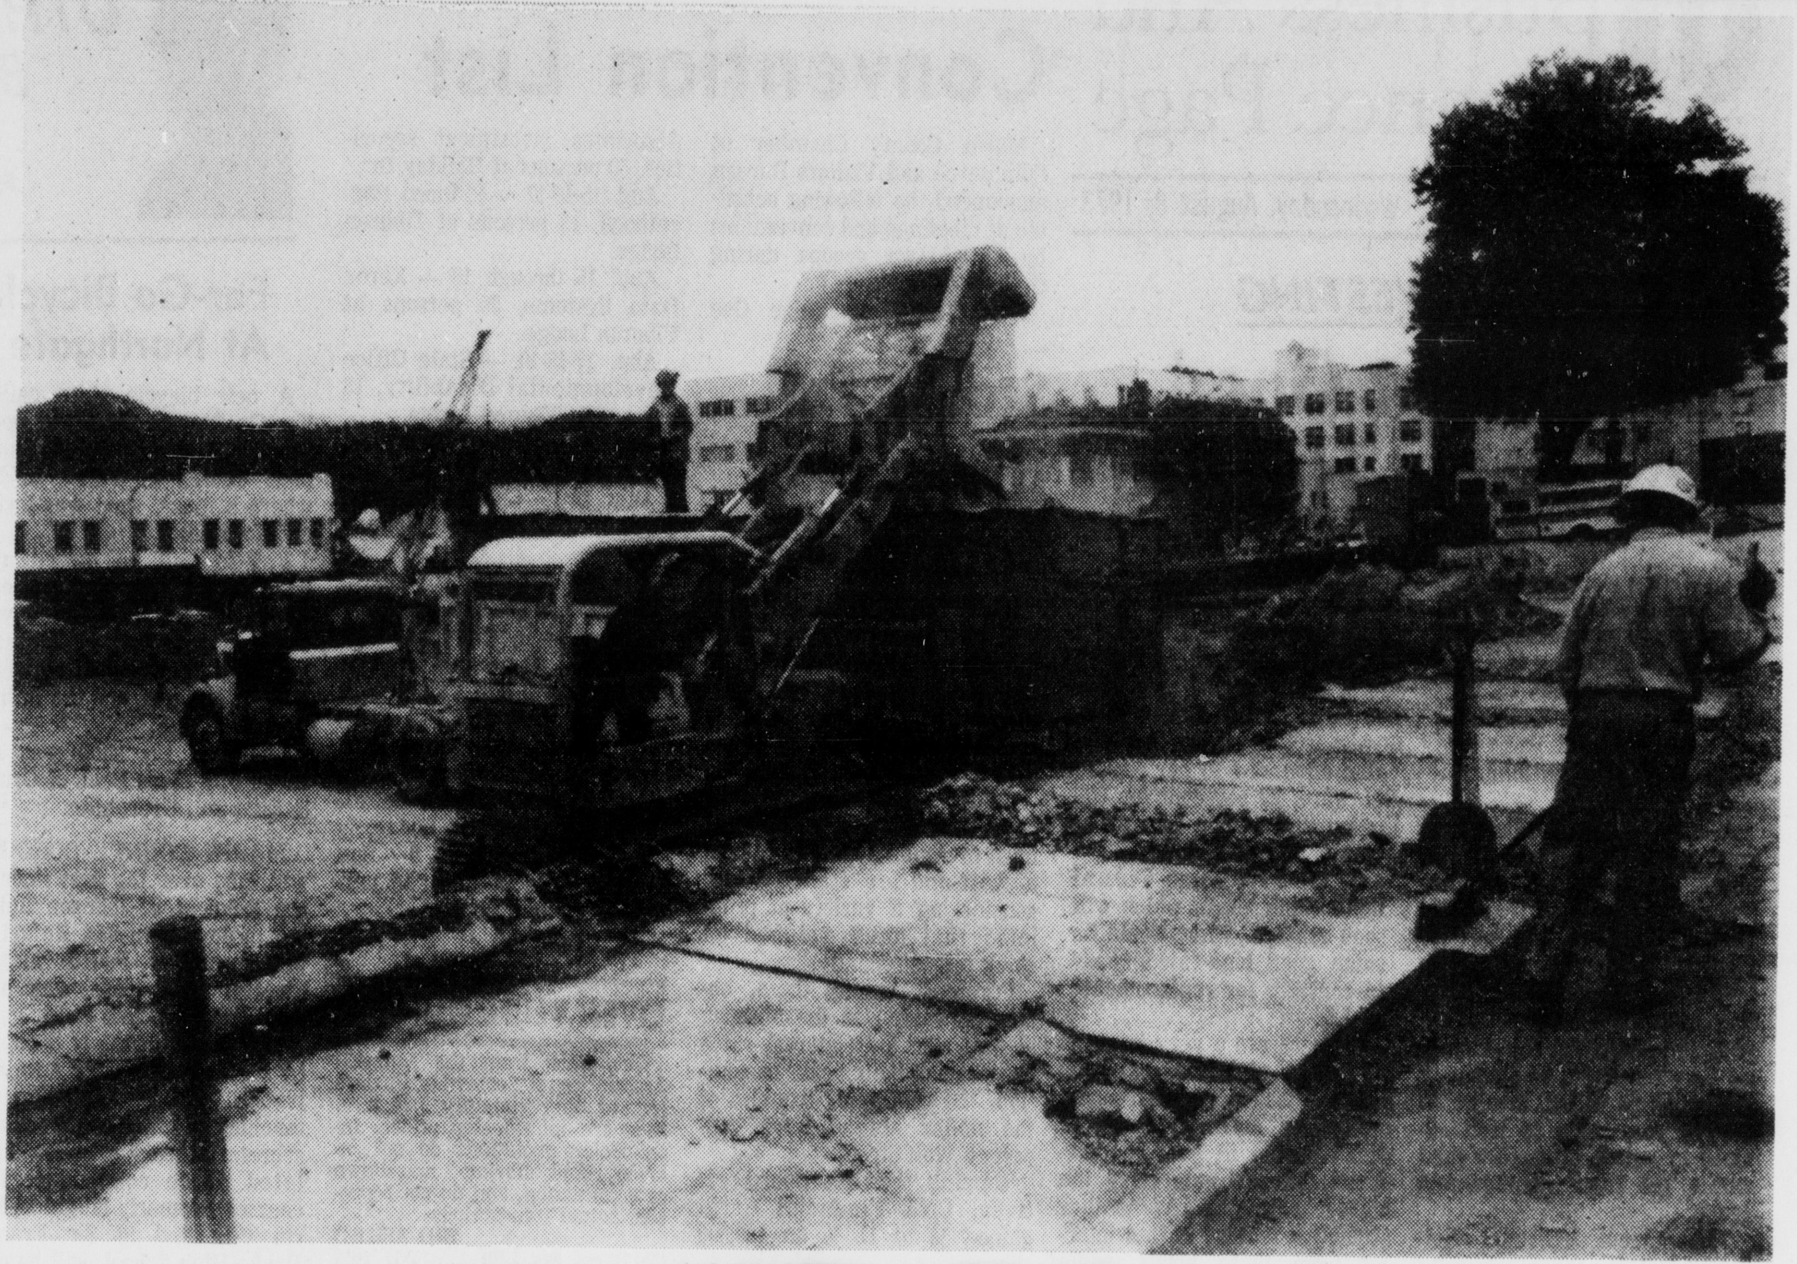
FUNDS — Tabled a euggestion by Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. that special tax districts be formed to finance transit improvements. The staff said it was not applicable because the county does not have transit stations which would justify tax districts.

TOLL — At Wornum's request, agreed to discuss reversing opposition to a toll hike on the Golden Gate Bridge at the board's Sept. 4 meeting.

Wonder To Recover Say His Doctors

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (UPI) — Doctors at Baptist Hospital were optimistic today about the chances for full recovery of Stevie Wonder, the blind soul singer hospitalized here following a traffic mishap.

Wonder, 24, was listed in satisfactory condition, although doctors said he had not completely recovered consciousness following Monday's highway crash. Doctors said Wonder was suffering from a contusion, or bruise, of the brain.



ANNEX MOP UP

San Rafael's courthouse annex has vanished from the face of Courthouse Square as a bulldozer dumps one of the last remaining scoopfuls of the structure into a dumptruck and a workman begins mop up operations. The structure's foundation was scheduled to be unearthed today as excavation work begins on a five story parking garage, which will replace the annex. Foundation work already has begun on dual office buildings that will rise nearby, according to Gary L. Ordway of Continental Heller Corp, project manager.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Investment Good For Stable Holding

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We are planning on retiring soon and are interested in your advice on whether or not to hold 450 shares of Delaware Fund and 225 of Wellington Fund. We have reinvested all capital gains and dividend distributions. — D.W.

A. As you have not indicated your investment goals, I am unable to make any specific recommendations on your holdings. If stability and modest yield are compatible with your investment needs, then these two funds are well suited to your requirements. Should you, on the other hand, be primarily interested in either income or growth you would be well advised to switch to another fund within the same management group.

The current indicated dividend yield for Delaware is 3.4 per cent and for Wellington is 4.0 per cent. In each case these portfolios are comprised primarily of good quality listed issues. A moderate percentage (under 20 per cent) of their investments are bonds and preferred stocks. The bulk of the portfolios, however, are in the IBM, Amer. Tel. & Tel. category so that gradual growth, stability and moderate income are the primary attributes of these two large mutual funds. In the 5-year 1968-72 period, net asset value advanced 20 per cent for Delaware, 29 per cent for Wellington and 24 per cent for an average of mutual funds.

Q. We have some Federal Land Bank bonds which will soon mature. What would be some good high-rated bonds to consider for replacement? — J.L.

A. There are a very interesting series of bonds — power bonds — issued by the Tennessee Valley Authority, some of which should fit your requirements. These bonds carry the highest rating, AAA. Another attractive feature is that interest from these bonds, while subject to federal income tax, is exempt from state and local personal property and income tax. Maturity dates on the 10 TVA issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange range from 1974 to 1998. Coupon rates of 7 per cent to 9¼ per cent yield 7.4 per cent to 8.4 per cent on a current basis and 6.5 per cent to 7.9 per cent when the bonds are held to maturity.

Stocks Fall Badly; No Enthusiasm

NEW YORK (UPI) — A general lack of enthusiasm, stemming largely from concern over rising interest rates and inflation, sent stocks broadly lower today in sluggish trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said there was no news to spark new buying, and most investors appeared to take a wait-and-see stance while considering a variety of problems that have weighed on stock prices recently.

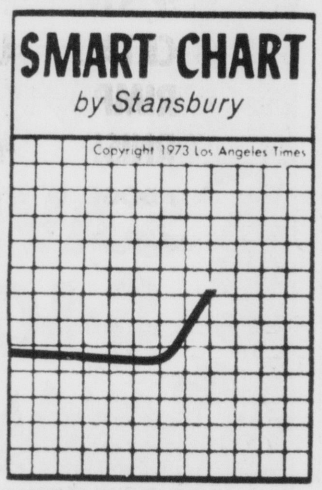
Foremost among them, observers said, was the absence of any sign that interest rates are nearing their peak. In addition, the continuing troubles of the dollar abroad have concerned Wall Street.

Topping the Big Board actives, CNA Financial Corp. gained ¼ to 11 ⅛ on 120,600 shares.

On the American Stock Exchange, prices declined in light activity. Syntex was the volume leader, and dropped 1 to 105 on 16,800 shares.

On the Big Board, Jonathan Logan fell 1 ½. The company reported six month earnings of $1.98 a share, compared with $1.75 a share for the same period last year.

Glamors were among the hardest hit. Polaroid dropped 3, Avon Products 1 ¾ Upjohn 1, and Corning Glass ¾.



"Hiring topless dancers for the assembly line eliminated boredom complaints."

Far-Go Bicycle Shop To Open At Northgate Shopping Center

A new bicycle store called Far-Go Bicycle Shop will open soon at 186 Northgate One Shopping Center in Terra Linda, where a music shop was formerly located.

Far-Go will be owned and operated by Rahman Farsi and Mahmoud Gozashti. They will carry a full line of bicycles including the English Raleigh, French Peugeot, and the Italian Bianci.

Lease of the shop was arranged by Chris Beck of Grubb & Ellis Co., Greenbrae.

MARIN COUNTY SCHOOLS will take over the first floor of the Reynold C. Johnson Building in downtown San Rafael at the corner of Fourth and C Streets. This lease was also negotiated by Chris Beck.

The space, formerly occupied by the Social Security Administration, will be used for the teaching of office practices and secretarial training under simulated office conditions. The courses, formerly taught at Marin City and at Sir Francis Drake High School, will be consolidated in the new location.

Hunsicker

Wood

PATRICIA ANN HUNSICKER of Novato is the first director of the newly created consumer relations office at Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, San Francisco.

Louis W. Niggeman of Kentfield, chairman of Fireman's Fund, announced that the new consumer relations office will have three major responsibilities: Provide consumers with a receptive communications link to management, serve as a listening post on consumer attitudes for the company's senior executives, and anticipate consumer concerns so they can be dealt with before they become consumer problems.

Mrs. Hunsicker joined Fireman's Fund after four years as public information officer in the Los Angeles County Probation Department.

H. GRAHAM WOOD of San Rafael has been named loan officer, commercial banking, in Wells Fargo Bank's west bay division headquarters, San Francisco.

Wood joined Wells Fargo in 1964 following graduation from the University of Southampton, England, with a degree in economics. He served in the bank's Union Trust Office and in the real estate department of the division headquarters in San Francisco and was named assistant manager of the Fillmore-California office in 1971.

GOURMET WINE and Glass shop at 891 Fourth Street (corner of Lootens Place) in San Rafael closed after four months of operation, and the place is for lease.

John J. Collins of San Rafael, who has experience as electrician and as bartender, opened the wine and glass shop on March 23 in the old Gallenkamp shoe store location.

JOHN C. KOEPKE of Mill Valley has been named general manager, marine operations division, of Marcona Corporation, San Francisco-based shipping, mining and resource development firm.

Koepke will direct Marcona's fleet operations. Before joining Marcona, he was vice president of Temple, Barker & Sloane Inc. and Fry Consultants Inc., both management consulting firms. He also served in the U.S. Army Transportation Corps in marine cargo control.

Koepke is a graduate of Northwestern University and holds a master of business administration degree from Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

Koepke

Eitreim

ERIC C. EITREIM of San Rafael was promoted to vice president, commercial and agricultural loans, in Crocker Bank's loan administration, San Francisco.

Eitreim joined Crocker Bank in 1964 and was assistant vice president before the promotion. A graduate of Yale University, he holds a master's degree in business administration from the University of California in Berkeley.

BRANTMAN CAPITAL Corporation of Tiburon, headed by W.T. Brantman, has just received its license as a Small Business Investment Corporation from the Small Business Administration.

President Brantman announced that the corporation will invest in venture capital situations and hopes to aid in the growth of small companies. No funds will be available for real estate ventures.

"We are looking for small businesses that will be needing $30,000 to $50,000," said Brantman.

KAY NOAH and Associates at 1680 Tiburon Boulevard, Tiburon, has doubled its office space to accommodate the fast growing realty business. The firm now has 10 salesmen and brokers.

Sheet Molding

NEW YORK (UPI) — More than 500 million pounds of sheet molding compound will be produced in 1978, predicts a leading supplier of glass fiber. Eighty per cent of the fiberglass-plastic automotive applications, half the consumer products and 30 per cent of fiberglass plastic electrical products willbe molded from it.

New Hospital Is Added By Firm

Hospital Corporation of America, whose chain of hospitals includes Ross General Hospital, has announced the addition to the group of a 67-bed facility in Palataka, Florida, southwest of Jacksonville.

George C. Mercy, vice president of HCA and president of Hospital Corporation West, whose offices are at Northgate in Terra Linda, said that HCA will operate the Florida hospital under management contract for the Putnam County Hospital Authority.

HCA is the nation's largest investor-owned hospital company, with 51 hospitals and more than 7500 beds in 12 states and 15 other facilities under construction.

Sentence Set In Bad Check Case

A San Francisco man who tried to pass a bad check at a San Rafael pool hall has been ordered to serve 90 days in jail and was placed on probation for a year.

Walter Frank Glynn, 23, was sentenced Monday by Marin Superior Court Judge David Menary Jr., who ordered the jail term to start after Glynn is released from Sonoma County Jail, where he is serving six months for a parole violation.

Glynn was convicted of trying to pass a check made out to David S. True of San Rafael at George's Pool Hall March 10.

The arrest led to the Sonoma jail sentence when it was determined that Glynn had violated his probation for a prior conviction for burglary and possessing stolen property.

Glynn's probation report says he "accepts little responsibility for his illegal behavior" and calls him "a sophisticated young man who shows no inclination to make any changes in his lifestyle."

The probation department had recommended a six-month jail term citing his past record of heroin and marijuana possession and forgery, and his admitted use of heroin and amphetamines.

Snatcher Of Purse Gets Six Months

A purse snatcher has been sentenced to six months in jail, placed on probation for two years and ordered to pay back $150 to the Coleman School Parent-Teacher Association.

Edward Charles Griffin, 20, was sentenced Monday by Marin Superior Court Judge David Menary Jr.

Griffin, of 10 La Brea Street, Santa Venetia, admitted July 9 that he took a purse containing the money from Joan M. Shattuck, 31, of San Rafael who was on her way to deposit the money earned by the PTA from hot dog sales.

The theft was Griffin's first criminal offense according to his probation report which said his criminal conduct did not "fit into his general life pattern" and stemmed from "a lengthy period of frustration."

Districts Will Elect Directors

The North Marin County Water District, Novato Fire Protection District and Bel Marin Keys Community Services District are scheduled to elect new directors Nov. 6.

Two seats will be open on each district board and nominating petitions for candidates will be available Thursday, at the district offices and county elections office, according to Peter C. Meyer, County Elections officer.

Petitions must be filed by 5 p.m. Aug. 31, in the elections office at the Marin Civic Center.

The terms of these board members are expiring: George A. Amaroli and Frank V. Baccaglio, water district; Peter J. Ferrarese and Dante Panfiglio, fire district; and Carl W. Wandt and Daniel J. Thrall, services district.

Novato Man Has Court Date Set

A Novato man will be tried on charges of vehicle theft and resisting arrest, a Marin Municipal judge ruled Tuesday.

Judge Gary W. Thomas ordered Jeffry Dean Peters, 22, to appear Monday in superior court after deciding there is enough evidence to try him.

The charges stem from an incident in San Rafael July 22 in which Peters reportedly stole a van from a San Rafael car dealer, then fled from police who spotted him near the stolen vehicle.

Forest Knolls Man Has Date In Court

A Forest Knolls man is to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court in connection with the stabbing of another man during an argument.

Robert Leonard Frank, 29, was booked into Marin County Jail Saturday and released on his own recognizance after he promised to make the court appearance.

The Marin sheriff's office said Frank stabbed Greg Stacey, 24, of 80 Resaca Avenue, Forest Knolls, with a pen knife during an argument over trespassing.

Deputies said Franks and Stacey gave conflicting accounts of the incident, but it appeared Stacey was wading in a creek behind a house owned by Frank's Father, Karl A. Frank, at 259 Castro Road.

A dispute ensued when the elder Frank ordered Stacey off his property, according to deputies, who said the younger Frank joined the fracas and reportedly stabbed Stacey in the abdomen and forehead.

Stacey ran to the Forest Knolls Lodge. He was later treated for stab wounds at Marin General Hospital.

Meeting Sept. 4

A joint meeting of the Corte Madera Town Council and Redevelopment Agency concerning a public hearing on project area No. 1 will be held Sept. 4, not Aug. 4 as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Trustees Raise Pay, Set Budget

The Kentfield School District board Monday approved 5.5 per cent across the board raises for district employees and then adopted a $1,826,583 budget for 1973-74.

Supt. Eugene C. Peters said the budget was raised from a preliminary estimate of $1,684,366 after more funds became available through recent state legislation.

He estimated the spending program will require a tax rate of $3.07 per $100 of assessed valuation as compared to $2.97 in the past year.

In other action the board accepted the resignation of elementary teacher Robert Guerts, who left to take a position in Sonoma County.

Organist Guest

Ann Tanner of Hayward will be guest organist at a public concert at 8 p.m. Monday at Sonoma Joe's in Petaluma, sponsored by the Petaluma Organ Club.

JUST A GENTLE PUSH

With the gasoline shortage, it's hard to get a tiger in the tank these days, but a lion on the bumper can provide a little extra push. It was all in fun, however, Tuesday as a tourist's car got a playful nudge from a lioness at Lion Country Safari in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Marin Crime Rate Drop Outpaces National Rate

By BILL ROBERTS

Serious crime declined in Marin during 1972 and far more so than in the nation as a whole, according to figures released today by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Marin recorded a decline of nearly 8 per cent compared to the national average of about 2 per cent.

It was the first time in 17 years, according to Atty. Gen. Elliott L. Richardson, that the FBI has reported a national decline in the total number of crimes committed.

The decline in both nation and county was entirely accounted for by a fall in the number of crimes against property, while crimes against persons increased slightly.

The FBI's total crime index, including auto thefts reported by the California Highway Patrol, showed a drop from 5,537 crimes reported in Marin in 1971 to 5,095 in 1972.

Crimes against persons in Marin increased from 248 in 1971 to 260 in 1972. That increase in murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, negligent manslaughter, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault was about 5 per cent.

Crimes against property decreased sharply from 5,289 in 1971 to 4,835 in 1972, or a decline

FBI Reports First Declining Crime Figures In 17 Years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Serious crime dropped 2 per cent in the United States last year in the first actual decrease in crime in 17 years, an FBI report issued by Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson said today.

The annual report also showed, however, that violent crimes—murder, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault—increased 2 per cent in 1972. And it showed the risk of becoming a victim of a serious crime has increased 47 per cent since 1967.

Richardson issued the report in his name although he has expressed reservations about the accuracy of the FBI statistics. Recently, he offered the opinion that the FBI Uniform Crime Reports—compiled from law enforcement agency statistics around the country—measure only a portion of the crimes committed in the United States.

The attorney general noted that many crimes are never reported to police. He said he hoped a better system of measuring crime could be devised, perhaps using polling techniques.

The most numerous property crimes, such as burglary, larceny and auto theft, were down 2 per cent, accounting for the overall decline of 2 per cent, the report said.

The 1972 drop in overall crime followed a 7 per cent increase in 1971. There was an 11 per cent increase in 1970, a 12 per cent gain in 1969, and a 17 per cent increase in 1968.

The FBI report showed that during 1972, 94 major cities reported actual decreases in serious crime, compared to 54 cities in 1971, 22 cities in 1970, and 17 cities in 1969.

The report said there was an 8 per cent decrease last year in serious crime in large core cities, those with populations in excess of 250,000 residentss. This drop compared to increases of 2 per cent in 1971, 6 per cent in 1970, 9 per cent in 1969, and 18 per cent in 1968.

There were increases in serious crime in both suburban and rural areas—2 per cent in suburban and 4 per cent in rural.

In the violent crimes category, forcible rape rose 11 per cent, aggravated assault increased 7 per cent, and murder rose 5 per cent.

But auto theft, according to the report, decreased 6 per cent, while robbery dropped 3 per cent, larceny 2 per cent, and burglary 1 per cent.

Law enforcement agencies throughout the country reported 5,891,900 serious crimes to the FBI in 1972. They included 5,063,800 property crimes and 828,100 violent crimes. Serious crimes reported in 1971 totaled 5,995,200.

The report said there were 2,829 serious crimes for each 100,000 residents in the country in 1972, a 3 per cent drop in the crime rate or victim risk rate from 1971. But since 1967, the risk of becoming a victim of a serious crime has gone up 47 per cent.

The violent crimes rate last year was 389 for each 100,000 inhabitants, up 1 per cent over the 1971 rate. The rate for property crimes was 2,432 for each 100,000 inhabitants, a decrease of 3 per cent.

Agnew Says Allegations Are 'False'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said today allegations that he was part of a kickback scandal in his home state of Maryland were "false and scurrilous and malicious."

Agnew made his statement at a news conference in the auditorium of the Executive Office Building, next door to the White House.

He said he originally intended to maintain silence after his initial denial Monday night, but he could not in view of news leaks.

He called the allegations against him a "damned lie."

Agnew opened the news conference by protesting "defamatory statements" leaked by sources which newspapers said were close to the federal grand jury in Baltimore.

The jury reportedly is looking into allegations Agnew received kickbacks while serving as county executive of Baltimore County, Md. from 1962 to 1966, while governor of Maryland from 1967 to 1969 and, according to some reports, even while he occupied the office of vice president.

Agnew said he held a far-ranging discussion with President Nixon Tuesday, but the idea of calling a news conference to respond to the reports from Baltimore was his alone. According to some published reports, indictments in the case are expected to be handed down within weeks.

Agnew said the allegations against him were being leaked by people "who find themselves in very deep trouble" and who were "flirting with the idea of receiving immunity" from prosecution by making charges against him.

The Washington Post said two Maryland engineers, Lester Matz and Jerome B. Wolff, "are now known to be negotiating with federal prosecutors for immunity from prosecution in return for information they are understood to be supplying about Agnew and perhaps others."

Agnew was asked by a reporter if he had ever received any money for his personal use from any company doing business with the state of Maryland either before or after he became vice president. He replied: "Absolutely not."

"I have nothing to hide," the vice president said in a calm, voice. He spoke slowly and distinctly and with little show of emotion.

He said he had "been aware through rumor of this investigation since February."

Mental State Of Bedayan Is Questioned

Brent William Bedayan's mental confusion is so great he thinks Melvin J. Schallock, whom he is accused of murdering, is "Adolf Melvin Schallock Hitler" and is still alive, according to his attorney.

Public defender Frank J. Cox produced two letters written by his client to San Francisco newspaper columnists Terrence O'Flaherty and Arthur Hoppe on April 2, two weeks after he was arrested for the shotgun slayings of Schallock, his wife, Ruth, and son, Daniel.

The letters ask the help of O'Flaherty and Hoppe in "exposing this problem to the public . . . and solving a problem of mankind for at least three decades."

Bedayan's trial entered its sixth day today in the Marin Superior Courtroom of Judge Henry J. Broderick, with Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales questioning criminalist Basil Trasnikoff about traces of gasoline found in the Schallock house's charred basement.

Bedayan, 22, is accused of setting fire to the Schallock house in Mill Valley March 16 and then killing the three.

The virtually identical handwritten letters, which the columnists never answered, state Bedayan's belief that "the person known as Melvin A. H. Schallock" is alive.

"It also is my belief that the person known as Melvin A. H. Schallock is in reality Adolf Melvin Schallock Hitler.

"He would be described as tall, slender, white skinned, dark on the inside and feather in weight. The things he does leaves a person confused and one has the idea he is suicidal," the letters say.

Cox produced the letters and asked handwriting expert Terrence H. Pascoe if the signatures matched those on Bedayan's driver's license, a federal firearms transaction sheet and on his jail fingerprint card.

Pascoe, from the investigation services branch of the State Department of Justice, said he could not be sure.

In other testimony Tuesday, Mill Valley Police Chief William A. Walsh said he saw nothing unusual about Bedayan's behavior after he was arrested in connection with the Schallock slayings.

Bedayan, a former grocery store bag boy, chatted with Walsh about seeing the police chief and his wife at the market where he worked and commented on a copy of the police search warrant that was not signed by a judge, Walsh testified.

"He seemed perfectly normal to me," Walsh said.

Cox questioned the definition of the word "normal" and Judge Broderick ruled that Bedayan's behavior be described as "nothing unusual."

Bedayan has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity and Cox's cross-examination of prosecution witnesses has attempted to discredit the testimony of some that Bedayan appeared sane and rational.

At one point, Walsh said that Bedayan was cooperative when he was asked to shed his outer layer of clothing then to dress in other apparel before being taken to the police station.

"He understood completely what was going on," Walsh said.

Bales also called a witness, Samuel R. Erwin Jr., a fingerprint expert, also with the state investigative services branch.

Erwin testified that no fingerprint was found on any of 22 shells found around the Schal-

A More Stable U.S. Economy Is Forecast

Ending Of Phase IV Likely By New Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration hopes to end Phase IV economic controls by the end of the year and let the nation return to a free economy, high administration sources said today.

Two cabinet officers strongly hinted at administration economic plans by predicting in almost identical words that Phase V of controls would be "a phase out."

Higher prices appear inevitable, a third spokesman said, but the administration is counting on increased production, particularly of food, and other fiscal measures to dampen the inflationary pressures of a noncontrolled economy.

Speaking in Pittsburgh, Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent described the current Phase IV as providing "a period of time in which other economic forces can work effectively without subjecting the public to the severe price jolts which might otherwise occur."

Dent added: "Phase V is a 'phase out.' President Nixon's goal is the return of a free-market economy in which there is improved price stability and a sustainable growth rate."

In Miami, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said Phase IV was moving the economy toward private decision-making and "Phase V will be phased out."

High administration sources said the hope was that the phase-out could occur by the end of the year and that the economy could return to "the conditions of January, 1969" — before President Nixon clamped on controls.

At the White House, Marina Whitman, a member of the Council of Economic Advisers, said the economy is still under the burden of strong cost pressures and a squeeze on prices "without the necessary increase in supplies."

Speaking to a group of women in high government posts, she said: "It's still true that we are in or a period of price increases which are more than we want, or want to tolerate."

But, she said, administration economists expect the value of the dollar to rise and the expansion of the economy to slow down.

Dent said the administration was seeking to curb inflation through an increase in supplies, expansion of trade, and curbs in inflationary spending.

Butz announced a nationwide drive to spur farmers, farm industries and agriculture officials to higher food production by preventing harvest losses this fall and promoting all-out production next year.

Two Cotati Crash Bodies Identified

The two persons killed in the fiery accident Monday at Cotati were identified Tuesday as a 31-year-old Livermore man and a 24-year-old woman hitchhiker from Santa Cruz.

The victims were identified as Lyle Monger, a partner in the Dri-Wal Construction Co. of Dublin, and Kathleen Moore Smith, who was on her way to visit friends in Garberville.

The Sonoma County coroner's office said a pathologist made positive identification of the badly charred bodies through use of dental charts.

Monger was reportedly on a business trip when he gave a ride to Mrs. Smith. Her husband, Richard, said he had driven his wife from Santa Cruz to San Francisco Monday and last saw her ride off northbound in a Mercedes-Benz with Oregon license plates. It is not known where Mrs. Smith switched vehicles.

The two were killed when a grain truck driven by William W. Davidson, 36, of Petaluma, failed to notice traffic stopped on Highway 101 and crashed into the rear end and over the top of Monger's pick-up truck, killing both instantly.

Six other persons suffered minor injuries in the accident that involved eight vehicles.

Monger is survived by his wife, Sandra. Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Callahan Mortuary, Livermore.

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Smith were pending today at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma.

NOVATO PROJECT

Developer's Plan For Saving Water

By FRANK FARRARA

A developer's need to build and a water agency's need to stretch its water supply has led to an unusual project south of Novato, a complex of townhouses and single-family homes engineered to reduce water consumption ordinarily required.

The experimental water conservation project, intended to cut water usage 57 per cent at single-family homes and 43 per cent at townhouses, is to be undertaken at the Village Marin project on the former Pacheco Ranch in South Novato by U.S.Development Corp.

According to John O. Nelson, manager of the North Marin County Water District, who called the project one of the first in the west, water will be conserved through landscaping, a special irrigation plan, low-flush toilets, hot water pipe insulation and low pressure shower heads.

He said the water conservation program is to be applied to the first 400 units of the proposed 700-unit development, and he hoped some of the conservation practices would be adopted by other developers.

Nelson said the firm, which has approval of 174 townhouses and condominiums and 15 single-family homes, was seeking assurances it would have water available for about 400 units.

Thus, the conservation program was developed to meet the firm's needs and at the same time conserve water, he said.

Under the program the amount of water that would have been required for 189 units, under usual practices, will now support about 400 units, Nelson reported.

In the Novato area where the average homeowner uses about 50 per cent of his water on lawn and garden, irrigation is a key factor in water saving and a unique plan will be used at the project, he said.

Cambodian Bomb Halt Hit Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall refused again today to order an immediate halt of American bombing in Cambodia.

Acting only a week before the bombing must halt under an agreement between Congress and Nixon, Marshall refused to reconsider his decision last Saturday overturning an unprecedented end-the-bombing ruling earlier that day by fellow Justice William O. Douglas.

Marshall took that action after polling his seven other colleagues and finding them in unanimous agreement with him.

The request before him was to overturn a ruling by the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals in New York City which had stayed an earlier decision by a federal district judge that the bombing was unconstitutional since it had not been approved by Congress.

The case itself was being argued on its merits today in the 2nd Circuit Court in New York.

The suit was brought by Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., and four Air Force Officers, including Capt. Donald E. Dawson, who faces a possible court martial for his refusal to fly again over Cambodia after having flown 90 missions.

Marshall, in his action today, merely stamped the word "denied" to the Holtzman request for reconsideration of Saturday's action.

Marshall acted as a former pilot was testifying at a Senate hearing that "the practice" was for U.S. warplanes to hit Communist hospitals in Cambodia when he was there in 1969 and 1970.

Former Capt. Gerald J. Greven, now an airline pilot based in Miami, said he directed bombing runs as a forward air controller.

He told the Senate Armed Services Committee he once was given instructions to direct bombing of an area which included a designated Viet Cong hospital.

UFW And The Highway Patrol Clash

LAMONT, Calif. (UPI) — Striking United Farm Workers Union members and sheriff's deputies clashed in Southern California Tuesday. Six officers and some strikers were hurt.

Deputy Carroll Clendonon was hospitalized with a broken arm and other deputies were hit by flying rocks. Police said about 275 pickets at a struck grape ranch tried to rush the fields to drive out workers.

The California Highway Patrol sealed off roads around the area and arrested about 30 persons before the strikers dispersed.

A UFW spokesman said it was believed one woman picket was injured badly and that arrested pickets who were hurt were not getting medical attention.

Attorneys for the UFW argued in court Tuesday for the release without bail of about 400 persons arrested on picket lines in recent weeks, mostly for violating a court order limiting the number of pickets in the union's dispute with the rival Teamsters Union.

Wiretap Bill Voted

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill permitting investigators of the state Consumer Affairs Department to use wiretapping if they first obtain a court order has narrowly passed the Senate.

Weary Watergate Panel Adjourns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In its rush to join vacationing members of Congress, the Senate Watergate committee brushed aside explosive testimony by a tough-talking government lawyer who complained the Watergate probe was "snatched" away from the Justice Department.

Henry E. Petersen, assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division, testified Tuesday he deeply resented the appointment of a special Watergate prosecutor because it delayed indictments and was an indication by the Senate that the Justice Department could not be trusted.

"Damn, I think it's a reflection on me and the Department of Justice," exclaimed Petersen. "We would have broken that case wide open." He joined Tuesday's other witness, former Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst, in praising the department's efforts on the case.

Petersen's dissatisfaction with the Senate's insistence on the appointment of a special prosecutor by the President surfaced during just two hours and 46 minutes of questioning as the seven-member panel hurried to adjourn for the summer recess. Kleindienst was interviewed little longer.

If Petersen had been called to testify earlier, the committee probably would have spent many hours—perhaps days—quizzing him about his conversations with President Nixon and virtually every figure involved in the Watergate scandal.

The ex-Marine, who worked his way through Justice Department ranks to head the criminal division during the Watergate probe, also told how on April 15 he recommended the firing of former presidential aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman because of the embarrassment their involvement in the scandal would cause for the Nixon administration.

Petersen launched into his emotional exchange with Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., over the appointment of a special prosecutor because he said the case was "snatched out from under us when we had it 90 per cent complete."

Gulping water constantly, Petersen said "excuse my emotion, but I've been here too long. And this has been a terrible year."

Petersen, who seemed to welcome the opportunity to tell the committee about what he considered was a thorough Watergate probe, also revealed how the President told him to stick with the Watergate probe and not become involved in the break-in of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

He said the warning, which troubled him greatly, was given him by Nixon at a face-to-face meeting shortly after Petersen was told of the Sept. 3, 1971, break-in by principal Assistant U.S. Attorney Earl J. Silbert.

The President said on May 22 he was informed by Kleindienst of the White House-ordered break-in on April 25, a full week after Petersen said he met with Nixon to tell him of the burglary which the President has said he did not authorize.

At his April 18 session with the President, Petersen said he was told that national security reasons precluded his becoming involved. But Petersen said he sought advice from Kleindienst and together they decided to resign if the President did not act.

Kleindienst testified the Tuesday morning the President was "very upset" when Kleindienst told him of the Ellsberg burglary, but agreed the matter should be forwarded to the trial judge in Los Angeles where Ellsberg was on trial for stealing the Pentagon papers. The judge dismissed the case on May 11.

Explosives Maker Enters Guilty Plea

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A man arrested last April when police found 150 pounds of explosives in his garage adjacent to an elementary school has pleaded guilty to manufacturing unregistered explosives.

Joseph F. Budnek Jr., 45, Sun Valley, entered the plea Tuesday and will be sentenced Aug. 27 in U.S. District Court.

Truck Dog Bill Dies

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill requiring pickup truck owners to secure their dogs or other animals to prevent them from falling or jumping from the truck's cargo space was killed Tuesday by the Senate.

State Places More In Working Ranks

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The number of persons placed in jobs by state employment offices in fiscal 1972-73 rose 27 per cent over the previous year to total 491,279.

State Health and Welfare Agency Secretary Earl Brian Tuesday said most of the increase can be attributed to the streamlining of procedures in the field offices last year to "provide faster and more effective placement services."

Skull May Be Alioto's Kin

SAN ANDREAS (UPI) — A skull discovered near the Stanislaus River by a Boy Scout troop Tuesday may be the remains of John Casteel, a missing relative of the wife of San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto.

Calaveras County Sheriff's Sgt. John Alexander said a dental chart comparison would be made for a positive identification.

Casteel, 24, a second cousin to Angelina Alioto, vanished Oct. 5, 1968, just before a snowstorm hit the 7,000-foot elevation campground.

Dollar Loses

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. dollar lost small fractions against most European currencies in early trading today for the second consecutive day.

In London the British pound sterling sold at the opening for $2.5035, the first time in a week the pound cost more than $2.50.

In Paris, Amsterdam and Milan the dollar opened at slightly lower rates than Tuesday's closing figures.

Truce Warning

PARIS (UPI) — South Vietnam warned today that a Communist military victory in Cambodia could endanger Saigon's political talks with the Viet Cong in Paris.

South Vietnamese Vice Premier Nguyen Luu Vien said a Communist takeover in Phnom Penh would mean a change in Indochina's balance of power and might prompt Saigon to take a new look at their negotiations with the Viet Cong.

He issued the warning in talking to reporters after today's 20th session between the two sides. It again proved inconclusive.

Prayer Bill Revived

BOSTON (UPI) — The Massachusetts House Tuesday overrode Gov. Francis W. Sargent's veto of a bill that requires teachers to allow public school pupils some time each day for prayer or meditation.

"Don't deprive children of this at a time when the country needs God's blessings," said Rep. William A. Carey, D-Boston, during debate on the override motion. The vote was 171-50.

The measure then went to the Senate.

Violations Decline

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese military authorities reported a sharp drop today in Communist cease-fire violations but said heavy fighting still is raging in the Central Highlands.

A military command spokesman said there were 86 Communist truce violations in the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today, down sharply from the previous two days.

The spokesman attributed no particular significance to the sudden decline.

Yugoslav Blast

BELGRADE (UPI) — An explosion tore through a baggage department in Belgrade's main railway station today, killing the caretaker and injuring seven bystanders, police said.

A police spokesman said a small prefabricated building was burned down in the blast.

Yugoslav army explosives experts were investigating the cause of the blast.

New Irish Laws

BELFAST (UPI) — Tough new laws to combat terrorism in Northern Ireland came into force today amid British government claims that it is winning its battle against violence.

Under the new laws, authorities are empowered to conduct trials with no jury, limit bail, detain persons for as long as four hours on suspicion only, conduct searches without warrants and file charges against persons who refuse to answer police questions.

The laws also assume a defendant is guilty until proven innocent.

Wheat Price Up

CHICAGO (UPI) — The price of wheat, one of the world's food mainstays, reached a 150-year high at the Chicago Board of Trade Tuesday when the price for wheat futures contracts for September delivery jumped the 10-cent permissible daily limit to $4.14 a bushel.

It was the seventh consecutive day wheat prices had increased, foreshadowing higher prices for bread and cereal products for consumers.

Reason For Kidnap

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — British financier Charles Lockwood said Tuesday that guerrilla kidnapers who held him for 53 days had demanded $7.5 million ransom money to buy arms for a "civil war" in Argentina.

"They refused to say what organization they belong to, but they admire the Cuban and Chinese governments and are not Peronists," the British-born executive said.

Lockwood was held longer than any other of Argentina's 100-odd kidnap victims while his family and firm bargained with the guerrillas.

CRIME

of more than 8 per cent in the total figure for burglary, larceny of $50 and over and auto theft.

The Marin County figures contrast to statewide figures, however. The total crime index increased in California from 942,658 in 1971 to 942,802 in 1972. Crimes against property were down by about 5,000 reports on the state level but an increase of almost 6,000 crimes against persons yielded the net increase in the crime index statewide.

The sharpest decline in Marin was in larceny of $50 and over. The decline of 604 cases of larceny from 2,879 in 1971 to 2,275 in 1972 accounted for the bulk of the decrease in the overall crime index.

Robbery, aggravated assault and auto theft reports also decreased but a slight increase was noted in the number of forcible rapes.

The only large increase in a crime category was in burglary with 228 more reports in 1972 than in 1971.

In breakdowns for city's with population over 10,000, both Novato and San Rafael showed decreases in the number of crimes reported.

Both Marin cities showed an increase in the number of crimes against persons but a larger decrease in the number of crimes against property to allow the net decrease in the crime index.

The other major area of the FBI report related to the number of law enforcement personnel in counties, cities and towns.

Only Belvedere and Sausalito showed a decrease in the number of personnel employed among Marin towns and cities. Larkspur, Mill Valley, Novato, San Anselmo and San Rafael all had increases in law enforcement staff according to the report. Corte Madera and Ross were unchanged.

The Marin total showed a net increase of 98 law enforcement personnel from 305 in 1971 to 403 in 1972.

lock home, nor on the Browning automatic shotgun allegedly sold to Bedayan, or on the gun case and leather bandolier alleged to belong to Bedayan, nor at the Schallock home nor on two cars parked outside.

Bales, clearly trying to show that Bedayan used forethought and wiped the objects clean, steered Erwin into agreeing that prints could be removed from something such as the stock of a shotgun by rubbing with a cloth.

But, under cross-examination by Cox, Erwin also conceded that prints on the shotgun shells could have been obliterated by the heat of firing them from the gun and that prints on the shotgun could have been removed by sliding in the gun case. And, Erwin agreed, fingerprints on the gun case could have been wiped out during handling and transport by investigators.

Scout Camp Finale Attracts 40,000

FARRAGUT STATE PARK, Idaho (UPI) — More than 40,000 scouts and visitors attended the giant arena show Tuesday that ended the National Boy Scout Jamboree-West.

Featured guests were Adm. Elmo Zumwalt Jr., chief of naval operations, and Apollo astronaut Eugene Cernan.

No-Contest Plea In Art Vandalism

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A 60-year-old woman pleaded no contest Tuesday to charges of vandalizing two large oil paintings of reclining nudes at a student art show.

Judge Robert Zarick ordered a probation report on Elaine Winston and continued her case until Aug. 28.

BRANDON, England (UPI) — A 40-acre site near Brandon which is noted for its colonies of spiders has been bought by the Suffolk Trust for Nature Conservation as a permanent nature reserve.

Air Base Has A Rabid Bat, County Says

A sick bat which fell out of the rafters at the Hamilton Air Force Base commissary Aug. 3 has been diagnosed as the 21st known rabid animal in Marin this year.

County Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht said the bat, killed by the county humane society, was found to be rabid Tuesday by the State Virus Laboratory in Berkeley.

The animal was picked up with a stick so there was no human exposure, the health officer said.

In 1965 a rabid bat was found in a tree at the base by two small boys. One underwent antirabies treatment when the animal's disease was diagnosed.

Uncle Sam Boosts Cost Of Being Poor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government's poverty line—the level of income below which a 'family is considered impoverished—has gone up like everything else.

The Labor Department said Tuesday it has reset the poverty line at $4,300 a year for a nonfarm family of four. This is $100 over the last guideline published in December, 1972.

Guilty Plea In 'Ski Mask' Holdup Series

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Wallace Tang, 17, pleaded guilty Tuesday to being a member of a Chinatown "ski mask" gang that robbed a bank.

Inspectors said Tang, who changed his plea from innocent, had been assigned to scoop money from tellers' cash drawers and registers.

Fort Is Turned Into Mansion

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — Puerto Rico's seat of government is La Fortaleza (The Fortress). It was begun in 1533 to help guard the entrance of San Juan from raiding British and Dutch fleets, but proved badly located for a fort and was turned into a governor's mansion.

Its residents have included most of the 100 governors appointed by Spain, three military governors for the United States and, since 1948, three governors elected by the people of Puerto Rico.

Florida Reporting A Population Boom

NEW YORK (UPI) — A population boom that could project Florida as one of the six most populous states in the nation during the 1980s is now under way, according to a bank holding company executive.

Joseph Weintraub, chairman of Miami-based Pan American Bancshares, Inc., said Florida's growth rate in the 1970s should approximate 33 per cent, which is three times the national average. Latest census figures rank Florida ninth in population with 6,789,443 residents.

WATER

McCormick Environmental Group of Novato, consulting engineers for the firm, said U.S. Development Corp., is the first developer to consider landscaping with an eye to water conservation and to plan irrigation for that purpose.

Under the irrigation plan, which will achieve about 43 per cent of the water savings, there will be less lawn and more native plants than usual, slow application of water, morning irrigation and soil moisture control of irrigation, Nelson said.

The moisture of the soil will be measured by sensitive meters which will "click the switch" for irrigation when the lawn is dry. But, Nelson said, they also will be hooked up to time clocks so that watering will take place in the morning, the best time, he said. Sprinklers will have special heads, permitting slow watering, which is best suited to the soil in the Novato area, he added.

The firm also will place about four to six inches of top soil in irrigated areas and four cubic yards of organic material for every 1,000 square feet "to keep the soil open," he said.

Another measure will be the use of low volume flush toilets, which will require less than three gallons per flush as compared to current models which use about seven gallons per flush.

Another water saving is expected from insulation of hot water pipes, which will keep the water warm.

Stuber explained that water is wasted when persons turn on a hot water tap and then run it a while waiting for hot water, a waste that can be reduced by keeping the water warm in the pipes.

Nelson has estimated that the average homeowner uses 22 per cent of his water for flushing toilets, 15 per cent for baths, 10 per cent for laundry and dishes and 3 per cent for drinking and cooking.

An impromptu check of district staff members showed that the average family turns on hot water 36 times a day, he said.

Another water saving is to be achieved by use of low pressure shower heads which will reduce the shower flow rate about two-thirds, Nelson said. Persons are using about 25 gallons a shower and the pressure has been greater than needed, Nelson said.

Stuber said the measures will be an additional expense initially, but eventually will result in less water costs to the consumers.

Nelson said after the first phase of the development is constructed, the district will monitor water usage to determine the effectiveness of the program.

Aside from the water conservation program, U.S. Development is going to install two storage tanks with a capacity of 3.5 million gallons, which will serve the entire 700-unit development.

Oil Slick Tests

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — A series of tests to judge the effectiveness of a new oil slick recovery device began in the Santa Barbara Channel Tuesday.

OBITUARIES

Barbara C. Barnett Dies At 70

Private funeral for Barbara C. Barnett, a longtime Sausalito resident and founder of the Closet Shop in that city, will be 3 p.m. Friday at the Morrison Funeral Chapel in St. Helena.

Mrs. Barnett died Monday in a St. Helena hospital after a long illness. She was 70.

She was born in Wetherby, Yorkshire, England, and came to San Francisco with her parents as a small child.

In 1930 she married Eric T. Barnett and moved to the Los Angeles area where he was employed with United States Steel.

They moved to San Francisco in 1942 and to Sausalito in 1945.

Her husband was active in city affairs and was elected to the city council and chaired the citizen's committee which assisted in drafting the Sausalito master plan.

In 1956 Mrs. Barnett started the Closet Shop on Caledonia Street, which bought and sold used clothes and turned its proceeds to scholarships for the newly founded Marin Country Day School.

She was also active in the Sausalito Women's Club and the Women's Athletic Club of San Francisco.

When her husband retired from U.S. Steel in 1966, they moved from their Sausalito home at 161 Harrison Street to St. Helena.

She is survived by her husband, a son David Barnett of Santa Fe, N.M., and a sister, Mrs. Jules Winkleman of Mill Valley.

Burial will be in St. Helena Cemetery.

RUSSELL BOWELL

Private funeral for Russell J. Bowell of Greenbrae, retired executive for the Brunswick Corp., was held Tuesday in San Anselmo.

Bowell, 81, died Saturday in a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of Argos, Ind., he moved to San Francisco in 1935 and to Marin three years ago. He resided at 501 Via Casitas.

Bowell served as West Coast manager for Brunswick, then became Far Eastern export manager for the firm until his retirement 25 years ago.

He was a member and past president of the San Francisco Rotary Club, founder of the San Francisco Rotary Foundation and former member of the California and Rossmoor golf clubs, Los Angeles Country Club and the Olympic Club. He also was elected to the San Francisco Bowling Hall of Fame.

Bowell is survived by his wife, Gertrude, a daughter, Betty Honeycutt of Beverly Hills; a stepson, Harding McPhun of Greenbrae; a brother, Clyde Bowell of Wyoming and three grandchildren.

Inurnment will be private.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the San Francisco Rotary Foundation.

HOWARD WILKINSON

Howard E. (Pete) Wilkinson, a 20-year Fairfax resident, died Tuesday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness. He was 52.

Wilkinson was born in Sioux City, Iowa, and moved to San Francisco with his family in 1928.

He began study at St. Mary's College in that city, but had to quit to help his parents support a family of ten children by working as a newsboy.

In 1948 he moved to Fairfax and began work in tire service with the Marin Tire Co. on Second Street.

In 1968 he returned to San Francisco and worked with a number of tire companies in South San Francisco.

He is survived by a daughter, Toni J. Wilkinson of Fairfax, and four brothers and four sisters in the Bay Area.

Funeral services will be 10 a.m. Friday at N. Gray and Company, 19th Avenue at Sargent Street, San Francisco. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

MRS. HOLLAND

Carma Lee Holland, an 18-year resident of San Rafael, died Tuesday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 90.

Mrs. Holland was born in Jackson, Miss., and married the late David L. Holland in 1911 in Colorado. They moved to Chicago and he died in that city.

Mrs. Holland then came to California and worked at several vocations. She lived at 512 Las Colindas Road in San Rafael since coming to Marin 18 years ago.

She is survived only by a daughter, Carma R. Holland of San Rafael.

Private funeral was held Tuesday at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

The family prefers memorial contributions to Guide Dogs for the Blind.

RAMONA L. CASSELMAN

Ramona L. Casselman of Greenbrae, wife of KSFO radio news director G. E. (Chet) Casselman, died from cancer yesterday at a local hospital. She was 44.

A 13-year Marin resident, Mrs. Casselman lived with her family at 75 Almenar Drive.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Counts of La Habra, Orange County, a son, Cass and a daughter, Jere.

Graveside service will be Thursday at 1 p.m. at the Loma Vista Cemetery, Fullerton.

ARCHIBALD ROSS

Archibald Rennie Ross of San Rafael died Tuesday at his home after a long illness. He was 58.

He was born and reared in Scotland. He served in the Royal Navy during World War II. He came to San Francisco 20 years ago.

Ross worked as an upholsterer for 18 years for a San Francisco firm. He had lived in Marin County for the past seven years, making his home at 107 Bungalow Avenue.

He was a member of Free and Accepted Masons Lodge No. 679 of Scotland.

He is survived by his wife Maud A. Ross; a daughter, Sandra David of San Rafael; four sons, Angus Ross and David Ross of San Rafael and Kenneth Ross and Thomas Ross of San Francisco and two brothers, William Ross and Sidney Ross both of Scotland.

Funeral will be at 1 p.m., Thursday, at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Inurnment will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

MITZIE JOINS THE PARADE

Mitzie the poodle, all dolled up in a dress and sash, seems only a little reluctant as Deborah Russell, 10, (right) and her mother, Judilanne Russell, led her in the children's pet parade at Corte Madera Town Park. The event Tuesday, one of three in the town, was a feature of the town's summer recreation program for youngsters.

Novato Citizen Group Presses Enactment Of Growth Controls

An ad hoc committee on growth control pressed the Novato City Council Tuesday night to start applying the city's policy of limiting development to 500 dwelling units a year.

Gail Wilhelm, a planning commissioner speaking as a representative of the committee, recommended that a consultant be hired to prepare a growth control ordinance.

If this isn't done, the second choice would be a moratorium on residential construction for about six months while the ordinance is prepared by the city planning staff, she said.

The council next Tuesday will discuss how to act on the general plan, Mayor Fred F. Ruegg reported.

Virginia Haxton, a committee member, said to wait and see the outcome of Petaluma's effort to enforce such a growth policy would give the impression that the city was "dragging its feet."

Mrs. Wilhelm said consultants could study the impact of growth controls of the city, a cost-benefit formula for projects, the availability of community resources to accommodate growth and coordination of growth with capital improvement programs of districts in the area.

Alfred Rivasplata, president of the North Marin Federation of Homeowners, said "with communities to the south and Petaluma" controlling growth, homeowners believe "our situation will get worse." He urged the council to give growth control priority.

The Novato City Council Also:

SENIOR CITIZENS — Approved an agreement with Marin County for senior citizen recreation programs on a 50-50 matching fund basis, with the city to contribute $3,500.

AIRPORT STUDY — Received notice that the Association of Bay Area Governments has recommended approval of the city's request for $20,000 in federal funds for a study of land use at Hamilton Air Force Base.

RENAISSANCE FAIRE — Granted Renaissance Pleasure Faire a business license to operate at Black Point for six weekends starting Sept. 1, pending approval of a use permit.

BICYCLE LICENSE — Increased the bicycle license fee from $1 to $1.50 for the lifetime of the bicycle by a 4-1 vote with Councilman George C. Quesada dissenting.

APARTMENTS — Introduced an ordinance approving a master plan for a triplex on a 10,000 square foot lot at 1639 Novato Boulevard, submitted by Frank Perachiotti.

JOINT USE — Directed City Mgr. Charles A. Brown to notify the state Aeronautics Board of the city's opposition to commercial aviation use at Hamilton Air Force Base, a response to a recommendation from board consultants that the base become a major civil airport.

SPECIAL MEETING — Scheduled a special meeting at 8 p.m. next Wednesday at the Novato Community House on land use at Gnoss Field.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Novato Community House.

Drug Case Guilty Plea; Jail Results

A Tamalpais Valley man who admitted possessing amphetamine when his car was stopped by the California Highway Patrol in November has been sentenced to nine months in jail and placed on probation for two years.

David Carl Duerner, Jr., 21, of 438 Wellesley Avenue, was sentenced Monday by Superior Court Judge Charles R. Best.

Duerner pleaded guilty May 3 to having 17 packets of speed in his car when the highway patrol stopped him on Highway 101 for speeding and erratic driving.

The former cook, dishwasher and laborer had several fresh needle marks on his arms when arrested, according to his probation report which said he has been "extensively involved with narcotics and/or drugs within the recent past."

The report contends Duerner is "poorly motivated . . . and has little inclination to cooperate with those who are trying to help him resolve his problems. "Instead, it seems the defendant has adopted a delinquent lifestyle and prefers to maintain his present pattern of behavior."

Duerner, the report concludes, "is a young man burdened with serious psychological and behavorial problems which render him unable to maintain himself in a satisfactory manner . . ."

Committee Asks A BART Shuttle

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Bay Area Rapid Transit District committee recommended Tuesday that a shuttle service be started between San Francisco and Daly City on the system's trains.

Full service, through a transbay tube to Oakland, will have to be delayed until the system can satisfy the state Public Utilities Commission that its computerized operations are safe.

At present, the system operates only in the East Bay Area.

System operations resumed Monday after a five-week labor contract strike and patronage Tuesday was at 92 per cent of that before the walkout. The day before it had been 84 per cent.

Smog Board Reform Bill To Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation doubling the pay of directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District and making them elected officials was approved Tuesday by the Senate on a 24-7 vote.

The bill, which went to the Assembly without debate, would raise the director's pay from $1,200 to $12,400 a year. Effective in December 1974, the directors would be elected instead of appointed.

Cheda Farms Plan Voted Minus Mix

A master plan or 362 apartment and townhouse units at Cheda Farms, Northeast of South Novato Boulevard, was unanimously approved Tuesday night by the Novato City Council.

By a 3-1 vote, the council delayed until precise plans are submitted a controversial requirement that the developer allot 10 to 15 per cent of the units for low and moderate income families.

Councilman David Price Jones, who favored a vote last night on the housing requirement, dissented. Councilman George C. Quesada said the motion didn't specify distributing the low and moderate income housing throughout the project, leaving open the possibility of creating a ghetto and he abstained.

Quesada also said "it's time the council bites the bullet" on the housing requirement and "not pass the buck."

At a public hearing last week, A. R. Allan, the developer, opposed the requirement for low and moderate income housing as unworkable.

Representatives of the Marin County Housing Authority and Ecumenical Association for Housing told the council last night it could be workable.

Eric Kinsey, a director of the South Novato Homeowners Association, opposed the density of the project on a 50-acre site. It would bring the total of multiple family units in the South Novato area to about 1,800 to 2,000 and would encroach on the area of single family homes, he said.

In another controversial matter, the council continued for four weeks an appeal by Ben Ostlind of San Rafael against plan review committee and planning commission rejection of architectural design of a planned Taco Bell restaurant at Novato Square.

Representatives of the Novato Chamber of Commerce board and the Novato Downtown Merchants Association, noting that Ostlind has encountered long delay on the restaurant, urged that the council approve the design or state specifically what architectural changes would be acceptable.

Gordon L. Lee, chamber president, said lack of specific direction from the plan review committee or planning commission has resulted in unreasonable delay.

The standard architecture of the Taco Bell building has been under fire during the review process. Ostlind said he has made almost all the changes requested, but he didn't believe Taco Bell would change the basic mission architecture.

Quesada said, "I don't think we need to accept this standard cookie cutter type of design," and Councilman Jones said other chain restaurants at Novato Square have modified their standard buildings to gain city approval.

The council returned the design to the plan review committee for specific directions, which Taco Bell could consider.

Quesada mentioned that Jones, an attorney, had represented Taco Bell in Mill Valley at one time and there might be a conflict of interest.

Jones said "it was about five or six years ago" and he hadn't had "any contact with Taco Bell since, so I don't feel there is any connection."

After protests from about 10 property owners, the council voted 3-2 to introduce an ordinance to change the minimum lot size in agricultural districts from 7,500 square feet to two acres, or 77,120 square feet.

Mayor Fred F. Ruegg and Councilman Dorothy P. Young dissented.

Planning Director Brian W. Mattson described the two-acre designation as a "holding action" pending rezoning of individual parcels to bring them into conformance with the city's general plan. The land involved has been designated "hill and canyon residential" in the general plan, with density depending upon slope.

Property owners said the two-acre designation was unreasonable and unfair and several preferred a one-acre designation.

Ruegg said the proposed ordinance would be confusing and would offer "opportunity for misunderstanding on the part of the public and homeowners."

Burglar Draws A 4-Month Term

A San Rafael man who admitted attempted burglary of a San Rafael home in November of 1970 has been sentenced to four months in jail and placed on three years probation.

Henry Jackson Jr., 24, who went to Louisiana to visit relatives in December 1970 while his Marin case was pending and drew a prison term for a burglary there, was sentenced Monday by Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Superior Court.

Jackson spent almost two years in a Louisiana penitentiary, was released in April 1973 and arrested in Marin by the California Highway Patrol when a check revealed he was wanted by local authorities.

Jackson pleaded guilty July 9 to the attempted burglary of the home of Bryce W. Anderson, Independent-Journal executive editor.

He is also suspected of involvement in 18 burglary and prowler incidents in the west end of San Rafael between September and November of 1970.

Pianist Will Play For Music Chest

Pianist Jeffrey Siegel will perform at 2:30 p.m., Sept. 30 at the Marin Veteran's Memorial Auditorium under the sponsorship of the Marin Music Chest.

This concert will replace the July 22 concert when Christoph Eschenback, pianist, failed to appear for the concert.

COMMUNIST PUSH CONTINUES

A Buddhist statue along Highway One outside Phnom Penh served as an observation post for a Cambodian soldier last week. Since this photo, Communist forces have pushed steadily inward toward troops defending Phnom Penh. Yesterday, in heavy fighting, the communists briefly cut one of the two remaining supply lines into the embattled city, and forced the abandonment of a government radio station near the airport.

Truck Produce Vendors Face Policing In Marin

After a series of flip-flops, Marin County officials decided on Tuesday that they can and should police produce vendors who peddle from the back of their trucks.

The board of supervisors unanimously approved recommendations by William L. Desmond, director of the county health department's environmental control division, that each truck be charged an $8 annual fee and the operator be subjected to county health codes.

If the vendor has a separate storage place to keep the produce he peddles from the truck, the county will charge a $50 fee to finance inspection of the storage facility.

Desmond reported that he, Deputy County Counsel George Sylvestri and Michael Chrystal of the county administrator's staff met last Thursday to review whether a new state law actually had preempted control of the produce trucks. The county should continue in control, Desmond reported, because the state has not yet drafted regulations to enforce its new law.

Board Chairman Arnold M. Baptiste had asked for county action on the produce trucks

The Marin Board Of Supervisors Also:

LAGOON — Voted 3-1 with Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. absent, to grant a partial exemption to the county ordinance requiring fencing of artificial bodies of water, for a proposed lagoon in the Venetia Cove subdivision off North San Pedro Road. Only the end closest to the bicycle path and Gallinas School need be fenced, the board decided.

AUDITORIUM — Approved change orders calling for $30,048 more outlay to pave and extend North Drive around the Marin Veterans Memorial Building to the fairgrounds, and $2,431 to heighten light standards due to repaving of the auditorium parking lot.

ORCHESTRA PICCOLA — Praised the Orchestra Piccola and its conductor Hugo Rinaldi for their recent successful European trip, voted to assist the youth orchestra's "welcome home" concert set for 8 p.m. Sept. 6 in the Marin Veterans Memorial Building. The board transferred $175 from reserves to the auditorium account to pay the rent for the concert and approved another $175 to meet box office and printing expenses.

FURNITURE STORE — Overruled county planning commission denial of plans for a store for the Ethan Allen Furniture Co. chain, on the frontage road just north of the Tiburon Boulevard-Highway 101 intersection.

VERONDA RANCH — Continued to 3 p.m. Sept. 4, a hearing on appeals by Sonoma County and owner Charmaine Veronda against planning commission decisions on her proposed land division.

COUNCIL OAK RANCH — Continued to Aug. 14 the hearing of Worth Bayles's appeal against planning commission denial of a tentative map for a 31-lot subdivision near the Cheese Factory, west of Novato.

DOCKS — Asked the Army Corps of Engineers to extend to Sept. 1 the deadline for public reaction to Gordon Smith's application to build floating docks for 10 homesites alongside Richardson Bay, to allow time for the Strawberry Planning Council to react.

TRAFFIC — Created a no-parking zone on both sides of Douglas Drive for 60 feet southward from its intersection with Edgewood Avenue in the Mill Valley area, to solve traffic hazards. Also prohibited eastbound traffic on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from making left turns into the Circle V stables west of Fairfax.

CLAIMS — Denied a $2.5 million claim by Gordon Lewis Johnson Jr. of 260 Spencer Avenue, Sausalito, who alleged he was beaten up by Marin County Jail deputies May 5 and a $1,002,400 claim by Mark Greving of 49 Valencia Street, San Rafael, for county failure to diagnose rabies in a horse to which Gerving had been exposed.

AIRPORT ACCESS — Postponed one week, action on a proposed resolution asking the state Division of Highways to close the Airport Drive access to Gnoss Field from Highway 101.

OPEN SPACE — Approved formation of the Santa Margarita-Las Gallinas County Service Area No. 18, and declared intention to hold a bond election Nov. 6 to finance purchase of open space land in the area.

AIRPORT USE PANEL — Asked for City of Novato and Marin County Aviation Commission recommendations by Sept. 1 on formation of a state-required airport land use commission, which would have planning jurisdiction for several miles around Gnoss Field. The county administrator's office recommended designation of the county planning commission as the agency. The requirement is creating "a holocaust" of opposition in North Marin, Chairman Arnold M. Baptiste said.

BALANCED TRANSPORTATION — Asked staff to draft new recommendations on composition of the proposed governing board for the regional transit plan, and the advisory panel for the Golden Gate National Recreation Area recreational travel study. Public Works Director Ray W. Foreaker Jr. was designated project director for the planning work.

RICHARDSON BAY — Asked the state Division of Highways to postpone negotiations with a restaurant operator to use the state's surplus five acres at the south end of the Richardson Bay Bridge, to allow negotiation for use of the land for commuter and Golden Gate National Recreation Area tourist parking.

ADJOURNED — To 9 a.m. Aug. 14.

Foe Of Park Taken From Tokyo Hotel

TOKYO (UPI) — A former South Korean presidential candidate was kidnaped from his hotel today according to his friends and Japanese police ordered "precautionary measures" taken at the Tokyo airport to prevent him from being taken out of Japan.

Kim Dae Jung, an opponent of Korean President Park Chung Hee who has been in a self-imposed exile in the United States, had been in Tokyo since late July and was in contact with opponents of President Park.

Kim, 48, opposed Park in South Korea's last direct popular presidential election in 1971. Running under the standard of the opposition New Democratic party, Kim received 5.39 million votes against 6.34 million cast for Park.

An active opponent of Park in the United States and a friend of the missing man, Dr. Channing Liem, said Kim was abducted by five men about 1:30 p.m. (12:30 a.m. EDT) as Kim left a luncheon in a private room. Liem is a professor of political science at the New Paltz, N.Y. campus of the New York State University.

North Ridge Land Purchase Approved

Marin supervisors, acting as directors of the county regional park and open space district moved swiftly Tuesday to acquire the first piece of property for the proposed North Ridge open space area.

Supervisors unanimously voted to buy 33.78 acres of land uphill of Camino Alto, within the City of Mill Valley, at a price of $200,000. The actual county cash outlay will be only $175,000; the seller, Trans-Pac Capital Fund, Inc., owes $25,000 in county taxes which will be written off, according to Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director.

Lawrence John Walters of Greenbrae, representing the seller explained that had the county not bought the land, he would have had to rush before Mill Valley city officials to clear subdivision plans and thus beat the Marin Municipal Water District's Aug. 27 deadline for new water connections.

The seller's appraiser had valued the land at $250,000; county real estate experts recommended the purchase at $200,000.

The Mill Valley City Council already is on record favoring inclusion of the land in the North Ridge open space area, Joske said. He said the city planning commission will be asked to approve the open space plans as a state-required formality, later this month.

Pact Awarded For Runway

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A $3.1 million runway extension contract for San Francisco International Airport was awarded Tuesday by the Airports Commission.

The plan would reduce aircraft takeoffs over South San Francisco, San Bruno and Brisbane and shift approaching planes 1,000 feet further east over San Francisco Bay and away from Daly City.

The project was termed "an important environmental protection" step in the expansion plan for the airport.

Marries Heiress

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Actor Harry Guardino married Revlon cosmetics heiress Jennifer Revson Tuesday at the Little Brown Church of the Valley.

Protest By Fishermen To Pollution

TOKYO (UPI) — Hundreds of fishermen today joined a blockade of chemical plants, demanding more than $67 million in compensation from the plants they claim have polluted their fishing grounds with mercury.

The blockade started Tuesday in western Japan and spread today to the Chiba coastal area east of Tokyo.

An estimated 100 fishing boats formed a blockade around private piers of three chemical firms in separate ports of Chiba at noon, and more than 100 fishermen demonstrated at the gates of the companies.

The movement began Tuesday at Minamata, a city on Kyushu Island in Western Japan, where 500 fishermen blockaded Chisso Corp., a petrochemical firm, demanding $57 million in compensation for their losses caused by the pollution.

Spokesmen for the fishing cooperatives claim that the plants caused huge losses to the fishing industry by dumping mercury wastes into the seas around Japan, contaminating fish which cannot be sold.

Social Economist Picked For Human Rights Panel

Robert Lee Grant, 35, of Tiburon was appointed to the Marin County Human Rights Commission by the county supervisors Tuesday.

Grant is a social economist and management consultant, who also is teaching advanced courses in social research and contemporary black political life at the University of California in Berkeley.

He has been a special assistant to the secretary of the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development for model cities programs, an official for the United Nations Childrens Fund, director of University People to People programs in Sweden and Germany and a California manpower consultant.

Educated at Queens College in New York, the Sorbonne in Paris and in Sweden, he holds a doctorate from the University of Stockholm, and speaks several languages.

Grant, who lives at 139 Barbaree Way in Tiburon, is single.

His appointment fills the vacancy created last week by the resignation of Rev. J. Barton Sarjeant of Sausalito.

Inmate Given Another Term

A San Quentin inmate has been found guilty of possessing a knife in prision and sentenced to at least three additional years in prison.

A Marin Superior Court jury returned the verdict Monday against Charles E. Fryson, 22, and Judge Joseph G. Wilson gave Fryson the prison term.

Fryson was serving a five-year-to-life sentence at San Quentin for a second degree murder conviction in Los Angeles when he was caught on March 18 with a hand-made knife, an 11-inch steel rod sharpened to a point.

Wilson ordered Fryson's new term to begin after his current one ends.

More Gas Stations Operating Normally

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than half the gasoline stations surveyed by the American Automobile Association were operating normally this week, the AAA reported Tuesday.

The AAA said 53 per cent of the stations reported normal operations, the best showing of the summer and four percentage points higher than the previous week.

City, Police Sued Over Youth's Death

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — Relatives of a 23-year-old man shot to death by policemen have filed a $1.2 million damage claim against the city and two of its police officers.

The action filed Tuesday concerned the death of Mario Romero, of Riverside, who was shot as he ran from officers attempting to arrest him on marijuana charges. Romero was unarmed at the time and had an arm in a cast.

Lockyer Doesn't Avoid A Runoff

OAKLAND (UPI) — Bill Lockyer polled almost half the votes Tuesday but still will have to win a runoff election to succeed the late Robert W. Crown as 14th District assemblyman.

With all 202 precincts counted, Lockyer won 12,798 of the 28,835 votes cast. If he had won 1,620 more, he would have had a majority and would have escaped the runoff.

The Democrat will face William M. McCall, the only Republican candidate, and Robert Evans, the only Peace and Freedom Party candidate. All the other candidates in the primary were Democrats.

Limited Agreement On Merger Talks

CAIRO (UPI) — Four days of high-level negotiations in Tripoli on terms of the projected merger of Libya and Egypt have achieved only a limited measure of agreement, Egyptian political sources said today.

The sources said Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy have scheduled another meeting for the third week of July to try to iron out remaining differences. They did not know whether the meeting would be in Cairo or Tripoli.

Computer Purchase Set For County Library Use

A computer, by sometime in 1975, will cut off Marin County Library privileges for those tardy in returning books.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday approved a $181,260 library computerization program asked by County Librarian Bruce D. Bajema.

The electronic brain to be bought from Computer Library Services Inc. of Wellesley Hills, Mass., will do so many chores it will eliminate 2.5 persons on the staff and save at least $8,000 a year operating costs, even after the annual $38,000 installment payment on the computer, Bajema predicted.

The gadget will maintain a detailed inventory, mail notices to patrons who request books, notify tardy book-returners and forbid them to check out more books, and tell a patron instantly when a book is available at another branch.

Bajema said he will invite San Rafael, Mill Valley, Sausalito, San Anselmo and Larkspur to participate in use of the mechanical librarian.

Vandals Chop Up A Golf Course

BERKELEY (UPI) — All 18 greens of the Tilden Park golf course in the Berkeley hills were chopped up by vandals Tuesday, putting the East Bay Regional Park district course out of commission.

Damge was estimated at between $7,000 and $27,000 by golf course superintendent Marv King.

The putting greens were carved up and neatly dug cuts near the clubhouse had formed words in five foot letters reading: "The Hellfire Club."

The Robbs Move

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Mrs. Lynda Bird Johnson, daughter of the late President Lyndon Johnson, and her husband Charles have moved into a four-bedroom home.

Human Pack-Animal Custom Attacked

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — Labor Minister Pedro Sala said Tuesday he will try to end a custom in Peruvian mountain areas of using humans as pack animals.

The custom is hundreds of years old and persists chiefly because it is cheaper to use humans — often Indians — than mules.

PUP SURVIVES TENEMENT TRAGEDY

New York City Fireman Joseph Shreck carries a brown and white mongrel from the site of an old hotel's collapse that killed two persons and left four missing. Shreck spotted the dog Dino dangling by its lead from a power shovel loaded with debris yesterday, during cleanup of the rubble. The dog had survived 84 hours since the University Hotel, occupied mainly by welfare recipients, collapsed. Dino's owner, Edwin Brown, who also survived, gave the dog to firemen for a mascot. Novato Unified School Trustees Adopt Budget

Novato Unified School District trustees Tuesday night adopted an $11,701,771 budget for fiscal 1973-74, up $110,945 from the $11,590,826 preliminary budget published in advance of the public hearing.

The vote was 6-to-0 with trustee Ronald D. Schenck absent.

Supt. James D. Bunker said that changes in the budget may still result from interpretation of recent legislation, from any decision on salaries to be made by the board and from changes in enrollment resulting from use of Hamilton Air Force Base by the military.

He said that the tax rate would drop somewhere around 30 to 40 cents per $100 assessed valuation from the current $5.13 rate.

Eugene DeBrecht, assistant superintendent in charge of business, pointed out some of the large additions to the budget as $58,343 in teacher aids and books for Sinaloa Junior High School library, $46,969 in teacher retirement and $35,226 in early childhood education. The largest single deduction in the income budget was $45,014 in state textbooks, he said. All together there were 16 changes in the final income budget from the publication budget.

In the expense portion of the budget, $86,603 was added to instruction, $32,670 to fixed charges and the balance to make the $110,949 in miscellaneous expenses.

At the suggestion of Bunker, the board transferred $100,000 from undistributed reserve to the general fund.

The Novato Unified School District board also:

BUILDING — Received no bids to sell $330,000 in bonds to finance an addition to Novato High School's auto shop, but asked staff to call for bids on the job anyway, to be opened Aug. 23, and set a special meeting at 5 p.m., Aug. 24, in the administration building to figure out how to pay for it. It canceled Friday's special meeting on the building program.

STEPS — Approved construction of steps from the parking lot to the baseball field at San Marin High School to cost no more than $1,200 and asked for volunteer help from interested persons.

ADULT — Approved offering 60 courses in the adult evening high school for the coming year.

RECORDING — Turned down a proposal to install a special recording device to give school announcements 24 hours a day on a special telephone.

TALENTED — Approved an agreement at $400 per year with the College of Marin to take 40 students in its talented students program starting Oct. 1.

PERSONNEL — Accepted the resignation of Judith Gondola from San Marin High School and hired James Naugle for the same school; granted disability retirement to Eilleen Johnston and William Washburn, and granted a one-year leave to Kathleen Ecker, Hamilton School.

MARION SCHOOL — Trustee Betty Machado reported receiving a letter from Pierre W. Joske, Marin County Parks and Recreation director, suggesting that the Novato Unified School District convey the playgrounds of Marion School along Grant Avenue to the City of Novato to be used as open space.

CLOSED — Heard Trustee Machado state that she would not attend closed meetings on salary negotiations as she felt that it violated the preamble of the Ralph M. Brown Act. The remaining trustees went into closed session to instruct negotiators in salary negotiations.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to regular meeting at 8 p.m., Aug. 21, at the Novato High School lecture hall.

Hearing Set In Saddle Shop Case

A San Rafael man joined two other persons Tuesday in denying involvement in the theft of $2,270 worth of goods from the Taveggia-Brusati Sport and Saddle Shop in San Rafael.

A preliminary hearing for Richard James Giakovmis, 19, was set for Tuesday by Municipal Judge Gary W. Thomas.

He is charged with burglary, concealing stolen property, possessing a hypodermic needle and a misdemeanor count of credit card forgery.

Preliminary hearings for two others who have pleaded innocent involvement in the burglary also have been set. Mynelle Glenny Griswold, 19, of San Rafael, will appear in court Tuesday, while Moelin Smith, 27, of Marin City, will have a hearing Thursday.

The three are said to have stolen guns, knives and leather jackets, pants and boots from the shop on June 3. San Rafael police said Giakovmis had in his possession a leather belt, four tape recorders, a copying machine, two hypodermic needles and other narcotics paraphernalia when arrested last Wednesday.

Nevadan Moves To Tax Free Drinks

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — The Nevada Tax Commission wants to make sure it collects tax on every cherry, olive or lemon twist served in drinks by gambling casinos.

Jack Sheehan, executive secretary of the commission, proposed a rule Tuesday that the use tax apply to all items involved in complimentary drinks and meals given away by gambling clubs. Final action on the proposal was postponed.

ARTHUR A. CHARTOCK
Makes commission bid

Applicant Wants Quiet Preserved

(One of a series of stories on applicants for a vacant seat on the Fairfax Planning Commission)

Arthur A. Chartock is seeking appointment to the Fairfax Planning Commission because he wants to preserve the town's "quiet, countrylike atmosphere."

Chartock, who moved to the town from Berkeley seven months ago, is one of two applicants for a vacancy on the commission created by the resignation of Gloria Duncan. Deadline for filing applications is 5 p.m., Sept. 3, in town hall, according to the town administration.

The 33-year-old Chartock, who received master's honors in architecture from the University of Oregon, is a member of the Chang Partnership, a Berkeley architectural and planning firm.

Chartock cited his planning job as an asset, but noted he has not lived in the town long enough "to become familiar with the various controversies." He said he was unfamiliar with the Canon Village and Tennis Club development, the history of Max Freidman's Marin Town and Country Club property, and has not yet read the report of the Citizens' Committee For Review of the Fairfax General Plan.

In addition, he said he is not acquainted with the town's political personalijies.

He said he is seeking appointment to the commission because of a genuine interest in the city and because a commission seat will help in his personal development as a planner.

He said he wants to keep the downtown area "contained," opposes widening Center or Sir Francis Drake boulevards, and supports conversion of the Fairfax Parkade into a landscaped park and parking lot.

"I want to preserve Fairfax's rural atmosphere," he said.

San Rafael Man Is Ruled Insane

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — San Rafael mechanic Lawrence Charles Brown, 35, has been ruled insane by a San Francisco Superior Court Judge, and a murder charge against him has been dropped.

Judge S. Lee Vavuris committed Brown to the Atascadero State Mental Institution after a court psychiatrist, Dr. Dean Cook, Monday said tests showed Brown to be insane.

Brown, of 3550 Redwood Highway, was accused of shooting 47-year-old Harold Mayfield to death outside the Rattlers Motorcycle Club on Ellis Street April 5.

Dropped along with the murder count was a charged of being a felon carrying a gun.

Streptococcus Still Tops Disease List

With 49 cases reported last week, streptococcus infection was again the most prevalent communicable disease in Marin County, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

There were 35 cases of gonorrhea, three of infectious hepatitis and one each of syphillis and tuberculosis.

SOLUTION TO MEAT SHORTAGE

The Kenneth Ryan family of Quincy in Plumas County has solved the meat shortage — temporarily that is. Ryan's son, Glenn, had something to shout about yesterday as his father pulled up this 53-pound striped bass off Hough's Neck section of the city.

Shelter Hill House Plan In Trouble

Design of the Shelter Hill low and moderate income housing development was rejected Tuesday night by the Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee on the grounds that it requires too much walking up and down stairs for family living.

According to Robert J. Hanna, associate planner, the design includes 72 units in 12 buildings, each with about five flights of stairs.

The development which would be just below Shelter Ridge off Highway 101 now will either have to be redesigned or its sponsors will have to appeal the decision to the planning commission.

It is sponsored by the Interfaith Housing Foundation, a group of Mill Valley churches, which expects to receive a federally subsidized housing loan.

Hanna said the committee also complained that an emergency access road below the project might end up being used as a parking spot for residents unless it was redesigned.

Also Tuesday night, the committee approved landscaping and working drawings for the Richardson Bay apartments. Developer Sanford Diller plans to build this 180-unit complex behind the Shelter Bay apartments on Richardson Bay.

Runaway Is Sought In San Rafael

The mother of a missing Marin girl, Cindy Long, 16, has come to California seeking her daughter and is asking the girl to contact her.

Miss Long, who ran away from a foster home about a month ago, has been reported seen in San Rafael. She is described as having long, light brown hair, blue eyes and about 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighing 145 pounds.

Her mother, Janice Lee Long, said she has not seen her daughter in five years and wants her to contact her at the grandmother's home, Mrs. Les Jarvis, in San Lorenzo.

Fairfax Schools' Budget, Tax Rate Both Increase

The Fairfax School District board Tuesday night adopted a $1,334,188 budget for 1973-74, up $52,884 from last fiscal year's $1,281,304 spending program.

The budget, which includes funds for pay increases for district employees, is expected to require a tax rate of $4.19 per $100 of assessed valuation, up 35 cents from last fiscal year's $3.84 rate.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond, who had once predicted the district would be required to levy a $4.72 tax rate, said the actual rate will be lower because a trailer bill to SB 90, the state tax shift and school finance law, will pump more money into the district.

Hammond said the budget includes funds for district bus transportation, which had been originally cut from the proposal.

The budget provides for the equivalent of 69.3 full-time employees and is based on estimated enrollment next fall of 970 pupils, 20 less than last fall.

Hammond, who described the spending program as "adequate," said no resident appeared at the meeting for the budget hearing.

The Fairfax School District board also:

INSURANCE — Said the district will retain its current insurance program, but may consider a new program next year.

WHITE HILL — Accepted the resignaion of Elaine Lannert, secretary at White Hill School, and called for applications for a replacement.

ADMINISTRATOR — Appointed Miriam Zellers of 192 Tamalpais Road as assistant to the principal at Deer Park and Central schools, a position that pays $8,124 annually.

PORTABLE — Said the county will pay the district $1,800 for maintenance of a jointly-used portable classroom at White Hill School.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Noted summer school enrollment was 264 pupils, down from 311 last year.

MEET — Said trustees will meet with the inservice steering committee at 8 p.m. Sept. 5 in White Hill School.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:45 p.m. Aug. 21 in White Hill School.

Panther Ruled Sane By Judge

OAKLAND (UPI) — Jurors took three hours Tuesday to decide that a former Black Panther Party voter registrar was sane when he killed a 59-year-old pensioner.

The same jury the day before had convicted Harold Holmes, 24, in the shooting of Anthony Costa on Feb. 17.

Judge Harold Hove said he would pronounce sentence this month.

Public Hearing Set For Sewer Charge

Mill Valley's sewer service charge will be the subject of a public hearing before the city council tonight at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Following the hearing the council will determine whether the sewer charge it adopted in June is to be placed on the tax rolls this fall, according to City Mgr. William H. Cunningham.

State law requires a public hearing when a lien is placed on property, he said, but it could not be held until the city had filed a complete list of the charges for individual parcels.

The charge would cost the average single family home owner $3.40 a month.

An apartment building would be charged $3.40 a month for its first unit and $2.50 each for all others. A commercial building would pay $3.40 for its first 500 square feet of space and $1.75 for each additional 500 square feet. Bars, service stations and restaurants would pay higher rates.

The charges would raise about $220,000 annually which the city plans to use to upgrade sewer lines.

Although a rather stiff-looking Sammy Davis Jr. seems to be getting evicted from the premises, that's not really the case. That's a wax likeness of Sammy and yesterday it was being placed at the newly opened Waxlife USA Museum in Lake George, N.Y., by Bob Vorreyer, art director.

Developers Can Build Until Appeal Heard

The Sonoma Superior Court Tuesday handed the developer of the controversial 1,600-home Bodega Bay subdivision a temporary victory.

Judge Lincoln F. Mahan ordered a stay of all suits aimed at halting construction until after the state coastal commission rules on September 5 whether to exempt the property from Proposition 20 permit requirements.

At that time, the state commission will have before it the developer's appeal of the North Central Coast Regional Conservation Commission's refusal to exempt it.

The regional commission, under temporary order by Sonoma Superior Court Judge John H. Moskowitz to do nothing to prevent Transcentury Properties from proceeding with development, had asked Judge Mahan for permission to sue to halt development until the state commission acts.

Judge Mahan said his decision was based on the principle that existing administrative remedies should be exhausted before seeking court remedy.

If the state commission sustains the regional commission and denies an exemption, he said the developer will then have to return to court to get permission to continue.

(The state coastal commission has never overruled a regional commission's denial of an exemption or a permit.)

He said that court appeal from Transcentury, if it is denied an exemption, would have to demonstrate that it has a "vested interest" in continuing — that it had progressed a significant distance in beginning construction and gathering permits, and that its actions were "in good faith."

Left unclear is the status of a hearing set for Thursday in Santa Clara County Superior Court to consider issuance of a permanent injunction against Transcentury.

Judge Paul T. Gallagher of Santa Clara had previously issued a temporary restraining order at the request of the citizen group Coastal Alliance.

He vacated that order on learning that Transcentury had obtained an order, preceding his by a few hours, from Sonoma County Superior Court temporarily barring action against its construction.

For Today's Woman

By Carol Drake
Food Consultant

If you're eating a lot of rice at your house, it makes good sense! Rice is an ideal extender for meat, cheese and seafood dishes. Because of its bland flavor, rice is a perfect accompaniment for many exotic dishes. An excellent source of carbohydrates, rice is also an important source of iron and B-complex vitamins. Low in sodium and cholesterol content, rice has only a trace of fat. Its low fiber content makes rice 98% digestible. So you see while you're using rice to help reduce food costs, you're also providing valuable nutrients for your family.

If you cook extra portions of meals for future use, remember that rice freezes very well. Because it comes in many different forms, take time to read package instructions and decide which is best for your needs. Last night, I browned thin-cut round steak in a little hot oil, added salt, pepper, dehydrated vegetable flakes and onion flakes, along with a little white wine and just enough water to cover. When almost done, mushrooms were added. Served over instant rice with a tossed green salad, the meal was well received. Last week, rice-raisin pudding was on our menu . . . my gang loves this old-fashioned dessert served with Lucerne Half and Half!

At Mayfair
You save more on food

Uncle Sam helps us prove that at Mayfair last week food cost less than at 8 other top chains.

Again last week, we compared food prices with the major supermarkets in this area.

"Specials", "total discount", and most other kinds of prices were compared. In this survey of July 21 to August 1, Mayfair's overall food prices were lower than eight other top supermarket chains'.

To try to be fair, the comparisons were again with Uncle Sam's list, the same full list of items that the U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, uses every month to measure food prices as part of the cost of living.

These comparisons show you could have saved from $1.13 to $5.95 on the some $50 worth of basic foods in this list.

With the high cost of living these days, really, can you afford not to buy your food at Mayfair?

COOKBOOK PREPARED

Police Wives Share Some Recipes

Favorite recipes of San Rafael policemen are included in a cookbook compiled by members of the San Rafael Police Wives Association.

Profits from the sale of the cookbooks will go toward police academy scholarships, which members hope to increase to $500 next year. Ramona O'Brien of San Rafael is chairman of the sale. Books are available from members of the association, who may be reached through the San Rafael Police Department.

Some of the recipes:

WATERCRESS SOUP

2 bunches watercress
2 thick slices onion
1 (3-inch) piece celery
1 tbsp. cornstarch
1 tbsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
3 cups chicken bouillon
1 large can evaporated milk
2 tbsp. butter

Remove leaves from stems of cress. Place leaves, onions, celery, cornstarch, sugar, salt and two cups bouillon in blender until smooth. Place in saucepan and add remaining cup bouillon. Bring to boil. Reduce heat, cook for 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Add evaporated milk and butter, and simmer for five minutes. Serves six.

ARTICHOKE FRITATA

4 eggs
6 soda crackers, crushed
½ lb. sharp Cheddar cheese, grated
2 jars marinated artichoke hearts, chopped
½ onion, chopped fine
Salt and pepper

Saute onion in a little oil from artichokes. Beat eggs and add other ingredients, one at a time. Grease 8x8 inch square pan, or any other pan which will accommodate recipe. Spread batter in pan and bake at 325 degrees for 35 to 45 minutes. Drain any excess oil after removing from oven. Cut into serving pieces. Serve warm or cold. May be frozen and reheated at above temperature for 30 minutes to one hour.

AMORTAJADA FISH POTPOURRI

2 lb. rock fish (rock cod, bass or red snapper)
½ cup prepared pancake mix
2 Tbsp. salad oil
2 med. onions
2 green peppers, seeded and cut in rings
2 stalks celery
3 tomatoes, peeled and cut in quarters
1 clove garlic
1 tsp. salt
Dash pepper
3 (8 oz.) cans tomato sauce
2 Tbsp. lime juice
½ tsp. liquid hot pepper seasoning

Shake fish, a few fillets at a time, in a bag with pancake mix; shake off excess. Heat oil in Dutch oven over medium heat; put in as many fillets at a time as fit without crowding, and saute until browned on both sides. Set aside. Add oil as needed to brown remaining fillets.

When all fish is brown, return to pan and put onion, green pepper, celery, tomatoes and garlic over the top. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and pour over tomato sauce, lime juice and hot pepper seasoning. Cover and simmer over very low heat 20 to 30 minutes, or until fish flakes easily. Serves eight.

SPINACH CASSEROLE

3 pkg. frozen chopped spinach
½ pt. sour cream
1 (1½ oz.) pkg. onion soup mix
½ tsp. salt
Canned fried onions

Cook spinach in boiling, salted water; drain. Turn into blender sour cream, soup mix and salt until smooth. Mix with spinach and turn into greased casserole. Bake in 325-degree oven for 20 minutes. Top with canned fried onions.

TAKING A leaf from the Italian cuisine, this fresh peach cheesecake uses the lower caloried ricotta for the light cake with fruit approach of the Italian dessert.

Ricotta Cheese Is Major Key To This Low Calorie Cheesecake

It is possible to have your cheesecake and eat it too — without the usual zillion calories a slice. This Italian-inspired cheesecake manages the trick nicely thanks to ricotta cheese and fresh peaches.

The use of ricotta, the classic Italian low-fat "cottage cheese," in this cheesecake makes it rich-tasting — but lessens the caloric load considerably. (The cheese is readily available but if you can't find any, just substitute low-fat cottage cheese.) The ripe peaches add their own special juiciness and sweetness. For all the sweetness, a medium-sized fresh peach has only 38 calories.

ITALIAN FRESH PEACH CHEESECAKE

Cinnamon Crust Crumbs (recipe follows)
4 eggs
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ pounds (3 cups) ricotta cheese, or low-fat cottage cheese, pressed through a fine sieve
1 cup evaporated milk
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated fresh lemon peel
3 fresh California peaches, sliced
Powdered sugar

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Press all but three-quarter cup of the crumbs firmly over botton of a nine-inch spring-form pan. Bake 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on a rack. Meanwhile, in a large mixing bowl, beat eggs until light-colored. Gradually add sugar, beating until mixture is thick and light. Blend in salt and ricotta, then evaporated milk. Add flour, vanilla, lemon juice and lemon peel; mix well.

Pour mixture over cooled crust. Sprinkle reserved crumbs evenly over top. Bake at9350 degrees one hour and 10 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Turn off oven and leave oven door ajar; allow cake to cool in oven for about two hours. Cover cake and chill. At serving time, remove sides of pan. Arrange peaches over top of cake and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Makes 10 servings.

Cinnamon crust crumbs. Whirl in a blender or crush into fine crumbs one package (6 ounces) zwieback. Pour crumbs into a mixing bowl and blend in half cup sugar, half teaspoon cinnamon and one-third cup melted butter.

Temperature, Time Key Canning Tips

Canning halts the spoilage of foods by heating foods in sealed containers. The heat destroys the troublesome organisms, and the sealed containers prevent recontamination of the processed food.

Following the basic canning rules will prevent molds, yeasts and bacteria, that are naturally in the soil, air and on work surfaces, from causing spoilage or illness. Enzymes that cause color, texture and changes in the flavor of uncooked produce and meats are also destroyed.

For canning to be effective the right combination of temperature and time is required. While 212 degrees in a boiling water bath is sufficient to destroy harmful organisms in a high acid food, low acid foods must be processed at 240 degrees to achieve the same results.

Canning requires a water bath canner for high acid foods and a pressure canner for low acid foods. A water bath canner is a large, deep kettle fitted with a rack and a lid. It must be deep enough to allow one or two inches of water to bubble vigorously over the top of the jars during processing. Use the water bath canner when processing fruits, fruit juices, high acid vegetables, such as tomatoes, sauerkraut, pickles or relishes.

A pressure canner is similar to a pressure cooker and consists of a heavy, seamless kettle with a rack and a locking lid with a gasket, pressure gauge and safety valve. The pressure canner is essential for canning foods such as vegetables, meats and fishes.

New Ideas For Zucchini

Zucchini is in season, and those with home gardens are always looking for new ideas for recipes.

Mrs. Robert Kidder of Novato suggests her recipe for zucchini bread-and-butter pickles.

Cut four pounds of unpeeled zucchini into very thin slices, half or quarter the zucchini if large. Peel one pound of onions and slice thinly. Cover the zucchini and onions with water and add one-half cup of salt. Let stand one hour and then drain. Combine with one quart vinegar, two cups sugar, two teaspoons celery seed and bring to boil. Cook three minutes.

Place in sterilized jars and seal. This makes approximately seven to eight pints of pickles.

Mrs. Kidder also suggests that buying the vinegar by the gallon is much cheaper than in smaller containers.

Cooking Ideas For Tongue And Kidneys

More people would probably eat cooked tongue and kidneys at home if they knew how to prepare them well, believes Peggy Hopkins, home economist for the North Bay Division, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Rafael.

Mrs. Hopkins offers some cooking ideas for tongue and stewed kidneys dish using beef or veal to add to the cooking repertory for variety.

JELLIED CALVES' TONGUE

3 fresh tongues
1 small onion, sliced
½ cup diced celery
1 slice lemon
12 peppercorns
½ bay leaf
1 teaspoon salt
1 bouillon cube
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt
Pepper
1 tablespoon gelatine
¼ cup cold water

Scrub the tongues in water; put in a deep kettle with the celery, onion, lemon, peppercorns, bay leaf, and salt. Cover with boiling water; simmer gently until tongues are tender when tested with a fork (about two hours). Remove the tongues from the stock to cool. Strain the stock through wet cheesecloth; measure and concentrate by boiling if necessary until it measures one and one-fourth cups. Dissolve the bouillon cube in the hot stock; add salt and papper if needed.

While the stock is being concentrated, remove the skin, tubes, and connective tissue from the tongues; arrange in a mold. Soak the gelatine in one-fourth cup of cold water for five minutes; dissolve in the boiling stock; pour around the tongues in the mold. Chill until firm. Unmold; garnish with watercress or parsley.

CALF OR LAMB TONGUE WITH VEGETABLES

Select a calf tongue or several lamb tongues. Cover with water, bring to the boiling point, and simmer for about two hours. Drain, remove skin and gristle, and lay the skinned tongue in a large baking dish. In the meantime, cook about one and one-half quarts of sliced vegetables (onion, celery, carrots, potatoes, and green pepper) in about two tablespoons of fat for a few minutes. Season with salt and pepper. Put the vegetables over and around the tongue in the baking dish and add one cup hot water. Cover the baking dish and cook in 375 degree oven for about one hour or until the meat is tender. Make gravy with the drippings.

STEWED KIDNEYS

3 cups veal or beef kidneys
2 bay leaves
½ lemon
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons fat

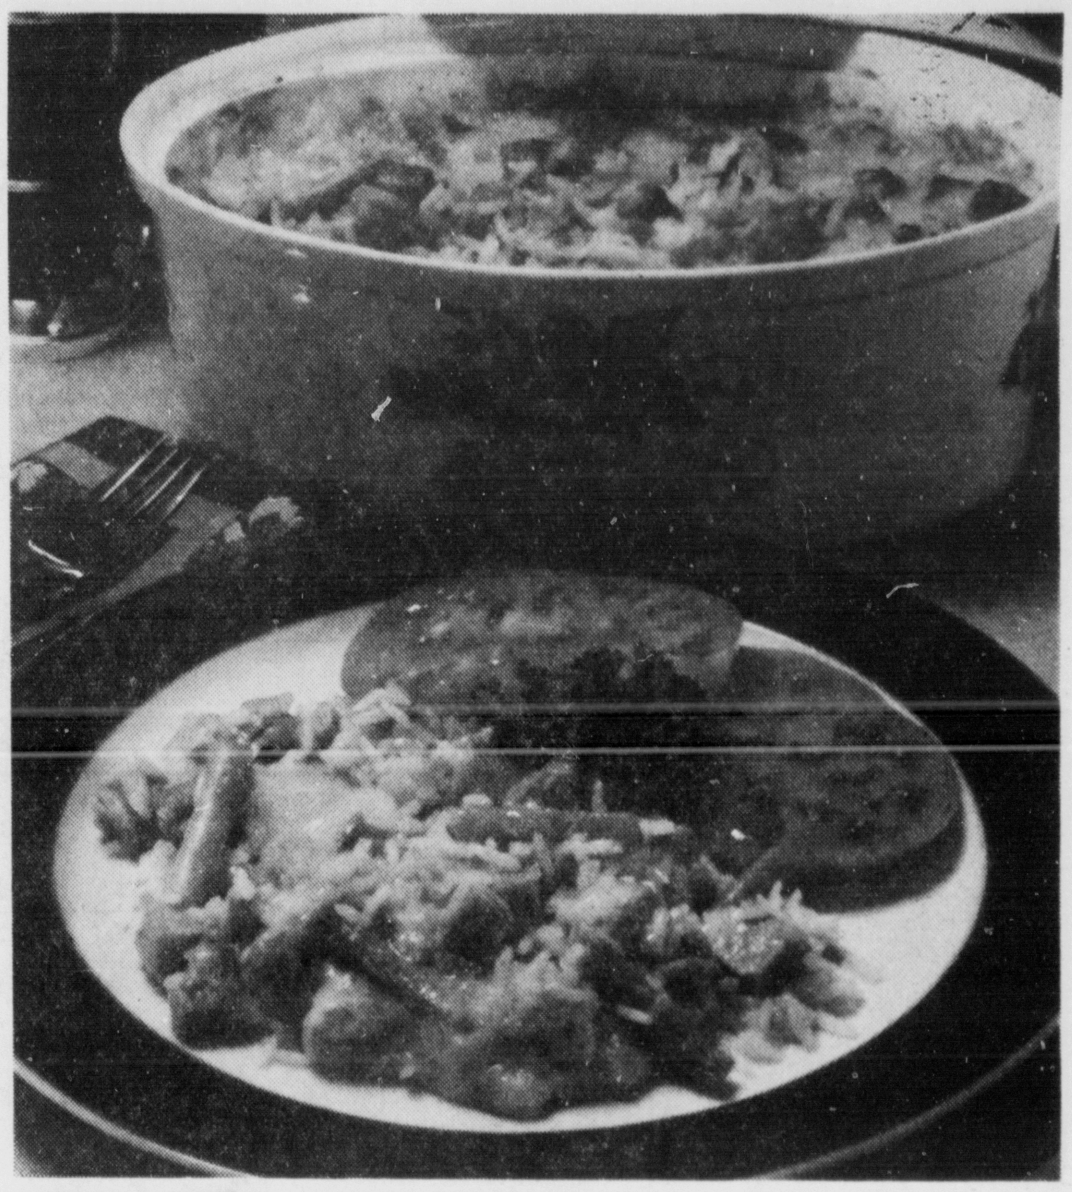
Split the kidneys and cut out the hard, white substances and fat from the center. Wash them well and soak for three or four hours in cold water, changing the water as soon as it becomes

Peaches Can Lend Spice To Barbecues

Fresh California peaches make wonderful, juicy barbecue accompaniments. Just as important for the patio chef, grilled peaches are a cinch to fix: Peel four fresh California peaches (use the easy dip-in-boiling-water method). Roll the peaches in a mixture of brown sugar — about one-thi'd cup — and one-half teaspoon ginger.

Thread on a skewer and grill until the sugar carmelizes. Served forth with barbequed 'ribs. If you're grilling lamb or chicken, mix curry powder with brown sugar. If it's a steak, try a coriander/brown sugar coating. With these luscious grilled peaches, even those occasional, singed, dried-out barbeque "accidents" can almost pass themselves off as juicy and succulent meat morsels.

(If the grill isn't handy, halve peaches, dip in seasoned sugar mixture of choice and slip under the broiler for a few minutes — watch them carefully so peaches don't burn.)



HERE'S THE casserole for the busy person — green bean casserole. All ingredients except cheddar are in cans, ready to be assembled minutes before baking. The rice can be cooked the day before and kept in the refrigerator to save additional time.

Green Bean Casserole Can Be Whipped Up At The Last Minute

Finally, a recipe with mostly canned ingredients that can be whipped up at the last minute.

Green bean casserole is economical, too.

Since the meat, rice and vegetable are baked together in the casserole, the only other thing you'll need to serve is a salad — sliced tomatoes. But canned peach halves would be equally attractive, and the flavor would go well with the casserole.

All you need is a box of rice and cans of condensed mushroom soup, green beans and luncheon meat. Then onions, seasonings and cheese transform the separate parts into a tasty dinner for six.

Realizing that not all families need a recipe for six servings, a separate recipe for 3 servings is included. It is economical only if the whole casserole is eaten, so just prepare the amount you need. The servings given are generous.

GREEN BEAN CASSEROLE

1 cup finely chopped onions
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (10¾ oz.) condensed cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
2 cups cooked rice
1 can (16 oz.) cut green beans, drained
1 can (12 oz.) diced luncheon meat
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon liquid pepper sauce
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese

Saute onions in butter until soft but not brown. Stir in soup; heat about two minutes. Add rice, beans, luncheon meat, and seasonings. Turn into a buttered shallow two-quart casserole. Top with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Makes six servings.

There Are Ways These Days To Make Costly Meat Stretch

Satisfying your family's meat hunger isn't easy these days. Shortages in the meat case and high prices will dictate restraint in meat buying. But, you don't have to go meatless to meet your budget.

Here are some ideas from the American Meat Institute to help make a little meat go a long way.

Supplement meat with other protein foods. A smaller portion of meat served with pasta, bread, cheese, milk, eggs, yogurt, cottage cheese or cooked legumes will provide enough nutrients to meet the daily requirements of each member of the family. The following list of foods in the quantities given supply the same amount of protein as one ounce of meat:

- 3 slices of bread
- 1½ cups cooked rice
- 1½ cups cooked oatmeal
- 1 cup cooked pasta
- ½ cup all purpose flour
- 2 tablespoons peanut butter
- ¼ cup cashews, walnuts, almonds
- ¼ cup pumpkin, sesame or sunflower seeds
- 3 tablespoons creamed cottage cheese
- 1 ounce of cheese
- ⅔ cup milk
- ⅔ cup yogurt
- 1 egg
- ⅓ ½ cup cooked beans or peas

COOK ALL meat at low temperatures (300 to 325 degrees Fahrenheit). Meats cooked at low temperatures shrink less, are more tender, and have more flavor than meats cooked at high temperatures.

Become familiar with a variety of sauces and gravies which can be served with meats. They are easy to make and inexpensive when made from the pan drippings of cooked meats.

Experiment with spices and seasonings which can enhance the flavor of combination foods or meats served with a sauce or gravy. Most of the great flavor makers — garlic, mustard, Worcestershire, chili, catsup, horseradish, herbs, and spices — are relatively low in cost and quick to use.

Do not overlook the use of vegetables as meat stretchers. Fresh, frozen or canned vegetables added to a sauce or gravy will add flavor, texture and vitamins.

ALONG WITH bread crumbs, rice or oatmeal, add tomatoes, green peppers, celery, grated carrots and potatoes, drained bean sprouts, chopped string beans or cubed eggplant the next time you prepare a meat loaf or meat patties.

Learning to plan meals with less meat is not easy and requires more shopping and preparation time. Casseroles, meat loaves, and sausage and vegetable combination dishes offer the most satisfying solution for making a little meat go a long way.

SONOMA SANDWICHES are the product of carved out Gravenstein apples in the market now. The filled apples are wrapped for the picnic basket ready for a bicycle excursion.

Juicy Item For Picnics On Bicycles

It's the new season for Gravensteins, the mildly tart and sprightly apples known and loved by Californians — with good reason.

For a bicycle picnic, very much "in" right now, Sonoma sandwiches are perfect — easy to make, easy to carry, crunchily refreshing and delightful to the taste. Excellent, too, for a new way to serve an apple and cheese dessert, for the lunchbox, or for a snack any time of day.

SONOMA SANDWICHES

- 4 medium Gravenstein apples
- 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened
- ½ cup crunchy-style peanut butter, divided
- 1 can (2¼ ounces) deviled ham

Cut out two one-inch wedges from opposite sides of apples, being careful to keep core intact. In small bowl, combine cream cheese with ¼ cup of the peanut butter. Fill two apples with this mixture. Combine deviled ham with remaining peanut butter; fill other two apples. Wrap each apple in clear plastic wrap. Makes four apple sandwiches.

Filling variations:

Blend 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese with any one of the following:

- 2 tablespoons chopped nuts
- 2 tablespoons flaked coconut
- 3 tablespoons Cheddar cheese spread
- 1 or 2 tablespoons chopped crystallized ginger

cloudy. Then put the kidneys into a pan, add enough cold water to cover them and heat slowly. When just at the boiling-point, pour off the hot water and again just cover them with cold water, once more heating slowly and again changing the water when hot. Change the water in this way three times, then simmer (20 minutes for small kidneys; 40 minutes for a beef kidney.) Set away to cool. If the stew is to be used for a breakfast dish, this preliminary cooking must be done the day before.

U.S. Weddings Fuel $7 Billion Industry

By DUSTON HARVEY

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Weddings in this country have "more to do with materialism, romanticism and ritual in American life than with marriage."

They produce scenes of outlandish vulgarity, conspicuous consumption and dehumanizing greed, fuel a $7 billion a year industry replete with kickbacks, and show a stubborn resistance to the swirls of social change, says the author of a new book on the subject.

For instance:

A Beverly Hills tobacco czar spent $150,000 on flowers to convert his estate into a southern plantation for his daughter's wedding by gluing millions of magnolia blossoms to elm trees.

—Mashed potatoes at a Los Angeles wedding dinner and the family poodle were both dyed pink to match the bridesmaids' dresses.

—A Pasadena bride's mother had a church painted yellow to match the color scheme for the ceremony, then repainted green the next day.

—A HOUSTON bride attended 30 prenuptial parties, received $30,000 in gifts from 750 invited guests, her mother organized a card catalog system to keep track of the offerings, hired police to guard them and conducted tours for the neighbors.

—Caterers, band leaders, clothiers, florists and photographers in the wedding usiness agreed costs could be reduced 20 per cent if kickbacks were eliminated.

—Despite the media's attention to the so-called "New Wedding," 80 per cent of first marriages are formal, seven of eight take place in church or synagogue, 96 per cent have a reception, and 84.5 per cent of brides wear formal gowns, most chosen to make her look "like a fairy princess."

The views on American weddings came from Marcia Seligson, an unmarried "rabid feminist" from Los Angeles whose peek behind the bridal veil was published as "The Eternal Bliss Machine: America's Way of Wedding."

"I think vulgarity is funny, not important," she said in a recent interview. "Pink poodles and potatoes and dancing horses and chopped liver shaped into cruise ships are funny.

"BUT WHAT does offend me is dehumanization — when it becomes really clear that the wedding has nothing to do with the relationship between two people, but has to do with things ... with the worst excesses of the American dream come true. That really frightens me."

The most surprising thing — "only to people on the coasts; no one in Middle America is surprised" —was that weddings haven't changed at all in the past century despite well-published nuptials in bizarre places, with self-written vows and untraditional garb.

"The fact is that we Americans are getting married almost precisely as we did a hundred years ago" —the same long, white gowns, the same vows, champagne and cake, rice and honeymoons.

"One of the things I learned about was ritual in our lives — the importance of repeated observances as one of the fortresses against internal rumblings in society," she said.

SHE ALSO found most Americans spend too much on weddings because they "want to do it right" and are so insecure they let caterers, banquet managers and wedding consultants take over and run up the bills. Both the working and middle classes spend more on average for their daughters' nuptials than the "upper crust," Ms. Seligson contended.

She didn't want to prophesy, but predicted women's lib would have long-term effects on both weddings and marriage.

"Traditional monogamous marriage is not here to stay," she suggested.

"I certainly would not like to see weddings done away with, but they should be more about the people involved, about real values, and not an excuse for outlandish proofs of status and displays of vulgarity," she said, admitting that some of the ceremonies she attended brought tears to her eyes.

But Ms. Seligson, a reporter and former book publicist, didn't think her descriptions of wedding foibles would have the desired effect.

"What I really think it will do is push people to even greater heights of vulgarity," she predicted. "They'll use it as a guidebook —and every poodle in the United States will be dyed pink and purple."

Shirtdresses Are Dazzled Up

Full length shirtdresses in both one and two piece styles are getting new and dazzling treatment for dress-up. Women's Wear Daily reports that the styles are in stripes and diamond patterned satin jacquards.

One style is blouson with buttons up the front and a drawstring waist. A two piece dress is formed in another by a long belted shirt over a matching pleated skirt.

Fischel-Yi Rite Held In San Anselmo

The first Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo was the setting for the wedding Saturday of Yang Cha Yi of San Francisco and Peter D. Fischel of Tiburon.

Maid of honor for the bride was Soon Young Oh of San Francisco and the best man was Nick Shehadi of San Jose. Klaus P. Rose of Los Altos was the usher.

A reception followed at the church and the couple left on their wedding trip to Santa Cruz. They will live in San Francisco.

The bride, daughter of the late Jung Jik and Bok Nim Yi, is a graduate of Inchon Girls' High School in Inchon, Korea, and is employed by Stauffer Chemical Co., in San Francisco.

She is the sister of five sisters, Chin Ho Lee, Jin Suk Im and Yu Suk Cho, all of San Francisco, Ki Suk Schnell of Fort Knox, Ky., and a brother, Chong Han Yi of Seoul, Korea.

Peter is the son of Mrs. Greta Fischel of San Anselmo. He was graduated from Taft Union High School in Taft and the University of California at Berkeley. He is assistant district manager for Equitable Life Assurance Society in San Francisco.

Retiring FTC Commissioner Says Agency Equal To New Challenge

By LUCIA MOUAT
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Advertising claims are fast growing more subtle — implying you'll look better, be happier and lead a richer life if you use Brand X.

As ad appeals become less direct, depending to a greater degree on individual perception, the job of pinpointing deception or unfairness becomes tougher.

However, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), which has the prime federal responsibility for advertising regulation, is more than equal to the new challenge, in the opinion of Mary Gardiner Jones.

This graduate of Wellesley College and Yale Law School is rounding out what amounts to almost a decade of service as one of the five commissioners who head up the FTC. Lively and articulate, she has become well known through her votes on the commission for her strong, sometimes lone, pro-consumer stands.

SHE CONCEDES that during most of her years on the commission (filling out two years of an unexpired term and a seven-year appointment), the federal regulatory agency has focused heavily in its advertising duties on the fairness and truthfulness of very specific claims. For the past year, for instance, the FTC has made it a practice to require certain manufacturers and distributors (of automobiles, tires, air conditioners and the like) to submit substantiation data to back up hard claims with concrete evidence.

Even pinning down the claim itself is sometimes difficult in current advertising. Commissioner Jones asserts that the FTC now must involve itself deeply in the relatively new research field of consumer behavior.

Already the federal agency has two marketing specialists on its advertising staff. Miss Jones, who says she and her colleagues will keep "pushing for a research budget," insists that the agency's expertise must be kept at least on a par with that of the advertising community.

She says, too, that more sophisticated, systematic techniques to monitor ad appeals must be developed. The commission can help, she adds, by mapping out objectives of validity, reliability and the like for such consumer surveys.

As it gets more research in hand, the FTC must, according to Miss Jones, take a sharp, inward look at its own procedures from beginning to end in advertising regulation.

Describing herself as "a process person — I like to see procedures get into operation," Commissioner Jones says flatly that the FTC "has not yet made any progress in the planning area." Stressing the importance of setting priorities, she says the commission must develop a framework for determining which categories and techniques of advertising have the greatest potential for influencing consumer behavior and then zero in on these.

MARY GARDINER JONES
FTC commissioner

SHE CONSIDERS it a "disappointing minus" for the commission that consumer input in the process of FTC decision-making has not been more formalized. While informally the input has been "receptive," she says the situation should be structured so that consumers "get the right to force you to listen."

In addition to reexamining its planning and decision making procedures, the commission must take a sharp inward look at the appropriateness of the remedies it recommends, according to Miss Jones.

One relief measure that has the commission's firm support in principle though not often in practice is corrective advertising. Here an advertiser is required to make an affirmative disclosure to offset a past misconception on grounds that the effect of an ad often lingers on in the consumer's mind after the ad itself and the practice in question has stopped.

Miss Jones accuses the commission of "cowardice" in its failure to offer "guidance" as to when it would use this remedy.

"It isn't fair to hold out the threat of corrective advertising and yet not block out the circumstances in which it would be ordered. . .It's sort of like waving a gun and not saying who you're going to shoot."

Commissioner Jones, who admits to an inordinate fondness for the commission despite all her criticism of it, says the FTC must grapple with the question of what informational role advertising should be expected to play.

She admits she is fast coming to the view that advertising must take almost full responsibility in meeting the consumer's need for hard product data. "I see no other consistent source of information that gets to the consumer except advertising," she said.

INFORMATION FROM other sources such as Consumers Union, she says, does not come through with the same power and consists largely of "best buy" information which can vary a great deal according to individual situations.

What is needed, she says, is information on a standardized basis so consumers can compare brands and know the significance of such criteria as cooling capacity of a refrigerator and spin speeds on a washing machine. Many firms, she adds, do well internally in enabling shoppers to compare various models.

While it is probably up to a governmental agency such as the FTC to draft such standards on a cross-company basis, she hopes that business would latch on to the idea as it did with "unit pricing" in food to make it as a "selling tool" for its own benefit.

Looking ahead, she says that in 10 years the marketplace situation may be such that advertising will no longer have to bear such an informational "burden" —"and it is a burden; I have no doubt of that."

Commissioner Jones's term ends in September, and she has accepted a joint teaching position in the schools of law and business at the University of Illinois as of January.

She is currently reviewing the Ralph Nader and American Bar Association critiques of the Federal Trade Commission to see to what extent their soundest recommendations of a few years ago have been "structured" in. To her, that point is all important. Without it, personnel changes could easily force the commission to "sink right back" to where it was before the critiques.

Ask Commissioner Jones, however, how the FTC compares with other federal regulatory agencies in acting on the consumer's behalf and you are apt to draw a rave review. In that context, she says, the FTC has been "a breath of fresh air" and has been "head and shoulders" above the others in terms of being clear as to its mission and keeping the law abreast of changes in the marketplace.

Don't Mix

It is never advisable to mix two or more cleaning products — such as bleaching solutions, ammonia, toilet bowl cleaners, rust removers, oven cleaners, etc. — because such chemical mixtures may interact.

September Wedding Is Planned By Couple

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Hunt of Rockford, Mich., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Jane Hunt of Mountain View, to Lawrence Everett Curfman III of Tiburon.

Elizabeth was graduated from Rockford High School and the University of Michigan. She attended the University of Guadalajara in Mexico and received a master's degree in guidance and counseling from Stanford University.

She is a guidance counselor in the Cambrian School District in San Jose.

Everett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Curfman of Wichita, Kan., and the brother of Mrs. Peter Koch of St. Petersburg, Fla., and John Curfman of Wichita.

The future bridegroom graduated from Wichita East High School, California Institute of Technology. He also is a graduate of Harvard Law School and is a partner in the law firm of Bledsoe, Smith, Cathcart, Johnson and Rogers in San Francisco.

A Sept. 15 wedding at Swedenborgian Church in San Francisco is planned.

Accidents Increase In Summer

It's time to sound a safety alert for families at home, at work and at play, reports the Health Insurance Institute. Accident records show that the rate of fatalities begins to mount in June and continues right through late summer.

While chances of fatal accidents grow smaller each year, over 4 million serious injuries and over 27,000 fatal accidents took place at home during 1971.

Many could obviously have been avoided, as for example, those involving firearms. According to the National Safety Council, half of all firearm deaths took place at home. Accidental poisonings, whose most frequent victims are children below the age of 5, can similarly be avoided through common sense precautions. Safety experts warn that aspirin and petroleum products in particular should be kept out of the reach of children.

The greatest single source of accidental deaths, however, is the automobile. Most frequently involved are young people up to 25 years of age.

On a purely statistical basis it can be shown that chances of being involved in a fatal motor vehicle accident have been dropping over the years, but there has been a steady rise in the actual number of motor vehicle fatalities in the last 15 years.

Here again the precautions to be taken seem obvious. For example, night driving is 2½ times more hazardous than driving during the day. Speeding and drinking are frequently linked with accidents.

While job accidents are still frequent — there were 2.3 million in 1971 — attention to safety has had a decided effect on work accidents. In the past 10 years there has been a substantial drop in the rate of fatalities in most industries.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Woman Wanted To Take Her Life, But Didn't Have Time

DEAR HELEN:

Yes, you do get over pathologically deep depressions. You can even look back and laugh.

I spent a year dreaming of suicide, but I guess I really didn't want death. There was always an excuse for putting off my demise till tomorrow.

Once when I was low, I counted my sleeping pills: Didn't have enough to do the job right. I thought, "Six dollars and twenty-five cents, plus tax, for a new prescription —when I might only need half of them? Wasteful!" So I used the money on my hair, and then I couldn't "go" — not while the set was still in!

Another time I remembered I'd promised to work for a friend who needed the day off. Could I let her down by dying? So. . .next week. . .

Again one night I had enough pills, but I looked at my apartment and saw complete disaster. How awful if people came looking for me and found this terrible mess. I ended up cleaning house and by that time I was out of the mood.

Finally there was the day I decided on the carbon monoxide route. But — "Why waste money?" So I didn't fill up the gas tank. Figured I had enough. You guessed it: I ran out of gas before I ran out of breath.

It was on the long walk home (I'd parked in the country, using a piece of garden hose that wasn't long enough and kept falling out of the exhaust pipe) that I realized those excuses were all based on the future: I was "saving money" —for what, except to use? I wanted people to see my hairdo. I wanted to help a friend. If I were serious about dying, would I worry about a messy apartment? I wasn't "hopeless" as I had thought.

Anyhow, my metabolism, or whatever, gradually changed and, without psychiatric help, I outgrew my depression.

Strangely, I never fully knew what caused it in the first place. . .just one small setback after another until I expected nothing but disappointments. Somebody called it "conditioned helplessness" — the feeling that there's no way out. When I discovered I still had some hope left, I stopped drifting, and here I am, smiling at my former self,and — OVER MY DEPRESSION

DEAR OVER:

Your good letter should offer hope to others in the deep blues — if they aren't so depressed that they can't relate to it.

You've proved again that people DO outgrow depressions even without psychiatric help. Thanks for writing! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Other evening I heard a master of ceremonies introduce a woman of many achievements. He mentioned a few briefly then said what HE considered her outstanding accomplishment — "She's been married 30 years to the same man!" Above all else, he implied, she's a good and loyal wife, serving her master well.

If the same M.C. had introduced her husband, he would never think to include, "And he's been married 30 years to the same woman!" That would be a putdown, for a man. — WHEN WILL THEY EVER LEARN?

DEAR WHEN:

Give them time, and enough reminders, and men — even "masters" of ceremonies — will learn what isn't acceptable to the new woman. It will take awhile — as something new is added every day. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Would you please tell my wife in a way she'll remember that "going home to mother" doesn't solve anything? — LEFT AGAIN

DEAR "LEFT AGAIN'S" WIFE:

Haven't you ever heard the old saying, "Absence makes the heart go WANDER?" There'll come a day when your husband doesn't want a mama's girl any longer. — H.

FIRST YEAR

Own Bed, Room For Baby

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Third of a series on solving problems that most parents face during their baby's first year of life, developed by physicians of the Office of Child Development, Department of Health, Education and Welfare.)

Everybody will get more rest if the baby does not sleep in the parents' room. Especially in the first weeks, his frequent snorts, gurgles, sneezes, coughs and irregular breathing are bound to keep you awake wondering what he will do next.

If he really needs you, he will cry loud enough to be heard from nearly everywhere in the house. Even in the smallest apartment, a crib or makeshift crib can be moved to the living room, kitchen or bathroom when the parents retire for the night.

DON'T PUT him in bed with you, either. There is always a danger of smothering him or hurting him by rolling over on him in your sleep and it is almost certain he will want to become your constant bedfellow. Neither you nor your husband will want to put up with a wiggling, wet baby for very long.

He shouldn't sleep in a strong draft or breeze. He does not need open windows where he sleeps. Air that is fresh enough for him to breathe during the day is fresh enough for him to sleep in.

He will decide for himself how long he wants to sleep — anything from 12 to 20 hours during the 24 hour day. You will not be able to make him sleep any more or less but certainly you can arrange to keep him awake during the times of the day that are most convenient for you, so that he will sleep during the nights and during mornings or afternoon naps.

The baby's first bowel movements are a sticky green-black material. After a week or two, they become lighter and less sticky, the way they will be for the next year. The baby may have anywhere from one movement every three or four days to five or six movements a day.

Movements may be as firm as those of a normal adult or soft. The baby may turn red in the face and cry with each bowel movement or he may seem totally unaware of them. The color of the bowel movements may be yellow, green or brown. All of these are normal.

Constipation exists when the bowel movements are hard, dry and difficult to pass, no matter how frequent or infrequent they may be. Prune juice (1 tablespoon), brown sugar (1 tablespoon) or molasses (1 tablespoon), added to one of his bottles may correct this. If not, your doctor or clinic may suggest a remedy. Do not use mineral oil, castor oil, adult laxatives or enemas without the advice of your doctor.

DIARRHEA EXISTS when the bowel movements contain too much water. Small bowel movements which are milky or watery or odd-colored are rarely of concern and no treatment or diet change is usually necessary. Large, watery bowel movements can cause an infant to lose more water in his bowel movement than he is drinking.

The "dehydration" which results can be a true medical emergency. Even a single huge, explosive, watery bowel movement can be an emergency in an infant one to three months old, especially if there is poor appetite or vomiting. Do not delay in seeking medical attention when there are one or more large watery bowel movements.

Slight blood streaking on the outside of a bowel movement is usually caused by a small sore or fissure in the anus and is not a cause for alarm. The fissure and the bleeding can often be cured by keeping the stools soft with one of the remedies discussed for constipation. If bleeding or hard bowel movements persist, your doctor will be able to help. Do not delay medical attention if there is bloody diarrhea or passage of fresh blood or blood clots with the bowel movements.

Children's Heart Murmurs Found

Eighty-five per cent of Philadelphia school children with heart murmurs are perfectly healthy, according to pediatric cardiologist Dr. Sidney Friedman.

Examining nearly 5,000 medical records Friedman arrived at the conclusion that the children have functional murmurs, a harmless condition and one of the commonest sources of cardiac misdiagnosis among the young.

Heart murmurs are perfectly innocent and very widespread according to the doctor. The condition affects between 30 and 40 per cent of all youngsters between 2 and 12 and often disappears by age 14, he reported.

Bacteria May Hide In Basket

A picnic basket may be hiding bacteria causing food poisoning. The most common cause of food poisoning is staphylococcic bacteria. Staph germs are likely to be found in starchy foods and sweets such as potatoes, cream pies and custards. Salmonella, another bacteria that can cause food poisoning, may be present in poultry, eggs, meat, potato salads and other foods when they are not refrigerated properly.

Staph poisoning can hit in as short a time as two hours, and salmonella poisoning develops between seven and seventy-two hours.

Suit Groups

The Bianco line for Paoli includes a whole group of three and four piece suits, some with skirts, others with pants.

Unisex Look Is Big This Year For School

For back to school what's strong this year, the unisex look.

In the big mail order house books, at least, for boys and girls what's being promoted is: pants and jackets and sweaters, and pant tops in a variety of colors, styling and novelty knits.

Even the girls, to make the look complete, are shown with floppy bow ties on their man-tailored shirts.

Santa Cruz Killer Upset San Rafael Congregation

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) — Herbert W. Mullin engaged in bizarre behavior prior to his admitted "sacrificial" killing of at least 10 persons, friends and relatives testified Tuesday.

Paul Kohman, a cabinet maker and high school friend of the 26-year-old suspect, said Mullin was "a charming and dynamic person before he started taking drugs. Everybody loved him."

Edward Lawrence, a five-year acquaintance of Mullin, said the two of them once visited a Catholic church in San Rafael and during a service, Mullin got up and started walking about—first talking to a statue and then addressing the congregation, saying, "What you are doing here is wrong."

"We were bodily carried out of the church," said Lawrence. "People were yelling, 'Call the police!'"

The defense is trying to prove he was insane. Mullin is charged with killing 10 persons during a three-week period last January. He told police he killed his victims to prevent a "catastrophic earthquake."

Mullin was given psychiatric care at Mendocino State Hospital in 1969 after his sister, Pat Bocca of Sebastopol, had him admitted following a dinner at which Mullin mimicked her husband for four hours.

Previous to that, she testified Mullin had visited her in Sebastopol several times—once as a "Ho Chi Minh-type" with a shaved head and bulky green robe—and another time as a "Chicano wearing a wide brimmed black hat and speaking with a very heavy Spanish accent."

"He wasn't frightening. He was very sweet and very gentle, very much the pacifist," she said. "I didn't feel uncomfortable with him. If he wanted to speak in a Spanish accent, I didn't question him."

Mullin's uncle, Enos Fuourat, said the suspect came to his home last year in Carmel speaking with a Brooklyn accent and saying he was going to join the Coast Guard so he could fulfill his life-long ambition of swimming the English Channel.

Petaluma Board Sets Two Budgets

The Petaluma Board of Education adopted record budgets for its high school and elementary districts Tuesday, but said the tax rates could still decrease significantly.

The board approved a 1973-74 high school district budget of $7,646,428, an increase of $1,150,096 over last year's and a $3,100,539 elementary district budget, up $606,688 from 1972-73.

George W. Castleberry, assistant superintendent, said the high school district tax rate of $2.86 per $100 assessed valuation could drop by 80 or 90 cents, depending on how much assessed valuation in the district has risen.

He said the current elementary district tax rate of $2.46 should drop by approximately 10 cents because of higher assessed valuation.

He said the elementary district's tax rate decrease will be smaller because the board is shifting more costs for seventh and eighth grades from the high school to the elementary district.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

BUS — Approved purchase of 79-passenger school bus from Gillig Bros. for $34,980.

AIDE — Told parents who requested a teacher's aide for special education classes at Kenilworth Junior High School that funds are not available.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignation of Angela Agius, a teacher at Valley Vista School since 1945 and the resignations of teachers M. Elaine Gillespie, Howard Nakagawa, Gary B. Walker and Renate Zscheye.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired teacher Marie Martin at a salary of $8,700 per year.

MEETING — Agreed to schedule a special meeting sometime next week to discuss financing and the year-round school plan. The next regular board meeting will be Sept. 11 at 7 p.m. at the administration building.

Record School Budget Passed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Board of Education approved a record $154 million budget Tuesday for the 1974-75 fiscal year, $10 million more than for the previous year.

The new tax rate will be $4.025 per $100 in assessed property valuation, compared with $4.03 the year before.

State and federal aid plus an unexpected $8.7 million year-end surplus accounted for the tax reduction.

Costume Designer Meeting Deadline

By FRED STREBEIGH

"I'd decided 'I can't do this for a living — it's too competitive.' But that's what I wanted to do, and now I'm in it for a career."

Ann Pfeiffer's new career as a costume designer will be on the line Friday, when the Inverness Music Festival's production of Mozart's opera "The Marriage of Figaro" has a full dress rehearsal on the outdoor stage at St. Columba's Church.

And if the costumes aren't ready? "What I lose," she said, "is my head."

Sipping coffee to stave off a nagging cold and to contain her exhaustion, the first-year College of Marin theater student told how she came to land her first big job.

While still involved in assisting with costume for the College of Marin productions, "The Fantasticks" and "Inherit the Wind," she signed on in early June with the festival to help with costume production for Figaro.

When the costume designer left a week later, the full job fell to her.

"I would have done it for nothing," she said, because although she had done extensive work on costumes before, this was her first chance for complete imaginative freedom.

"This is my baby — I work out my own problems and my own solutions," she said.

Working with experienced director David Ostwald has been "fantastic," she says, and has made her job much easier. "Our minds seem to work along much the same lines," she said.

The technical problem of recreating the dress of both court and country in 18th Century Spain is the greatest hindrance, she said.

"You can't just walk into a store for patterns for men's cutaway coats. I have to take a pattern for a suit coat and then cut it away," she said. "Right now I'm looking for someone who has a swallow-tail coat I can just cut to pieces for a pattern."

Dress in the Spanish court of the time was an advertisement of wealth and position, she explained. "The king was allowed to wear the shortest garments. The lower rank you were — the longer your pants were."

The court was also obsessed with a new Chinese influence, she said. "They were in love with brocades and satins, with ruffles and lace and buttons and braids."

Miss Pfeiffer said that lack of self-confidence had discouraged her from a theater career while in high school in Terra Linda, but had decided to return to make it her life after a period of indirection, of "moving all over."

Now she is willing to go where the theater leads her, but the direction is well-defined. She returned to College of Marin last September and plans to continue until January.

IN STITCHES — Costume designer Ann Pheiffer (right) and Joyce Simmons, a volunteer, work on costumes as the deadline nears for the Inverness Music Festival's production of Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro," which opens Sunday at St. Columba's Church. Miss Pheiffer said the task of meeting the impending deadline is a "big challenge — I'm ready to quit every day now."

Then she will "get a job to make money so I can afford to go to New York — move to off-Broadway and get a job doing whatever I have to."

New York is where the jobs are, she says, but not where she wants to be. "I hate New York," she said. "One of the reasons I wasn't going into theater was New York."

It is, she says, "a chance to make a reputation, and then come back to the American Conservatory Theater (in San Francisco) and say "Here I am — look what I've done.' "

"It's sort of a round-about way to get down the block," she noted.

Of the theater she says "you just get bitten again. It's just a disease and it infects you."

"Working on three shows at once is just incredible — it's that high energy level that I love. It's like taking a whole life and living it really fast. It's the whole creation-destruction cycle just speeded up."

"Figaro is the first time that I've ever become something besides just a name on a program — the first time I can present something to the public and say, 'It's me: like it or not.' It's either the beginning or the end."

Roll Calls Of Marin's Lawmakers

WASHINGTON — Here is how California's senators and House of Representatives members representing Marin and Sonoma counties voted in recent roll calls:

In the Senate —

On a bill to limit contributions and spending in federal election campaigns (passed 82 to 8): Senators Alan Cranston and John V. Tunney, both "yes."

On an amendment to the above bill limiting to $9,000 the total contributions by any person to a presidential or congressional candidate's primary, runoff and final election campaigns (passed 54 to 39): Cranston and Tunney, both "yes."

On a motion to kill a proposed ban on food stamps for strikers (passed 58 to 34): Cranston and Tunney, both "yes."

On confirmation of William E. Colby as director of the Central Intelligence Agency (approved 83 to 13): Cranston "no;" Tunney "yes."

In the House —

On bill authoring $2.8 billion foreign aid during next fiscal year, with a prohibition on any aid to North Vietnam without specific congressional approval (passed 188 to 183): Rep. William S. Mailliard "yes;" Rep. Donald H. Clausen "no."

On proposal to give congressmen, federal judges and top-level federal executives a pay raise this year (defeated 237 to 156): Clausen and Mailliard, both "no."

On $950 million cut from $21.4 billion military procurement bill (passed 242 to 163): Mailliard "yes;" Clausen "no."

On amendment for study of returning some of 500,000 U.S. land forces from Europe, rather than ordering immediate return of 100,000 (passed 242 to 163): Clausen and Mailliard, both "yes."

Youth Invades Own Home, Held

Felony charges of burglary and possessing marijuana were filed Tuesday by the Marin District Attorney's office against a Belvedere youth who reportedly tried to burglarize his parents' home.

William Edward Hoefer, 18, was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court to plead to the charges and to a third misdemeanor count of possessing a hypodermic syringe.

Belvedere police said Hoefer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hoefer, of 32 Peninsula Road, Belvedere, had prohibited their son from entering the house while they were on vacation.

Hoefer was spotted Sunday climbing out the second story window of the house, according to officers who said a search revealed a quantity of marijuana and a syringe in his pocket.

Stamp Club Sessions Moved To Larkspur

The Tamalpais Stamp Club will move its meeting place to the community room of the Bank of Marin at 1177 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, effective with the meeting Friday at 8 p.m.

Marcus W. Took, president, announced the move today. The semi-monthly meetings of the club, on the second and fourth Fridays, have been held at Bank of Marin's Northgate branch.

Gnoss Field Frontage Road Asked

A frontage road providing access to Gnoss Field from Highway 101 in lieu of the present entry was approved Tuesday night by the Marin County Aviation Commission.

The commission endorsed a plan by Ray W. Foreaker Jr., director of public works, and forwarded it to the board of supervisors with the request that the present access road be kept open until an interchange can be built near the airport.

Francis E. Torr, manager of the airport, said the frontage road will parallel Highway 101 south from the airport into the Atherton Avenue interchange, presently under construction. He said it would intersect the present access road between the airport and its intersection with Highway 101.

Both north and south access to Highway 101 is presently provided at the airport. But the median strip which is broken to allow cars to turn south on the highway is scheduled to be closed off, Torr said.

Ex-Marinite Picked To Head U.S. Office

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Allan L. Reynolds, 41, a former student body president at the College of Marin, has been named director of the Interior Department's office of survey and review by Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton.

Reynolds was serving as deputy director of the audit agency of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare when named to the new post which he assumed Tuesday.

He will be responsible for the department's audit activities and related inspection and negotiation functions.

Reynolds, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Reynolds of 110 Meadowcroft Drive, San Anselmo, was born in San Rafael and graduated from the College of Marin in 1952, serving as student body president that year.

He received a bachelor's degree from San Jose State College in 1954 and immediately went to work for the Army audit agency. He was with the Army agency until 1967 when he joined the HEW audit agency.

Reynolds and his wife, Julia, live in Vienna, Va., and have three daughters.

Marine Adviser To Begin Work

A marine adviser for Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino counties will begin work on Sept. 15 in Santa Rosa.

The service is provided by the University of California Extension through federal funding from Sea Grant, a part of the Department of Commerce's National Oceanic and Atmospheric administration.

The adviser will spend much of his time in Sausalito and Bodega Bay, the area's major commercial and sportsfishing ports. He will work with marine businessmen, fish dealers and processors and coastal planning groups.

RUSTLERS GET A FEAST FIT FOR A KING

HILLSBOROUGH (UPI) — King K. Tanaka, an importer, told police last weekend he was barbecuing three steaks in his back yard when he went inside for a drink.

When he came out, he said the barbecue was bare and he saw three women running towards a car, each carrying a steak.

The thieves escaped.

20-Cent Raise

The staff of the Marin County Transit District recommended on Tuesday that the district's property tax limit be raised from a nickel to 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation, not to 30 cents as reported in the Independent-Journal because of a typographical error. District directors voted unanimously to ask voters to raise the limit to 25 cents.

School Budget Up, Tax Cut For Two-City Board

A $2,282,309 budget for 1973-74, which will make possible a 36-cent drop in the district's tax rate, was approved Tuesday by the Cotati-Rohnert Park School District board.

Supt. James H. Davidson said the new budget is $752,786 higher than last year's because of rapidly-increasing enrollment.

But he said the district's assessed valuation has increased from $17 million to $26 million, permitting a decrease in the current tax rate from $2.61 to $2.25 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Davidson told the board the tax cut would have been larger, except that the district must now earmark 49 cents of its tax rate for seventh and eighth grade tuition costs which are expected to jump from $72,000 to $149,000.

In other business, the board heard that plans for a new school in the Holiday Park section of Rohnert Park are nearly complete and bids for construction will be opened Oct. 26, if the project remains on schedule.

Davidson said the district also is working on an agreement with the City of Rohnert Park to share the new school playground. He said the district may consider financing a sprinkler system if the city pays for turfing and construction of a Little League baseball diamond and agrees to maintain the grounds in exchange for use of the playground after school hours.

There are about 6,000 boat centers in the United States, ranging from small docks to swank marinas.

Chilean Navy Revolt Crushed

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — The navy said Tuesday it had crushed a revolt aimed at President Salvador Allende by civilian extremists and some crew members of two warships.

The announcement came several hours after the military assumed command of law enforcement in Santiago and other areas to combat what it called an "alarming" wave of violence.

Political sources said Allende, in another move to solve crises confronting him, plans to once again place some military men in his cabinet. They said the move was "imminent."

Army Band Not Listed As Public Relations Expense

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The Sixth Army Band from the Presidio of San Francisco played 106 appearances during a nine-month period at a cost to taxpayers of $308,790, which the General Accounting Office charged, in a just-issued report, should have been, but was not counted by the Defense Department as a public relations expense.

The band's appearances, however, were carefully screened as to sponsorship. One for which it was committed, and later withdrawn, was to have been at San Rafael's community Flag Day program on June 10.

The Flag Day program was co-sponsored by San Rafael Lodge 1108, B.P.O. Elks, and Wilkins Post of the American Legion, with Lt. Col. (ret.) Walter S. Filler, Elks' Americanism chairman, in charge of arrangements.

In response to Filler's request, Col. John H. Fye III, acting commander of the Presidio, on April 10 confirmed availability of the Sixth Army Band and Presidio Color Guard to participate in the public Flag Day program, as they had done in past years.

However, on May 31 — just 10 days before the program — Colonel Fye wrote Filler:

"It is with sincere regret that I must advise you that the Sixth United States Army Band and the Presidio Color Guard will be unable to participate in Flag Day ceremonies at the San Rafael Elks Lodge on June 10.

" . . . We are specifically precluded from providing Army support to any event which might directly or indirectly endorse or appear to endorse fraternal organizations such as the Knights of Columbus, the Moose, the Elks, Masonic Orders and similar groups."

Queried later about the withdrawal, Maj. James Green of the Presidio public information office cited an Army manual on "Community Relations." One section of it lists as "organizations which may not be selectively benefitted or favored"; the Knights of Columbus, Loyal Order of Moose, Knights Templar, Order of Eastern Star, Free and Accepted Masons (Scottish Rite, York Rite and Shrine), Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and B'nai B'rith.

Another section tells why:

"Participation is prohibited for public events when the sponsoring organization or group excludes any person from its membership or functions because of race, creed, color or national origin."

Still another section, however, provides an exemption for veterans' organizations with racial or sectarian limitations, such as Jewish War Veterans of the U.S.A., Polish Legion of American Veterans, etc. But none is provided for fraternal organizations.

The regulations go still farther, prohibiting participation that would "benefit or favor . . . quasi-religious or ideological movements and organizations as Moral Rearmamemt, Sing-Out, and Up With People." There is no explanation of why the three organizations which trace back to Buchmanism are singled out by name.

The late withdrawal of the Sixth Army Band left the Elks unable to find another band for the Public Flag Day program in San Rafael, so it was necessary to use recorded music. A color guard was provided by the Marine Corps Reserve. According to Filler, the Navy and Marine Corps leave decisions on such participation up to local commanding officers.

The GAO report which cited the Sixth Army Band's appearances charged that the Pentagon spent $48 million more for public relations over the last two fiscal years than it reported was used for that purpose.

This expenditure, said GAO, included four special military aerial teams which perform at fairs and other celebrations, civilian fours to military bases around the nation (popularly known as "junkets"), a special group that prepares service-related exhibits, the Defense Information School which trains military personnel to be public relations experts, and five major bands which perform no military duties other than playing at programs and marching in parades.

The five bands, said GAO, performed 5,023 times in 1972 at a cost of nearly $11 million.

It listed the Sixth Army Band as playing 106 performances, of which exactly half were public, from July 1, 1972, to April 12 of this year at a cost of $308,790.

The GAO said the Pentagon reported spending $24.8 million in fiscal 1973 and $22 million the preceding fiscal year on public affairs activities. Addition of the expenses it did not include would virtually double those amounts.

The GAO report concluded that the Pentagon had not listed the bands, aerial circuses, etc., as promotional spending "because the agencies felt that these activities did not meet the defined criteria of public affairs."

Radioactivity Level Below Average Mark

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Airborne radioactivity recorded in California the past three months was way below the danger level and did not reach the usual spring peak for the second consecutive year, the state Department of Health reported Tuesday.

"Our statewide air surveillance network revealed that average radioactivity reading was 0.11 picocuries per cubic meter of air during the second quarter of 1973," said Health Director J.M. Stubblebine.

A picocuries is a miniscule amount of radioactivty, equivalent to that emitted by a millionth of a gram of radium. A health spokesman said the 0.11 state figure compared to an unsafe figure of 1.

"This value is not significantly different from those we've observed for the past year," Stubblebine said.

"Furthermore, there has been surprisingly little regional variation throughout the state. However, this value contrasts with the average of 0.84 picocuries per cubic meter measured in the spring quarter of 1971," he added.

Stubblebine said that airborne radioactivity during the second quarter this year varied from a high of 0.18 picocuries per cubic meter in the San Joaquin Valley to the lowest average of 0.07 picocuries in the south coastal region.

The health director said the findings did not reflect any recent contributions of bomb debries from Chinese and French tests.

Donation For Blind

The Marin Motorcycle Club will donate $222 to Guide Dogs for the Blind this week, according to Frank Joiner, club president.

San Rafael Man Will Be Tried

A San Rafael man who has pleaded innocent to charges of burglarizing a home in that city was bound over to Marin Superior Court Tuesday after Municipal Judge Robert A. Smallman ruled there is enough evidence to try him.

James Robert Detel, 19, was ordered to appear Aug. 20 in the higher court following a preliminary hearing.

Detels has denied burglarizing the Peter R. Mack home of Senic Avenue on July 7 and taking 100 checks and $100 worth of personal possessions.

Carnival Planned

A carnival complete with games, a puppet show and fortune teller for the benefit of Muscular Dystrophy will be held at 11:30 a.m. Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Gordon at 185 Cobblestone Drive, San Rafael with their daughter Lynne acting as ringmaster.

PLAQUE — A small, crude wooden plaque from "members of the Bay Area Anarchist Community" says it is "in memory of the millions of human beings sacraficed (sic) in honor of pitiless abstractions and greed and of Harold J. Haley, as much a victim as the rest." The plaque, found near the new Haley memorial on the Civic Center grounds, was removed before a dedication ceremony.

Eulogy By Thomas To His Friend

By MARY LEYDECKER

"He was the bravest man I've ever known."

In a firm, strong voice, Judge Gary W. Thomas eulogized his friend, the late Judge Harold J. Haley, at ceremonies Tuesday in which a memorial to Haley was dedicated on the Marin Civic Center grounds.

Thomas spoke from the wheelchair to which he has been confined since he was wounded in the same shoot-out which took Haley's life. He did not refer, however, to his own role in what another speaker termed "Marin's greatest tragedy."

Instead, he spoke of Haley as "the most courteous of judges," "the goodliest person," "the kindest man." Haley, he said, followed the motto of the Knights of the Round Table, "Live pure, speak true, love Christ the King."

About 300 people, including the judge's widow, Gertrude, his three daughters and their families, county officials, lawmen, fellow lawyers and judges and longtime friends attended the ceremonies.

The memorial, dedicated on the third anniversary of Haley's death, is in a grove of new trees on the west side of the Civic Center. It includes curved benches and a large natural stone inscribed "a just and compassionate man taken from his bench to his death, lost to his family and his community."

The site is a few feet from where a rental van was parked before the judge, three women jurors, and Thomas were forced as hostages into the vehicles in an abortive escape attempt.

The judge, two San Quentin convicts and an accomplice died in a shoot-out with lawmen after the van was driven to the other side of the Hall of Justice.

Leonard B. Shaw, president of the Marin Bar Association which gave the memorial said the outdoor site had been chosen rather than "a remote area of the courthouse."

Longtime Marin judges Peter Allen Smith and Joseph G. Wilson, both close friends of Haley, also memorialized him in short talks. Haley's "kindness and generosity and overwhelming patience" were described by Smith and Wilson said that Haley was a "humble man" to whom "there was no such thing as a small case."

Another longtime friend, Rev. Thomas Kennedy of St. Raphael's Church spoke of the judge's deep religion, saying his memorial "need not have religious symbols" on it because "he gave life itself to the law of God."

Most of those at the quiet ceremonies, which lasted about 30 minutes, were unaware that earlier in the day groundsmen had removed a small, crude wooden plaque with a message from a group called "the Bay Area Anarchist Community" from the memorial site.

The plaque was found about 10 a.m. and was promptly removed.

It called Haley "as much a victim as the rest" and contained quotations from revolutionary leaders. A press release given out by the group said that Haley along with the convicts and their accomplice, Jonathan Jackson, "were murdered by San Quentin guards."

(Court testimony later showed that Haley died of wounds from guns seized by the escapees from law officers.)

"This was not the day for it," said Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director, who ordered the removal of the small plaque.

Arrow Owner Sought In Ranger's Murder

Federal investigators today were seeking the owner of a box of orange and white crossbow arrows found near the spot where Ranger Kenneth C. Patrick was slain Sunday at the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Detective John Kelley of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said fingerprints were lifted from the box, but declined to say if they had been matched to an individual.

"We're not sure if the arrows had anything to do with the killing anyway," he said.

The FBI, in its search for the ranger's killer, had found an automobile license number, presumed to have been written down by Patrick shortly before his death. But Kelley said investigation revealed that the person driving the rented car with that license was not involved in the slaying.

Patrick, 40, was the first park service ranger to be murdered in the line of duty.

Kelley said detectives were interviewing suspected deer poachers in the park, hoping for a clue to the killer's identity. Patrick was looking for poachers in the area when he was shot to death. He was found with his pistol still in its holster near his car. The vehicle's motor was running and its lights were blinking.

CARROLL A. SNYKER
To leave chamber post

Snyker Will Resign From Bureau Post

Carroll A. Snyker, who has been involved in chamber of commerce activities in Marin since 1954, has submitted his resignation as manager of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau, effective Oct. 1.

Snyker said that after 43 years in the chamber of commerce field and after becoming 65 he feels his resignation is timely.

He said he and his wife, Dorothy, will move to a new home near Hidden Valley Lake in Lake County.

Snyker came to Marin as manager of the Marin Development Foundation in 1954. He had previously been with the publicity and industrial departments of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce for 24 years.

Snyker was Ross town clerk from August, 1961, to May, 1962, and transferred from the development foundation to the chamber of commerce in 1966 when the latter took over promotional duties for the county.

A native of Montana, Snyker served as a member and officer of several regional and statewide chamber organizations. He also had a wartime teaching stint at Stanford University in priority procedures.

Tam Valley CSD Sets Budget, Tax Rate Same

A $226,507 budget — $70,000 more than last year's — was prepared for adoption last night by the Tamalpais Community Services District.

The increase is due mainly to the new scope of the district's activities, because beginning in October, the district will be in the garbage collection business.

According to Glenn Lambacher, district publicist, the new spending program is scheduled for adoption Aug. 14. He said the budget currently calls for an unchanged tax rate of 35 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Those assessments Lambacher added, have risen about 12 per cent for next year.

By the next meeting, the board will have the bill from the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District, which handles sewage treatment for the Tamalpais Valley. Next year, the community services district will contract for an increased sewage gallonage, 156 million, up 37 million from this year's agreement.

In other matters, the board set sewer charges for next year at $45 per household, unchanged from this year. The garbage collection fee for the nine months beginning Oct. 1 will be $21.60, according to Lambacher.

Trustees To Pick New District Head

Sausalito School District Trustees will meet in closed session at 7 p.m. today in district offices to select a new superintendent for the district, according to Byron Mauzy, interim superintendent.

Following the private meeting, trustees will announce their selection.

Trustees Pass School Budget

A publication budget of $325,261 for 1973-74, an increase of about $56,500 over last year's spending plan, was approved last night by Bolinas-Stinson School District Trustees.

Board members agreed to include in the budget $2,800 to pay the salary of a part-time office clerk.

The budget is not expected to increase the current tax rate of 94 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, according to Supt. Bernard Barrish, and the budget hike is expected to be funded by higher assessed valuation figures. Those figures, however, are not yet available, Barrish reported.

Gregory Arrested, Vows 'Total Fast'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Comedian Dick Gregory and three other persons, arrested Tuesday after kneeling and praying at the White House, spent the night in jail after failing to post bond.

Gregory, the black comedian who has been fasting for 28 months in protesting of American involvement in Southeast Asia, said he would begin a "total fast" in jail.

Bound Over On Passing Bad Check

A San Rafael woman, already fighting a burglary charge in Marin Municipal Court was bound over to superior court Tuesday to stand trial for passing a bad check.

Mynelle Glenny Griswold, 19, was told to appear Monday in the higher court after Judge Robert A. Smallman ruled there is enough evidence to try her.

She is accused of passing a check for $175, drawn on the account of a San Rafael woman, at Sears, Roebuck Co., on July 20. She is also charged with two counts of having a false identification card.

In another case in municipal court, Miss Griswold is accused of taking part in the theft of $2,270 worth of goods from a San Rafael saddle shop.

Ex-Prostitute Sues For Bus Job

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A San Francisco woman seeking a bus driver's job contends that conviction on prostitution charges does not necessarily constitute "moral turpitude."

Mrs. Betty K. Dobson sued the State Department of Motor Vehicles Tuesday, contending she was improperly denied a bus driver's license because of her conviction.

San Anselmo's Budget Up But Tax Rate Unchanged

The San Anselmo City Council Tuesday night approved a $2,108,641 budget for 1973-74, up $560.930 from last fiscal year's $1,547,711 spending program.

The budget, which includes funds for pay raises for city employees, will require a tax rate of $2.35 per $100 of assessed valuation, the same as last fiscal year, according to City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel.

Kaeppel said city councilmen made no cut or addition to the budget during a 90-minute hearing last night, and instructed him to prepare the document for formal adoption Aug. 28.

The budget is based on estimated revenue of $2,137,063, including $950,000 in property taxes, Kaeppel said.

Kaeppel described the budget approved last night as "basically an operating program" that is "entirely separate" from the capital improvement budget. The capital improvement program will be the subject of "continuing discussions," he said, saying it will be funded by about $185,000 in revenue sharing monies, $100,000 in capital surplus funds left over from last year, and $40,000 raised from a 10-cent levy included in the $2.35 tax rate.

Kaeppel said he is particularly proud of one improvement that is included in the operating budget. "This is the first time in many years we've been able to do something about storm drain improvements," he said, saying $99,000 is allocated for such improvements. Last fiscal year, only $4,000 was budgeted for storm drain maintenance, he said.

Aside from funds allocated for employee pay raises, the spending program is only $17,621 higher than Kaeppel first proposed last June. Through a series of budget hearings, councilmen added $29,551 to Kaeppel's proposal and cut $11,930 from it.

Discussion last night centered around a $1,000 allocation for Survival Inc., which councilmen decided to leave in the budget, and a $3,222 allocation for a school crossing guard at Rutherford Avenue and Butterfield Road, which councilmen also said will remain in the budget.

Councilman Warren R. Perry reported he and colleague Kenneth L. Anderson voted to oppose the crossing guard allocation, saying adequate crossing facilities exist several blocks away and claiming the matter was an emotional issue that would add another man to the payroll.

Perry said councilmen expect routinely to adopt the budget and set the tax rate on Aug. 28.

Holiday Plan, Pay Increase Approved

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — The Riverside County Board of Supervisors Tuesday approved a 5.5 per cent pay increase for the county's 4,200 employes.

Included in the package were a boost in health insurance benefits and a plan to give holidays on each Friday preceeding a national holiday which falls on Saturday.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

TWINKLE, TWINKLE, LITTLE STARS: Who's who in this birthday lineup? Can you identify them from the advice given? Each is listed by birthday under a sign of the Zodiac. Guess these names today. All 12 will be identified Friday.

LEO (July 23-August 22): Some have said your place is in the kitchen but not in a commercial establishment. But oh, la, la! Success repeats, thanks to your sunny disposition. Yes, 50,000 Frenchmen can't be wrong when it comes to your cooking. C'est magnifique! Name of star No. 7

VIRGO (August 23-Sept. 22): You made a mistake seeking the better life outside the military. Being a servant is not for you but having one is. Your troubles began with a girl and a bottle. Yet somehow it led to magic, too. Your real-life mother is acquainted with Peter Pan. Ask her what to do. Name of star No. 8

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Walt Whitman inspired you to go into education. There is someone you are attracted to, who is tall, dark and beautiful. You're coming through fine on your ABCs, thanks to your wonderful faculty and the principle you follow. Name of star No. 9

INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL WINNERS: First to identify Arthur Hill (Owen Marshall) as the mystery celebrity was Marti Schwartz of San Rafael. He receives a "Family Tree" as first prize. Ten others win ticket booklets to Frontier Village in San Jose: Teresa Hamra, San Rafael; Matt Healy, Novato; Dan Hunter, San Rafael; Rena Kay, San Rafael; Susan Keeler, San Rafael; Heidi Lang, San Rafael; Lucia Lane, Novato; David Lee, San Rafael; Nancy Newirth, Novato; and Jeff Nelson, San Rafael. All prizes are being mailed.

No Speed Problem

DALLAS (UPI) — An order restricting postal vehicles to speeds under 50 miles an hour because of the energy crisis will not affect metropolitan deliveries because most postal vehicles travel less than 30 miles an hour most of the time anyway, says Cecil Murray, assistant director of operations of the Dallas post office.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

Obtain Ruffing Tricks Before Drawing Trumps For A Victory

When dummy has a short suit, you often ruff losing cards of that suit with dummy's trumps. As an experienced player, moreover, you avoid drawing trumps until you have ruffed your losers. Today's hand shows that principle in a new twist.

USES QUEEN

West opened the five of clubs and declarer finessed with dummy's queen. If the finesse did not work, South could ruff in his own hand.

As it happened, East played the king of clubs and South ruffed. So far, so good.

Now South led a trump to dummy's queen and East held off. Declarer led a second trump and East held off again.

THIRD TRUMP

Without a care in the world, declarer led a third trump. This was a fatal error. East took the ace of trumps and led his last trump, thus getting rid of all trumps.

Now South had one losing card in each suit. To put it differently, he had only nine winning cards: four trumps, two hearts, two diamonds and one club. Down one.

SHOULD RUFF

South should ruff another club before drawing trumps. It's true that dummy had no ruffing power but South should imagine that his own hand was the dummy. Then it would be clear that his hand should ruff before trumps were drawn.

It was all right to lead two rounds of trumps. Then, however, the low club should be led from dummy and South should ruff. The ace of clubs would remain in dummy to keep control.

SECOND CLUB

Having ruffed a second club, South could then lead his last trump. East could take the ace of trumps but could do nothing to defeat the contract.

Trees Planted Now From The Air

NEW YORK (UPI) — Twentieth century tree farmers are using helicopters to reforest the high slopes of the Cascade Mountains in Washington state.

Foresters with Burlington Northern Railroad, which uses aerial seeding to supplement its hand planting of more than 2 million trees each year in four Western states, employ specially equipped helicopters to spread seeds over 1,000 to 2,000 mountain acres annually. There are about 40,000 Douglas fir seeds to a pound, and it takes about three-quarters of a pound to cover one acre.

ALMANAC

BY U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Wednesday, August 8, the 220th day of 1973, with 145 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

America's first professional architect, Charles Bullfinch, was born August 8, 1763.

Also on this day in history:

In 1940, the German Luftwaffe began a series of daylight air raids on the British Isles that continued until October 31.

In 1945, President Harry Truman signed the ratification of the United Nations Charter. Also in 1945, Russia declared war on Japan, seven days before Japan surrendered.

In 1968, Richard Nixon won the Republican nomination for President. He was elected in November, defeating Hubert Humphrey and George Wallace.

In 1972, the Democratic National Committee nominated Sargent Shriver as Sen. George McGovern's presidential running mate. They lost in November to Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew.

A thought for the day: German novelist Thomas Mann said: "Time cools, time clarifies. No mood can be maintained unaltered through the course of hours."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen dixoide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slow reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Old Adobe Sets School Budget

The Old Adobe School District board, Petaluma, Tuesday night adopted a $2.3 million budget for 1972-73 and heard the tax rate should decrease by 60 cents.

Schools Supt. Dean D. Magowan said the new budget totaling $2,392,356 was an increase of $450,860 over last year's budget of $1,941,490.

Magowan said the current tax rate of $2.89 per $100 assessed valuation will probably decrease to $2.29, depending on the increase in assessed valuation.

Magowan said the budget includes a 10 per cent reserve fund along with $19,500 in a free reserve fund. He said the board will divide these funds among several projects including the reading program, music education, vice principals and library facilities. A study session on the funding will be held later and added to the budget.

The board also approved leasing four additional portable classrooms at a cost of $7,200 for next school year with two each at La Tercera and at Bernard Eldredge schools.

The next board meeting will be Aug. 16 at 7:45 p.m. at La Tercera.

Family Tradition Is Carried Out

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. (UPI) — Genevieve Lynn Richardson set a Marine Corps record Tuesday when she became the sixth girl from her family to join the corps.

Miss Genevieve, 18, has three sisters who joined the Marines in 1968. Two other sisters enlisted in 1971.

Definition Given For Drug Abuse

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Medical Association defines drug abuse as "the use of any drug by an individual to the extent that it adversely affects or limits his ability to function as a responsible person."

In order of harmful impact—including physical damage and psychological and socioeconomic disruption—the CMA lists these "drugs of abuse": alcohol, barbiturates, amphetamines, heroin, cocaine, hallucinogens, marijuana and hashish, solvents and tobacco.

No Contest Pleaded In Embezzling

The former bookkeeper of the Marin City Community Services District has decided not to contest a charge of embezzlement.

Judge David Menary Jr. accepted the no-contest plea Monday from Lillian Juanita Lee, 32, in Marin Superior Court and set sentencing for Aug. 27.

The plea was the result of a bargaining session agreed to by Mrs. Lee's attorney, Judge Menary and the Marin District Attorney's office.

In exchange for the no-contest plea, Mrs. Lee will not be sent to state prison and her offense will be reduced to a misdemeanor if she completes probation successfully.

She is charged with embezzling $1,486 from the services district between September and March, although she paid back $886 when an audit disclosed the funds were missing.

Mrs. Lee quit her $659-per-month job as district bookkeeper and secretary in March and was indicted by the Marin County Grand Jury in June.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF REQUEST FOR STATE CERTIFICATION OF SAN QUENTIN DISPOSAL SITE SANITARY LANDFILL BY SAN QUENTIN DISPOSAL COMPANY
1515 Francisco Boulevard
San Rafael, Marin County
CA 94902

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the San Quentin Disposal Company, operating a Class II Sanitary Landfill, and doing business as San Quentin Disposal Site, has applied to the State Water Resources Control Board pursuant to the provisions of Section 401 Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972 for certification to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers that the continuation of the sanitary landfill operation as described below is an activity which will be conducted in a manner which will not violate the California Water Quality Control Plan, requirements adopted by the Board, or any applicable Federal Standards.

The applicant intends to continue operation of a sanitary landfill on a 21-acre area located in the easterly portion of the San Quentin Disposal site, City of San Rafael, Marin County, California. The site is bounded on the north by the East San Rafael Drainage Assessment District No. 1, on the west and east by the lands of Francisco Company and on the south by the lands of Lee R. Ceccotiti, et al, and Haskell Norman.

On January 15, 1969, this Regional Board adopted Resolution 69-2 prescribing waste discharge requirements for the landfill operation. There have been no substantial changes in the ongoing landfill procedure which consists of excavating cells and filling them with a mixture of debris and earth and then covering the compacted refuse with at least two feet of dirt. The excavated earth is then used to build other interior dikes to form additional cells and to cover more compacted debris. With 4000 feet of interior dike having been constructed within the area to be filled, the disposal site is not subject to tidal action. Likewise, the system of cells is designated so that there can be no return flow of water to San Francisco Bay.

The purpose of the compacted landfill operation is to raise the existing ground level to prevent flooding and to provide adequate drainage in accordance with the City of San Rafael General Plan. Approximately, 625,000 cubic yards of debris and 275,000 cubic yards of earth will be used to complete the filling of the 21-acre site.

Concerned parties should transmit to Fred H. Dierker, Executive Officer, California Regional Water Quality Control Board, San Francisco Bay Region, 364 - 14th Street, Oakland, CA 94612, any relevant information or objections by September 7, 1973.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS RICHARDSON BAY SANITARY DISTRICT SEWER SEALING PROGRAM - 1973

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Richardson Bay Sanitary District, Marin County, California, will receive up to, but not later than, 8:00 o'clock p.m. on the 21st day of August, 1973, sealed bids for the award of a contract for the sealing of sewers in the District in strict accordance with the plans and specifications therefor, prepared by J. Warren Nute, Inc., Civil & Sanitary Engineers, and on file in the office of the District.

Said sealed proposals or bids shall be delivered to the Secretary of the Sanitary Board of said Sanitary District, Trestle Glen Sewage Treatment Plant, Jefferson Avenue and Tiburon Highway, Tiburon, California, or mailed to 433 Town & Country Village, Mill Valley, California.

Each bid shall be in accordance with said plans, specifications, and other contract documents now on file in the office of the District Secretary.

Said proposals or bids must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed "Richardson Bay Sanitary District, Trestle Glen Sewage Treatment Plant, Tiburon, California," and endorsed "Proposal for Sewer Sealing Program - 1973."

All proposals shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check payable to the order of the District amounting to ten per cent (10%) of the bid, or by a bid bond in said amount and payable to said District, signed by the bidder and a corporate admitted surety or two individual sureties who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double said amount, and over and above all statutory exemptions. Said check shall be forfeited or said bond shall become payable to said District in case the bidder depositing the same does not, within fifteen (15) days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him enter into a contract with the District, the faithful performance of which shall be secured by an undertaking in the amount of one hundred per cent (100%) of the amount so bid, with sureties satisfactory to said Sanitary Board, and which shall be accompanied by a labor and material bond in a sum equal to one hundred per cent (100%) of the amount of said bid, under the provisions of Section 3247 to 3252, inclusive, of the Civil Code of the State of California.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on July 17, 1973, the Sanitary Board adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality in which the public work herein provided is to be done for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contract, a copy of which wage scale is hereto attached and made a part hereof, and also contained in and made a part of the specifications for said work, to which reference is hereby made for a full and detailed description thereof.

The Board reserves the privilege of rejecting any and all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bid or in the bidding.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening of bids.

Plans and specifications may be obtained at the office of J. Warren Nute, Inc., 907 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, California, upon deposit of $10.00 per set, $5.00 of which will be refunded if the set or sets delivered are returned in good condition within ten (10) days after the bid opening.

It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the contract is awarded and upon any subcontractor under him to pay not less than the said specified rates to all laborers, workmen, and mechanics employed by them in the execution of the contract.

Hours of Labor

The Contractor shall forfeit as penalty to the District twenty-five dollars ($25.00) for each workman employed in the execution of the contract by him or by any subcontractor for each calendar day during which any workman is required or permitted to labor more than eight (8) hours in any one calendar day and forty (40) hours in any one calendar week, in violation of the provisions of Article 3, Chapter 1, Part 7, Division 2 of the Labor Code of the State of California and all amendments thereto.

Discrimination

In accordance with Section 1735 of the Labor Code, no discrimination shall be made in the employment of persons upon any part of the contemplated work because of race, color, national ancestry or origin, or religion of such persons.

Attention is directed to the provisions in Sections 1777.5 (Chapter 1411, Statutes of 1968) and 1777.6 of the Labor Code concerning the employment of apprentices by the Contractor or any subcontractor under him.

Section 1777.5, as amended, requires the Contractor or subcontractor employing tradesmen in any apprenticeable occupation to apply to the joint apprenticeship committee nearest the site of the public works project and which administers the apprenticeship program in that trade for a certificate of approval. The certificate will also fix the ratio of apprentices to journeymen that will be used in the performance of the contract. The ratio of apprentices to journeymen in such cases shall be not less than one to five except:

Plea Made To Stolen Property

A San Rafael man reportedly caught by police while unloading loot stolen from a San Rafael apartment pleaded innocent Tuesday to charges of burglary and possessing stolen property.

Judge Gary W. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court set a preliminary hearing for John David Anderson, 48, of 401 First Street, for Tuesday.

Police said they saw Anderson unloading a television set, a stereo, tools and guns from a car at 6:15 p.m. Sunday near First and B streets.

The name of Thomas G. Torres, of 340 Channing Way, Apt. 251 was found among the tools. Torres told officers his apartment had been burglarized.

Visiting Guru Welcomed By A Pie In Face

DETROIT (UPI) — A bearded young man pulled a shaving cream pie out of a bouquet of roses and slapped it into Guru Maharaj Ji's face, then said, "I always wanted to throw a pie in God's face."

The 15-year-old Indian guru was appearing before the Detroit Common Council at the time of the incident Tuesday. The council was considering a special testimonial resolution for him.

The shaving cream dripped down the guru's broad face and onto the front of his suit.

"This was probably nothing like the nails through Jesus Christ," the guru said.

The pie thrower identified himself as Pat Halley, 22, a reporter for the antiestablishment Detroit newspaper Fifth Estate. "The Guru is just a slick businessman," Halley said.

Sausalito Seeking Hopefuls For Posts

The City of Sausalito now is accepting applications for two openings on the parks and recreation commission and the community appearances advisory board and one on the library board, it was announced at Tuesday night's meeting of the city council.

Appointments, in accordance with new procedures adopted by the council, will be made in 30 days. Short, resume-type applications will be available in city offices within the next few days, said Mayor Robin Sweeny.

Under the new guidelines, applications should be filed within 10 days of the announcement of the vacancy in a newspaper.

Interviews of candidates by less than a quorum of the city council will be conducted without public notice. But when a quorum is involved, thus constituting a meeting of the council, the session will be announced in advance and conducted behind closed doors.

Formal appointment will follow in open session.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

DEVELOPMENT — Rezoned two parcels of land on each side of Ebbtide Avenue near Martin Luther King School, about 50,000 square feet, to R-2-5, allowing John F. Powers to build a maximum of 10 residential units.

RAILROAD — Continued until Aug. 28 an appeal by the Sausalito-Richardson Bay Railroad of a planning commission denial of a use permit to operate a narrow-gauge railroad service paralleling Bridgeway in the downtown area.

ENVIRONMENT — Continued until Aug. 21 consideration of a proposal that any development project requiring an environmental impact report automatically be considered a conditional use and be subject to planning commission review.

DECK — Upheld an appeal by Carlton Rider of a planning commission denial, and granted a variance to build a redwood deck on Rider's house at 309 Third Street.

HEALTH — Authorized the mayor to sign an agreement with the County of Marin for the county health officer to provide inspection and other services to the city.

TIME LIMIT — Resolved to try to end meetings by 11:30 p.m., perhaps, as Councilman Stephen A. Fraser suggested, by limiting audience comment and council debate; perhaps, as Mrs. Sweeny suggested, by postponing action on matters not dealt with by then; perhaps, as City Mgr. Thomas P. McKenzie suggested, by accepting no last-minute appeals by residents and by adhering to the 5 p.m. Thursday deadline for completing the following Tuesday's agenda.

BRIDGEWAY — Told McKenzie to meet with designers, city officials and businessmen to work out remaining design problems for the improvement and beautification of downtown Bridgeway so that the $224,000 project can be approved Aug. 21, begun in October and completed next March. "We've screwed around with the aesthetics of this long enough," said Fraser.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Aug. 14 for continued discussion of a proposed zoning ordinance for the city's central waterfront district. The next regular council meeting will be at 8 p.m. Aug. 21 in city hall.

Litchfield Date In Court Is Set

A San Rafael man has been ordered to appear in Marin Superior Court Monday on a charge of concealing stolen property — a huge assortment of loot allegedly found in his apartment.

Municipal Judge Peter Allen Smith ruled Tuesday there is enough evidence to try Marc Allan Litchfield, 22.

Corte Madera Police who arrested Litchfield in his San Rafael apartment said he led a burglary ring which committed dozens of burglaries throughout Marin.

Meat Market's Theft Meatless

OAKLAND (UPI) — Theives netted nary a hamburger when they struck Martin Meats.

But, police said, they did make off with cases of pizza, strawberries, potatoes, broccoli and shrimp.

All the loot, police said Monday, was recovered and two juveniles were taken into custody.

Rabbi Stabbed

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three young hoodlums stabbed and beat a 46-year-old rabbi who refused to give them a dime Tuesday, police reported. The rabbi, David Silverman, was in good condition today at St. Luke's Hospital with bruises, a broken nose and a stab wound in the back.

Inquiry Made On McGovern Funds

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — The FBI has made an inquiry into Sen. George McGovern's 1972 campaign expenditures in Connecticut at the request of Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Cox asked the FBI in New Haven to check campaign records at the secretary of state's office in Hartford to verify an allegation by a private citizen "not connected with Watergate."

Cox's Washington office declined to provide details on the allegation or who made it.

Soviet Author Is Banned From Union

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Writers Union confirmed today that novelist Vladimir Maximov, author of "Seven Days of Creation," has been expelled from the writers union on grounds his work is anti-Soviet and anti-socialist.

Literary Gazette, the official newspaper of the writers union, said Maximov was expelled after he refused to appear at a hearing before the union secretariat. Maximov sent word that "he is suffering from a sickness connected with a mental disorder," the newspaper said.

Arab Guerrillas Take Credit For Slaughter

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — An Arab guerrilla group calling itself "the Seventh Suicide Squad" reportedly claimed responsibility today for a terrorist attack against passengers in the Athens airport last Sunday.

Two Beirut newspapers, An Nahar and Al Anwar, published a statement allegedly from the little-known group dated Aug. 5 —the day of the attack—and addressed to the American people.

The statement claimed responsibility for the machine gun and grenade assault on passengers waiting to board planes to New York and Geneva, but said it was supposed to be against passengers en route to Tel Aviv. Those passengers had already boarded their plane and were on the runway when the terrorists opened fire.

(In Athens, police said the two Arabs arrested at the airport faced charges of premeditated murder in the deaths of three persons killed in the attack, plus causing bodily injury to the 55 persons wounded, illegal detention of persons, property damage and illegal possession and use of arms.

(A mob howling "Death to the murderers!" tried to attack the two Arabs as they were brought from court Tuesday in Athens. One woman broke through the police guard and clawed the face of one of them, Zehod Mohad. The other Arab, Talaat Husham, was not injured).

The statement said the Athens attack was directed against "the American aircraft flight No. 840 on its way to Tel Aviv." It appealed to Greek authorities to treat the attackers as "prisoners of war" and warned against placing them "under the mercy of the American and Israeli intelligence."

"We have discovered," it said, "that in order to make you understand us and realize our right to live we must begin to defend ourselves against all those who seek to exterminate us.

"We have decided to adopt your criminal methods and teach the first lesson to the people who is undertaking a campaign of extermination against us," it said.

It said the American people forced it to adopt methods that included killing innocent women and children.

Sex Bill Goes To The Assembly

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — A bill removing criminal penalties for all private sex acts between consenting adults was approved on a party-line vote Tuesday by a committee which sent it to the full State Assembly.

The Criminal Justice Committee voted 4-2, with Democrats in favor and Republicans opposed, after 15 minutes of low-key debate.

The bill was supported by the City and County of San Francisco, League of Women Voters, National Organization for Women, and Society of Individual Rights, a homosexual group. Opposed were the Peace Officers Association, State Sheriffs Association and District Attorneys Association.

Hunger Strike

LONDON (UPI) — Singer Janie Jones, who has been jailed while awaiting trial in connection with Britain's payola scandal, has gone on a hunger strike, a jail spokesman said Tuesday.

THIS IS THE END — Ernie Campbell, manager of Hamilton Lanes at the Air Force Base since 1967, stared down at a tool box he'll no longer need to repair alleys he'll never see again. The bowling establishment has been closed due to the phaseout of the base, ending a league program which once included as many as 1,000 bowlers.

Hamilton Field's Imminent Closing Spells Death For Bowling Lanes

By PAUL DWORIN

The noise of the once-crowded lanes was conspicuous in its absence. Four children were bowling, and two men sat quietly drinking beers while workmen removed the snack bar refrigerator. Hamilton Lanes had one and a half more days of operation, but it seemed closed already.

When the last person had passed through the unassuming entrance last Tuesday night at 11 p.m., an era of bowling prosperity at Hamilton Air Force Base had officially ended.

Opened in 1952, Hamilton Lanes has been a veritable mecca of recreation for active and retired Air Force persons and their families. Now, with the base scheduled to be phased out by Oct. 1, the Air Force feels the need for the lanes has ended.

"It's one of the most active places on the base," Sgt. Eddie Bryant commented as he paused from his beer. "Without it, what else can you do except go to the show? It's also the coolest spot on the base."

Perhaps the man most closely associated with, and therefore most personally affected, by the closing of the lanes is manager Ernie Campbell.

Campbell, who is a retired Air Force man, has been the on-and-off manager of the lanes since 1967. He started at the alley as a maintenance man, but soon afterwards took over as manager. When the job was turned into a civil service slot in August, 1969, Campbell was replaced by three different managers until the job was returned to him this year.

"I've been here since 1967 and I never thought we'd close down, but they finally gave me the keys to close the door," he said.

What Campbell could not understand is that, although Hamilton is being phased out, there will still be military living on the base who will be in need of recreation, but, "it's supposed to close and that's all there is to it. I quit years ago trying to explain the Air Force."

In 1965, the alley was converted from six to 10 lanes and A-2 machines were installed, which are the fastest available. These machines, and any other motorized equipment, will now be used to update Aerospace Defense Command sites in the state, like the Mt. Tamalpais station.

All the other equipment, such as balls, pins, tables and chairs are being sent to Australia where the ADC is building a six-lane alley. (The motorized equipment could not be sent to Australia because electrical current is different there.)

The shut-down of operations at the lanes comes at a time when its bowling programs are bursting with success. For the last few years, there have been 16 leagues with 1,000 bowlers in the winter, and 12 leagues in the summer. This summer, only six leagues were started and competition has been spotty due to the phaseout.

To Campbell, the closing of the alley means more than what he calls the best lanes and the "biggest and best junior program in the county;" it means the end of his job.

"From now till the 15th of August I'm employed, then I'm going on vacation, cause I don't know what the hell I'm going to do," the 23-year veteran of the military commented.

PGA TOURNEY ADVICE

Miller: 'Don't Get Uptight'

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Johnny Miller has a message for his fellow touring pros: "Treat golf like a game and don't get uptight when you play badly."

Miller, the U.S. Open champion who now plays out of Sea Pines, S.C., plans to "have fun" when he tees off here Thursday in the 55th Professional Golfers' Association Championship.

"That does not mean I will not play seriously and be trying for the title," the 26-year-old San Francisco native added. "But I'll have fun and won't jump off the bridge if I don't do well."

Miller maintains he is a big occasion player. "I play my best in the big tournaments. I seem to get charged up for them, but the incentive does not seem to be there for the regular tour events.

"I think I have the best stroke average in the big events outside Jack Nicklaus in recent years.

"Look, if I'd have only driven reasonably well, I'm sure I would have won the British Open as well instead of finishing second to Tom (Weiskopf)."

Asked whether he considered himself a serious contender at Canterbury, Miller said: "I'm very tired; my game is off and I want a rest. But I'll be mentally ready by Thursday and if I can put together three regulation rounds and one 'super' round, then I'll have a chance."

But Miller, who has banked $118,238 on the tour to date to stand sixth in earnings behind Australia's Bruce Crampton, does not expect to produce a round of 63 as he did at Oakmont to win the Open. "I'll settle for three 70s and a 68," he said.

Canterbury has a par 71 for its 6,852-yard length and most players figure 280 would be a good score for the 72 holes.

Miller said the course, from tee to green, was the best he'd ever seen for a championship. "But the greens are tricky. There are some strange undulations and it's hard to line up a putt."

Crampton, who has won four tournaments and finished second four times en route to winnings of $245,141, saw Canterbury for the first time Tuesday and was satisfied with what he saw.

"It's not as long as what I was led to believe," he said. "I can't really explain it, but you build up a picture of how a thing should look in your mind and then it does not add up."

The 37-year-old Sydney native, who has made Dallas his American home, said he did not find the greens too tough, nor did he feel the three finishing holes were anything extraordinary. "But No. 13, now that's something else. It's a brute and I guess we'll all be happy to make our par fours there."

Crampton, acknowledged as one of the fittest men on the tour, also complained about being tired. "I've only taken six weeks off, but if I don't get tired I guess I have as good a chance as anyone. My swing is under control and I'm generally satisfied with my game," he said.

Bee, Sharon Score Net Tourney Wins

Unseeded Bee Kilgore of Tiburon upset eighth-seeded Claudia Smith of Lancaster, Pa. Tuesday, 1-6, 7-5, 6-1, in the third round of the Girls 18 Nationals tennis tournament in Philadelphia.

In Cincinnati Tuesday, Sharon Walsh of San Rafael beat Chris Matison of Australia, 2-6, 6-4, 6-1, in the first round of the Western Professional Tennis Championships. Miss Walsh was scheduled to face Linda Tuero of New Orleans today.

Sailboats To Qualify On Bay

Some 94 Bay Area sailboats in six classes will participate Saturday and Sunday in the One Design Classes Association qualifying regatta, hosted by the Paradise Harbor Yacht Club of Tiburon.

Results of the races will be used to determine the boats' Yacht Racing Association handicaps for next year.

Two races are scheduled each day, at 10:30 a.m. and immediately following at approximately 12:30 p.m. Each boat's best three races of the four will be used in figuring the handicap.

The classes involved are Columbia 24, Columbia 28, Cal 20A, Cal 20B, Challenger and Islander Bahama. Boats from other classes will qualify on four other courses around San Francisco Bay the same weekend, bringing to about 500 the total number of yachts qualifying.

The event marks the first time the northern area of the Bay, bounded by Richmond, Tiburon and the San Rafael-Richmond Bridge, has been used for a qualifying race. Paradise Harbor Yacht Club officials have laid out courses from seven to nine miles long, club officials using Coast Guard buoys as mark points.

Prison Board Paroles Hunter

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — Bobby Lee Hunter, whose boxing skills gained him national attention, was paroled today from the South Carolina prison system after serving six years of an 18-year sentence for manslaughter.

Hunter was granted his parole after a four-minute hearing before the state pardon and parole board.

The board told Hunter, who won a medal in the Pan American games in 1971, that he was paroled because of his prison record and not because of his boxing achievements.

A's Split With Tigers Amid Goofs

DETROIT (UPI) — Dick Sharon and Dick Williams are even. They both admit they goofed.

Their teams wound up the same, too, Tuesday night when the Oakland A's took the first game of a twi-night doubleheader, 8-4, and the Detroit Tigers gained a split by winning the second, 2-0.

BIG CROWD

Detroit's fifth straight crowd of more than 42,000 (this one just seven over) saw the doubleheader between teams leading their respective divisions of the American League.

The Tigers ended where they began—a half-game in front of the East's teams—while the A's slipped from a virtual tie to one-half game behind Kansas City in the West.

'DISGRACE'

"The first game was a disgrace," Sharon said. "I gave them five or six runs myself. I gave it to them. I handed it to them."

The Detroit right fielder's error—plus a catch he didn't make —contributed to the three-run eighth which broke open a 3-3 first game.

NEGLECTED

Williams, the A's manager, turned in a second game lineup card that listed 10 players but neglected to name any positions, which is a clear violation of the Designated Hitter rule. Tigers manager Billy Martin protested the game in the first inning, but naturally dropped it after Detroit won.

"It still wouldn't have made any difference," Williams contended after the games. As long as I had my nine men out there on the field and the DH hadn't come up yet. Still, there's no excuse for it.

CHANCES

"I would have taken my chances on a protest, but I'm still going to check (Al President Joe) Cronin in the morning," the Oakland manager

Giants Rehire Fox, But Fall To Expos

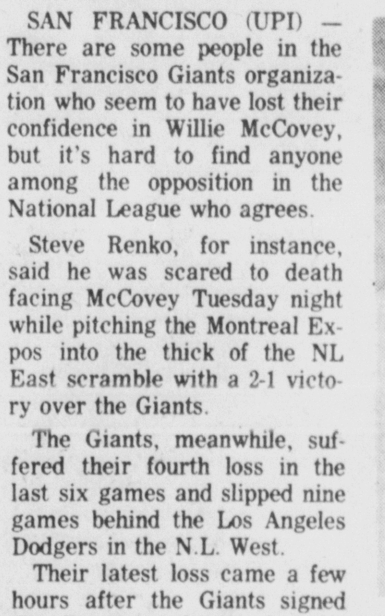
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — There are some people in the San Francisco Giants organization who seem to have lost their confidence in Willie McCovey, but it's hard to find anyone among the opposition in the National League who agrees.

Steve Renko, for instance, said he was scared to death facing McCovey Tuesday night while pitching the Montreal Expos into the thick of the NL East scramble with a 2-1 victory over the Giants.

The Giants, meanwhile, suffered their fourth loss in the last six games and slipped nine games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers in the N.L. West.

Their latest loss came a few hours after the Giants signed Charlie Fox, object of much criticism of late, to a two-year contract as San Francisco manager. Half of the Giants didn't even know of the signing and few greeted it with much enthusiasm.

Most Giants followers were upset at Fox for refusing to use McCovey in two of last weekend's three games against the Dodgers. The two games the Giants lost in that series McCovey was on the bench.



CHARLIE FOX
Two more years

"I don't have much to say," said the amiable Giants slugger. "I've said all I'm going to say about my situation."

McCovey was upset a few weeks ago when he was benched for five games but came out of the "rest" by hitting two homers in two days.

"The man (McCovey) is awesome," said the goodlooking Expos righthander. "Every time he comes to bat he scares me half to death. I can't understand any of this talk about him not being as dangerous as in the past."

Renko knows whereof he speaks. In the second inning Tuesday night McCovey hit a 425 foot homer to right for San Francisco's only run. In the fourth he hit a drive more than 200 feet up and 300 feet down the right field line which Ken Singleton caught and in the ninth he hit a 400 foot drive to the fence in leftcenter which Jim Lyttle caught.

"He hit a changeup for his homer," Renko said. "The second time he hit a fastball that must have been on his fists and the third time he hit what I thought was a pretty good curve."

Renko gave up a first inning

A'S PLACE INJURED DUO ON SHELF

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland A's announced Tuesday that pitcher Jim (Catfish) Hunter and outfielder Joe Rudi have been placed on the disabled list.

Hunter sustained a thumb injury in the All-Star Game and has been out of action since. He was placed on the 21-day disabled list retroactive to July 24 and will be eligible to play again Aug. 14.

Rudi also suffered a thumb injury — against the Minnesota Twins on July 26 — and he was placed on the 15-day disabled list retroactive to Aug. 2. Rudi, also suffering from a throat infection, will be eligible to play Aug. 17.

Crosby Golf Event Gets Dates Changed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sponsors of the Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open and the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am announced Monday the dates of the two tournaments would be exchanged for the 1974 PGA tour.

The L.A. Open now will be held Feb. 14-17 and the Crosby will become the leadoff event on the tour Jan. 2-5.

It was also announced at a news conference at Riviera County Club that the championship layout will be the site of the open for the next two years. Until last year, the tournament had been held at the municipal Rancho Park course.

The change and dates will benefit both tournaments. A flood control construction project across the Riviera course will not be completed until December and the later date will provide more time to prepare the course.

Organizers of the Crosby had been having trouble lining up hotel rooms because many were already booked for the three-day Washington's Birthday weekend. They said the tourney would be cancelled if the dates were not changed.

The Florida portion of the tour will begin with the $260,000 Jackie Gleason Inverrary Classic at Lauderhill, Fla., Feb. 21-24.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Being Alert For Danger

There comes a time in the life of every skipper or small boat operator when he has to make a fateful decision. If he does the right thing, the incident is forgotten. If he does the wrong thing, he could be dead.

Here's an example, and I was in the boat. We were speeding out to a fishing spot — four anglers in a fast outboard. A big cruiser crossed in front of us, creating a big wake.

Our skipper shifted his heading to cross the first wave of the wake at right angles. We bumped a little, but there was a problem.

A little farther on, another larger craft was also dragging a big wake. Our skipper changed heading again slightly to meet the wake at a good angle, but due to some distraction he failed to notice until too late that we would hit both wakes where they met in a turbulent wave. We capsized.

It was a chilly, frightening experience and we lost $75 worth of tackle. We were lucky that was all.

It should be a conditioned reflex with all boatmen that when they are in a small boat and they have to cross a large wake they should automatically turn to cross the waves bows on.

It's perfectly true that most of the time you don't need to do this, but if you do it every time, you'll never be caught out the one time that you should have. Turning to catch the wake on your bows may waste fifteen or twenty seconds, but think of what a dunking would cost in time and money. Here are some of the questions I have been asked on this topic:

Q. My lake becomes quite violent in high winds. What should I do if caught out on the wake in such conditions?

A. Keep the bows into the wind and waves, and go very slowly. Stay low in the boat with your life jackets on. If you can get to shelter this way, fine, otherwise wait out the storm.

Q. I was swamped and rescued by a police boat. The officers told me that I should never have let the boat broach. Exactly what does that mean?

A. Back in the days of sailing ships the expression was "broach to" and meant to allow the ship to turn broadside to wind and waves — with inevitable calamitous results. The old high sailing ships just flipped over. It still means the same thing, mostly the result of trying to turn in the face of high winds.

Will my twenty-seven foot cruiser sink if it's holed? What do I do if I hit a rock?

A. The weight of the engine and other heavy gear on most cruisers will pull them down if there is a hole in the hull. When they are full of water they'll sink. So if you run up on a rock, try to assess the damage quickly. If you back off successfully, you may sink. Stuck on the rock you may wreck the boat, but save your life. The same thing applies to sailing craft with heavy keels.

Q. I didn't realize that boats "skid" sideways as much as they do in a turn. I hit another boat. What should I have done?

A. There is always an instant in a circumstance of this nature when you realize you are about to hit. Kill the motor dead at that moment. Outboard boats stop very fast and you may not hit.

Q. I pulled out of a slip and stopped and another boat hit me. I didn't know what to do.

A. I think I would have given her the gun forward. Better to take a chance on hitting the wharf, than to be hit by the other boat. In this instance he clearly had the right of way, you were in the wrong and wide open for a damage suit.

Q. I have rigged up a sea anchor with a plastic pail and keep it aboard in case of a storm. Is it best to put it over the bow or the stern?

A. Usually the bow, seldom the stern. The whole idea is to keep the bows into the wind and waves. It's the front end of the boat that is designed to take the brunt of violence and shed the water. The back end is usually much more vulnerable.

49ers' Spurrier Gets Turn

KENT, Ohio (UPI) — It will be Steve Spurrier's turn Saturday night when the San Francisco 49ers meet the New York Jets at Tampa, Fla.

Spurrier replaced the injured John Brodie last season and helped carry the San Francisco 49ers into the National Football League playoffs. But Brodie returned and was the starter again.

Now the question is which one is first string for 1973.

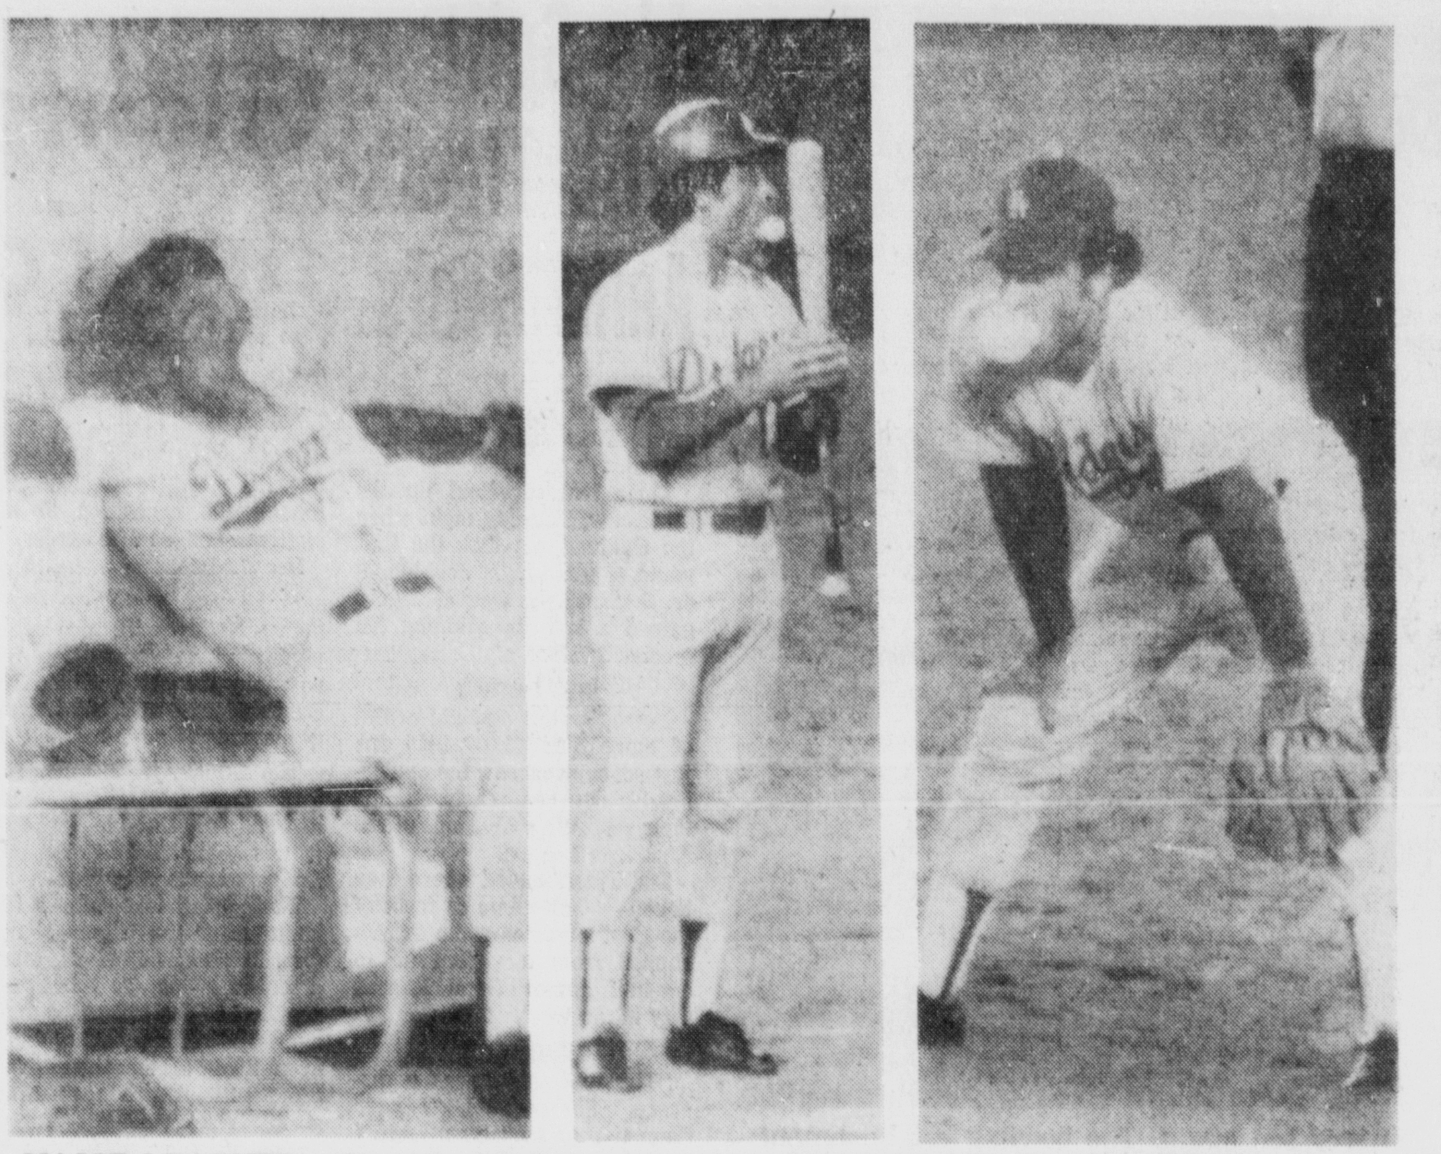
Spurrier came in long enough in last Monday night's 27-16 win over Cleveland to hit Vic Washington with a touchdown pass.

But he said after the game "it's next week (the Jets game) which counts."

Coach Dick Nolan cut six players to cut down to the required number of 60, but their names were not released immediately.

Nolan also said that after watching films of Monday night's game, he liked the work of defensive tackle Rolf Krueger and rookie linebacker Willie Harper of Nebraska, who "made two really good plays, despite playing with a dislocated thumb."

Asked about cornerback Windlan Hall, who had trouble with veteran Browns receiver Gloster Richardson, Nolan said "he just played too far off him. But that's inexperience. When he learns, you'll see the difference."



MAJOR LEAGUER — Los Angeles Dodgers' second-baseman Dave Lopes loves his bubble gum. He blows bubbles while in the dugout waiting for his turn to bat, while waiting for the pitcher to get ready and then while out in the field against the San Diego Padres.

EX-GIANT CATCHER

Healy Keys Royals' Rise

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — There's a little-publicized secret connected with the Kansas City Royals' rise to the top of the American League's Western Division. His name is Francis Xavier Healy.

The 6-foot-5, 210-pound Healy joined the Royals on opening day after spending two years as a reserve catcher for the San Francisco Giants. He didn't assume the regular job until June 9.

Since then, Healy has lifted his batting average from .191 to .265, entering Tuesday night's game with Boston. In July, the 26-year-old receiver hit .342.

"Fran's been a pleasant surprise," says Manager Jack McKeon, "but he's really not a surprise to me. I always had faith in his ability to be a first-string catcher." Healy played for McKeon at Omaha in 1969 and 1970, so when he became available, the Royals dealt minor league pitcher Greg Minton for him April 2.

"The Giants told me there were a couple of clubs interested in me," says Healy, "and they told me I had a choice. When I was told one of them was Kansas City, I told them that's where I wanted to go. I thought it was nice of the Giants to give me the choice."

Healy's performance has been like a miracle to the Royals, who spent last winter desperately trying to trade for a catcher. They were unconcerned with obtaining an offensive threat, but wanted someone to handle the pitchers and have a respected arm.

When Healy joined the team, he was behind Jerry May and Carl Taylor. May eventually was dealt to the New York Mets and Healy, who didn't play much in spring training, began far behind Taylor.

Before Fran became the regular catcher, foes stole 39 bases in 51 attempts. Since he became the regular, only 22 of 45 have stolen successfully.

"He's developed into one of the best catchers in the American League," says McKeon. "He's been a take-charge type. But the biggest thing is he's got the complete confidence of our pitchers."

Healy wasn't sure what to expect when he joined the Royals.

"Once I watched a few games, I recognized the fact that we had a good club," he said. "It was apparent the team was as good up the middle as anyone and the whole club looked solid."

Entering the current homestand Tuesday night, the Royals had won 14 of their last 18 games and, along with Oakland, had left the rest of the pack for dead—at least for the time being.

"We've definitely proven we're going to be in it," says Healy. "But it's no surprise to the guys on the club."

The only surprise has been the job Fran Healy has done.

Boozer, Riggins Continue Holdouts

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

If there's one subject that can rattle Weeb Ewbank's mind, it has to be money.

Ewbank, the coach and general manager of the New York Jets, isn't quite up to date on inflation these days. As the old saying goes, he passes out nickels as if they were manholes covers.

Joe Namath is able to negotiate directly with owner Phil Iselin and so he has a sixfigure contract. But Ewbank is a tough negotiater who likes to keep the rest of the Jets stars at the $50,000 figure.

Neither one of his two top running backs, Emerson Boozer and John Riggins, wants to play for that figure and they're just two of the many players on the squad who have refused to sign.

He's offering Riggins, Boozer and star tackle Winston Hill all about $50,000. Riggins is asking for $150,000 and both Boozer and Hill are asking for $100,000. Riggins got $25,000 last year while Boozer made $40,000 and Hill $45,000.

Riggins has yet to join the team while Hill and Boozer are drilling with the second unit after failing to play last week against Houston.

Among the other unsigned players who are in action are Al Atkinson, Ralph Baker, Richard Caster, John Elliott, Don Maynard, Clifford McClain, Mike Taylor and Phil Wise.

Most of the other clubs were concerned Tuesday mainly about cutting their squads down to the 60 player limit—not including All-Star game players. Of course, the teams still have 20 players to slice by the start of the season.

One of the biggest names to be released was former all-pro cornerback Herb Adderley, who was cut by Los Angeles. The Rams obtained him just two weeks ago from New England. He played with Dallas last year but is remembered mainly for his great seasons under Vince Lombardi in Green Bay.

Fight Title Removed

MANILA (UPI) — The Oriental Boxing Federation (OBF) today stripped Filipino fighter Erbito Salavarria of his OBF flyweight crown for failure to defend his title within a year.

Raiders' Davidson Injured

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI) — Ben Davidson, the huge Oakland defensive lineman, is hurt again, but the Raiders say the injury is only a minor one.

Davidson sat out all last season with a torn achilles tendon.

He looked sharp in rushing quarterback Jim Plunkett in last Sunday's tie at New England, but then sprained his knee on the last defensive play of the evening.

He was sent to Los Angeles to be examined by team physician Robert Rosenfeld, but the Raiders said it was just a routine examination.

Quarterback Don Milan also missed Tuesday's workouts because of an ankle sprain.

Coach John Madden commented that he liked to play Dallas in exhibition games, since the Cowboys use their best personnel in pre-season play. The Raiders host Dallas Saturday night in the Coliseum.

"We met San Diego one year and they didn't play any of their starters," Madden recalled. The next day, they cut 10 or 12 of the guys we played against. So you don't know how good, say, a rookie defensive back really is if he was containing a receiver they released the next day."

"But," Madden continued, "when we see one of our young players block a Bob Lilly or a Jethro Pugh, you know he's pretty good."

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Harvard amateurs Bob McManama and Doug Elliott have signed with the Pittsburgh Penguins and will report to the National Hockey League team's training camp at Brantford, Ont., Sept. 9.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Healthy Gullett Asset To Reds

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Don Gullett is healthy again and that means the Cincinnati Reds could be in the right condition for a late season surge.

Gullett, the Reds' opener day pitcher who was shipped to the bullpen last month because he didn't seem to have enough stamina after last year's bout with hepatitis, seems to be fully recovered.

The Reds' lefthander reeled off his second straight complete game Tuesday night on a two-hitter to give the Reds a 1-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The win kept the Reds four games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League's Western Division. The Reds are still in contention for their third division crown in the last four seasons.

The only hits off Gullett were a scratch single by Don Kessinger off the glove of third baseman Dan Driessen in the fourth inning and a seventh inning single by Jose Cardenal.

Besides being healthy, Gullett said one of the reasons for his improvement is his development of the fork ball.

Joe Morgan gave Gullett all the help he needed with a homer in the seventh inning off Rick Reuschel, who is now 12-9. Morgan's homer was his 17th of the season and tied the club record for second baseman set by Alex Kampouris.

In other NL games, New York edged St. Louis 6-5, Houston blanked Pittsburgh 2-0, Los Angeles downed San Diego 6-1 and Montreal nipped San Francisco 2-1. Atlanta and Philadelphia were idle.

In the American League, Kansas Cty nipped Boston 7-6 in 11 innings, California edged Milwaukee 6-5 in 10 innings, Chicago beat Cleveland 6-5 in 12 innings, Texas edged New York 2-1 but lost the second game 3-1, Oakland beat Detroit 8-4 but lost the second game 2-0 and Minnesota beat Baltimore 4-2 but lost the second game 10-4.

Don Wilson pitched his second straight four-hitter to lift Houston to its victory over Pittsburgh. Wilson beat the Reds 1-0 on four hits in 10 innings Friday night.

Don Sutton pitched two-hit ball for seven innings but then retired with a stiff right shoulder as the Dodgers downed San Diego.

Relievers Buzz Capra and Tug McGraw stopped St. Louis on one run over the final 6 2-3 innings to give New York its victory over the Cardinals.

The Royals, who trailed 6-1 after the Red Sox scored five runs in the fourth inning, won the game in the 11th on Lou Piniella's two-out double following singles by Rick Reichardt and Hal McRae. They had tied the score at 6-6 in the sixth on Fred Patek's homer, Cookie Rojas' single and a triple by Reichardt.

California's Nolan Ryan equalled his own AL record, set July 9, 1972, against Boston by striking out eight consecutive batters in the middle innings after yielding four runs to the Brewers in the first inning. Ken Berry singled and eventually scored the winning run on Bob Oliver's short fly to left field caught by shortstop Tim Johnson. Ryan wound up with 13 strikeouts and evened his record at 13-13 with the 10th inning relief help of Aurelio Monteagudo.

Jim Holt's two-run double was the big blow of a four-run Minnesota rally which gave Joe Decker of Petaluma his seventh win. Merv Rettenmund had three hits, scored four runs and drove in two runs and Dave McNally went 5 2-3 innings for his 10th win for Baltimore in the nightcap.

Jim Bibby, pitching for the second time since his no-hitter, pitched out of a bases-filled none-out jam in the ninth inning and raised his record to 6-5 by winning the opener for Texas. George Medich and Lindy McDaniel combined in a sixhitter for the Yankees in the second game.

Jerry Hairston singled home Bill Melton with two out in the 12th inning to give White Sox reliever Cy Acosta his sixth win.

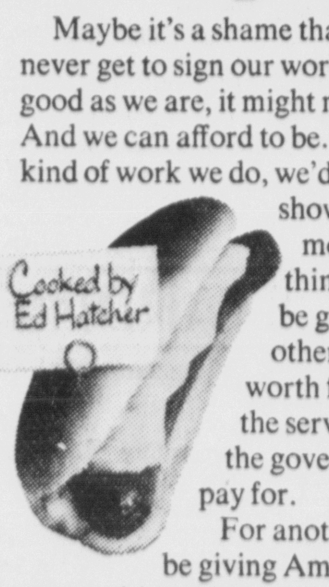
How would you like to sign the work you do?

Maybe it's a shame that most of us will never get to sign our work. Because as good as we are, it might make us better. And we can afford to be. No matter what kind of work we do, we'd have more to show for it. More money, for one thing. Because we'd be giving each other our money's worth for the products, the services and even the government we pay for.



For another thing, we'll be giving America better ammunition to slug it out with our foreign competitors. That should help bring the lopsided balance of payments back onto our side. And help make your dollars worth more.

Best of all, as we hit our stride we'll be protecting our jobs here at home. And we'll get more satisfaction out of the jobs we've got.

You don't have to sign your work to see all these things happen. And more. Just do the kind of work you'd be proud to have carry your name.

America. It only works as well as we do.

Three Marinites Slump To .300 Mark In Minors

Two Marin baseball players neared the .300 mark in batting and a third moved past it last week, which is bad news, because they were heading downward as they did so.

On the other hand, Clifford Hall had a rousing, if abbreviated, week, according to Player Periscope statistical service of Novato.

Hall, from Marin City, stroked four singles in 11 times up for the Chicago Cubs' Class A farm team in Quincy, Ill. The .364 performance edged his season's batting average up to .258.

John Dolinsek was the player whose average skidded below .300, while Tom Thomas dropped to .303 and Tom Olson to .302 with sub-par weeks.

Dolinsek, from Novato, had a 7-for-30 week for Denver in the Class AAA American Association, and is now batting .299. The Houston property hit two triples, but knocked in just one run, and his season totals include eight home runs and 47 runs batted in over 355 at-bats.

Thomas, also of Novato, was seven for 29 for Salem, Va., in the Class A Carolina League, a Pittsburgh farm. He has 11 homers and 73 RBIs in 379 times up this year.

Olson, from Kentfield, was one for nine for the New York Mets' Appalachian Rookie League team in Marion, Va.

Fairfax's Mike Parnow continued to struggle for Ogden, Utah, in the Pioneer Rookie League. The Los Angeles property was three for 14 with three runs batted in, just about in keeping with his .213 season's average.

Novato's Russ Dillon was hard to hit but not hard to reach base against for Savannah, Ga., in the Class AA Southern League, as he gave up one hit and six walks in his six-inning stint, earning no decision. He is 3-5 with a 5.59 earned run average for the year.

Marin's other pitcher, Dewey Forry of San Rafael, made two appearances totaling one inning for the Los Angeles Dodgers' Class A California League team in Bakersfield. He allowed one hit and two walks, was not involved in a decision, and remained 7-2 with a 3.06 ERA.

WHA Team Signs Pair

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Cougars of the World Hockey Association, dipping deep into the cash drawer, had two former Chicago Black Hawks players signed today and president Walter Kaiser theatened to add a third in the near future.

The Cougars, who recently signed Hawk defenseman Pat Stapleton as player coach with a $1 million contract, Tuesday signed center Ralph Backstrom, a 15-year National Hockey League veteran, to a five year contract for $750,000 including a $100,000 signing bonus.

Gridders Stewing About Beef

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Professional football teams in the Southern California area are beginning to feel the effects of the meat shortage.

Beef is traditionally a staple at the training tables where the 200 to 300 pound players fuel up.

The Los Angeles Rams revealed Tuesday their food bill has risen from $750 a day to $900 to keep the players eating beef four nights a week. "We're paying exactly what the average person pays—like $4.25 a pound for New York Steak," said controller Don Canning.

Bobby Hood of the San Diego Chargers training camp in Irvine, Calif., said, "We like flank steaks and our supplier called five meat companies and couldn't get any."

Although some pro teams in the East have reportedly had to go to substitutes such as spaghetti and fish at the training table, Hood said the Chargers "may not be getting the cuts we desire and the meat sometimes isn't as thick, but we haven't had macaroni and cheese yet."

Trainer Alan Hurst of the Denver Broncos, in training at Cal Poly Pomona, said the Broncos were in luck because the school "really stocked up its freezers" with beef for them before the shortage became acute.

But he worries when the team goes home. "It sounds like it's going to be a lot tougher to get meat in Denver. And the place where we stay has notified us they're raising our food bill substantially."

The team representatives agreed on one point — they'll do all they can to keep the players from feeling the shortages.

"Ever tell a football player he's limited on what he can eat?" Hood asked.

"You tell him. I'm not going to."

Conference Hands Oklahoma Penalty

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The University of Oklahoma, ranked No. 2 in the nation last year in collegiate football, was placed on two years probation for recruiting violations by the Big Eight conference, commissioner Chuck Neinas announced Wednesday.

The Sooners, who were stripped of their 1972 conference championship, shall be ineligible to participate in bowl games following the 1973 and 1974 seasons.

Oklahoma also will be ineligible to appear on the National Collegiate Athletic Association football television series during the regular season in 1974 and 1975.

Oklahoma will be allowed to fulfill its contractural obligations in connection with television appearances this season, including national televising of games with Texas and Nebraska.

The conference judged Oklahoma guilty of 10 football violations, three basketball violations and one general transgression of conference rules.

The investigation by the Big Eight was begun in April after discovering transcript alterations of two freshmen, Kerry Jackson and Mike Phillips, both of Galveston Ball High School in Texas.

The conference ruled that Phillips' high school transcript had been altered, but that no one at Oklahoma was involved or had prior knowledge of the alteration. It ruled that Phillips will be eligible for the 1973-74 academic year.

Baseball

SAN DIEGO — Chief deputy city attorney Ronald Johnson said Tuesday the city will wait and see what the state Supreme Court decides before it takes action on a preliminary injunction to block the San Diego Padres baseball club from moving to Washington, D.C.

Johnson said the hearing probably will be held Aug. 15 at which time the court may decide on the fate of the club, which was sold to a group headed up by Joseph Danzansky, a food-chain millionaire.

ST. LOUIS — Bob Gibson was to have knee surgery today after he suffered torn cartilage on the outside of his right knee in a game against the New York Mets last Saturday.

NEW YORK — Veteran relief pitcher Wayne Granger was acquired by the New York Yankees Tuesday from the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for two players to be named at a later date.

Basketball

UNIONDALE, N.Y. — The New York Nets of the American Basketball Association signed Billy Schaeffer, a St. John's University standout last season and their No. 2 draft choice for $250,000, outbidding the National Basketball Association Los Angeles Lakers for his services.

DENVER — The Denver Rockets, in an expression of unity among the owners in the American Basketball Association, signed All-America forward Mike Green of Louisiana Tech to a three-year contract Tuesday.

Green was the first-round pick of the Seattle Supersonics of the NBA and the ABA's Indiana Pacers. Rocket general manager Alex Hannum said the team gave Indiana a future draft choice and cash for the rights to Green.

NEW YORK — Bill Bradley put off his political career for at least another year Tuesday when he signed a one-year salary for an estimated $150,000 with the NBA champion New York Knicks.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Austin Peay basketball star Howard Jackson, seriously injured in a 71-foot fall through a skylight Monday, will definitely miss next season with the Governors, his coach said Tuesday. Lake Kelly said only time will tell whether the 6-8 center will ever play again.

said. "I wasn't that concerned about it."

"A designated hitter for the pitcher must be selected prior to the game and must be included in the lineup cards presented to the umpire-in-chief," the AL rule states. "It is not mandatory that a club designate a hitter for the pitcher, but failure to do so prior to the game precludes the use of a designated hitter for that game."

It turned out Jesus Alou, who played left field in the first game, was the designated hitter and Martin contended "as soon as Alou hit, Lindblad was being pinch-hit for. Even though they ran out to their positions, I still didn't know who the Designated Hitter was."

It turned out be academic when Jim Perry, now 10-10, and John Hiller combined for a five hit shutout.

Clausen Speaks Up For The Taxpayer

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1973 EDITORIAL PAGE

A kudo is due Rep. Don H. Clausen, who used to be Marin County's congressman and still represents Sonoma County.

Representative Clausen came out flatly and publicly against a 29 per cent pay raise that Congress was considering giving itself by a kind of sleight-of-hand operation.

THIS ALMOST-RAISE came about because congressmen (unlike our brasher members of the California Legislature) were a bit queasy about raising their own pay. So a few years back, Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., and a few others worked out a scheme by which the lawmakers could get themselves pay hikes without ever having to go on record.

The scheme is a bit complicated, but it was explained very neatly by Arlen J. Large recently in the Wall Street Journal, so we'll borrow his explanation:

"It starts with a nine-member commission of distinguished private citizens, who recommend pay levels for members of Congress, federal judges and cabinet members and their top aides. The proposed salaries are passed along to the President; he can approve or alter them, but he doesn't have the absolute final decision either. He passes the proposals along to Congress, where either house has 30 days to veto them. If nothing happens, the pay raises take effect, and the beneficiaries can pin any blame on the ephemeral citizens' commission, which has by then disbanded."

Neat!

THE FIRST TIME around, everything worked out beautifully. The commission was appointed in 1968, and recommended that congressional salaries go up the following January from $30,000 to $42,500 per year. President Lyndon B. Johnson didn't act. Neither did Congress. So the salaries went up.

This year, President Nixon named a new commission. But some congressmen had found a flaw in the arrangement: Having higher salaries take effect at the start of an election year provided a campaign issue for their opponents. So there was a move to have the committee report this month, with the raises to go into effect immediately if approved by the President.

On top of that, word got around that the commission would recommend members of House and Senate be paid $55,000 per year—a $12,500 raise.

THAT'S WHEN Don Clausen and some others in the House blew up.

In a letter to the President, Clausen wrote: "Such raises to congressmen, federal judges and other top officials would be an insult to the American taxpayer." He urged the President to veto any such recommendation.

Over on the Senate side, meanwhile, there was another move by some senators who shared Clausen's feelings. An amendment to the salary bill was introduced to require a record vote on any increase. The amendment came to a vote. And California's two senators split on it.

Alan Cranston voted with the majority for the amendment to put the senators on the line. John V. Tunney voted to kill it.

It's nice to know we have some representatives in Washington, like Clausen and Cranston, who aren't there just for the money. Because of them, there'll be no $12,500 raise for members of Congress.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Agriculture Bleeding While Lawmakers Tarry

By RUS WALTON

The birds straggle back to their legislative roosts here at the capitol, their feathers fluffed from a five-week vacation.

Now, maybe, they will do something about the sorry situation that spreads like a fungus across California's fields and farmlands.

IN THE SALINAS Valley, lettuce and cauliflower rot and are disced under. Harvest time comes and goes but the crops stay in the fields and the packing sheds are empty. That fracas involving the Teamsters Union is costing at least $2 million a day — $1 million is lost wages and incomes, $1 million in crop loss. To the north, in Roseville, the refrigerator cars stand on the sidings and the railroad workers stand unemployed.

In the great Central Valley, the grapes ripen and the battle rages between a wounded Cesar Chavez and the big-fisted brothers of the Teamsters Union. And the farmers and the farmworkers (and the consumers) pay the price in lost crops and lost wages (and higher prices).

California agricutlure is hurting — as it hurt and bled last year, and the year before. As it will go on hurting and bleeding until there is some kind of farm labor relations legislation.

There will be none this year at the federal level, not with the farmers in the Midwest and Texas fighting it. Those boys shed no tears for the problems of California agriculture.

THE PROBLEM MUST be met here at the state level, with state legislation: legislation that should have been and could have been enacted four years ago.

There were two key farm labor relations bills introduced in Sacramento this year: one by Sen. Fred Marler, R-Redding, and one by Sen. George Zenovich, D-Fresno.

Marler's bill never got out of the nest. It died in committee.

Zenovich's bill did not get out of the Senate, the house of origin. Thus, under the new rules of a reorganized legislature, it is kaput. Or, at least, comatose.

But, because of the emergency situation in the farmlands, Zenovich is asking for reconsideration. He wants another chance to push the bill through so that state government can assume the role of referee and some ground rules can be established to prevent the bloodshed, the economic loss, and higher food prices.

THE HANG-UP for Zenovich's bill — the reason it did not get out of the Senate prior to summer recess — was a section dealing with unemployment compensation insurance. His bill would place farm workers under such coverage. For that reason California business knocked it down.

A compromise on that point must be hammered out, perhaps by setting a minimum employment period before the farm worker comes under UCI; that way the seasonal worker is covered but the in-and-outers are not. Whatever, public interest demands a solution.

If prolonged strikes and terrorisms continue on California farmlands, it will cost this state far more in the long run. And industry will be forced to share the cost — and the blame.

On the advice of Jim Stearns, state secretary of agriculture and services, Governor Reagan will urge the legislature to get a farm labor bill to his desk, post haste.

Hopefully, there are enough sensible legislators in both houses to take constructive action. Now!

Election Reform Inadequate; Columnist Offers Own Plan

WASHINGTON — Nothing presently stirring in Congress comes near to producing the election-law reforms needed to prevent the abuses revealed in the Watergate offenses — not even the bill passed last week in the U.S. Senate.

There is no doubt in my mind that American voters are not going to be satisfied with inadequate reform. The public is not going to accept Congress stuffing a little straw in the gaping loopholes of existing legislation.

It will be a crime worse than Watergate if Congress throws away the opportunity to do everything that is needed to turn the lessons of Watergate to the good of the country.

WE KNOW THAT intolerable inflation of the costs of campaigning has led to abuses by both major parties, and there is dismaying evidence of new violations of law and ethics exposed in the Watergate scandals.

Past legislation can't be patched up. Reforms will be needed to cope with all the acts of illegality and impropriety committed during the 1972 presidential campaign which have come to light in recent months. Here are the abuses which must be wiped from the face of American politics:

1 — Illegal donations to campaigns and illegal collection of campaign funds.

2 — Illegal use of campaign funds.

3 — Inadequate reporting and accounting of campaign funds.

4 — Woefully inadequate enforcement of election laws.

Surely this means that reforms must reach to every aspect of campaign financing.

NOW IS THE TIME to end the pervasive presence of purposeful and corrupt money in the election process. Elections should be financed by all citizens, not primarily by wealthy donors. There must be an end to buying ambassadorships and the seeking of legislative concessions and executive favoritism through large campaign donations. Neither the parties nor the candidates should be put in a position where they can coerce or must solicit big business or big labor to finance the highest act of democratic government — the election of those who are to govern and serve us all.

This is why I am forced to the conclusion that there is no workable alternative to the federal financing of federal elections. If this is the necessary conclusion, then reforms like the following would be needed to bring it about:

1 — Federal elections would be financed by the federal government through a compulsory $1 payment by every citizen on his income tax return — the funds to be available equitably to the participating political parties.

2 — These campaign funds would be retained by a nonpartisan central clearing house created by Congress. This central clearing house would be responsible for the receiving of such funds, for their accounting and for paying proper bills submitted to it by the participating parties.

3 — There should be a substantial reduction in total allowable campaign spending, the ceilings to be determined by Congress.

4 — The "equal time" provision of the federal Communications Act should be repealed so that television stations and radio networks can provide a reasonable amount of free time for political candidates.

5 — Enforcement of all campaign financing and election laws should be entrusted to a national election commission independent of both Congress and the executive branch.

THERE ARE ADDITIONAL reforms which would be desirable. State preferential and nominating primaries might well be held on the same date, not earlier than Aug. 1. The national conventions should not meet earlier than Sept. 1, thus shortening the unnecessary and inordinately long campaign period.

If there are better ways of cleansing politics from past abuses, let's get them on the table. But I am convinced of one thing — if Congress doesn't do more than talk reform, it will bear the ire of the nations' voters.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

'No Special Program Has Made Any Difference'

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The Berkeley Board of Education got a dismaying report last week. It came from Richard L. Foster, who is retiring as superintendent of Berkeley Unified School District.

"No special program has made any difference for our black and Chicano students," Foster told the board.

This was a particularly hard blow in Berkeley, because Berkeley has tried more special programs for its "underprivileged" pupils than almost any other school system in California. And — until Foster told the hard, sad facts at his next-to-last board meeting as superintendent — success had been promised for one program after another.

THE HISTORY of Berkeley's school problems goes back to World War II, although they were not recognized until some years later.

Prior to that war, Berkeley had a much smaller percentage of "blue collar" residents than most cities of its size. Centered on the University of California, it was largely an "upper class city," with a major share of its wage earners drawn from neighboring Oakland. Its schools reflected this societal makeup. Strongly academic-oriented, they sent a high percentage of graduates on to the university, and were generally rated "tops" among California public schools.

Wartime industry in the San Francisco Bay Area changed all that. It brought into being hastily built housing projects for shipyard workers. These filled up with immigrant laborers — mostly black. A couple such projects slopped over into Berkeley from neighborhing Oakland and Albany.

When the war ended, the white residents mostly moved out of the housing projects, to be absorbed elsewhere in the area or return whence they came. The Negroes stayed in the projects or in nearby slums; they had no place else to go.

A DECADE OR MORE later, Berkeleyans awoke to the fact that they had in fact a segregated school system. Academic achievement remained high in the schools serving "traditional Berkeley." It was low in the new schools built for the blue-collar neighborhoods, with their largely black population.

Agitation by Negro residents brought an all-out effort at integration by what became known as the Ramsey Plan, which included busing pupils back and forth to create a mixture of races in all the schools — the approach so beloved by federal courts.

To preside over this, the Berkeley board hired as superintendent Neil V. Sullivan, an all-out integrationist who had been running the mainly black schools of the Free School Association in Prince Edward County, Md., after public schools there were closed to circumvent a court desegregation order.

Sullivan came to Berkeley convinced that mere mixing of races would solve the problems. Through his years there, he continued to insist that "the mixing factor" was more important in raising academic levels of "disadvantaged pupils" than anything else, and that it did not reduce the achievement of the "more advantaged."

DESPITE THIS public stance, however, Sullivan went out to get a wide variety of special programs for the "disadvantaged" pupils of Berkeley. He was highly successful in obtaining federal funds, state funds and foundation funds for an assortment of such programs. And Berkeley citizens dug deeper and deeper to meet rising school tax rates to supplement the outside funds.

When Foster succeeded Sullivan as superintendent, the process continued. Whenever there was a new program designed to elevate the "disadvantaged" (and there were many such), Berkeley soon had it. And each in its turn was hailed as "a new breakthrough."

Against such a background, it was indeed a blow when Foster told his board: "No special program has made any difference for black and Chicano students." None, he said, had increased their learning more rapidly than the "normal school program."

He did not, however, follow this up with what might seem a logical recommendation in light of the finding: Try to upgrade the normal school program itself — for all children, black, brown and white — instead of pouring money into continuing a kind of segregation through special programs.

What If The Police Search Doctor's Home?

Regarding the question of illegal search and seizure in San Anselmo and elsewhere:

I find myself fearful lest some police officer might search my house. Narcotics, paraphernalia? First, I do have spoons, candles, cotton, and odd bits of rubber tubing, eyedroppers, toothpicks, matches, etc. My home is literally loaded with paraphernalia. I even have a couple of pipes which I have used for tobacco but could be used with pot or even more interesting stuff.

I have a couple of old syringes and needles from my office at home. I know that they are useful for putting oil in odd bits of machinery and my wife's sewing machine but who would believe me after finding that powder and all that paraphernalia?

"Longhairs," "hippies" — my son has long hair. His friends have long hair. They all go in the longhair uniform of sloppy, worn jeans and often cast-off jackets, big hats, etc. My hair is cut short but my home is frequented by lots of suspect types.

Make my son cut his hair — and his friends? Dump the junk clothing: Clean up? Are you kidding?

Maybe if I went through one of the policemen's homes I'd find he had a lot of paraphernalia, too. He could say it was evidence gathered elsewhere — I couldn't say that. Oh, I am vulnerable. . .

Oh, I'm guilty all right. I'm loaded with paraphernalia. I just hope the police don't find out!

Impact Of Net Depot Use Causes Worry

With regard to reuse of the so-called Naval Net Depot on the Tiburon peninsula for general public you have no idea of the potential impact on this sparsely populated area.

As residents within one mile of the base since 1948 we have seen an imperceptible increase in the population. Nevertheless traffic has increased markedly and includes the following:

Joggers who have no clear safety of passage on a two-lane road. Amateur bicyclers who are generally just learning. Pedestrians who are out for a quiet walk (they think) in the country. Motorcyclists who are tearing from here to there only to return again. Motorists who are out to see the scenery. Picnickers who bulge Paradise Park on a clear day. Hot rod specialists who charge around every curve on two wheels. Racing sport cars, sometimes two or three in a pack. Large trucks that grind down the depot fences. Bicycle teams who feel that the road is their very own. Hippy buses looking for a place to camp. Thoroughly confused deer who don't know which way to go. Packs of dogs who roam the woods. Squirrels who can't make it across through the confusion. Burglars who are looking for a spot.

Any other ideas about how to desecrate the landscape?

I hope that the base can be used for a proper purpose that would not compound the above abuses. There is clearly no place for a four-lane multiuse highway around this peninsula.

New EPA Boss Has Credentials, But He'll Have To Be Tough

WASHINGTON — On paper, Russell Train is a far more logical man to put in charge of protecting the land, air and water of America than the man he is nominated to replace.

William D. Ruckelshaus, first administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, came in with no specialized background for the job beyond a belief in its mission. He was a bright Indiana lawyer and ambitious Republican politician. Yet at EPA he set an example seldom matched in the federal bureaucracy for one main reason: He was tough.

Train, by contrast, has more experience in this once lonely specialty than you could reasonably expect any one man to have accumulated by 1973.

While he was a lawyer, congressional committee staffer and assistant to the secretary of the treasury, the environment was his principal sideline. He served as vice president of the World Wildlife Fund and president of the African Wildlife Leadership Foundation while also an Eisenhower appointee to the U.S. Tax Court. Finally he became so involved in his sideline that he resigned from the bench to become president of the Conservation Foundation. When the Nixon administration arrived, he became undersecretary of interior until appointed chairman of the Council on Environmental Quality.

THE PERFECT COMBINATION of governmental know-how in all three branches plus specialized background and commitment — right? Aye, said 13 members of the Senate Public Works Committee. Nay, said one.

The dissenting vote in committee was cast by Sen. William L. Scott of Virginia. What he had to say about the Train nomination is instructive.

Scott flailed Train, for starters, because the nominee is a "self-styled conservationist."

"Does he have a concern for retaining the high standard of living we are privileged to enjoy while at the same time making a reasonable attempt to protect our environment, or is he a conservationist first, regardless of what efect that may have on our standard of living?" the Senator wanted to know.

The answer depends on one's prejudices, of course. What is reasonable to one man is fanaticism to another. Scott may have known that seven weeks ago Train spoke out against "a current tendency to make the environment the whipping boy for our energy problems." He said automobile size, air conditioners and automatic transmissions each ate up more gas than pollution-control devices, and urged a national swing to smaller cars.

UNFORTUNATELY, many Americans suffer from Scott's myopia. It is unacceptable to them that even one government agency should give environmental protection first priority, while around it hundreds of others are effectively committed in the opposite direction.

That is why the job into which Train is moving will be much harder than it was for Ruckelshaus. The first EPA administrator made many decisions about what policy should be, and set deadlines for its execution. The next one is going to be more responsible for enforcement.

Marin's Transit Service Is Cut

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Marin County Transit District directors slashed local bus service Tuesday to preserve a cash surplus by the end of the fiscal year.

The cuts were labeled "streamlining and improvement of the efficiency of the service" by the district's general manager, Ray W. Foreaker Jr.

Estimates by the Golden Gate Bridge District show some 230,000 riders a year will be affected by the deleted service.

The bridge district operates the service under contract with the county. Before the cuts, patronage was estimated at 1.5 million this fiscal year.

All but one of the seven cuts recommended by Foreaker were approved unanimously with almost no discussion. They totaled $160,900, and will be effective in October.

The seventh, deleting Routes 23 and 29 between Santa Venetia and East Corte Madera, was retained by the board contrary to Foreaker's recommendation.

Foreaker acknowledged his proposal "can truly be called a reduction in service," but said it was "necessary to balance our budget." His written report, however, also notd all seven cuts would leave a surplus of $135,237 "for contingencies." The board's refusal to delete Routes 23 and 29 cut the surplus to $98,737.

The service cut left the cost of local bus service this fiscal year at $670,592.

No one protested the cuts, which were published Monday by the Independent-Journal. Commuter service to San Francisco was not affected.

The cuts approved by the district board are:

1. Delete the first morning and evening runs from Route 1 between Novato and Sausalito to save $27,000.
2. Delete six early morning runs from Route 5 between Tiburon and Sausalito to save $13,500.
3. Operate Route 23 between San Rafael and East Corte Madera hourly instead of half-hourly to save $20,700, delete 10 early morning and two late evening runs from the route to save $10,800 and operate weekend service hourly instead of half-hourly to save $33,000.
4. Delete midday service from Route 25 between Fourth Street in San Rafael and Northgate Industrial Park and replace the portion of the route in San Rafael's Canal area with Route 23 to save $18,000.
5. Operate Route 27 between Terra Linda and Sleepy Hollow hourly instead of half-hourly to save $26,400.
6. Delete Route 29 between Peacock Gap and Fourth Street in San Rafael to save $11,500.

Marin County Transit District directors also:

COST SHARING — Formed a committee of supervisors Michael Wornum, Bob Roumiguiere and Gary T. Giacomini to negotiate with bridge district directors on a cost-sharing formula for next fiscal year for local bus service.

ASSISTANT SHUFFLE — Received report from Foreaker that he has replaced James B. Robertson as assistant general manager with Robert L. Harrison, head of the county's transportation planning. Foreaker said the change was because of Harrison's background in transit and the need to redesign the local bus system. Robertson, assigned part-time to the district for more than three years, will be reassigned full-time as county traffic engineer.

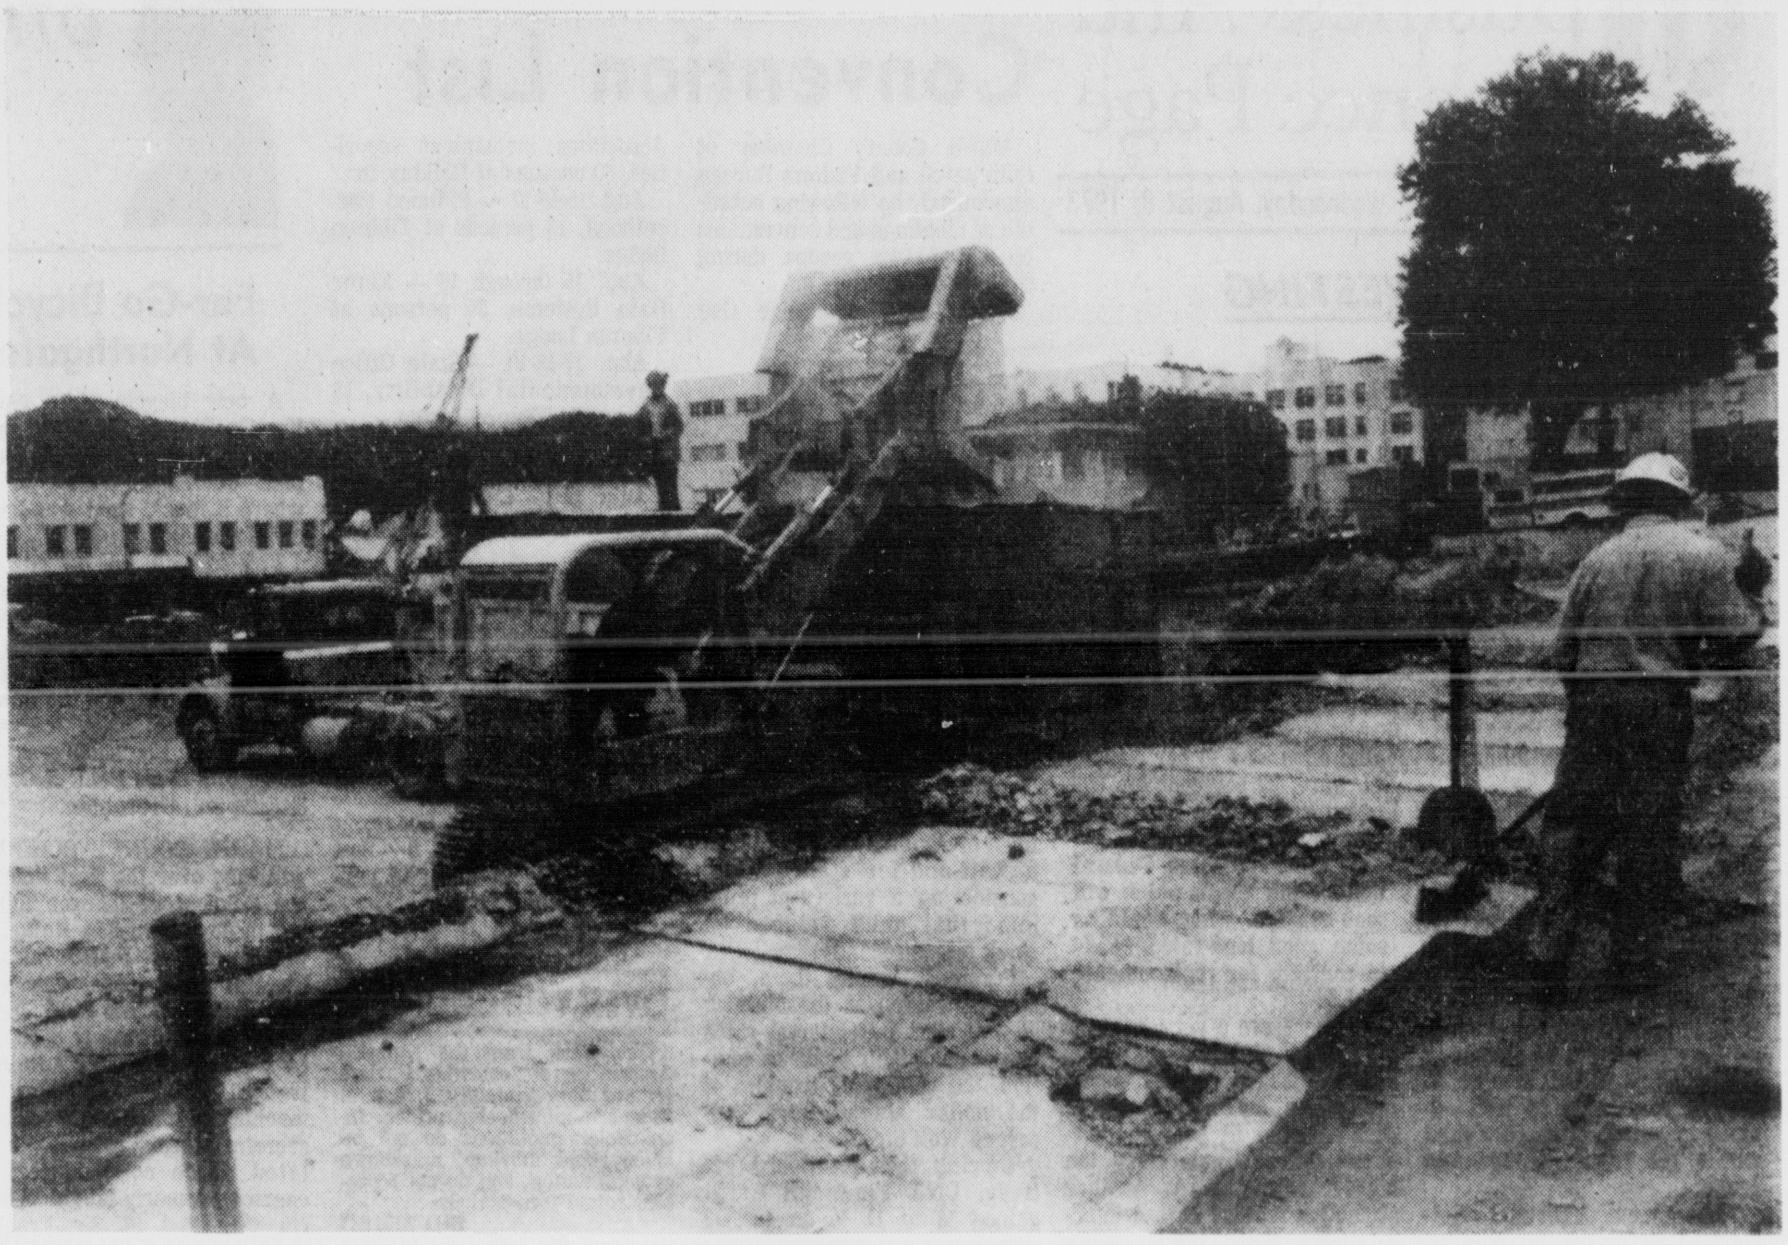
FUNDS — Tabled a euggestion by Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. that special tax districts be formed to finance transit improvements. The staff said it was not applicable because the county does not have transit stations which would justify tax districts.

TOLL — At Wornum's request, agreed to discuss reversing opposition to a toll hike on the Golden Gate Bridge at the board's Sept. 4 meeting.

Wonder To Recover Say His Doctors

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (UPI) — Doctors at Baptist Hospital were optimistic today about the chances for full recovery of Stevie Wonder, the blind soul singer hospitalized here following a traffic mishap.

Wonder, 24, was listed in satisfactory condition, although doctors said he had not completely recovered consciousness following Monday's highway crash. Doctors said Wonder was suffering from a contusion, or bruise, of the brain.



ANNEX MOP UP

San Rafael's courthouse annex has vanished from the face of Courthouse Square as a bulldozer dumps one of the last remaining scoopfuls of the structure into a dumptruck and a workman begins mop up operations. The structure's foundation was scheduled to be unearthed today as excavation work begins on a five story parking garage, which will replace the annex. Foundation work already has begun on dual office buildings that will rise nearby, according to Gary L. Ordway of Continental Heller Corp, project manager.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Investment Good For Stable Holding

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We are planning on retiring soon and are interested in your advice on whether or not to hold 450 shares of Delaware Fund and 225 of Wellington Fund. We have reinvested all capital gains and dividend distributions. — D.W.

A. As you have not indicated your investment goals, I am unable to make any specific recommendations on your holdings. If stability and modest yield are compatible with your investment needs, then these two funds are well suited to your requirements. Should you, on the other hand, be primarily interested in either income or growth you would be well advised to switch to another fund within the same management group.

The current indicated dividend yield for Delaware is 3.4 per cent and for Wellington is 4.0 per cent. In each case these portfolios are comprised primarily of good quality listed issues. A moderate percentage (under 20 per cent) of their investments are bonds and preferred stocks. The bulk of the portfolios, however, are in the IBM, Amer. Tel. & Tel. category so that gradual growth, stability and moderate income are the primary attributes of these two large mutual funds. In the 5-year 1968-72 period, net asset value advanced 20 per cent for Delaware, 29 per cent for Wellington and 24 per cent for an average of mutual funds.

Q. We have some Federal Land Bank bonds which will soon mature. What would be some good high-rated bonds to consider for replacement? — J.L.

A. There are a very interesting series of bonds — power bonds — issued by the Tennessee Valley Authority, some of which should fit your requirements. These bonds carry the highest rating, AAA. Another attractive feature is that interest from these bonds, while subject to federal income tax, is exempt from state and local personal property and income tax. Maturity dates on the 10 TVA issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange range from 1974 to 1998. Coupon rates of 7 per cent to 9¼ per cent yield 7.4 per cent to 8.4 per cent on a current basis and 6.5 per cent to 7.9 per cent when the bonds are held to maturity.

Stocks Fall Badly; No Enthusiasm

NEW YORK (UPI) — A general lack of enthusiasm, stemming largely from concern over rising interest rates and inflation, sent stocks broadly lower today in sluggish trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said there was no news to spark new buying, and most investors appeared to take a wait-and-see stance while considering a variety of problems that have weighed on stock prices recently.

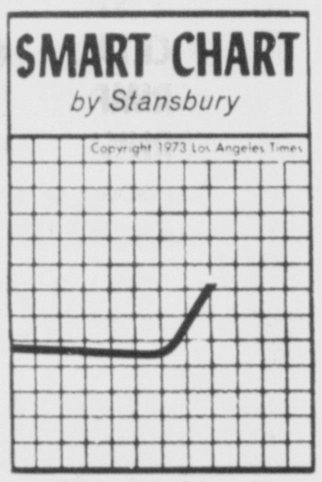
Foremost among them, observers said, was the absence of any sign that interest rates are nearing their peak. In addition, the continuing troubles of the dollar abroad have concerned Wall Street.

Topping the Big Board actives, CNA Financial Corp. gained ¼ to 11 ⅛ on 120,600 shares.

On the American Stock Exchange, prices declined in light activity. Syntex was the volume leader, and dropped 1 to 105 on 16,800 shares.

On the Big Board, Jonathan Logan fell 1 ½. The company reported six month earnings of $1.98 a share, compared with $1.75 a share for the same period last year.

Glamors were among the hardest hit. Polaroid dropped 3, Avon Products 1 ¾ Upjohn 1, and Corning Glass ¾.



''Hiring topless dancers for the assembly line eliminated boredom complaints.''

Far-Go Bicycle Shop To Open At Northgate Shopping Center

A new bicycle store called Far-Go Bicycle Shop will open soon at 186 Northgate One Shopping Center in Terra Linda, where a music shop was formerly located.

Far-Go will be owned and operated by Rahman Farsi and Mahmoud Gozashti. They will carry a full line of bicycles including the English Raleigh, French Peugeot, and the Italian Bianci.

Lease of the shop was arranged by Chris Beck of Grubb & Ellis Co., Greenbrae.

MARIN COUNTY SCHOOLS will take over the first floor of the Reynold C. Johnson Building in downtown San Rafael at the corner of Fourth and C Streets. This lease was also negotiated by Chris Beck.

The space, formerly occupied by the Social Security Administration, will be used for the teaching of office practices and secretarial training under simulated office conditions. The courses, formerly taught at Marin City and at Sir Francis Drake High School, will be consolidated in the new location.

PATRICIA ANN HUNSICKER of Novato is the first director of the newly created consumer relations office at Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, San Francisco.

Louis W. Niggeman of Kentfield, chairman of Fireman's Fund, announced that the new consumer relations office will have three major responsibilities: Provide consumers with a receptive communications link to management, serve as a listening post on consumer attitudes for the company's senior executives, and anticipate consumer concerns so they can be dealt with before they become consumer problems.

Mrs. Hunsicker joined Fireman's Fund after four years as public information officer in the Los Angeles County Probation Department.

H. GRAHAM WOOD of San Rafael has been named loan officer, commercial banking, in Wells Fargo Bank's west bay division headquarters, San Francisco.

Wood joined Wells Fargo in 1964 following graduation from the University of Southampton, England, with a degree in economics. He served in the bank's Union Trust Office and in the real estate department of the division headquarters in San Francisco and was named assistant manager of the Fillmore-California office in 1971.

GOURMET WINE and Glass shop at 891 Fourth Street (corner of Lootens Place) in San Rafael closed after four months of operation, and the place is for lease.

John J. Collins of San Rafael, who has experience as electrician and as bartender, opened the wine and glass shop on March 23 in the old Gallenkamp shoe store location.

JOHN C. KOEPKE of Mill Valley has been named general manager, marine operations division, of Marcona Corporation, San Francisco-based shipping, mining and resource development firm.

Koepke will direct Marcona's fleet operations. Before joining Marcona, he was vice president of Temple, Barker & Sloane Inc. and Fry Consultants Inc., both management consulting firms. He also served in the U.S. Army Transportation Corps in marine cargo control.

Koepke is a graduate of Northwestern University and holds a master of business administration degree from Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

ERIC C. EITREIM of San Rafael was promoted to vice president, commercial and agricultural loans, in Crocker Bank's loan administration, San Francisco.

Eitreim joined Crocker Bank in 1964 and was assistant vice president before the promotion. A graduate of Yale University, he holds a master's degree in business administration from the University of California in Berkeley.

BRANTMAN CAPITAL Corporation of Tiburon, headed by W.T. Brantman, has just received its license as a Small Business Investment Corporation from the Small Business Administration.

President Brantman announced that the corporation will invest in venture capital situations and hopes to aid in the growth of small companies. No funds will be available for real estate ventures.

"We are looking for small businesses that will be needing $30,000 to $50,000," said Brantman.

KAY NOAH and Associates at 1680 Tiburon Boulevard, Tiburon, has doubled its office space to accommodate the fast growing realty business. The firm now has 10 salesmen and brokers.

Sheet Molding

NEW YORK (UPI) — More than 500 million pounds of sheet molding compound will be produced in 1978, predicts a leading supplier of glass fiber. Eighty per cent of the fiberglass-plastic automotive applications, half the consumer products and 30 per cent of fiberglass plastic electrical products willbe molded from it.

New Hospital Is Added By Firm

Hospital Corporation of America, whose chain of hospitals includes Ross General Hospital, has announced the addition to the group of a 67-bed facility in Palataka, Florida, southwest of Jacksonville.

George C. Mercy, vice president of HCA and president of Hospital Corporation West, whose offices are at Northgate in Terra Linda, said that HCA will operate the Florida hospital under management contract for the Putnam County Hospital Authority.

HCA is the nation's largest investor-owned hospital company, with 51 hospitals and more than 7500 beds in 12 states and 15 other facilities under construction.

Sentence Set In Bad Check Case

A San Francisco man who tried to pass a bad check at a San Rafael pool hall has been ordered to serve 90 days in jail and was placed on probation for a year.

Walter Frank Glynn, 23, was sentenced Monday by Marin Superior Court Judge David Menary Jr., who ordered the jail term to start after Glynn is released from Sonoma County Jail, where he is serving six months for a parole violation.

Glynn was convicted of trying to pass a check made out to David S. True of San Rafael at George's Pool Hall March 10.

The arrest led to the Sonoma jail sentence when it was determined that Glynn had violated his probation for a prior conviction for burglary and possessing stolen property.

Glynn's probation report says he "accepts little responsibility for his illegal behavior" and calls him "a sophisticated young man who shows no inclination to make any changes in his lifestyle."

The probation department had recommended a six-month jail term citing his past record of heroin and marijuana possession and forgery, and his admitted use of heroin and amphetamines.

Snatcher Of Purse Gets Six Months

A purse snatcher has been sentenced to six months in jail, placed on probation for two years and ordered to pay back $150 to the Coleman School Parent-Teacher Association.

Edward Charles Griffin, 20, was sentenced Monday by Marin Superior Court Judge David Menary Jr.

Griffin, of 10 La Brea Street, Santa Venetia, admitted July 9 that he took a purse containing the money from Joan M. Shattuck, 31, of San Rafael who was on her way to deposit the money earned by the PTA from hot dog sales.

The theft was Griffin's first criminal offense according to his probation report which said his criminal conduct did not "fit into his general life pattern" and stemmed from "a lengthy period of frustration."

Districts Will Elect Directors

The North Marin County Water District, Novato Fire Protection District and Bel Marin Keys Community Services District are scheduled to elect new directors Nov. 6.

Two seats will be open on each district board and nominating petitions for candidates will be available Thursday, at the district offices and county elections office, according to Peter C. Meyer, County Elections officer.

Petitions must be filed by 5 p.m. Aug. 31, in the elections office at the Marin Civic Center.

The terms of these board members are expiring: George A. Amaroli and Frank V. Baccaglio, water district; Peter J. Ferrarese and Dante Panfiglio, fire district; and Carl W. Wandt and Daniel J. Thrall, services district.

Novato Man Has Court Date Set

A Novato man will be tried on charges of vehicle theft and resisting arrest, a Marin Municipal judge ruled Tuesday.

Judge Gary W. Thomas ordered Jeffry Dean Peters, 22, to appear Monday in superior court after deciding there is enough evidence to try him.

The charges stem from an incident in San Rafael July 22 in which Peters reportedly stole a van from a San Rafael car dealer, then fled from police who spotted him near the stolen vehicle.

Forest Knolls Man Has Date In Court

A Forest Knolls man is to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court in connection with the stabbing of another man during an argument.

Robert Leonard Frank, 29, was booked into Marin County Jail Saturday and released on his own recognizance after he promised to make the court appearance.

The Marin sheriff's office said Frank stabbed Greg Stacey, 24, of 80 Resaca Avenue, Forest Knolls, with a pen knife during an argument over trespassing.

Deputies said Franks and Stacey gave conflicting accounts of the incident, but it appeared Stacey was wading in a creek behind a house owned by Frank's Father, Karl A. Frank, at 259 Castro Road.

A dispute ensued when the elder Frank ordered Stacey off his property, according to deputies, who said the younger Frank joined the fracas and reportedly stabbed Stacey in the abdomen and forehead.

Stacey ran to the Forest Knolls Lodge. He was later treated for stab wounds at Marin General Hospital.

Meeting Sept. 4

A joint meeting of the Corte Madera Town Council and Redevelopment Agency concerning a public hearing on project area No. 1 will be held Sept. 4, not Aug. 4 as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Trustees Raise Pay, Set Budget

The Kentfield School District board Monday approved 5.5 per cent across the board raises for district employees and then adopted a $1,826,583 budget for 1973-74.

Supt. Eugene C. Peters said the budget was raised from a preliminary estimate of $1,684,366 after more funds became available through recent state legislation.

He estimated the spending program will require a tax rate of $3.07 per $100 of assessed valuation as compared to $2.97 in the past year.

In other action the board accepted the resignation of elementary teacher Robert Guerts, who left to take a position in Sonoma County.

Organist Guest

Ann Tanner of Hayward will be guest organist at a public concert at 8 p.m. Monday at Sonoma Joe's in Petaluma, sponsored by the Petaluma Organ Club.

IMMEDIATE REPLACEMENT BATTERY GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees this battery to be free from defects in material and workmanship. If this battery fails to hold a charge Montgomery Ward will: 1. For 90 days from purchase, replace the battery free. 2. After 90 days, to the end of the guarantee period specified, replace the battery, charging a prorated amount—based on time since purchase—of the regular no trade-in selling price then in effect. Batteries used in commercial vehicles are guaranteed on a similar prorata basis for half of the normally specified term. For service under this guarantee, return battery with evidence of date of purchase to any Montgomery Ward branch.
